UPTON SAYS

EASTER IN THE MORNING

Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty
Early in the morning, our song shall rise to thee:
Holy, holy, holy, merciful and mighty,
God in three persons, blessed Trinity.

Holy, holy, holy, all the Saints adore thee
Casting down their golden crowns around the glassy sea:
Cherubin and seraphim falling down before thee
Which wert, and art, and ever more shall be.

And so it will be next Easter Sunday morn throughout the length and breadth of these good old United States. People will worship and display their new Easter clothes whether they are paid for or not, the day calls for them. Monday morning bright and early when the mail man comes they will receive their first notice of the first payment on the glad rags, but such is life. Christianity and the world.

Worship the Lord today.
And forget about Him tomorrow;
Wear new clothes today,
And pay for them tomorrow.

THE GOOD IN YOU IS THE GOD IN YOU

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Many happy returns to the following readers who celebrate their birthdays during the month of April: Percy D. Buck, Grand old Teacher of Dining Car Service, Mabel Lee, and Mrs. Vandy Thompson. Congratulations.

C. L. DELLUMS VICE PRESIDENT OF BROTHERHOOD Leads Fight in Oakland Against Discrimination

C. L. Dellums, Fourth Vice President of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, played the leading part in a bitter fight against efforts of real estate men and big interests to oust C. C. Rhodes, Race fireman, from his home in the exclusive Montclair district in Oakland last week. A committee appointed by snobbish interests to do dirty work, resigned after reporting to its constituents that all efforts to dislodge Rhodes had been unavailing. Every possible effort has been used to make it uncomfortable for him in the community. Mr. Rhodes purchased the property and built his house by means of the FHA loan. Immediately, pressure was put on and even city officials joined the forces to oust him. The California Voice, a Race publication, edited by J. E. Daly was chosen to champion the cause of the harassed man. It was alleged later that Daly, editor of the California Voice, who was supposed to be defending Rhodes had assertedly acted as representative for the banking Corp. in helping to put pressure on Rhodes. C. L. Dellums, acting as spokesman for Rhodes, pointed out to the gathering that the case was definitely a jim-crow one, and that racial discrimination in California must be halted.

SAL LAKE PORTERS LOOSE LINE

Porters, who formerly operated on the Salt Lake line are now looking for a run due to the fact that their line has been discontinued, which seems to be the custom in the Los Angeles District these days. Lines all coming off and porters bumping and hitting the extra board. The following porters are the ones left out in the cold: A. Jones, C. Martinze, Cliff Lair, W. King. I understand that C. Martinez is angling for the Chicago run.

PORTERS APPLY FOR PENSIONS

Father time waits on no man, and in as much as that is the case—J. Bell Sr., Holden and T. Simons have applied for the railroad pensions. Other porters who have not as yet applied for the sitdown papers but are looking forward to the time when they will be able to call it quits for good are: Geo. Corbin, James Goodwin, Billy McCormick, John Holt, C. C. Bruce and L. Jenkins, Sr. There are still many more too numerous to mention who should jump down on general principles but I guess they will continue to try and hit the apple until they drop out from pure exhaustion.

L. W. DAVIS MAY BUY RACE HORSE

L. W. Davis, veteran Coast line porter and large realty holder of West Side proporty, has become an ardent race horse fan these days and I have been reliably informed by my operatives is dickering with the "Get Right" stables for a nag of his own.

L. GRANT PASSES AWAY

L. Grant, veteran Los Angeles porter, long retired on account of ill health, passed away after a lengthy illness last week. Grant was a relative of the late Ed. Hoage also a Los Angeles Pullman Porter. Grant was buried from Conner&Johnson Funeral parlors Tuesday with many of his former Pullman friends in attendance.

"LITTLE DICK BRADLEY DECORATES NEW HOME"

May A. Philip Randolph long continue in good health for the sake of hundreds upon hundreds of Pullman Porters to whom his brave leadership has brought increased incomes from the service they have rendered the Pullman Company. Among those who have greatly benefited by Mr. Randolph's brains is "Little Dick Bradley, who is now making preperations to completly decorate his new home on the West Side. Only sad part about it is that Little Dick has completly forgotten there ever was a man by the name of A. Philip Randolph.

GRAND CHAIRMAN OF PPBA OF A. ON TOUR Will Visit Los Angeles

According to the Grand Delegate Dan Hood, E. M. Graham, Grand Chairman of the P. P. B. A. of A. is making a tour of the various districts in which locals of the P. P. B. A. are situated and will arrive in Los Angeles about Wednesday, April 20th for a series of P. P. B. A. meetings. Graham succeeded the late Perry Parker as Grand Chairman.

Obituary

Funeral services for Mrs. Frances Lee Fowler of 1026 East 16th street were held at the Conner-Johnson Funeral Home, Monday morning, April 10th, at ten o'clock. Rev. Thomas L. Griffith officiated. Interment was at Evergreen Cemetery.

The presence of large numbers of flowers and the vast crowd that attended the funeral were a fitting testimony of the esteem in which her many friends held her.

For more than a year, Mrs. Fowler had been in poor health. Last fall, she went to live with her daughter, Mrs. Marshall McCall of El Paso, Texas, who did everything humanly possible for her mother, but on Wednesday evening, April 6 at 2 o'clock, Mrs. Fowler passed on.

Mrs. Fowler had been a resident of Los Angeles for the past fifteen years. Although a native of Louisiana, she came here from Marshall, Texas where she educated her daughter at Bishop College.

She was a loyal member of the Second Baptist church. Few times did the church door open, but it found her in her accustomed seat. This record, only did she break, about two-and one half years ago, when her ailing husband demanded her attention.

Alert and adaptable, she entered wholly into the life of the community, which she enriched by her very presence whereever she went, she raised standards, but never did she loose sight of the improvement of her own mind. Many times, she took great delight in joining the handicraft class in the night school.

Scores of people called her Mother Fowler, for truly she was a mother to all whom she found in misery, want, or distress. To the hospital, to the sick room, to the lonely, she went on errands of mercy. In short, like the lowly Nazarene, she "went about doing good".

She is survived by her husband, Matthew Fowler.

She, also, leaves a daughter, Mrs. Marshall McCall of whom she was most appreciative.

What a pleasure it must have been for her to live to see this daughter, Oralee, made principal of Douglas High School of El Paso, Texas, the only Negro woman to hold such an honor in the State of Texas. Mrs. McCall has done graduate work in USC.

In addition, she leaves two sisters, Mrs. A. T. Lane of 1129 E. 41st street, and Mrs. Robt. L. Williams of Shreveport, La., a number of nieces, nephews and many cousins, and a host of friends to mourn her loss.

Be informed, listen to the California Eagle Newspaper of the Air nightly except Saturday over Station KGFJ.

"Make the coming hour o'erflow with joy, and pleasure drown the brim."—Shakespeare.

And in truth . . . on the very brink of the glorious Eastertide . . . shall we make the coming hour o'erflow with joy . . . pilgrimages to the shrines of impressively beautiful sunrise services . . . there to await the clarion notes of trumpeteers . . . crystal clear and beautiful in the cool of dawning . . . and in the brilliant bursts of shafting sunlight . . . there will be the countless numbers to revisualize the awesome wonder of Resurrection . . . the countless hearts to re-fill with inspiration and hope . . . and perhaps there will be the birds winging in strong, beautiful flight above . . . or an "air monster" . . . reflecting highlights of silver fire into the golden pool of the sun . . . and these will be the symbols of that hope within us . . . similarly high and vaulted.

William Grant Still . . . musician extraordinaire . . . with the University of Southern California's School of Music paying to him a distinct compliment last Thursday evening, at six until well on to nine o'clock . . . with Jefferson High school's ace music supervisor, Samuel Browne, displaying his capabilities as commentator for the evening . . . approximately thirty or more members of the school were present to enjoy the recordings of Mr. Still's works . . . "Scherzo" from his "Suite Africaine"; and the beautiful impressionism of his "Summerlands" . . . in the Still party were Mrs. Samuel Rodney Browne (Virgil Johnson) and Miss Verna Arvey . . . Miss Arvey, who is Mr. Still's accompaniste, gave two Still compositions for the pianoforte . . . "Dark Horsemen" and "Radiant Pinnacles" . . . receiving the enthusiastic comment of the several School of Music professors who were present . . . among the visitors were Miss Josephine Williams, Paul Harris and Stanford Williamson . . .

With the laud an honor yet a-ring . . . Pasadena's Fellowship Breakfast League is already in the midst of preparation for the May first breakfast session . . . the complimentary comment of the citizenry in our Pasadena as well as in Los Angeles seems to be un-ending . . . and reservations . . . even at this early date . . have begun to mount up . . . occupying the guest speaker's place at the board in May will be an outstanding personality . . . in thorough keeping with the League's customary tenor of precedent.

Davis of New York . . . and is the cousin of Mrs. Kinchlow . . . during their visit to the Southland, the Smiths have included trips to Lake Elsinore, and a short "vacance" to Long Beach and the beach at Santa Monica . . . yet to be included in their itinerary is the always interesting Catalina island . . . before departing the Smiths will go on to San Diego . . .

. . . Leaving the Kinchlow residence at 144 Pepper Street to entrain for Chicago about the first of May . . . going by way of metropolitan San Francisco . . . both Mr. and Mrs. Smith have expressed keen delight anent out Southern California scene.

Children of the neighborhood will be entertained by Mayor Frank L. Shaw at an Easter egg hunt tomorrow afternoon at the Ross Snyder playground, from one to three p. m.

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL

Palms and praises, bird songs and sunlight thru diaphanous sea crystals, breathless laughter and quick whispers of the wind, overtones of new life and undertones of old life revived: These are harbingers of Spring . . . and more than that . . . these are signs of days when life and love are mooring their hours on a plane beyond fear! Beyond superstition . . . beyond inconsistencies of our beliefs and our practices . . . This is the time for happiness only! And we are hugging it to us . . . and tripping off days merrily to Easter Sunday . . . Keeping it amid hushed supplications and thanksgivng, amid giving and rejuvenation!

The season means more this year to some than others and we are glad to hear: Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Robertson announced the marriage of their daughter, Eva, to Edward Guerrero, of Chicago, Illinois, following a lovely dinner Sunday, April, 3, attended by friends of the happy pair. They were married on March 29 in San Francisco and plan to live in Los Angeles . . . May the blessings of this Eastertide go with them through all the happy seasons that are to come!

OF LADY GREEKS:

Two very attractive and cosmopolitan ones have been recipients of honors and warm greetings in the City of Angels this week: Atty. Barbara Goodall, of Chicago, acting organizer for Zeta Phi Beta, and Mrs. Vivian Osborne Marsh of Berkeley, grand basileus of Delta Sigma Theta . . . Both were honorees Saturday night . . . at affairs by respective sorors.

Mrs. Marsh was hosted at a lovely dinner party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roberson in Hooper avenue . . . Mrs. Roberson, who is national journalist for Delta, received her guests in red moire. The honoree's charm was enhanced by ecru lace with turquoise trimming. Guests included the senior S. P. Johnsons, Attys. and Mmes. Lloyd Griffith and Edwin Jefferson, the A. A. Robinsons, Dr. Henry McPherson, Miss Esther L. Griffith and Alfred Fisher . . . While over on Budlong avenue in the Westside area in the home of Mrs. Edna McPherson . . .

Zeta sorors and Sigma fraters honored Atty. Goodall at a semi-formal dancing party . . . the lady was striking in coral chiffon with rhinestone accessories. Guests included the wives and sweethearts of Sigmas, husbands and escorts of Zetas and the latter's pledgees.

Ye scribe wants both exponents of so fine a spirit to know just how rejuvenating it was to meet them . . . and to hear of the great good they're doing and planning.

GENTLEMEN GREEKS . . . AND OTHERS:

The basket series between the Alphas and Kappas ended automatically Sunday evening . . . Reason: The Kats won the first two games of the scheduled three . . . but the "Apes" certainly didn't lose lying down . . . and there are other basketball seasons . . . Yes! While we're waxing Greek . . . the Kappas are calling all hands to launching its annual "Guide Right" week . . . while Alpha is busy "committeeing" for "Citizenship" week which follows Delta May Week . . . What next? . . . Ask a Greek.

But don't think other organizations are sleeping . . . The Assistance League's Benefit Ball Easter Monday night promises to be one of those eye-openers . . . where you won't have to use ice . . . Plenty of class . . . good music and the cream of L. A. femininity in charge . . . You'll go at nine and dance and partake of refreshments until . . . !

Easter morn will bring christenings . . . and baptisms . . . sunrise services, etc. Among the babies to be christened are little Gwendolyn Dozier, offspring of the Francis Doziers . . . at Phillip's Temple, 43rd and Wadsworth; and the boss of Louis and Alma Andrews . . . needless to say . . . the name is junior . . . and Louis will probably have his chest out two miles . . . the place: Westminster Presbyterian on the Westside.

Gosh, almost forgot to remind you of the Twenty Sportsmen's initial dance at the Club Alabam Sunday night . . . that the Kohinoors have a function up the proverbial sleeve . . . that Zelma Watson Duke is busy rehearsing for that recital on the 28th . . . and we're all a little more conscious of the good things that keep right on coming our way . . . So?

Got a new Easter bonnet? Join the parade . . . be on the sidelines peeking at you with a new handkerchief!

'TWEEN TROY & WESTWOOD

By EDYTHE MEAUX

And the cause of it all is a horse named "Silver"--if it hadn't been for him I wouldn't have to stand up to write this column from the vantage point of the mantelpiece . . . and if I didn't have to stand up I could think, well just a little bit . . . but it's a vicious circle anyway you look at it so . . but herein hangs the tale . . .

Five Gals and a Hoss
Time: Monday morning
Scene: On a bridle path

Muriel Brewer, avowing that if she ever got down off her nag she'd never be weak enough to let anybody persuade her to get on another.

Ida Bowman, imagining she was astride Sea Biscuit as she galloped down the home stretch.

Ethel Carter, a little more bold than the rest, giving the instructor, a good race for his money as she left the other equestriennes behind in the dust.

Mrs. Asbury, a visitor from Chicago, trying to persuade the girls to find a bridle path that didn't go downhill, next time.

And Easter vacation had started off so enjoyably, too, before we decided to lay ourselves up for the week from our efforts as horsewomen. Friday the Majestic Corsairs had staged a barn dance up at the Elks just to start the vacation festivity ball rolling.

All bedecked out in their barn attire to enjoy the old farm atmosphere were June Bradley and Bill Tabor . . Kappa's pride and joy Johnny Brewer and Willie B. Welch . . . Martin Gower and Doris Ake . . . Albert Oliver and Mrs. Mildred Bruce and the Al Goodloes.

Contemplating doing an old fashioned square dance to the good old barn music were the Florence Gagnet-Eugene Smith combination . . . "Moody" Dandridge and Virginia Dade . . . Theron Kirk and Evelyn Weems . . . and Gowen Van Brunt and Ameera Graham . . . while Robert Wallington and Barbara Abbott promised to follow if the other couples would pave the way.

Enthusiasm ran high, wide, and handsome up at the Elks, Sunday night as we rushed in to get in on this most crucial game between the Alphas and the Kappas.

The gang couldn't quite decide on which team was the favorite of the evening what with Wilbur Ashford back in perfect form with the Alpha line-up and "Drippy" Williams in there to give his Kappa brothers his support . . . But Frances Carroll (who by the way came to the game with the Nick and Sam Taylors but left with Melvin Nickerson) was placing little bets on the Kappas and raising them with every basket the Kappas made . . . while Chuck Stovall and Ada Keys urged the Alphas on.

Playing a harder game than both the teams Mary and Archibald Woodyard and Simietta LaVigne were too limp after the game to stay for the dancing . . .

YOUNG WOMEN'S TEA TO AID OUTDOOR LIFE, HEALTH ASS'N

Members of the Young Women's club of Hamilton M. E church will be hostesses at a tea Sunday, April 24, at the beautiful home of Miss Ruby Jefferson, 2134 West 30th street, from 3 to 7 p. m.

The tea is being given in the interest of the Outdoor Life and Health association which is in the midst of a drive for funds for the completion of its rest home in Duarte.

Offering to eject the referee from the game were Dorothy Tabor and Fred Allen who were staunch Alpha rooters while sister, Bertha Tabor with "Sef" McCoy divided the family loyalty and rooted for the Kappas.

Sitting in the party with Emily and Wilbur Mason, Willa Gene Ashford tried to be a good sport and root for both sides, but when the going got rough for the "Apes", was forced to confine it to their side.

Donald Derricks and Charlotte Hartsfield had such smug looks after the game was over but refrained from rubbing the victory in . . . Reggie Williams, all bedecked out in leis, with Dottie Carlyle was boasting that he could have foretold the score and saved the boys the trouble of even playing the game . . . but Roger Hogan and Mallie Simmons disagree somewhat strenuously on that score.

Kate Collins and Gordon Dixon saved their energy for dancing afterwards . . . Margery Stokeley, Ernestine Beasley, and Cornelius Johnson were seen congratulating the boys who played such a grand game of basketball.

Sorry that the present basketball series were over Horace Hampton and Betty Collins, Martha Waugh and George Cushnie, Vera Henderson and Boyd Conjurs, were heard discussing next season's basketball games . . . while Allan Robinson, wandered around with a sort of far-away look in his eye . . . Could it be that he's thinking of Lawana Davis, way back at Spelman?

Prairie View Head Acknowledges Local Club's Fund

A letter from W. R. Banks, principal of the Prairie View State Normal and Industrial College, Prairie View, Texas, acknowledged the student loan fund established by the L. A.-Prairie View Club. The letter was received by Clarence S Smith, president of the local college club and expressed the institution's pleasure for the consideration. Miss Jessie Duplantier, a member of the May graduating class and an honor student, received the loan of $50.

The fund is a revolving one which will be paid with small interest to the local club which will, in turn, be lent to another student. Aside from the establishment of this fund, the Los Angeles Prairie View club donated $25 on a Hammond Electric Organ which is being installed by the school by friends and alumni. In a statement to the EAGLE, Mr. Smith said, "The club thanks the public for the splendid cooperation that made this award possible". The club is planning to continue raising money for the institution. Mrs. Ethel Davis is secretary.

La Jovials to Stage Dansante

Final preparations are being made for the La Jovial club post-Easter tea and fashionable dansante to be held in the Club Alabam, 4217 Central Avenue on Sunday, April 24, from four to eight o'clock in the evening.

A program, interspersed by the dancing, will feature stage and radio favorites. Among them: Willie Covan's Kiddies, Mary Etta Jones, and King Jackerson of the Negro Hour; from the Nash Dance Studio, Betty Treadwell; and the Hi Hatters from the Big Apple . . . There will also be presented the club's selection of the ten best dressed women of Los Angeles.

Hundreds Pay Homage to Booker T. Washington

By EDNA G. SMITH

The second annual Booker T. Washington program presented at Second Baptist church Sunday evening, under direction of the Booster club of that popular church, met with enthusiastic response from social and religious bodies throughout the city. The spacious auditorium was comfortably filled and the hearty applause accorded each number was a testimonial of love for the wizard of Tuskegee--that greatest of the great in the field of learning, Booker T. Washington.

Children thrilled the audience with quotations and highlights from his life and work and sweet voiced singers set ablaze a greater love of race in expressions of appropriate songs.

This gathering set aglow a light that illuminates the nation in the effort to observe an annual Booker T. Washington Day in every city, town and hamlet, and doubtless snext year will meet with a response bordering on nation-wide.

The program received marked attention from the organ prelude to the benediction. The crowning feature was the address "Life and Work of Booker T. Washington" by Mr. Paul R. Williams, noted architect, and his fire-side style of delivery captivated his hearers. The speaker was at his best and his remarks showed careful preparation.

These lines would not be complete without a word of commendation for the sponsors--the Second Baptist Booster Club, an organization that stands No. 1 in the ranks of "doers". The Washington observance is the brain child of the club's president, Mrs. Vassie D. Reese. Last but by no means least, Paul Lawrence Dunbar was given special recognition, as Mr. Cyrus Kellar removed the veil from a large portrait of the race's poet laureate, The Tuskegee Song, one of his musings was sung by members of the Tuskegee Club and the rendition of "When Melinda Sings" by Mme. Eliazbeth Ford, and Dunbar's "Dawn" sweetly sung by Mrs. Eloise Lee.

Other classy contributions to the program included a piano solo by Miss Helen Dundee, a vocal solo by Mrs. Ethel Miller-Thomas accompanied by Prof. Hall Johnson.

Mrs. Anna Griffith-Morrow's Vesper Choir and Octette as usual did honor to both themselves and the occasion. "The New Tuskegee" a very fine talk was made by Mr. A. R. Moseley. Atty. Lloyd C. Griffith acted as Master of Ceremonies.

'Better Giving Sunday' at Trinity

Aside from culminating Holy Week services in a triumphant Easter worship, Trinity Baptist church at 36th and Normandie will observe "Better Giving Sunday" in keeping with the fifth week of its "Better Trinity" drive. Easter sunrise services are planned with the senior and junior choirs and baptismal rites to support the pastor's message on "The First Day of the Week".

Settings for the illuminated cross which has added to the impressive Holy Week services were created by William Gibbs and capacity audiences of the Westside and adjacent communities have been in attendance nightly. "The Seven Utterances From the Cross" will be the subject of the closing sermon Friday night according to Dr. J. L. Caston, pastor, who has been the speaker throughout the week.

During the drive, new improvements to the church include: an enlarged rostrum, new carpet, new silk velour drapes and a specially constructed sound system.

Housing Problem to Be Discussed By Council

"The first of a series of activities around the problem of housing in our community, will be the educational meeting of the L. A. Council National Negro Congress on Friday, April 15th", Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins, executive chairman of the council, announced today.

"Many people are unfamiliar with the terms of the various housing bills and one of the purposes of the educational meeting will be to give this information to the general public," Mr. Hawkins declared.

Speakers for the meeting include: Walter Wright Alley, executive Director of the Metropolitan Housing Council, Robert Parker who has done special research on housing for the Board of Supervisors, and Dr. Eva W. Young.

A film showing housing conditions in various sections of Los Angeles County, which has been compiled by the Board of Health will also be featured on the program.

The general public is invited to attend the meeting. Ample time will be allowed for questions and discussion by members of the audience. The meeting will be held Friday, April 15th at the Wesley Comunity Center, 1029 E. Vernon avenue at 8 p. m.

New Church Clinic Established

Something new in church lines has recently been established by the Doctors of the Seventh Day Adventist Church when some weeks ago announcement was made of the opening of "A Tonsil Clinic" free to members of the church and to those not members as well where a reconstruction method of the latest type is offered to suffers from enlarged or diseased tonsils. These doctors have found that often it is not necessary to remove tonsils but rather to rebuild them and those treated have expressed themselves as highly benefited by the attention rendered. For this purpose the doctors in charge have fitted up the school office and reception room for their work, installing the very latest machines at no expense to those suffering. The clinic location is 1194 East 35th street and every Tuesday evening from 6:30 to 9 p. m.

Nurses in attendance will welcome anyone to the benefits of this clinic. The only requirement is that no one eat anything whatever after 3 p. m. of the clinic day. This is very important for none can be treated if they have taken any food after the hour of three o'clock. Children must be accompanied by their parents and adults will be treated free as well as children

ZION TEMPLE CHURCH
1315 E. Vernon Avenue
Bishop Butler, Pastor

At 5 o'clock on Easter Sunday morning, a beautiful Easter Sunrise service will be held at the Temple. An appropriate musical program will be rendered, after which the pastor will speak on the subject: "Unused Spice". Altar meditation will close the services. Members of the Temple Of Truth church from the City of Wilmington will worship with us on this occasion. All who plan to attend, are asked to be in their seats for the Processional promptly at 5 p. m. Visitors are cordially invited.

At eleven o'clock the Sunday school will be in charge of the service, and will render a full Easter program, under the direction of Mrs. Ella Mae Wilson. Night services begin promptly at 8 p. m. This service will be marked by a special musical program by the choir, under the direction of Mr. Gilbert Allen, musical director, who will present several great soloists. Worship with us at Zion Temple on Easter Sunday morning.

Independent Prepares for Record Easter

In anticipation of the greatest Easter crowd in the history of the church, Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister, announced this week that loud speakers would be placed outside the People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, as well as in the annex, next Sunday morning, with chairs in the street around the church so that the entire service can be enjoyed.

Officials of the church believe it will be a welcome innovation in the community because of the overflow crowds at all churches on Easter Sunday. Extra ushers will be placed on duty to care for the comforts of the worshippers.

The Easter processional will also be seen by those not able to be seated within the church, and Rev. Russell will make personal appearances before all the groups not in the auditorium during the course of the program.

Easter exercises will begin promptly at 10:50, immediately following the regular broadcast and close at 12:30, the pastor stated.

At 3:30 baptism services will be held for those who have recently professed religion. The N. P. Greggs Gospel Choir will furnish the music at this hour.

At 7:30 the spectacular musicale, "The Story of Calvary', will be presented by the senior choir of more than 80 voices under the direction of Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew. The presentation will be beautiful, touching, picturesque, dramatically portraying the last hours of the Christ during Passion week. Striking costumes and lighting effects will enhance the spectacle.

BETHEL AME TO PRESENT CANTATA

The Senior Choir of Bethel A. M. E. Church, 1511 W. 36th St. will present the cantata, "Easter Sunrise" Friday evening, April 15, at 7:45 under the direction of Lieut. Leslie King with Mrs. Artie Mae Kingsberry as organist.

A large and appreciative audience attended the choir's Sunday Vesper service last week which featured Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew and Mrs. Lillian Dinkins.

AMEZ CHOIR IN EASTER PAGEANT

Assisted by several guest artists that are well-known in Los Angeles Musical Circles, the choir of First AME Zion Church will present a beautiful pageant of the Resurrection Sunday evening at 6:45. The sermon in song will be directed by Mrs. Florence Johnson with Mrs. Essie Saunders as organist. The choir personnel will be attired in Easter costumes in keeping with the theme presented.

WITH THE STAFF

What does an outstanding athlete think of his fellows?

In an interview with Woodrow Strode of U. C. L. A., who is considered the greatest athlete on the Pacific Coast and potentially one of the nation's all-time greats, we garnered some "inside dope" on the what and why and how and why not of certain other athletes.

The hour and a half chat with Strode stands as one of the most enjoyable professional contacts we have ever made. Strode, for all his fame and 23 years of age, is as unaffected as a child, and as friendly. His attitude toward his success is a welcome change from that of the general run.

He doesn't make light of his accomplishments. He doesn't pretend that they amount to nothing. Instead, he points out the reason why and how it all happened to him. And without conscious display of modesty, he credits the major degree of his success to others, especially the coaches and administration out at Westwood.

This isn't supposed to be a eulogy of Strode, although one might easily be written. Rather, it is an analysis of Strode's contemporaries, just as he gave it to us the other night.

There was something very delightful in the answer to the question "What do you think of Kenny Washington?"

"Oh, my boy is tops," came the reply, as quick as it was short.

There is one of those Damon and Pythias friendships existing between the two youths. It was formed when they went out for freshman football but is based on a good deal more than the tie of the only two colored boys out for the team. Strode understands Kenny and looks upon him as the most versatile and competent athlete in the West.

He thinks Kenny could be exceptional in the shotput, pointing out that he tossed it 46 feet in one of the recent meets after only three days practice. But he doesn't think Kenny will go into track and field seriously because of his fondness for football and baseball.

Up at Stanford the past week-end where the Bruins' baseball and track teams met the Indians, Kenny, who plays shortstop, knocked a homer over the centerfield fence, which Strode was informed has been done only once before and that by a Detroit professional.

From Kenny we turned to Bill Lacefield, who with Strode and the Thomases, Berkeley and Bradley, are keeping U. C. L. A. from anonymity this track season.

Lacefield is another of those all-around athletes that Jefferson High school produces. Strode was enthusiastic over Lacefield's basketball as well as track ability.

He doesn't think there is anyone on the Pacific Coast who can beat the bespectacled youth in the broadjump, with the possible exception of Mack Robinson, Olympic champion, who has more speed than Lacefield.

Lacefield should take the high hurdles championship also, Strode opines, calling attention to the 14.7 time of Lacefield's last victory.

Long, lanky Tom Berkeley, Strode thinks, should be the outstanding low hurdler in the country. Personally, we feel that way, too. Tom is built for the hurdles, and for any other athletic event he wants to enter. It seems that Tom's personal hurdle is the over-dose of confidence Fullerton Junior college imbued him with, when he was head-man in the athletic and scholastic hall of fame down there.

Hal Sinclair, from Jefferson, is Westwood's unknown quantity, Strode said. Ineligible this year, Sinclair will not be able to demonstrate what he really has until competition next Spring. However, Strode's opinion was that Sinclair is one of the fastest sprinters out here—with ample room for development.

Strode, himself, is something of a big man, six feet, three inches of magnificent proportions. Therefore, it was amusing to hear him rave about the powerful frame of Tom Bradley, Polytechnic's contribution to the hills of Westwood.

When Tom learns to run, to handle that big body, especially on the curves—the track curves he means—he should be a record-breaker in the middle distances.

Bryant Allen, the prep school dynamo of last year, is on his way back, Strode says. Playing in an orchestra nights got Allen out of condition and its hard for the big fellow to get back into condition—when Bryant has done so, he should continue his speed burning.

The elemental rules for conditioning are the ten commandments for Westwood's Woodrow Wilson — eight hours sleep, wholesome food in gargantuan portions, no dissipation and no "domesticating" wimmin'.

Negroes are built for speed and the sprints, he believes. With few exceptions, however, they are not built for the distances.

Structure characteristics like the arched rump and the tightened muscles in the small of the back, hamper us in the long races. Contrast this, he pointed out, to Indians and Finns, who rule the distances. Their waistlines are thick and the rump is low and,—oh, well, you get the mental picture.

Speaking of physiques — Strode's of course has been the subject of admiration since the undress season started . . . They say the sorority girls keep pictures of him in Olympian poses on their dressing tables . . . Thus far, however, no one has mentioned his feet . . . They're wonderful . . . they're size 14.

"WHAT price baseball," to paraphrase the title of a once popular film. Not to the bleachers and grandstand, as that is generally known, but to the game guy holding the sack in case it rains--meaning the clubowner. Eight Pacific Coast league clubs have about completed their spring training, and it costs a lot of dough, figuratively and literally to feed and condition two hundred athletes--twenty-five to the club. But far more than that number have passed through the mill and the menus. The average club at one time or another has about thirty-five players in camp. These must be fed and bedded. And it is a caution how some of these husky rookies with both arms free can qualify for the dining room decathalon wading into the high-priced hotel grub.

Here are some of the financial items of one Coast league club in training. Salaries of trainers and coaches $750.00. Rubbing liniment $25.00. Miscellaneous $200.00. Entertainment $250.00. Room and board for players $3,100.00. Baseballs and bats for spring training period $450.00. Transportation for players from homes to training camp $1700.00. Uniforms $1,400.00. This adds up to around $8,000.00. Then it costs around $200.00 in salaries to park employees to open the plant for the opening game. It costs some clubs more than others to train, depending on conditions, but $7,000.00 per club probably is a fair average. Eight times $7,000.00 is $56,000.00. That is the financial "nut" of the league as a whole before it opens its gates. That is, the "nut" created just in the course of spring training. The club from whom the above figures were secured has in the past three months spent $37,000.00 for new players. So it is in the hole approximately $45,000 before the four-bit pieces start clinking at the box office. In this is not included the salaries of an office force of six required to take care of the multitude of details involved in conducting a baseball club. No, it is no game for a piker.

Then, after opening day, there follows more than five and a half months of steady expenses--salaries, park and ground help doctor bills, transportation and hotel expenditures. It costs approximately $650.00 to place two clubs on the field for their daily penses, interest on investment, advertising, insurance, rental or depreciation or replacement of players through purchases. Then game. That is just salaries for the players and park help. It does not include salaries of managers, transportation and hotel ex- if a few choice dates are rained out--wow! The bills just keep piling in. A very large proportion of the money paid in at the box office by the fans is put right back into circulation--sometimes all of it, or more than is taken in.

KAPPAS TROUNCE ALPHAS TO WIN FRAT CAGE SERIES

New High in Enthusiasm, Rivalry as Alphas Fall, 32-23

By ALMENA DAVIS

Unless Governor Merriam and Lieut.-Gov. Hatfield decide to shoot it out on a basketball court for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, the basketball season was finally closed last Sunday night at the Elks' Hall on the Eastside.

The season was officially terminated with the Southern California tournament play-offs two weeks ago, but the Eastside has been the scene of a private war for the past two weeks, the principals being the two leading college fraternities, Alpha Kappa Alpha and Kappa Alpha Psi.

They stowed away the basketball paraphernalia with fitting fraternity spirit Sunday night as the Kappa Kats licked the catnip off the Alphas, 32-23. The size of the crowd, its enthusiasm and the fervor of the players set a new high, putting to shame my unrestrained exuberance over a similar display at the Million Dollar-Bojangles finale two weeks ago.

JAMMED

The crowd occupied every cranny and corner of the auditorium, excepting only the actual playing floor and at forty cents a head, less the dead-heads like the press and the players' girls, you can gather the frats made themselves considerable loose change.

People from all walks of life were there, those that went to college, those that passed through, by or over it-prominent dignitaries, college boys, (traditionally lit), envious high school lads and just plain folks.

To get down to the game proper--the score ending in favor of the Kapas defeated the frats' own purpose, but no one seemed to mind. The original plan was to play three games, the Kappas winning the first, the Alphas the second and the winner being declared on the third night.

ASHFORD OUT

The Kappas secured their victory in the first part of the last half when Alpha Wilbur Ashford went out on fouls. Ashford was the classiest thing on the floor, high point man that far in the game and doing double duty at guard. Eagle-eyed Skippy Buford called the fourth foul on him when there was about fifteen minutes of play left and pas insisting that Ashford be benched.

Benching Ashford unbottled John Randolph, who boosted his total to twelve points and the Kappas to the lead.

KATS HAVE BETTER TEAM

Taken as a whole the Kappas have the better team. Magellan Mars, Charles Hill and Randolph have played for Fresno State. Johnny and Al Brewer are basketball veterans of Jefferson and Fresno and local Y teams. Drippy Williams has grandstanded for the best teams from Washington, D. C. to the Pacific Coast and Bob Green had height as compensation for skill.

In George Curry, diminutive and rough, the Alphas had something, but not enough of it. Jimmy and Al Robinson are average and the rest are slightly below that.

Kappas will adjourn to Oakland this week end to take on their Northern brothers. They are hopeful of a victory, but it's my guess they'll go lacking.

RACE TRACK

By JAY GOULD

Bay Meadow week-end crowds may keep Bill Kyne out of the red.

California Racing dates have been slashed from 235 days to 185 this year. Calender shows that Christmas falls on Sunday. Santa Anita opens the Monday following for 36 days which 6 days will be run the last 6 days in December and 30 days into 1939.

Mick Dwyer, Boss of the Bay Meadows mutual machines, has charge off all of the California fairs and will be Boss of thier machines.

Bill Blanton, Trainer around Chicago tracks, may persuade Buddy Coleman and Mike Sneed Chicago big shots, to buy a stable of horses—but hasn't yet.

Ligaoti will beat Seabiscuit in Bill Kyne's 15 grand Handicap, so don't hold Ligaoti pennyanti.

Benny Harper, manager of a stable of Boxers in Billings, Montana, hocked the family plate to bet on Sea Biscuit when he lost. Benny is still mourning.

Steve Brody now at Auga Calente and one time big shot, is taking his meals in carry-your-own. Maybe its because Steve's tips are short just now.

Jim English, ex-Jockey and horse owner has not married or divorced for some time. His present wife has held the contract for 12 years. Jim has a record of 7 weddings and divorces.

Clocker Tom, race track plunger, ready to go East from Los Ageles was told by Benny Ayers that the streamline had new plush seats, but Tom said he wouldn't know about that. If you know what I mean.

Walter Green of race track fame, must live a heck of a life, poor boy, with someone handing him a 1938 car, diamonds and cash for swell outfits.

John Payne formerly of Portland, Ore., and his charming missus who made him a present of 80 grand was at Bay Meadows playing in the $50 window, t'other day.

Eleanor Calhoun cashed in on the $84 horse at Bay Meadows t'other day and motored away singing "It's Nice If You Can Get It".

MINNEAPOLIS, April 14—Lightheavyweight champion John Henry Lewis will meet Emilio Martinez, lefthanded Mexican fighter, in a fifteen round title bout April 25.

Bojangles Get Another Crack at MDP

After a whole week of controversy, it was decided finally that Bill Robinson's Bojangles and the Million Dollar basketball five will play one more game, a special "grudge" match next Sunday night at the Elks Hall.

And all because Bill Robinson noted tap dance king who arrived here three days after the recent Million Dollar-Bojangles series has never seen his team play. Smarting even more than the team over the fact that not only did they let Million Dollar win the Southern California gold trophy, but also make a comeback over them after losing badly, Bill swears that if he had been here, his team would have won. He believes he can coach them from the sidelines to victory over the studio team.

Ralph Cooper has agreed to the special match, allowing the Bojangles another chance, even against advice. He realizes it is a risky thing to give a loser another chance to turn the tables, and sour the fruits of a well earned victory, but said he, "well after all if we lose they'll know they've been in their toughest game, and if we win again, nothing will please me better than to see the look on Bill's face."

In the Bojangles line-up will be Williams, Kilgore, Harding, Garland, Reeves, Ashford, Thornton, Harden, King and Brewer. Million Dollar will have Ralph Cooper, "Battling" Bert King, "Easy" Easter, "Lank" Price, "Father" Myles, "Sug" Morrison, and "Pigmeat" Cook.

4 Boxers Win National AAU Titles

BOSTON, April 14. (ANP) — Four colored boxing stars, three of them members of the 1938 Chicago and New York Golden Gloves teams, were crowned National AAU champions in the annual tournament which ended Wednesday night before 10,000 spectators at the Boston Garden. These champions, who fought their way to victory in a starting field of many thousand in district meets, are numerically half of the eight winners.

Titleholders are Bobby Carroll of Newark, N. J., New York Golden Glover, 112 pounds; Bradley Lewis, New York, middleweight; William Muldune, Cleveland, Chicago Golden Glover, lightheavyweight, and Dan Merritt, Cleveland, Chicago Golden Gloves, heavyweight.

Three other Negroes reached the finals only to lose. Jackie Simmons of Kansas City, lost the featherweight championship after being knocked down by Bill Eddy, white, of Flint, Mich., in the second round.

THE SNOOPER

By LUCILLE MARIAN DYE

Hi, Reabs:

Here's hoping you're ready to hear a little gossip or news I should say, I must say: The Kappa "Kats" and the Alpha's "Apes" basketball game was a killer with the Kats nosing out a score of 40 to the Apes 30. I'm telling you I never witnessed such a thrilling game in all my life. Everybody you can think of was there, all togged down if you know what I mean. So much, for that jive--watch for their next game this Sunday at the Elks . . . All City track meet proved very successful at LAHi last Saturday afternoon. With the Jeff tracksters really starring, among those seen there that were great sprinters in their days and still are, were: James O'Neal, Dunbar Hunt, Lawrence Boswell, Arthur Adams, Henry Hawkins, Wilbur Miller and others.

Now for the dirt—What's the misunderstanding between Billy Dye and Hicky Crozier over Teddy Jacobs, if you ask me I don't think there's any, as he's now seen quite a bit with that cute Chicago "chick", Betty Fulton. I'd say mo power, son, mo power. . . . Chuck Henderson and Japalyn Allen seem to be the only one in each others life, if all were like this maybe it would be better.

It was said very wrongly that Janet Pearson "perangie" and Toru Takahashi were on the out and outs but let me tell you they're just gettin' on fine saw them a couple of days ago together, so if that don't mean nothing to our busy bodies so what? . . . What's the matter with Doris Perry and George Harpo these days?? . . . Godwin Van Brant and Miriam Grant are doing alright for themselves and were thoroughly enjoying the basketball game Sunday nite . . . What's this we hear about Melvin Webb and Vera Collins being on the outs and outs, maybe that's why Francis is all smiles these days. . . I guess Almo Phelps is not a ladies man after all I hear he's quite settled for the time being in Elizabeth Mills' life . . . The Three On a Match this week among the younger set are Eldridge Woods, Martha Jackson, Johnnie Mae Fackle, but I wonder if he's just jiving Johnnie . . . Joe Mills and Jo Thomas continue to get mad and then go back as all lovers do, but it doesn't mean anything in the love affair . . . Puzzle of the week . . . Why does or did Walter Goodlow have to pay $2.50 for a fine for bringing Madeline Wells to club (we wonder if it was worth that much) . . . We and Marian Hawkins and Evelyn Cook reviving their friendship they're seen quite a bit together I wonder how Emily Troy and Maynard Jackson are these days? I wonder what certain gals are

Compton Jaysee Swamps Cubs

Compton Junior College was looking for new laurels to win toady The Tarters won the Western Division track and field dual meet championship by thumping Los Angeles Junior College 80½ to 50½ last night.

Double wins were scored by Wilbur Miller of Compton, who won the 100 and 220-yard dashes, and Mel Berry of the Cubs, who captured both distance races. Miller set a new track record of 21.8 in the 220-yard dash.

4 Sepia Stars Save UCLA from Scalping

Just as it took two brown boys to put UCLA on the football map last season, it is taking four of them to save Westwood from complete extinction in track this spring.

If it had not been for Woodrow Strode, Bill Lacefield, Tom Berkeley and Tom Bradley, the score at Palo Alto last Saturday would have read something like 103 to 28, a virtual swamping in any language.

As it was, the efforts of the lads aforementioned enabled Westwood to finish the meet with Stanford, beaten only by the fairly respectable margin of 23 points, 77-54.

Four first places, two seconds and a place on the winning relay team was the contribution of the colored contingent. Strode put the shot 51 ft., 4 in., and flung the discus 157 ft., 7¾ inches. Berkeley took a first in the low hurdles, time 23.3 and second in the 100 yard dash. Lacefield ceded first place in the broadjump to a Stanford lad, contenting himself with second place at 23 ft., 3¾ in., but prior to that won the high hurdles in 14.7s. Tom Bradley ran third on the four man relay, Westwood will meet San Diego University at San Diego this Saturday and is favored eo win.

Democrat Nine Loses Finale, 4-2

The last game of the season brought defeat to Jefferson high school's baseball nine last week-end. The Fremont Pathfinders defeated the Democrats 4-2, placing Jefferson in third place.

Washington high won the pennant.

An injury early in the season was given as the reason pitcher Scow Thomas failed to maintain the record established last year.

Armstrong Thinks Ross Easy

That is, Easier Than Lou Ambers

To those who think Homicide Henry Armstrong should first fight Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers before meeting Barney Ross, welterweight kingpin, the little battler himself addressed a word last week when he stated he believed Ross would be easier for him to whip than Ambers.

"Ross," said the featherweight boss who hopes to be the first man in ring history to hold three titles at the same time, "can't punch harder and is no bigger than Billy Beauhuld, and I stopped him.

"Barney stands up and fights. Ambers runs and clinches. That's why I think Ross will be the easier man to lick.

"Anybody I can hit, I can hurt. Size makes no difference. I've knocked out 150 pounders in the gym and with big gloves at that.

"Another thing. Garcia's body punching must have taken lots out of Ross in his last big fight. And Barney seems to have lost his yen for fighting. Now, me, I love to fight."

Mt. Zion Baptist Church

"The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want." Last Sunday was a glorious day with us, beginning in our Sunday school and lasting throughout the day. Sunday school was opened at the usual time, by the Supt., Brother Hazel McFarlin. The teachers had charge of their classes for fifty minutes, and beautifully taught the lesson.

11 o'clock services opened with Deacon Nesbitt, reading the Scriptures, and the prayer band and Deaconesses sang and prayed to the glory of God. Rev. C. Johnson, our Pastor preached a wonderful sermon, that was both spiritual and inspiring. BYPU was opened at the usual hour by the vice president, Brother Peter Lon Morris, an appreciative audience was present, to witness the wonderful union meeting.

Devotional service was carried on by the Prayer Band, scripture lesson was read by Brother Peter Leon Morris. Just before the sermon a most pleasing solo was rendered by Mrs. Rosa Halloway of Phillips Temple. An interesting paper was read, on "Womanhood" by Mrs. C. C. Ware. Sister Janie Young, president of the Mt. Zion Missionary Society, extended a hearty welcome to our many visitors.The choir then sang, as never before, with Mrs. Winniefred McFarlin at the piano and Mrs. Winnie B. Pope acting chorister. The Pastor, then again came forward and delivered a wonderful sermon, theme, "Lift up Jesus by living as a christian should." Everyone enjoyed the sermon from beginning to end. It was so inspiring and full of practical thought, and teaching. Two additions were made to the Church. On last Saturday night Mrs. W. B. Pope entertained at dinner. Covers were laid for 16 guests. Everyone enjoyed the menu. They all departed at 8:30 and the same ones with about ten others returned to her home at 9 o'clock singing "There's A Stranger at the Door." Mrs. Babe Denny carried in a large cake with 3x17 candles on it. The affair was a surprise party on her birthday. Many beautiful and useful presents were received by Mrs. Pope, some who could not attend sent the presents and birthday cards.

On March 27th the BYPU of the Mt. Zion Baptist Church, held a Memorial service in honor of the late Rev. R. H. Boyd. An address on his life, and as a preacher, was delivered by Mrs. Winnie B. Pope, Mr. Peter Leon Morris. Rev. Keller the evangelist, gave us quite an interesting talk of his personal acquaintance with Rev. Boyd, and his family. Everyone enjoyed the program. Mrs. Lucy Norwood was mistress of ceremonies and gave out buttons and pictures of Rev. Boyd to everyone present.

The Neimiah Club of the church met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sadie Hardy. A very pleasant afternoon was spent.

TULARE, CALIF.
Visalia

Among recent outstanding events of our group was the banquet given at Redmen's Hall in Tulare March 27th. The banquet followed a business conclave, held for the purpose of organizing a protective unit for the Race in the valley. Present were representatives from practically every Valley town.

Main speaker was Atty. J. Maurice of Berkeley, who lectured and gave legal advice as to methods of procedure. William A. Bigby, Jr., of Fresno, Commander of the Legion, was also a very inspiring speaker, bringing with him other Legion members in full regalia.

Theodore Crawford, Sr., Raymond Carter, A. Kimble, Lincoln Cowing and I. N. Young, all of whom are members of the Board of Directors and Mr. Carl Young, chairman of the program committee, were promoters of the affair, with the backing of the other officers, including George Broom, Frank Milner, Arthur King, George Camp, Rev. Roy Handy Russell and Mrs. Pearl Winters, the latter four of Bakersfield.

After an interesting program of short addresses by the various directors and guests, including Rev. Burts of Tulare, president of the NAACP, the meeting adjourned to the reception hall where amid glorious spring blooms and tables artistically decorated and set, covers were laid for over sixty and dinner was served. The banquet was cooked by Miss Myrtle Robinson of Farmersville and Mrs. I. N. Young of Visalia. They were assisted in serving and table setting by Mrs. Lincoln Cowing and Miss Ruth Houston.

The primary purpose of the organization will be the protection of Race voters, to see that they get the proper recognition and economic benefits and protection, extended all American citizens. The proposed name will be "Carver's Civic Protective League". The use of the Carver name will perpetuate the memory of the outstanding scientist.

The enthusiasm of prominent valley citizens is mounting to gratifying proportions and we have every reason to expect a successful conclusion. A meeting is called for Wednesday to further promote it.

Among recent deaths in Visalia was that of Dan Burch, who passed away at a local hospital recently after a lingering illness. Relatives from Los Angeles and his immediate family were present during his last illness and at the funeral rites.

Miss Marion Hinds is visiting in Los Angeles with her sister, Mrs. Russell Albans of that city. Her mother, Mrs. Tom Hinds, is in San Francisco where her mother is ill.

Miss Jean King and Ed. Young were visitors in Visalia Saturday paying pop calls.

Miss Naomi Young was house guest, last week of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Young.

Mr. Young surprised his wife with a birthday dinner Sunday, the 10th anticipating the actual anniversary on the 12th. Also the occasion commemorated their 12th wedding anniversary. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Carter, Mr. Theodore Crawford, the host and honoree.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Strather of Los Angeles have recently moved to Tulare where they are making their home with their charming daughter.

Mrs. Arcee Pyles of Visalia was called to Bakersfield by the death of her father, Mr. Wilburn, who had been in poor health for some time.

EL CENTRO

By W. A. Payne

The several organizations of El Centro, educational, religious, fraternal and civic, sponsoring the National Negro Health Week program in this section of the state, closed one of their best efforts .In addition to the programs already reported the Adult Evening Class on Tuesday evening gave a practical demonstration of the work being conducted here by the clinic under state and county supervision. The Women's Civic and Improvement club has taken the assisting in this work as a project.

Mrs. Irene Prince presented the County Nurse in an address and directed the evening's program. The assembly Tuesday morning was addressed by Principal A. E. Prince of the Washington school. The address was closed with a series of health questons in which a volunteer group assisted by the student body participated.

Prof. L. J. Stewart, in the address Wednesday stressed "Recreation". Miss Edith Eicke the school nurse and Dr. Warren Fox, county physician, delivered Thursday's addresses and distributed literature for the pupils and for the homes. Friday's assembly closed the week's activities. The Homemaking department of the school directed by Miss Gladys Gier gave the play "A Raw Deal for Raw Milk". The afternoon was given over to a recreational program conducted by coach James Stocks. There were interclass contests in track and field events. Citzens of the community attended all the assemblies and show a growing interest in the matter of better health. The music for the series of assemblies and show a growing interest in the matter of better health. The music for the series of assemblies was programmed by Mrs. Ruth McGregor, supervisor of music. The benefits of these series of meetings will be far reaching.

Palm Sunday was chosen by two of the fraternal organizations on which to hold their Thanksgiving services. Sunday afternoon Phyllis Wheatley Temple No 526 IBPOEW held its Thanksgiving services in the Douglass high school auditorium worshipping with the Second Baptist Church. The pastor, the Rev. I. N. A capacity congregation witnessed the services of the first annual celebration by the Lily of the Valley Court No. 15 Heroines of Jericho. Mrs. Frances Burleigh as Mistress of Ceremonies conducted the beautiful ritualistic services and presented the Rev. Mr. Whitten who preached the thanksgiving sermon. Mrs. Irene Prince conducted the musical part of the program. The vocal solo "Jerusalem" sung by Mr. James Robinson one of the teachers of the Washington school was greatly appreciated. This organization though recently organized is making rapid strides in growth and service. A number of the members of Eureka Lodge of Masons attended, the Worshipful Master of the Lodge, R. J. Burleigh representing the Craft.

Troop No. 22, Boy Scouts, took part in the annual camporee conducted by the scout organization of Imperial Valley and Yuma. The camporee took place Saturday and Sunday, in the city park. Thru the activity of the University Club the boys were presented with a number of tents and went into camp fully equipped. Scoutmaster John R. Allen is being commended for the fine program he is presenting. He is a tireless worker and sees to it that no advantage for the boys is lacking. Saturday night when the boys paraded the street, John had a smile on his face that wouldn't come off.

The Kiddies' Minstrel directed annually by Mrs. A. E. Prince, was converted this year into the Black and Tan Fantasy. The entertainment was sponsored by the Women's Civic and Improvement Club. A program of music, dancing and stunts was presented by the young people that would have done credit to a much older and experienced group. They entered heartily into the program and seem to enjoy it as much as the onlookers. Excerpts from Snow White, the Hawaiian scene, and the rhythmic chorus were feature group numbers. The individual numbers were exceptionally good and received merited applause.

Mrs. Payne and daughters planned a cleverly conducted surprise birthday breakfast for husband and father. To make certain of the surprise it was tendered one day late, last Sunday morning. It was unique in that fellow Dog Housers were bidden to the surprise. Guests present were Messrs. A. E. Prince, L. J. Stewart, W. A. Jackson, John R. Allen, James Robinson. DuBois McGee, the Rev. I. N. Whitten and the surpris-ee, W. A. Payne. Other charter members were out of the city. Place cards, believe it or not, were dog houses, carefully guarded by little doggies. Among the many useful and questionable presents was his first can of Lucky Strike tobacco and his first briar pipe (maybe!). Mr. J. L. Jones was a guest at the breakfast.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Simpson of Los Angeles, surprised their many friends in this section last Sunday morning with a visit. Sir Simpson is prominent in Pythian and Masonic circles and Mrs. Simpson is active in the work of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. After visiting acquaintances in El Centro, they motored to Calexico and from there across the mountain to San Diego. The visit was greatly appreciated. Accompanying them were Misses Taylor, Cunningham and Johnson.

Misses Lenore Cooper, Gervaisse Jones, Ruby Hubert: Mesdames Ruth Johnson, Ruth P. McGregor; and Messrs. James Stocks and George Venable were visitors to the coast during the week-end.

Messrs. Samuel Hooks and Jethro Hardy visited relatives and friends here the week-end.

During the past week there have been fires at the O'Bannon, Baker, and Goss residences in the East El Centro section. The damage was slight.

Johnson's Chapel AME church and the Second Baptist church are taking part in the daily union services that are being conducted at the United Artists' theatre this week. The Rev. Hayter and the Rev. Whitten are appearing on the program of the week. Mrs. R. J. Burleigh will render a vocal solo next Friday noon.

"SHALL THE RAILS PASS THE TIN CUP AGAIN?" SO ASKS ONE OF NATION'S NOTED R. R. FIGURES

By CLARENCE R. JOHNSON

Current economic conditions, according to a report from the American Association of Railways, is producing a disturbing effect on the financial solvency of the nation's railways. The operating officials of the carriers think that a solution of this chaotic condition is through the ruthless slashing of wages of all rail employes EXCEPT, the officials who thought up the brilliant idea. Elementary thinking proves that this is fallacious in the extreme.

If the operating officials believe that the little "TIN CUP" must be again passed, let it be amongst those best able to make contributions. Certainly the workers contributed generously their share of "alms" during a previous period of financial insolvency. The employes contributed Four Hundred and Seventy-Five Million Dollars toward the financial stability of the roads. This was done in the form of wage deductions.

Let's examine the rail financial question. One thing is certain, the present circumstances in which the carriers find themselves certainly is not due to high wages paid these employes, and to explode the myth of so-called high wages one needs only to peruse the pages of a report completed in the halcyon day of 1929 by the United States Labor Department, Bureau of Child Welfare, covering maintenance of way workers, their wages and living standards or one might turn to the more recent report entitled "Wages of Rail Workers" which was a survey made by the former Coordinator of Transportation.

The railway heads through publicity and propaganda would have the public believe that the present financial circumstances in which the carriers find themselves is due to increased operating cost, mainly attributable to increase in wages granted in the year of 1937. Nothing is farther from the truth.

The financial burden which railways operate under grows out of manipulation on the part of certain owners of the railways. The Pullman Company, Refrigerated Car Companies, The Equipment and Trust Companies and the Bondholders must share the responsibility to a large extent for the present nsolvency of the roads. This fact was testified to by an influential rail executive at a recent hearing of the Senate inter-state Commerce Committee.

During the year 1920 the rail industry supported more than two million employes and its annual wage bill was approximately two billion dollars more than at the present time. Between the period of 1920 to 1937 rail employment decreased by more than one million employes in productive output increased more than 25 per cent. The introduction of technological improvements, the application of other scientific methods in rail operations further substantially decreased the operating cost, thereby providing a larger profit for those who controlled and owned the roads.

In dollars and cents the wages of rail employes in relationship to their efficiency over a period of twenty years has by no means kept pace or been commensurate. For instance, in the year of 1920 for every dollar invested in wages, employes gave in return a profit of $1.68. In 1937 for every dollar paid in wages the employes returned $2.10 in profit to the carriers. Considering the indebtedness of the carriers and the ability of the employes to produce efficient service to decrease this indebtedness, we present some interesting facts:

During an eighteen year period, the productive efficiency of rail employes nearly doubled. For every $12.00 in outstanding rail debentures in 1920, this had been decreased thru employe efficiency by $8.81. In other words, rail workers, through their phenomenal efficiency decreased the bonded debts of the carriers more than 73 per cent. Wages, however, remained practically static during this time except for the huge deductions between 1932 and 1934.

The LAUNDRYMAN

Hello, folks, I stumbled on to some laundry the other day that was very much soiled, so since no one else seems to want to tackle it, I'm going to hang it out on the line. What I'm referring to is the high prices that the Home Owners Loan Corporation is asking for antique properties in the colored section of Los Angeles.

Recently, in my daily travels I have noticed quite a few For Sale signs of the Home Loan Corp. on various properties in our neighborhood. Upon inquiring as to the prices asked I found that in every instance almost, they ranged from five hundred to one thousand dollars more than the place was worth. (When I say worth, I mean according to the actual valuation of the property judged by bank and building loan appraisals). I know whereof I speak because I formerly sold real estate myself before I got to be the Laundryman.

I know of a certain ancient house which they have recently repainted and placed on the market, which is priced at $3,000.00 so I understand. The house is a landmark when compared with the others in the block, and I am positive that no bank or building loan company in this town would lend more than $1,000 on it. The average house in our neighborhood for which they are asking three thousands dollars, is actually worth only about twenty-five hundred at the most, according to bank valuation.

My assertion can be easily proven in the following way. Just go to any bank where you do business, select at random any five or six-room house that the Home Owner's Loan has for sale in our district, and try to get even a seventy per cent F. H. A. loan on the price asked. The banker will tell you politely that the district is not in the proper zone, that that particular type of house is too old, and so forth and son on. He will spout so many different objections, that you will finally sneak away feeling very much ashamed of yourself for having broached such an impossible proposition.

A visit to almost any building and loan company will net similar results. On their basis of a fifty per cent loan on the appraised valuation, you will find that most of the property is priced way too high. Since the banks and building loan companies are unquestionably the final arbiters of property valuations, it seems wholly unfair that we should be asked to pay prices which are beyond their standards. Either the banks and building loan companies are goofy, or else the Home Loan Corporation needs to put some appraisers on their staff who are thoroughly conservant with the peculiar conditions which exist in Negro districts.

The next question is: What are we going to do about it? Shall we follow our usual course of procedure and just grumble individually, and let it go at that? I say No, There is only one effective way to strike at this type of injustice and that is by Organized Effort. Such an effort should rightfully be made by the colored real estate men of Los Angeles, stoutly seconded, if possible by the NAACP. Through the organized efforts of these two bodies, I believe that this state of affairs could be corrected. A petition . . . or if necessary a flock of petitions should be drawn up and signed by every colored broker in the City, and forwarded to the Heads of the Home Owner's Loan Corporation in San Francisco. Or, if no redress can be made there, to the Head offices in Washington, D. C. Such a petition should call their attention to the habitual over-appraisal of properties in Negro districts, stating the grounds upon which the petition is based, and requesting that the situation be looked into and investigated.

And, if we don't succeed at first, try it agin and again. Publicity is the great weapon of this century, and if we holler long and loud enough, something will be done about it—more especially since voting time is drawing near.

The masses of our people are drawing pitifully low wages at this time. They need every dime they can get their hands on. And every dollar, over and above bank and building loan valuations, which they contract to pay for homes, presses them farther down on the economic ladder, and likewise every member of our Race: For we Rise, or fall, together. So long Folks.

Easter is Season for Serious Contemplation of Religion

By Miriam Matthews

"We cannot live richly and fully, and certainly not hopefully and joyously, without the mystery of the Unknown, without the thought of something beyond our earthly existence," according to William Lyon Phelps in his inspirational book called "Easter: The World's Best News."

What better season could be found than Easter for a serious contemplation of religion and what it has meant to man through the ages and what it has come to mean to us today? It is well for us to know why we believe as we do and also to understand something of the foundations of other faiths, even though Emerson says: "I do not find that the age or country makes the least difference—all sensible and conscientious men all over the world are of one religion."

After presenting an account of all the principal religions of the world in his "Ten Great Religions," James Freeman Clarke attempts to show what they all teach on the different points of human belief. He considers what is the essential Idea of God in all religions, how it began and in what way it was developed. In the same manner he traces the other phases of the religious life, from their simplest beginnings to their fullest outcome.

The Bible and other moral works throughout the ages have inspired all civilizations and made life more livable and beautiful. Ernest S. Bates has recently published a beautiful volume which he has called "The Bible Designed to Be Read as Living Literature". It is more than likely that many readers of the book will be led directly by the acquaintance made with its literary treasures —to extend their reading of the scriptures to its richer treasures.

Scientists, captains of industry and many others agree that man has need of spiritual food as you will discover if you read: Wm. Brown's "Pathways to Certainty"; Henry C. Link's "Return to Religion"; Harry Fosdick's "What Religion Means to Me"; L. Abbott's "Seeking After God" and many others of equal interest.

These books may be borrowed from the Vernon and Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Libraries.

THIS WAS LOS ANGELES

A letter to loved ones at home, written by a soldier about to go overseas in the great World War, caught our attention while thumbing through the musty "Eagle" files, bound copies of twenty-five years ago.

Penned by young Tom Shores to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shores, founders of a prominent Southern California family, the letter was printed without comment, embellishment or headline in the April 13th, 1918 issue of the "Eagle".

Just as it was therein, unadorned eloquence and accepted realism, we have reproduced it herein.

As an added note: Young Tom, just as he calmly assured his parents, was not killed in conflict, but returned home safely after the Armistice—

Letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shores—

Long Island, N. Y.
March 12, 1918

I am writing to you this time, Father, as I want you to use your own judgement in breaking the news to Mother what I want her to know. I am going to tell you so she won't feel so shocked by reading it all by herself. We are going to sail across in about three or four weeks. We are going to have our farewell parade in New York about the 23rd and after that we are going to sail anytime. And the same smile that I left dear old Los Angeles with--I will leave New York with the same ones. It is a smile that can never come off as I have made my peace with God and I am not worried about anything. As one of our sayings says: "Pack up your troubles in your old kit bag and smile, smile, smile".

Believe it, "Pack up your troubles in your old kit bag and smile, smile, smile."

I realize the responsibility that Uncle Sam has put upon my shoulders but I am thankful to know that I am man enough to stand it all. I am fighting for the lives at home as well as for myself, so you see why I am not worried when I can kill two birds with one stone.

Say, father, the reason that

We're Stuck! Deadline Meaningless A Few Personalities

Well, here is deadline for this column and, frankly, we're stuck for ideas. There are numerous topics we could comment on but, at one time or another we've touched on them before. It's just one of those things. All columnists, at one time or another, usually admit a so-called columnar lapse — at which time the bright little idea for standing the world on its ear is lost in the mental jumble.

As we write this, thoughts strike us but they fail to register as something which might make interesting reading, colored with our interpretation.

Take these, for instance:

There was the youth conference last Sunday at Avalon Christian church. Without a doubt, a noble effort to arrive at a constructive solution to the jobs problem, with Percy Williams in the driver's seat.

The Anti-Lynching Bill is still very much alive, according to the NAACP, which should be welcome news to the many proponents and sympathizers of the bill. At the same time, NAACP releases state that Congress, as yet, has failed to take any action on President Roosevelt's mob proposal. And after, FDR's losing Reorganization Bill fight, his anti-lynch suggestion may remain just that — a suggestion.

Then there is the reawakening or something of that nature which may be associated with the local Liberty Building and Loan Association. Its weekly news releases show a grasp of housing interpretations and benefits under new set-ups which compares with any similar organization. It is making a definite comeback.

Rally to aid of George Farley, held for murder of two marshals who tried to evict him from his home because of a small debt, becomes ever widening in its scope each week. The case was a sensational one from the start and will likely remain so.

Alabama's former senator, Thomas J. Heflin, has announced his intention of running for Congress again. Unwelcome news to most Afro-Americans as Heflin's past record is one that has held nothing "for" and mostly "against" them.

There was the "swing concert" in N. Y.'s Abyssinia Baptist church, pastored by young Adam Powell, who created quite a stir in a West Coast visit a year or so ago. Such jazz high-ups as Duke Ellington and the Bros. Nicholas provided a "jam session" in the pulpit. But we have always shied away from the subject of religion in this column and we don't hesitate to do so now. So there!

Every week-end the exploits of Strode, Lacefield, Berkeley, Bradley of UCLA; Lankford brothers, Direaux of Jefferson High; Wilbur Miller of Compton jaysee, smack the nation's sports fans squarely between the eyes because of excellent performances on track and field. We know they are good, so does the opposition, therefore we fail to get up a lather in trying to convince readers, who are already convinced, that they are better-than-average.

Then Joe Louis is doing all right by himself, too. Near a million dollars in ring earnings, and two prospective two million dollar fights in the offing, the Brown Bomber may eclipse all records. But you know all about that.

Another champion, Hank Armstrong, is another one who is providing security for his family and himself by using his fists well. And a likely one hundred grand will come his way this summer. And you know that!

So, don't you see that what we said at the beginning of the column still holds good? You knew all about it all the time, and we are still convinced that this could have been left unsaid, but we had a column to fill, and we're stuck with this story of a meaningless deadline.

Ira Smith told this dept. a story the other day about this fellow Lacey, now deceased by a week, who owned at one-time what was known as the "Only Negro Circus in the World". According to Ira, in Lacey's troupe was a Negro woman snake charmer, who bewitched reptiles so thoroughly that she wouldn't extract the fangs. She would go out into the fields and get them for her act . . . Vivian Osborne Marsh, national president of the Delta sorority, is being tendered a reception tonight at the "Y" . . . Wm. Grant Still, noted composer, continues to rate Guggenheim Awards, just receiving his third . . . Edward Grubbs, hit the streets with a new magazine recently; it's called "Silhouette", an interesting review of stage, screen and radio personalities.

WOMEN who are ACTIVE and CHEERFUL every day of the month

MANY women are active and cheerful every day of the month—cheerful the whole month through.

For others, there may be two or three days when they just can't be cheerful. Theirs may be a condition which Cardui would benefit, or it may be that their physician should advise treatment to free them from unnecessary suffering.

If you have monthly pains due to a run-down condition from mal-nutrition (a condition in which you simply do not get enough energy and strength from the food you eat), Cardui may do you lots of good. It is a bitter tonic (to give you more benefit from eating) and a medicine to ease functional pains of menstruation.

Since so many have found it helps to relieve the nervous tension and ease much of the discomfort at menstrual times, Cardui is widely and favorably known. Mothers tell their daughters about it; women tell neighbor women how it has helped them or some one in their families.

Remember that Cardui has been found to help in a two-fold manner: (1) to ease functional pains of menstruation and (2) aid in building up the whole system through its assistance as a vegetable bitter tonic.

WITH EASTER COMING ON and everyone preparing for the dress parade, we thought it wise to present a SPRING edition of your columnist's face. This IS a passport facsimile but it may help to give a gentle hint to CLARENCE MUSE (page 1).

SPIRITED was the election of directors for the JUNIOR members of the SCREEN ACTORS GUILD in the Hollywood American Legion hall Sunday. THREE candidates from our side of the fence were on the list for approval of over 6000 paid up voters. Jesse Graves, Ernest Wilson and Edward Boyd are their names. Results will be announced as soon as the count is completed. BOYD was endorsed by seven different groups, on a PROGRESSIVE platform. form.

GUESTING

Columnist EARL MORRIS, of Pittsburg's (Detroit Doings) Courier, is giving the 'woods the once over. Writes back home:

"Jack, we got the right connections. If I can do anything for you drop me a line. If you have any ideas about the breaks sepia performers should get out here, let me know so I can go to town. Rush your mail and let me know what I can do for you in pictures."

The Courier has always held UNIQUE ideas about Hollywood's motion picture industry. Maintaining a PAID correspondent (as all other regulated, respected newspapers have to do) wouldn't be a bad idea.

NOTHING DOING

Information direct from Twentieth-Century Fox studios today states that NO ASSIGNMENT has been made for another picture for BILL ROBINSON, despite eastern reports to the contrary. Bo's latest may be seen with lovable Shirley this week downtown: "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

THE OFAYS HAVE IT

There was a part in M. G. M.'s current flikker, "Frou-Frou" calling for "an intelligent mulatto". ALBERTINE PICKENS tried out, a white girl and was signed for it.

BEING ABLE TO READ LINES is one of the requisites for motion picture work. It is very easy for whites to make up black but not so easy for blacksto make up white. During these long waits between work, it may not be amiss for some of our players to brush up a bit on the FUNDEMENTAL art of acting. There is one colored coach in the business and scads of experienced white ones JUST FOR THAT PURPOSE.

Everytime a race performer cries PREJUDICE, ask him how much PRACTICE he puts in a day.

GOOD WORK

An unsolicited letter from DICK KLINE, at Paramount studios says:"

"It is with much pleasure that I express a few words of commendation in behalf of a young man of your race, MERRIAM MAXWELL who has been in my employ the past year. I can truthfully say that he has been a credit to himself and to the colored race for his ability and CONDUCT here at the studio. In physical culture work here in the gymnasium he has shown unusual ability. His genial and friendly personality have made him a great favorite with all who know him and look forward to a long association."

Maxwell is assistant physical director!

Another studio attache is DR. LOIS EVANS, who has her own offices and laboratory for chiropody on M. G. M. Lot among other executive offices.

YOUTH marches on!

HERALDED

MAXINE SULLIVAN the girl who scorched Scottish tunes and grew famous, arrived at a Los Angeles Airport early yesterday for an unlimited engagement at CLUB VERSAILLES and possible film work. Maid? chauffeur and EVERY comfort is being provided for her by Phil Selznick, club manager who said: "Miss Sullivan MUST HAVE THE BEST!"

THAT MAN AGAIN

These GORILLA things have started up again. Now it's the Gorilla Lover, new addition of "Beauty and the Beast" and we haven't seen ONE ape romance with an African (?) woman that wasn't phoney. Can the NAACP do nothing with the Will Hays office about such flikkers. Released under the guise of "educational" films, they ALWAYS seem to choose houses where sexational stuff is exhibited (for adplescent boys and old men whose charms are over). Can't OUR womens' clubs do something besides knit and gossip. Fine, they can. Well, here's an item for this month's agenda: protest against these gorilla films as degrading to black womanhood!

MORE SOUTH

If GONE WITH THE WIND seems to be gone with the wind, it certainly may be credited with having started a run of films of de ole soufe. Jezebel, Mlle Frou-Frou, on the current fare inspire another Metro effort in "Way of the River," described as a tale of the great Mississippi and its domination over the lives of the people who dwell on its banks, a lot of your folk ought to be included as its victims (in many senses of the word).

Unless the propoganda is CUT from the Wind opus (and that comprises 4-5 of the story) it could just as well be a forgotten foul breeze anyway, from the North and the 20 million Negro box office angle.

Jezebel is one southern picture that tells a southern story beautifully with the least possible offense to ANYBODY. And who wants to deny that the south does not have SPOTS of beauty?

FLASH . . . BOYD ELECTED TO TWO YEAR TERM; GRAVES TO ONE YEAR TERM.

successor to bilo seen in comedian at tivoli theatre

"Laugh and the world laughs with you", but the patrons of the Tivoli theatre have been waiting a long time for a comedian to come along as side-splittingly funny as the late Bilo. At his last appearance there the comic packed them in nightly for fourteen straight weeks. Supporting him were such artists as Teddy Peters, Lawrence Criner, Jellybean Johnson, Aleese and Romaine and a big dancing chorus, but Bilo was the show. It was Bilo at whom everyone laughed the moment he walked on.

But Tivoli is presenting another Bilo tonight in Buck Woods whose unbridled foolishness and new original wise-cracks along with his reckless slap-stick abandon equals Bilo. The management had to wait until he finished his year's contract at the Wave Club in order to secure him for the Thursday vaudeville shows.

Among other performers in his skit "Coal Dust and Ashes" will be Margaret Lee, Eddie Myart, Jack Kelson, and Forrest Hamilton the "Dipsy Doodle Swingsters". The regular features, newsreels, comedy and cartoons will also be shown.

CANDID FELLOW

Walter Brennan, playing a pioneer Texas ranch foreman in Paramount's "The Texans", with Joan Bennett, Randolph Scott and May Robson, is a ranch owner himself, owns several horses, but admits he's a very poor rider. He says his children outride him.

hughes writes song for discs

LANGSTON HUGHES AND MIDGE WILLIAMS

Langston Hughes, famous poet and novelist, and Midge Williams, sweet-voiced songstress, looking over copy of Mr. Hughes' first blues song, "Love Is Like Whiskey", which Miss Williams has recorded for Master-Vocalion. Miss Williams scored hits with "Fortune Tellin' Man" and "Singin' the Blues". Mr. Hughes wrote the novel, "Not Without Laughter", several volumes of poems, and "Mulatto", a drama of the South which had a long run on Broadway in New York, then toured the country. (Calvin Service).

STILL SMILING

Jack Mulhall, star of silent days, who has never lost his grin, is playing a bit role in Paramount's "You and Me", starring Sylvia Sidney and George Raft.

REDUCING EXERCISE

Dance routines in Paramount's "College Swing" were so strenuous that chorus girls lost from 10 to 15 pounds during the filming of the picture.

300 fete bojangles on 60th birthday anniversary

Ex-Mayor Walker presented the world's foremost tap dancer with a portrait of himself as a gift from the Grand Street Boys. Entitled "Bojangles" and painted by David Immerman, white, the portrait shows him in a pose typical of his dance routines.

Bojangles, on the stage 52 years, has been a member of the association since 1920. His fellow-members considered the party a send-off as well as a birthday celebration, for he left the next day for Hollywood to make a new picture.

WPA Drama is Praised in 'Chi'

CHICAGO. (ANP)—"Big White Fog", a drama written by Theodore Ward, young colored playwright, had its debut Wednesday night at the Great Northern theatre as a product of the Negro unit of the federal theatre and immediately won praise.

The story deals with the domestic life of Negroes in Chicago, and concerns mainly one family whose head follows the Marcus Garvey movement into heartbreak and economic disaster.

The Vagabonds—Hot-Harmonists

university philharmonic society in concert

ATLANTA Ga., —The Clark University Philharmonic Society is now in the midst of one of its most successful concert seasons. The initial concert of the present season was the annual spring concert in the Cluark University chapel on March 25. This presentation was witnessed by an overflowing audience, who applauded tremendously at the conclusion of the last number for more music in the form of enchores.

On April 8, the Philharmonic in Atlanta and sang a program Society appeared in the city auditorium of Rome, Georgia and presented a most enjoyable concert to a large audience. The society traveled over flooded highways to reach its place of appearance and the entire concert was rendered during a very heavy rainfall, which made the return journey most perilous.

On Palm Sunday the society appeared in the church auditorium of the Federal Penitentiary of Palm Sunday music to the inmates. Dr. M. S. Davage, president of the University, delivered a Palm Sunday meditation to complete the services at the penal institution. In the afternoon of the same day the Philharmonic Society appeared at Ariel Bowen M. E. Church and presented a program of Palm Sunday music much to the edification of the overflowing audience.

The most recent appearance of the group was in Jonesboro, Ga., on Tuesday, April 12, when not enough standing room was available for the audience.

The Philharmonic society is under the direction of J. DeKoven Killingsworth, and from the director comes the statement that the requests for the society's appearance this year has set an all-time high mark. Dr. M. S. Davage, president of Clark university, journeys with his singers whenever possible and frequently occupies a place on the program.

edith owens plays to packed house

Edith Katherine Owens, pianist, gave a brilliant exposition of her talents in a successful recital last Sunday at the Gray Musart. Opening her program with a prelude and fugue of Bach, she threaded her way through the delicate phrases of the Cradle Song of Chopin to the thunderous measures of Rigoletto and the Erl-King of Verdi and Schubert-Liszt. Miss Owens is a product of the Gray Conservatory of Music where she is also assistant teacher.

Miss Bessie Guy, soprano, added greatly to the enjoyment of the program with a group of songs.

The Misses Pauline Wilkerson, Mary Louise Moore, Lillian Nickerson, Ernestine Taylor, Frances Bowdoin and Eleanor Lee were thme beautifully gowned ushers who added to the beauty of the occasion.

norma gould directs 'lenox avenue' ballet for l. a. dance theatre

Prominent professional people of both races will join in the presentation of William Grant Still's "Lenox Avenue" as a ballet, on the evenings of May 1 and second of 1938. These presentations are sponsored by the Dance Theatre Group of Los Angeles, at 831 South La Brea. They will be accompanied by an exhibit relating to the finest aspects of Negro culture (books by Negro authors; books concerning Negro life; manuscripts and printed scores by William Grant Still; photographs of the Art of Sargent Johnson, famed Afro-American sculptor; photographs of Negro dancers—all drawn from the collection of Verna Arvey—as well as handcraft by Florence Russell Phillips).

Hostesses for this exhibit will be Mrs. Ivan Johnson and Mrs. James Phillips. Preceding the main ballet will be a program of dance divertissments showing different aspects of the dances of colored people in several lands.

GOULD DIRECTS

In devising her choreography for "Lenox Avenue", Miss Gould has had the assistance of Charles Teske, who will dance the leading role, and of Josef Stevenson, young colored dancer who danced with Ruth Page's ballet in the Chicago Civic Opera Company, when Mr. Still's "La Guiablesse" was first produced there. Mr. Stevenson has also a brief role in "Lenox Avenue", portraying the dignified beginnings of the African people, but his chief function is as technical advisor to all dancers.

JOHNSON'S CHOIR

Music for the productions will be supplied by Verna Avery, pianist, with the splendid aid of selected voices from the famous Hall Johnson Choir.

Los Angeles dance and music lovers are eagerly anticipating this event, for the DANCE THEATRE GROUP is known as an advocate of all that is finest in the world of dance, and it is rapidly acquiring an international reputation for the excellence of its ideals.

MEICO'S 'IRVING BERLIN'

Augustin Lara, known as the "Irving Berlin of Mexico", has undertaken his first assignment for American films in writing the music for Paramount's "Tropic Holiday", which features Bob Burns, Martha Raye, Dorothy Lamour, Ray Milland and Tito Guizar. Lara has composed more than 2000 popular melodies.

Movie Review

By John Kinloch

Picture: "BLUEBEARD'S EIGHTH WIFE"
Stars: GARY COOPER, CLAUDETTE COLBERT
Directed by: ERNST LUBITSCH

The "Lubitsch touch" has returned in all its glory. After the drab melodramatic "Angel" (Marlene Dietriech, Herbert Marshall) we began to fear that the bright, scintillating talent of Director Lubitsch had disappeared, never to return. However, in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" the cinema's master of sophistication again hits his stride.

The principal players are all Lubitsch veterans—Claudette Colbert with Maurice Chavlier in "The Smiling Lieutenant", Gary Cooper way back there in "Design for Living", and Edward Everett Horton in practically everything. The strange thing is that Cooper and Colbert, top stars on the same lot for years, are now appearing together for the first time, and, judging by their performances, someone should have had the idea long ago.

The story concerns a much-marrying American millionaire who falls in love with the daughter of a destitute French nobleman. The girl is won and accepts a proposal of marriage—unaware that she is about to become bride No. 8. However, just before the ceremony she makes the discovery. At first breaking the engagement, she later decides to marry millionaire Cooper in order to "teach him a lesson". Their honeymoon is as solemn as a funeral service: they do not make love in every capital in Europe. Finally marital relations become so distant that bride and groom see each other only occasionally—when meeting by chance on the street. Cooper's attempts to surmount the icy barrier between himself and spouse are basis for many hilarious episodes. In the end, however, Cooper gives in; begs a divorce, which is duly granted. But, afterwhich, when he remains single six-months for the first time in his adult life Miss Colbert is reassured of the permanency of his affection and there is a terifically funny reconciliation in a glorified insane asylum laboring under the title "Professor Urganselff's Health Sanitarium".

Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper portrayals are subtle perfection, while the supporting cast is a sort of monument to expert casting. Edward Everett Horton, as usual, sputters delightfully. David Niven distinguishes himself in a rare bit of underplaying. Warren Hymer is the perfect slap happy pugilist, and Herman Bing is effective, although there is something a wee bit woozy about the super-German dialectician portraying a FRENCH detective.

However, for a sparkling evening's entertainment, there are few films of the present crop which surpass "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife."

protest songs featured by johnson

"Folk songs are being made every day," Hall Johnson, who is sometimes rated America's outstanding arranger of spirituals, and choir director, said today.

Johnson is presenting his choir of 50 voices in a recital at the Wilshire Ebell theatre on Monday, April 25.

From the plantations, chain-gangs and lumber camps, the musician said he had obtained a new collection of songs of astounding interest to music lovers and these will be among the featured numbers of his coming program.

"Many of these protest songs achieve the strength and beauty of the best of the spirituals and they speak the language of our own time and experience," Mr. Johnson stated.

Hollywood Docs Prescribe Gum-Chewing

Chewing gum, as a remedy for earache, was prescribed by physicians today for Phylis Welch, who is having difficulty in hearing well as a result of a bad cold.

The actress, playing lead opposite Harold Llioyd in "Professor Beware!" was given the alternative of either having her eardrum punctured, or chewing from six to ten sticks of gum daily. She chose the latter, and is spending her days in busy mastication. Motion of the jaws is supposed to clear the passages, and thus cure the minor disorder.

Wants Baby Girl to Fit New Song Title

Harry Owens, the famous band leader, in Hollywood to appear with his Royal Hawaiians in Paramount's "Cocoanut Grove", revealed today that he hopes the next addition to his family will be another girl.

Owens, who wrote last year's greatest song hit, "Sweet Leilani," the Academy Award winner, as a lullaby for his little daughter, Leilani, explained:

"I've already got a good title picked out for a girl, but how could I write a song about Harry junior?"

new talent show starts at wilshire ebell theatre

Jean Meiklejohn, former talent booker for the Orpheum, Pantages and Fox West Coast circuits has been appointed booking director for the "Hollywood Vaudeville Frolics", opening Sunday evening, April 24, at the Wilshire Ebell Theatre and playing there weekly on Sunday nights thereafter.

Headliners placed by her for variety dates in this territory include Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Anna May Wong, Judy Garland, Polly Moran, Stan Laurel, the Denishawn Dancers, Mickey Rooney, Trixie Friganza, Buster West and a host of others.

The forthcoming Sunday night shows at the Wilshire Ebell will feature ten acts of high class vaudeville, selected from the vast array of stage, screen and radio talent now available in Hollywood.

FOOTLIGHT FLICKERS --- ----

NEW YORK—HANNAH SYLVESTER, throaty songstress who is a favorite in New York night clubs, has spent virtually the winter season working in a Washington, D. C. club.

footlight flickers

"BABE" MATTHEWS, the lass with the million dollar shape, received a flattering compliment from Vic Towne, writing in the swank "Hollywood Town Topics". Victor agrees with me in that Babe puts more dynamite in her dancing and song skit than any TEN principals you can call to mind before you count up to ten.

IDA JAMES, dainty Chicago damsel who graces every Earl Hines appearance, was voted at a recent backstage chorine gathering the sweetest personality on the American stage.

"STUMP & STUMPLIE," appearing even as we write at APOLLO THEATRE, rate with the foremost dance teams extant.

Harlem theatre-goers are constantly writing in to us inquiring as to when TINY RAY (of the internationally famous Three Eddies) will do his stuff again before the "Flickering Footlights".

CLUB MIMO is playing to fine crowds each night as the word continues to float throughout the confines of upper Harlem.

HOLLYWOOD CAFE, rendezvous of hundreds affiliated with the theatrical profession, goes into another anniversary . . . and we mean by that . . . IS GOING STRONG.

CAB CALLOWAY broke records (box office) as we predicted he would FRIDAY afternoon appearing at the FRANK SCHIFFMAN HOUSE opposite AVIS ANDREWS, noted singer.

Apollo theatre fans call CAB back to do a number over not less than three times at every performance . . . and to say that the creator of "Minnie The Moocher" likes this sort of thing, is stating it in ultra mild fashion.

Emmett Matthews, now a member of Buck & Bubbles and crack orchestra, has reached a point where local fans at least . . call him the world's finest saxophonist.

Fans the nation over (all races and creeds) are clamoring for Fats Waller, to do a twice weekly . . . organ program.

ON THE AIR..... .....AND IN IT

CHICAGO—If you listen to the Royal Crown Revue on Fridays on the NBC Blue Network at 9 p. m. EST, you will be interested in learning something about N.B. C.'s Golden Gate Quartet. Although they are famous as singers, they can't read music, but in spite of this (or maybe because of it,) few radio entertainers go on the air with greater ease than they.

Since they can't read music, they don't need arrangements, and they're not bothered with refinements of musical expression. When they come to the microphone, Willie Johnston, who carries the tune, says "Hit it, boys", and they let their musical instinct take care of the rest.

Johnston says, "We just get the melody and let the rest of it come natural. Arrangements are made in our imaginations and we master them by singing long and often." The only thing they memorize is the words of their song.

Although nothing definite has been decided upon, negotiations have been started with national representatives to make the Dixieland Jamboree, broadcast from Tulsa, Okla., a national program. Broadcast over station KTUL, a series of "Jamborees" covering 13 weeks are staged at Crystal Palace Ballroom every Thursday nite with a $100 grand prize awarded at the finale. Contestants come from all over Oklahoma, and each one gets a prize of $2 or more. Many local and traveling bands have picked up singing talent from this Jamboree and will be featuring them soon when they broadcast on the air.

The Male Chorus of Virginia Union university made its first appearance for the season last Saturday over station WRTD. Directed by Mrs. Aldena Windham Davis, the 16 voice male group was presented by the Negro Organization Society of Virginia who sponsored the broadcast. Dr. J. M. Ellison of Virginia Union delivered a health talk on the same program.

I wonder what Fletcher (Christopher Columbus) Henderson thinks of Harry Martin's description in the Commercial Appeal (Memphis): "A well-groomed, dignified and elderly Negro of the old school . . . ?" . . . John Housman and Orson Welles (of Shakesperean fame) have joined the Negro Cultural Committee which will offer "The Bourbons Got the Blues" next month . . . The Langston Hughes melodrama, "Mulatto", was revived last week at Werba's Brooklyn theatre in New York, with Leon Janney in the role he played on Broadway . . . Maxine Sullivan guested on the Steinie Boys Swing club program at 6:45 over WENR last week . . . The character of a saucy sweepstakes winner (impersonated by a colored actress) was retained on Eddie Cantor's broadcast last week from the week before . . . I thought she read her lines rather well that first time to be a novice . . . The new Benny Goodman trio, comprises Lionel Hampton on drums; Teddy Wilson on piano and Maestro Goodman on clarinet. Hampton returns to the vibraphone for quartet numbers with Dave Tough then at the drums. If you heard them last week, you'll agree that the change is rather O. K.

Here's A Job: Flying Kites for Movie Makers

Paramount is hiring a kite flyer.

The gentleman, who will rank with the guy who makes spider webs and the fellow who blows up toy balloons for those gay night club scenes, will construct and fly kites for "Men With Wings", being produced and directed by William A. Wellman.

His name is Ed Unger, and the kites he will build for "Men With Wings" will be 14 feet high. They will be used to lift little Virginia Weidler into the air in an opening scene.

columbia buys out schulberg

Columbia Pictures has acquired the B. P. Schulberg Studios, Hollywood, and a great deal of technical equipment and has taken over possession of the property, according to a studio announcement.

Preparing for one of the biggest production schedules in years, Columbia secured the studios in order to provide sufficient shooting facilities for a number of pictures, eight of which are now either being filmed or being prepared.

Included among the group are "Holiday", co-starring Kathrine Hepburn and Cary Grant under the direction of George Cukor; "Crime Takes a Holiday," starring Jack Holt; "Swingtime in the Saddle," starring Charles Starrett; and "State Patrol," featuring Robert Paige and Jacqueline Wells.

The Frank Capra production "You Can't Take it With You," will start filming April 15.

paramount is planning busy work schedule

Paramount has seven productions in preparation for filming in the immediate future and next month will see the studio busier than at any time since the beginning of the year.

"Prison Farm", with Lloyd Nolan, Mary Carlisle, John Howard and J. Carrol Naish, will be the next picture to go into work at Paramount. Director Louis King will give it the gun next Monday.

"Give Me a Sailor", with Bob Hope and Martha Raye, and "Men With Wings", with Fred MacMurray, Ray Milland, Louise Campbell and Andy Devine, will go into production one week later.

Jeff Lazarus will produce "Give Me a Sailor", to be directed by Elliott Nugent. William Wellman is both producer and director for "Men With Wings," aerial action shots of which are now being made.

The tentatively titled "Behind the Eight Ball", a W. C. Fields starrer, will be next to go before the cameras, and about the same time "Artists and Models", starring Jack Benny, and "If I Were King", the Frank Lloyd production in which Ronald Colman will be starred, are scheduled to start.

'Bulldog Drummond in Africa', with John Howard, Louise Campbell and E. E. Clive, is due to get under way on May 2.

The cameras started turning on "Sing, You Sinners", the Wesley Ruggles production co-starring Bing Crosby and Fred MacMurray, this week.

"Spawn of the North", "The Texans", and "Tropic Holiday" are still in work at Paramount, making in all, 11 pictures in actual production or about to go cameraward.

SHE WON'T FORGET

So she won't forget her native French, Olympe (O-lamp) Bradna, elevated to stardom in Paramount's "Stolen Heaven", reads every other book in French. Although only three years out of Paris, Miss Bradna now speaks nothing but English.

mixed chorus set for bowl on easter morn

The musical background for the Easter sunrise service which is expected to draw 25,000 worshippers to the Hollywood Bowl at five o'clock next Sunday morning (April 17) will again be provided, as last year, by the Los Angeles Federal Symphony Orchestra and a mixed chorus of 250 Music Project singers, including the popular colored chorus of 50 voices, directed by Gastone Usiligi.

Four numbers will be given by the Federal Musicians, starting with Hadley's "Symphonic Fantasie," played by the orchestra alone.

Orchestra, soloists and chorus will be combined for the remaining three numbers, which include the finale from Wagner's opera "Parsifal," the Sanctus from Colby's "Festival Mass" and the Hallelujah Chorus from Beethoven's oratorio, "The Mount of Olives."

survey shows love scene is best interest

Hollywood's long-standing suspicion that the American movie goer gets a bigger thrill out of love scenes than anything gets confirmation today.

Close on the heels of love interest in the movie fan's favor is comedy. Other interests following in the order of their importance are adventure, star names, action, mystery, novelty, beauty, tragedy, music, realism, and technique.

The information was contained in a survey requested by Director Andrew Stone of classes at the University of Southern California, University of California at Los Angeles, and the adult evening classes of the Los Angeles city schools Stone wanted the data for use in emphasizing certain scenes in the script for Paramount's "Stolen Heaven", co-starring Olympe Bradna and Gene Raymond.

Answers to his questionnaire revealed that in the ideal motion picture the appeal elements would be allotted on a percentage basis as follows: Love, 20; comedy, 15; adventure, 12; stars, 11; action, 11; mystery, 9; novelty, 8; beauty, 7; tragedy, 3; music, 2; realism, 1, and technique.

Stone said he thought the survey absolutely accurate in its emphasis of the importance of romantic interest. It prompted him to give first place in his story to the romance between Olympe Bradna and Gene Raymond.

"You can't kid love", he said. "Your picture starts when boy meets girl, and sags when they're not on the screen."

star adds up hardships of jungle movie

There may be a limit to the hardships that art can demand of a girl in the making of one motion picture, but Dorothy Lamour is beginning to doubt it.

Other actresses recently have been compelled to go through one or two nerve-wrecking scenes in a picture because of the screen's increasing trend toward realism, but Miss Lamour today claimed a new record.

Back from location at Palm Springs in "Her Jungle Love", Miss Lamour reviewed this list of trials and tribulations endured on the Technicolor adventure picture.

She wrestled a chimpanzee. She was scratched by a tiger cub. Cocoanuts bounced off her head.

She was the target for knives hurled by a professional. She carked her shins climbing cocoanut trees. Wearing nothing but a sarong, she was scorched by the blazing desert sun, then switched into the dank interior of a cave.

She spent three whole days swimming in Palm Canyon Creek, where the temperature of the water is 40 degrees. Her 36-inch hair was tangled innumerable times in the cacti of the desert.

She was tossed about by a mob of Malay extras, who carried her on their shoulders for hours, leading the actress to sum up her experiences with the quip: "I feel like I'd won a football game, but died for dear old Paramount in doing it!"

BEAUTY and ROMANCE
SPONSORED BY LARIEUSE BEAUTY FOUNDATION

The Larieuse Beauty Foundation was established by the Godefroy Manufacturing Company to study methods of preserving women's natural beauty, and to make the results of this research available to the public.

It is generally agreed that a clear, flawless complexion is the most important asset to beauty and covers a multitude of deficiencies as to feature, figure, and facial contour. In fact, at this day and age, a bad complexion is not only unnecessary—it is inexcusable.

Some people are born with good complexions: others, less fortunate, acquire them by years of concentrated care. But whether you were blessed with a skin of satin or acquired it by constant, careful treatment, this much is certain: you have to work to retain it.

The first rule for the acquisition and preservation of a beautiful skin is scrupulous cleanliness. Cleanse your face at least once a day, twice if possible. Soap and water are a boon to the normal skin, but if your skin is exceptionally dry, rely on a good cream to keep your face clean. Never, never, never, no matter how late you get home, how tired you may be, or how gay the evening may have been, go to bed without removing all traces of makeup. Nothing is more detrimental to your beauty than to allow stale makeup to clog your pores when you sleep. Your skin needs fresh air just as much as you do and it cannot get it if you allow powder, rouge, eye shadow and all the other trimmings to remain on it overnight. After using soap and water, especially these windy Spring days, it is well to follow it with an application of good cream to keep it from chapping. Always follow cream with a dash of astringent, tonic, or in the case of extremely dry skin, at least with cold water to tone and freshen it.

While a powder base is not an absolute necessity, it gives much needed protection against wind and weather and forms an effective barrier against soot and grime getting into the pores. You will find, too, that your powder will go on much more smoothly and adhere much longer if applied over a light coating of powder base.

But no amount of external care can take the place of good health. If you are tired, listless, and generally run-down, your skin is bound to be rough and sallow. And so I repeat: Eat plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables, drink lots of water, and get at least eight hours of sleep every night. And don't forget the important part fresh air and exercise play in keeping your skin clear and glowing. You are probably tired of hearing these things but their importance cannot be overestimated. Try them and see if Summer doesn't find you with a smooth and radiant skin and an all-over feeling of well-being!

What are your beauty problems? Write Marie Downing, Larieuse Beauty Foundation, Room 607—511 Locust St., St. Louis, Mo., and she will be glad to answer them. Be sure to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

AND THE GOVERNMENT STILL LIVES AT WASHINGTON

The House of Representatives, in flatly turning down President Roosevelt's scheme to become sole ruler and dictator of this free nation, is received with joy and thanksgiving throughout the country. It was the most dangerous piece of legislation ever presented before the American Congress and had it been successful, would have brought on a far greater conflict than the Civil War.

Congress has petted and pampered the President until it has "gone to his head" and imbued him with the idea that he (Roosevelt) alone knows the wants and needs of the nation and all else is chaos and ruin unless under his dictatorial guidance.

The spanking by Congress was the sounding of the death knell to the fantastic ideas of the New Deal, and serves notice upon Mr. Roosevelt and his adherents that they are on their way out.

The November election will no doubt give the House a Republican majority as well as substantial gains in the Senate. Congressmen who supported the President in his reorganization scheme had just as well pack their belongings and prepare for the routine of private life at home.

So great was the set-back to the President that he plans the longest vacation in his official career as Chief Executive in order to recuperate from the shock.

BLOCK THAT CACKLE!

With Easter just over the hill, there's good reason for believing no dearth of merry youngsters' egg-hunting parties should prevail this season.

In fact, it's both alarming and disconcerting the way California's hens have been clucking scornfully at short working hours and reasonable quotas. Instead of staging a stand-up strike, which California's worried poultrymen wouldn't mind seeing, the hens have been sitting down, working overtime, so much so the farm price of eggs by mid-February had dropped 41 per cent below last November's.

Though little can be done to "Block that cackle!", other measures are being taken to get the hen off the relief rolls. Egg producer stabilization committees have been formed in 35 states. In cooperation with national retail food stores they will seek to erase that wrinkle from the brows of our poultrymen during April and May, provided in the meantime Rep. Patman doesn't succeed in destroying these outlets for California surpluses with his strangulation tax, as he apparently would like to do.

At any rate, though the hens may keep egging on their quotas to higher levels, we can all salute her industriousness with a healthful and tasty omelette or angel's food cake, not forgetting a generous supply for the Easter egg hunts the youngsters will be clamoring for.

CHICKENS RALLY IN DEFENSE OF FAIR PLAY

The appeal for funds to aid in the defense of George Farley, who in a fit of insanity killed two deputy marshals attempting to evict him from his home for a $26.50 debt, is meeting with liberal response from peoples of all creeds and colors.

NEW G. O. P. NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN

William F. Knowland, State Senator of Alameda County, does not choose to stand for reelection, and at a meeting of the Republican State Executive Committee in San Bernardino Saturday, was unanimously elected National Committeeman.

The stage has been set for a Republican comeback and if California expects success at the polls, all groups of the party must be given full recognition, and we hope Mr. Knowland will not overlook this golden opportunity as did his predecessor, Earl Warren, district attorney of Alameda County. Negroes were left out in the selection of committees, delegates and alternates to the National Convention, in face of the fact that the Democrats sent two black delegates. Mr. Knowland had just as well get it into his head now if he plans on making his handling of party machinery a lily-white affair, he's out of the picture.

Negroes who followed the Roosevelt stampede are in a mood to come back, but if denied seats in the councils of the party, it's all off.

However, we have faith in the leadership of Senator Knowland and believe he is alert to any and all situations faced by the party. His statement on accepting the place rings true and sounds like a man who knows what it's all about. He said:

"This is no time for carping criticism. Rather is it time to develop a sound, constructive policy and a program which will drive home to all of our people a genuinely sane opposition to the vagaries of the New Deal. Thus we shall build up a plan to repair our national situation.

"Our party organization must go into every precinct, for that is where organization begins. To this work I am bound and shall exert my efforts in that direction both in the state and in the national party councils."

LET THE LAW PUNISH THE GUILTY

One of the most brutal and fiendish murders in criminal history was the torture slaying of Mrs. Weston G. Frome and her 23-year-old daughter, Nancy, near Van Horn, Texas, a week ago. The women were driving from their home in Berkeley, Calif., en route to a point in South Carolina.

Seared with a lighted cigar, stomped, beaten and finally shot, the bodies were found on a lonely highway.

Diligent search is being conducted for the killers without the blare of trumpets, yelping of bloodhounds and bands of hoodlums with rope and faggots, bent on adding another beastly chapter to the crime by executing whoever captured and deemed guilty. And all because no Negro is ever seen in that neck of the woods and there's no chance to accuse one of that race.

An example of the intelligence of the law enforcing officials in that benighted region is told by a news report four days after the crime. A sheriff captured an insane man and, from his rantings could have been suspected of having knowledge of the murders. He moved his charge to Phoenix for observation and when told of the horrible crime committed in his state, said: "I didn't know a word about it. You see, I've not read the papers in the last four or five days."

Mr. Frome, grief stricken husband and father, is watching, hoping and praying for the capture of the slayer or slayers of his loved ones, but with all his grief holds no vengeance in his heart and says: "I don't want to see a lynching when capture is made. Let the law punish the guilty."

Mr. Frome's position is the acid test for any human being and thru such noble, manly men a civilization can be builded to the glory of God, and the brotherhood of man will no longer be an idle play upon words.

JUST INNOCENT FUN

THE WORLD THIS WEEK
By ROBERT PATTERSON

MR. AND MRS. SMITH

The Man on the Soapbox speaks often of the "average man", though the average man is as mythical as the fabulous jubjub. Even so, the farmer, and the manufacturer can't get along without this imaginary person. It's for the average man and his wants that they produce their goods and plant their crops. The latest picture of this average man and his family was published a few days ago, based on recent investigations of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. We find that Mr. and Mrs. Smith spend practically every cent of their earnings, or did in 1936, that Mr. Smith spends nearly as much for clothes as Mrs. Smith (!), that while their diet may not be adequate they are sure to own a radio, and that the biggest outlay among wage-earning families was for haircuts. That is how the typical family looked when viewed through a maze of statistics. It may not resemble your family at all, for the average man and his family don't really exist!

BEST-BEST-SELLER

Ask the librarian what the current best-selling book is. If she answers promptly she may name whatever novel has been topping the month's selling lists. If she pauses a second she will probably name that best-seller which year in, year out, faithfully leads the field — the Bible. One of the prime reasons for its leadership is the Gideon Bible Society, which has just completed a check-up tour in various sections of America replacing hotel Bibles. The average life of that sacred book on the hotel dresser is ten years. Yet every year this organization must buy 75,000 new ones to replace the frayed and aging copies — welcome proof to the Gideon Society that the volumes ARE read by hotel guests. And convincing proof, too, that while yesterday's fictional best-sellers may have gone with the wind, this imperishable book appears to be outlasting time and its tides.

UNCENSORED!

When the U. S. Supreme Court last week ruled invalid a Georgia city's ordinance requiring persons to obtain a license to distribute circulars or advertising, Chief Justice Hughes declared the nature of the ordinance was such that "it strikes at the very foundation of the freedom of the press by subjecting it to license and censorship!" Indeed, America would be much the poorer today if the political tract had not been free to give outlet to the ringing challenges of a Tom Paine. And let us remember, too, the modern world's first great plea for unlicensed, uncensored printing was voiced in the thunderous cadences of John Milton's famed pamphlet, "Areopagitica!"

BATTER UP!

Crack! Out from the plate goes a line drive into centerfield! With the President on hand to give his official sanction and thousands of fans to roar, "It's a hit!", this week will see the start of 1938's baseball season.

From now until the last "Out!" is called in October, it's a case of "Slide, Kelly, Slide", "Wow! What a homer", and "Kill the Umpire!". With hot-dogs and soft drinks as the bill-of-fare, America sits down to enjoy the thrills of the king of summer sports.

And if you've time for a serious thought — along about the seventh inning stretch — remember that when nine million fans can pay $15 million to see the two major leagues play — things can't be too bad with this old U. S.

The Public Revolts

The power of the press lies in its freedom to utter the truth.

The power of the people lies in public opinion, the right of expression, the right to protest, and the right to condemn.

Last week at Albany the voice of the people rang through the legislative halls to pronounce the death sentence on destructive chain store legislation. It was a mass protest such as the capitol never before had witnessed. Even as it was being conducted, the Assembly killed one bill aimed at chain store destruction and the senate a third bill.

Farmers, housewives and business men from all sections of New York State jammed the corridor outside the chamber where the bill which would tax out of existence the chain stores of this state was given a public hearing.

Indeed, it was a public hearing. Not only that; it was a public awakening to the menace of chain store legislation. That six-hour hearing at Albany presaged a revolt of the people throughout the country against the vicious forces scheming to put the chain stores out of business.

It served notice on state and national legislators that the consuming public will no longer tolerate destructive legislation and discriminatory taxes for which it must foot the bill.

The volume and sincerity of the protests expressed at the hearing—one of the longest ever held in the state legislature—indicate that at last the consumer is seeing through the smoke screen of propaganda to the true facts about chain store taxation, and taxes in general.

The testimony of the witnesses at the Albany hearing revealed that the public is well aware that both the New York and the Federal chain store bills were designed not for revenue but to destroy the chain stores. Neither bill would provide any appreciable state or national revenue because the chains couldn't pay the tax and would have to go out of business. So both were designed to kill a business that already lightens the individual taxpayer's burden to the tune of $225,000,000 annually in local, state and federal taxes; that provides an annual payroll for over 1,250,000 employees; that annually spends $200,000,000 on advertising, $450,000,000 for rent, $475,000,000 for transportation; and provides a $6,000,000,000 annual market for farmers and other suppliers.

With heartening courage, representatives of the consumer groups are cutting through camouflage to fundamental truth . . . that the chain store tax would ultimately strike with full force at the pocketbook of every family, wiping out the $940,000,000 savings to customers which chain stores annually make possible through mass purchasing power and efficient distribution.

These and other hard-headed facts were presented at the Albany hearing as dramatic evidence that the consumer at last has learned his lesson; that he realizes it is he who pays ALL taxes and that he is now prepared to fight any unjustifiable additions to his tax load.

With the New York Chain store bill labelled for oblivion, the Patman bill becomes the next target for consumer attacks. Let the consumer opposition continue undiminished.

Last week's hearing was indicative of a new order. Consumer protests may be expected to continue to flood legislative halls until legislators learn that the public will not tolerate the piling up of the tax burden through the use of taxation as an instrument of destruction.

Heil Hitler!

If we colored people were 10,000,000 Germans, living in the United States, without the right to vote in the South, segregated in slum areas, discriminated against in army, navy, and civil service, jim-crowed in public places, Adolf Hitler would issue a blast that would make Uncle Sam tremble.

He'd tell Uncle, Germany will never rest until his 10,000,000 Heinies over here are granted equal rights with other citizens, or autonomy (which means an area in which we could be independent). That, by the way, is the Communist program, too, but we won't discuss that now.

At the very next lynching he'd jab a bayonet through two or three Americans.

At the very next Scottsboro case he'd clap five times as many Yankees in a prison camp for life.

He'd have every colored able-bodied American in a brown shirt and Sam Brown belt drilling and learning to use a rifle.

Instead of Father Divine's "Peace", we'd all be crying: "Heil Hitler!"

We'd substitute the goose step for the big apple and the "Horst Wessel" song for "I've Got Plenty of Nuttin'."

Instead of a billion-dollar Navy bill, Uncle Sam would up his war chest to four billions, knowing for certain he had to fight for his life in the next five years, with Japan closing in on the Pacific, and Germany preparing Zeppelins to raid New York.

These are not pleasant meditations, and yet we colored Americans, loyal and patriotic are just as much entitled to citizenship as German-Americans, Irish-Americans, or any other aliens who have found refuge on our shores.

And isn't it safer for Uncle Sam in the long run? Isn't it cheaper? Isn't it easier on his blood pressure for hmi to deal justly with the oppressed people at home than to shed tears in public, tear his hair and beat his breast over the way Hitler is oppressing the people of Germany and Austria?

We think Hitler is a tyrant and a brute, a ruffian and a cur. We detest him for the way in which he is crushing the Jew.

There is a tune which says: "I'll be Glad When You're Dead, You Rascal You."

But we can't forget there is a man right here at home who has his heel on our neck.

WE, THE PEOPLE

Dear Editor:

We, the people, appreciate Mr. Augustus Hawkins, our assemblyman, for his successful fight on that Housing bill.

We should also appreciate if Mr. Norman Houston was named as one of the Commissioners, or some one of our local business men.

We, the people would appreciate more support for the eligible policemen of Newton street station, who have passed the Civil Service test for higher positions.

We, the people, would appreciate also some kind of credit set-up, a collective credit bureau.

We, the people, appreciate your radio programs, as well as the Negro Hour Thursday night.

And in speaking of the many kinds of benefits from your Broadcast, the entertaining features of the Negro Hour and the religious program on Sunday by Rev. Clayton Russell, there has been established a easier relationship in the big downtown business set-up. It has broadened our opportunity for better things here in Los Angeles

Thanks.

I am so anxious to sail across is because you know the Kaiser is the same as a mad dog. When a dog is mad, he snaps and everything he bites is poisoned —so it is up to me to go over and kill this mad dog before he bites some of us. In other words our country is on fire and it is up to us to put it out.

I would like to see you all before I sail, especially you and Mother, the two that I love best in the world, but the expense would be so much it is hardly necessary and I will be back.

When I go over the top, I am going with all the strength and courage I have in me. I am no coward. I mean to fight and obey orders and my mind is made up.

Well, father, it is getting late now so I guess I'll close. Oh, say, by the way, father, I almost forgot; it would be a good idea for you to get a New York paper of the 24th so that you will know everything about the farewell parade of us Buffalo soldiers.

Remember me to all the officers and other employees of the bank and kiss my dear mother for me. So this is all for the time. May God be with us all until we meet again.

Your loving son,

ed at Carrizal by some 700 Mexican soldiers. Although outnumbered almost ten to one, these black soldiers dismounted in the face of a withering machine-gun fire, and charged the Mexicans and killed their commander.

This handful of men fought on until of the three officers commanding them, two were killed and one was badly wounded. Seventeen of the men were killed and 23 made prisoners. One of the many outstanding heroes of this memorable engagement was Peter Bigstaff who fought to the last beside his commander, Lieutenant Adair. John Temple Graves, of Atlanta, Georgia, the well known publicist, wrote in the course of a tribute to the Carrizal fighters: "The black trooper might have faltered and fled a dozen times, saving his own life and leaving Adair to fight alone. But it never seemed to occur to him. He was comrade to the last blow. When Adair's broken revolver fell from his hand, the black trooper pressed another into it, and together shouting in defiance, they thinned the swooping circle of overwhelming odds before them.

"The black man fought in the deadly shamble side by side with the white, following always, fighting always as his lieutenant fought."

From June 5, 1917 to September 12, 1918, there were 2,290,000 Negroes registered for service in the United States Army.

The military authorities awarded the Croix de Guerre to four whole colored regiments, the 369th, 370th, 371st, and 372nd, and also to the first battalion of the 367th Infantry, for heroism in action. One of these regiments, the 370th, was, with the exception of the colonel, officered entirely by Negroes. Thirty of the colored officers in this regiment received medals of honor for outstanding bravery. Some 350 non-commissioned officers and privates of the Negro American soldiers were also given medals of honor for their bravery.

SO IT IS plain that the black man's service throughout the military history of our nation has been of outstanding merit. When the United States faced its darkest moments, colored soldiers were ever ready to purchase victory with their lives. Hence, the Afro-American has every right to demand, not merely a division in the army as does the Courier Bill, but absolute equality in any and all branches of military service.

Today a descendant of Crispus Attucks, the black man first of all to die in the American Revolution, cannot serve in the marine corps, the coast artillery corps, the air corps, the engineer corps, the chemical warfare service, the field artillery, the signal, or any other special service. In the Navy, he may serve only as a cook or waiter. Yet, it is my opinion that the Courier compromise of approved and extended segregation should be fought as bitterly as this present system of complete discrimination. Wherever segregated government agencies have functioned, the Negro branches thereof have suffered. Colored schools thruout the South receive from state governments only one-third the money necessary for their successful operation. In fact, our recent experience with inferior, all-colored CCC camps should be sufficient to convince us. The Afro-American is fairly treated only when the destines of white and black are so entangled that no move affecting the one could fail to apply to the other.

It is my sincere belief, that, when it is properly brought to their attention, the thinking American people will firmly repudiate a system that denies the black American, with a heritage of distinguished service in every war in which the nation has ever participated, the privileges it freely grants an American-born son of parents not even speaking our language.

POLITICAL POT-PIE

By IRA

John Fowler is back from his quest for support for Senator Olson, Democratic candidate for Governor. Feeling jubilant, he was quite talkative: "Hope the Republicans nominate Merriam. He's a cinch for Olson to beat. The colored vote will be unanimous. Senator Olson is a true friend of my people and has stood solidly behind Gus Hawkins in every move he has made".

"I can look Merriam square in the eye and tell him I spent my individual cash to further his election, and without a change, which looks doubtful, I'll spend three times the amount to keep him in Long Beach." — Charlie Alston.

McAdoo did give Negroes a square deal when handling the railroads for the Government, Hall, his opponent for Senator, kicked the one lone Negro out when U. S. District Attorney. Now Hall is asking for and thinks Negroes will support him.

Can't figure out these black Democrats. House-top shouters: Roscoe Howard, Dr. Somerville, Sam Baumann, Dick Abrams, Emory Crain, Leon Washington, et al, are as dumb as oysters. What's your hold back, boys? Mr. Bill is organizing on all sides!

Personal view: Negroes had just as well forget Gov. Merriam. The old dumbbell is "sot again" the colored brethren.

We hear nothing of Mr. Moseley Jones, who started his ascent to the attorney general's office via vice probe. The lid remains on the public buildings, all officials are out of jail, and Jones, we'll bite, where is he?

Betty Hill is whetting the blade in preparation for the skinning. Political hypocrites better step lightly around Mrs. Hill.

To add political color, ex-Senator George Rochester has been added to the brilliant array of legal lights who will defend Earle E. Kynette and his two aides charged with bombing Harry Raymond, private detective.

Looks as though racing fans are going to face an amendment to out-law legal booking on horses.

Headline: County Summons Experts to Halt 50c Tax Jump." Between the four bits increase and labor of experts, the former would be far cheaper.

Schools for polls aides in coming elections are being planned by the Supervisors. Negroes are fast disappearing from the election polls. Guess this school racket means finis.

Earl Warren, district attorney of Alameda County, has announced his candidacy for State Attorney General, subject to the will of the Republican primaries. Warren was also National Committeeman in the last campaign. Wonder what he has to say for himself in regard to recognition of Negroes? We're listening!

Encouraged by the New Deal reorganziation flare-back, there'll be a shower of Republican hats cast into the ring in the next few days.

Current reports say that Supervisor Legg doesn't give a tinker's damn whether he places in the gubernatorial scramble or not. Win, lose or draw, the wise ones claim that a $12,000 a year appointment awaits his acceptance.

Carter, W. P. Cartre, R. M. Marshall and G. W. Reed. The function of this committee is to intercede in the appointment of a member of the race on the Supreme Court bench in the event of a vacancy in that body. The matter of publication of a Baptist newspaper was discussed pro and con, and that it be published semi-monthly.

EAGLE has never lost faith nor refused to take up the cause of community progress. That LOS ANGELES has not lost faith in the EAGLE is shown, to some degree, by this evidence of sustained goodwill which we take pardonable pride in acknowledging.

This is but the beginning of a program created by our staff to stir up interest in and respect for the actual BUILDERS of the West. More than all of the frivolities that float about the surface of our social life here, is a dramatic and powerful story fit to insprie the youth of any people, of those intrepid leaders who braved the first efforts to make this a great, growing metropolis of our country. We played our part gloriously; let us not forget. That the CALIFORNIA EAGLE was in the picture heralding the steady development of this and surrounding communities from an humble beginning to their present status among America's finest and most progressive cities; and that we have held on with undaunted tenacity to serve and an indomitable will to keep alive a medium of expression for our people is as much your victory as it is our own.

Let us, then, turn our faces to the Sun and march forward to a GREATER WEST!

Robinson Cordial Host of Rev. Russell in Visit East

When Rev. Clayton D. Russell presented Bill (Bojangles) Robinson as one of his most cordial hosts during his stay in New York City on his recent vacation to the packed auditoium at People's Independent Church of Christ last Sunday morning, a rousing ovation was tendered the famed terpsichorean and humanitarian.

The minister told the audience how Mr. Robinson made every possible provision for his comfort and entertainment, presented him to Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, and took him to numerous places of educational and inspirational value during his stay in the metropolis.

On the reverend's return trip the noted dancer continued his hospitality by wiring ahead to Washington for the best accomodation for "my pastor".

Mr. Robinson also made a brief impressive appeal to the congregation for support of the colored drivers of Black and White taxicabs which was farmly received. Besides he gave five dozen eggs for the Easter celebration of the children of the church.

With his wife, Mrs. Fannie Robinson, the stellar dance stylist returned to the city last Saturday to superintend the completion and furnishing of their magnificent new home on Catalina avenue.

HOLD COPELAND RITES

Funeral services for Mrs. Josephine Earley Copeland were conducted by Rev. Haines, pastor of the Baptist church, in San Francisco, March 27. The services were efficiently carried out in every respect. The various lodges, of which she was a member, carried out their duties in full. The body was shipped to Pomona for burial where another beautiful service was held.

geles, instead of at the expense of neighboring property owners.

Neither Al Jolson, nor any other member of the Encino Chamber of Commerce have appeared personally before the city council or any other body advocating passage of the petition that is causing so much comment.

I am sure that any person reading the Herring Resolution as filed with the City Council, will note that there is nothing in said petition advocating racial discrimination. (Ed's note: Although this was the ground on which the City Planning Commission denied the petition), nor any new law but asking only that established deed restrictions that have been agreed to by present property owners, be enforced at the cost of the city government rather than the neighboring property owners.

Sincerely yours,

The California Eagle-
Dear Madame-

I am attaching the reproduction of a letter from the Secretary of the Encino Chamber of Commerce (above)—the letter is self-explanatory. Mr Billy Smith, of the Associated Negro Press (Ed's note: A special correspondence from Claude A. Barnett, director of the Associated Negro Press, states that Harry Levette is the only accredited ANP representative in this territory), Mr. Leon Washington, and Baron Lawson were members of a group of leading colored citizens who called on Mr. Jolson last Monday evening. They, of course, all were immediately convinced that the error made in giving Mr. Jolson so much bad publicity was the result of a misunderstanding. The story is undoubtedly now entirely without basis of fact!

I am sure that you will, in some way, retract your statement regarding Mr. Jolson "leading" a "Jim Crow Try". (Ed's note: No retraction has appeared in metropolitan papers, first to carry the story.)

Respectfully,
Ray Buffum

FOUR TONS STEEL, IRON USED IN TYPICAL HOME

Nearly four tons of products made from steel, wrought iron and cast iron are used in the construction and equipment of a typical small dwelling costing $4,000, according to the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Besides the usual products such as plumbing and heating equipment, nails, window weights gutters and downspouts, window and door hardware, etc., there are many new products that, if used, can add strength, durability and convenience to the small home. Two of the most popular are metal lathing and steel understructure for the floors. Not only does it add strength and durability of the structure, but it also makes the home more fire-proof.

Other products that are gaining in popularity are smoke pipes, conduit for the electric wiring, coal chutes, window frames and flashing roofs.

Equipment for the home adds to the total amount of steel and iron in the small home. It includes house furnishings, range, refrigerator, cooking utensils, steel springs in davenport, chairs and floor lamps and cutlery.

The builder or remodeler should investigate the many possibilities that are offered by steel and iron products before deciding.

Vivian Marsh Tells Lobby Experiences in Washington

"When I went to Washington, my estimation of the N. A. A. C. P. wasn't so high, of our senators very high; when I returned, my estimation of the N. A. A. C. P. was very very high; of our senators very low." Thus did Mrs. Vivian Osborne Marsh, grand president of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, sum up her lobbying experience in the nation's capital when interviewed here Monday on the recent Anti-Lynch Bill filibuster wher she was sent by Delta to assist Walter White and other officials of the N. A. A. C. P. in a nattempt to force the bill to a vote.

In commenting on the present status of the bill, the sorority leader pointed out that the let up of pressure on the part of the N. A. A. C. P. was due to the lack of funds and observed that the militant organization heads kept the bill before the Senate with less than $3,000 at a cost of $250.000 to the government. Since leaving Washington, she has traveled extensively through the South and Southwest telling of the work of the N. A. A. C. P. is one of the stances serving as a forerunner to organization and membership campaigns. Mrs. Marsh said, "I found in the South that there was less knowledge than elsewhere that the bill was an important item of legislation." However she cited that Atlanta N. A. A. C. P. asone of the strongest in the country.

SAYS VOTE MUST BE USED

Mrs. Marsh further said, "If we keep constantly demanding of our senators that they vote for it, the bill will be passed. Many of them are coming up for re-election and women's auxiliaries should know those who supported the measure and use their vote accordingly." She emphasized the unconcerned attitude of Hiram Johnson, California Senator, and commended the support given the bill by Senator McAdoo. "I felt that both sides were playing politics. The Republicans were not anxious that it should pass because during all their administrations they have not been able to pass one. Both sides realize that the Negro vote is the balance of power and should the bill pass now, the Democrats would have the vote. However, Borah was the only Republican who openly fought the bill . . . .that was because our vote kept him from getting the presidential nomination in the last campaign. Ou the other hand, Northern Democrats showed very little open support of the bill, and I think that the record shows that more Republican voted for the bill in proportion to their representation."

TO SPEAK HERE TONIGHT

Mrs. Marsh will be presented in a lecture-reception tonight, (Thursday) by the Los Angeles Chapters of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority at which time she will discuss the work of the N. A. A. C. P. and further emphasize the need of suport to legislation by collegiate groups. The meeting will be held in the 28th street Branch of the Y. M. C. A. and will be open to the public. Her appearance in Los Angeles is expected to draw throngs an ovations similar to that received in the South especially at Fisk university where James Weldon Johnson gave up his scheduleed appearance in order that students might hear her. Other colleges visited include Shaw, Atlanta, Morehouse, Spellman, in Georgia; Talledega, Tuskegee, Alabama State, in Alabama; Tennessee State A. and I., Dillard, Xavier, in Louisiana; Houston College, Prarie View, Samuel Houston, and Tillston in Texas.

Romance Seen in Growth of L. A. Beauty Shops in 25 Yrs.

It's a long way from El Paso, Texas to Los Angeles . . . at least it was in the days before streamline trains and high powered automobiles and planes; and it's not such a short distance in the world of beauty from house to house appointments to the modern beauty shops. The growth of beauty culture in Los Angeles is as romantic a story as one could wish, but time will not move through all those periods . . so we take the first establishment and the present modern shops that line Central Avenue. Efficient work and management have kept that first shop open and in step with its rivals.

Back in 1909, young and ambitious Rosa Sampson established the first Angel City shop . . . . and other comely brown women have followed her lead. Rosa Sampson, now Mrs. E. O. Morris, opened her first shop at 1310 East Ninth street. Then that was the place where everybody that was anybody went . . . as the lights of the business section of Los Angeles moved, Rosa Sampson's Shop moved. She now owns and operate the Creole Beauty Shop at 2221 South Central Avenue and has everything milady needs from vaseline to wigs . . . She is a native of San Antonio, Texas and received her training in El Paso and at the Corsen's Beauty School in Los Angeles . . when Corsen's was on South Broadway. Her chief assistant is her daughter, Alice Morris, who will probably carry the beauty torch to the next generation.

The modernity of shops is exemplified in the lounge room you'll find at Emile's Salon; the balcony coolness and spaciousness of Thriftown Shop, the efficiency of Dorothea's; the homey atmosphere of Rose Marie's; Lady Ebonee's originality in make-up from products created by Mrs. Hazel Williams who is also assistant manager at Henrietta's Beauty School, one of the pioneer institutions. For enterprising management, there is the Blanchette chain of three fully equipped shops.

Youngest of the schools is Ruth's Beauty School at 4206 S. Central where 60 girls are enrolled. Mrs. Ruth Mosby, proprietress, has been in the work twenty-one years. She came to Los Angeles nine years ago and established her first school in 1930 which ran until 1934. In 1937, she opened the present establishment and will celebrate its first anniversary Easter Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Mosby is formerly of Detroit and a graduate of four beauty schools--Mdme. C. J. Walker, Poro, Sophie's, and Apex. She has trained more than one hundred girls and teaches everything in the beautiful Central Avenue institution from shampooing to electrolysis with a free course in personal hygiene every Thursday night . . . that's open to the public.

For those who are skeptical about there being progress in the field of feminine beauty culture . . . compare the portraits of your grandmother or mother with your wife's . . . or just walk down the Avenue any Thursday and see the parade to and from the shops.

MONROVIA NEWS

Second Baptist Church
Maple and Shamrock Aves.
Rev. John A. Davis, Pastor

Last Sunday, Palm Sunday, was a very high day in Second Baptist church. The Sunday school began on time, with Cornelius Presley, superintendent in charge. A very large attendance witnessed the lesson period and listened to the pastor as he reviewed the lesson, subject: "Finding Ourselves in Service".

The morning service was well attended. It seemed as if the people came from every quarter of Monrovia to listen to the message brought by the pastor. The pastor took his text in the morning from the 26th chapter of Matthew, the 69th and 70th verses. A message that was very full of thought and preparation, as well as spiritual application; as it affects the lives of men and women today.

The BYPU met on time, with Rev. B. T. Mayfield, the president, presiding. A lively devotional was conducted, with Mrs. Davis leading. After this period the groups assembled to their respective places, and discussed the very important lesson, "Jesus, Crown or Crucify Him".

The attendance at the evening service was not quite so large, but the congregation was very attentive and received with an enthusiasm that was never witnessed before. The pastor brought another splendid message from the 19th chapter of Luke, and the 41st verse. And when He was come near, He beheld the city, and wept over it. Subject: Jesus and the City.

Easter Sunday morning, the choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. C. Fisher, will render an Easter Sunrise Cantata, on the steps of the church. The choir will meet in the church at 5 a. m. and from 5 to 6, will give to the members and friends of the church, and the citizens as well, one hour of beautiful Easter music. Every person coming to this service is asked to bring a candle with them, so as to make the service more impressive.

From 6 to 7 a. m., on the front steps of the church where the worshippers can see the rising sun in all of its glory, the group of Christian men and women will assemble, and for one hour will blend their voices in prayer to the Risen Christ. After the services, the choir will serve a pancake breakfast in the dining room of the church, to which everyone is invited.

There were quite a number of visitors present at the services Sunday, prominent among them were Rev. and Mrs. A. F. Seaton of Riversdie. Rev. Seaton offered a very fervent prayer following the morning message.

The pastor and Cornelius Presley will represent the church at the Tri-County Baptist association which convenes with the Second Baptist church of Santa Ana, Calif., Rev. T. J. Anderson, pastor, Wednesday and Thursday, April 13-14. Quite a large delegation is expected, in view of the fact, that there is no school during the week.

The Sunday school will render its Easter program next Sunday night. Mrs. Davis has charge of the program, and we are promised a great time, and a program of outstanding quality.

Our sick: Mrs. Elmira Enge and Mrs. Dan McCoy.

Our visitors: Rev. and Mrs. Seaton, Mr. J. H. Thompson, Mr. Monroe Connor, and Mrs. Wallace, who recently joined her husband here from Louisiana.

Easter Sunday, night court was leaping with half a hundred men arrested in a raid conducted by Officer Buxton of Central Vice Squad, on the home of Rio Hudspeth, 440 No. Westmoreland, when Judge Oda Faulconer heard one of the heaviest calendars of holiday defendants.

Hudspeth, a WPA employee in the wardrobe department of the drama project, was finger printed and charged with two other defendants, Henry Brown and Richard Bailey, with violation of section 59.5 of the alcholic beverages act and vag dissolute.

On several complaints that lewd parties had been conducted at the Hudspeth address, policewoman Shirey and officer Reed went to the place at 2:15 Sunday morning where they reported that they purchased liquor from Brown which was poured and served by Hudspeth. Hudspeth has no license to sell liquor, the officers stated.

Man Charges Jim Crow on WPA Project

Threatened With Wage Cut and Transfer to a Sawtelle Project Post

Complaint of flagrant discrimination on a WPA project was made late last night to the editor of the EAGLE, Mrs. C. A. Bass, by Hill Truitt, laborer on Spot 19 of the Works Project Administration, located at 21st and Vermont avenue.

Truitt told the editor that he had just been informed of a wage cut from $85.00 to $65.00, and was threatened with transfer to a post in Sawtelle if he did not accept it without further complaint.

He explained that he had been employed on the WPA project for two years, and at Spot 19. He has been the only Negro working there and until notice of the salary cut had had no trouble.

He said he inquired among the men to discern if any of them had been treated in a like manner and discovered that he, the only Negro, was also the only person so affected..

Truitt contends that transportation to the project costs him $10.

Upon mention of transfer to Sawtelle, Truitt told the editor he inquired what he would be paid if he went there. Sixty-five dollars was the answer.

Faced with increase in transportation costs from 117th street to Sawtelle, Truitt told Mrs. Bass he has consented for the time being to the salary cut, but allegedly informed the officials they had not heard the last of him yet.

He will carry the complaint to WPA higher-ups, it is believed.

Goes to Hall of Justice to "See A Man"; Cops See Him First, He's Nabbed

If Felton Higgins had stayed out of the lion's lair, namely the Hall of Justice, he would not now be in the custody of the law.

Wanted as the accomplice of pretty 18 year old Vera Williams in the robbery of Clifford Farrar, 1204 E. 23rd Street, on March 6, Higgins forgot about the keen memory of the Blue Coats and strayed into the Hall of Justice "to see a man" Monday.

Officers Ape and Workman recognized him and booked him at the Newton street police station on suspicion of robbery. Higgins gave his age as 24, and his address as 4117 Hooper avenue.

'Quick Mad Spell' Causes Attack

The Black Flame—or "quick mad spells" were given by Cleveland Rogers 45 year old butcher of 4522 Wadsworth avenue, for his knife attack last Friday night on Louis Scnieder, white of 1022 S. Crescent Heights.

Booked at the Newton St. police station on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, Cleveland told officers who arrested him at a 43rd and Central Avenue market that he and Schneiden were arguing over a check when he suddenly was overcome by a "quick mad spell" and wielded the knife about the head and shoulders of Schneider.

Golden State to Observe National Insurance Week

Monday, April 25, marks the beginning of National Accident and Health Insurance Week, an annual event that is observed throughout the country. It is the week set aside each year to emphasize to the insuring public the importance and necessity of protection of earnings through Accident ad Health insurance and the fundamental principles back of such protection.

The Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company as one of the leaders in this field has entered the campaign and will endeavor to win more recognition as an outstanding insurer on the west coast, according to statements to the press by the insurance executives.

GOVERNOR ISSUES PROCLAMATION

The appeal to the public is well exemplified in the proclamation issued by Governor Merriam of California, officially designing the week beginning April 24 as Accident and Health Insurance Week in that state. He says:

"A purposeful educational campaign, designed to protect and keep intact the American family by preserving its economic security when income ceases, due to disability from ill health or accident, is worthy of commendation.

HOME SHOULD BE BUSINESS ENTERPRISE

"The American home should be a business enterprise—organized, managed and protected. It should always be maintained on a solvent basis and protected against bankruptcy. Yet in the majority of homes, the difference between ordinary living and actual wants is only a matter of a few weeks when regular income ceases. In most cases, the only real economic asset back of the family is the good health and current earning ability of its breadwinner.

"During the periods of disability caused by ill health or accidental injury, mounting medical and other expenses not only impair and dissipate any existing family accumulations, but actually threaten the security of the family unless its earning power is insured.

"In an effort to protect our citizens against losses occasioned by accident and sickness, may we encourage, cooperate and assist in this humanitarian program to disseminate pertinent information on the vital need for this protection."

2 MORE DEAD BABIES FOUND IN PAPERS

Another dead baby was reported found this week, by Floyd R. Cowie, white, in the vicinity of Washington and Alameda Sts

The child was apparently six months old, police records showed. Cowie said he stumbled upon the body wrapped in newspapers near the city dump.

Sid Dones-Althea Carreer Tie On Rocks; Action Filed

By Helen F. Chappell

The end of "My Last Affair" for Sidney P. Dones, four-times married realty broker, and "the sweetest man in the world" for Althea Carreer-Dones, was definitely trumpeted last week when Althea filed divorce proceedings with Attorney W. H. Broyles. Evidently the break is mutual with no hard feelings . . . and they're still the best of friends."

Married last September 23 and touted as the first couple to wed in Landon; happily surprised their friends with a week-end trip that culminated in picking flowers from neighbor's yards for the bride's bouquet and calling a parson from nearby San Bernardino; both declare they just weren't suited for each other. For nearly two months Dame Rumor has had it that the Dones were seperated, but since they have been continually seen together, friends labelled it only temporary. However, the record shows that on April 9, Mrs. Dones petitioned for a divorce on the grounds that her husband was indifferent and too busy to devote sufficient time to home life.

When approached for a statement, Dones said, "Althea is one of the most wonderful girls I have ever met, but our lives run in different directions and we did not know each other long enough to discover that we had different views concerning life. It may be that I have been too busy, but when you have the handling of thousand's of poor peoples' business and the burden of many on your shoulders, it is natural

Poly Grad Gets Police Position

Miss Marveline Matthews, 4156 Zamora Avenue, received an appointment this week as a Junior stenographer in the police department.

Miss Matthews is a graduate of Polytechnic High School, is a cousin of Charles Matthews, Deputy District Attorney.

She lives with her mother, Mrs. Aline Reed, and her appointment is the latest of a long line given Negroes during the present city administration.

FEDERAL PLAYERS HERE CALL MASS MEETING IN DEMAND FOR MORE JOBS

Claiming that their petition for more extensive placement of skilled technicians and artists in the Federal Theatres Project in Los Angeles has been shunted aside and the Negro players and writers put on the waiting list while plays in which they were to be cast had to be translated from German into English because foreigners were holding jobs rightfully belonging to American citizens, a committee of colored Federal players, headed by Webb King, Jess Lee Brooks and Vernon McCalla, are calling a citizens mass meeting at the Wadsworth street school for Friday, April 22.

A year ago, the committee stated today, Howard Miller, Western Regional director for Federal Theatres, told an audience of 1000 employees that the Negro unit would be given a theatre manned from front to back by race artists and technicians, similar to the one operating so successfully in Harlem. So far nothing tangible has resulted from Miller's promise.

"We have been advised that if we can get the comumnity interest aroused, we may get the theatre", Jess Broks said.

"There are over 40 thousand colored citizens in Los Angeles county", Brooks stated. "Federal Theatres project, under government subsidy, is responsible for

NIGHTLY NEWSCASTER IS JOHN KINLOCH

CMTC Issues Call for Men, 17-29

A call for young men of "high calibre", between the ages of 17 to 29 to join the Citizens Military Training Camp to be established for colored youth at Fort MacArthur this summer, was issued today by Major A. M. Laurence, executive officer of the State Military Training corps.

The camp will be established at Fort MacArthur, just outside of San Pedro during Aug. 9 to Sept. 7.

A-TALKIN' TO YOU Clarence Muse--

Well, the BETTERMENT TICKET" won in the JUNIOR GUILD Election. They won the new president, MAJOR PHILIP J. KLEFFER. Our young progressive EDWARD F. BOYD won on this ticket with the highest number of votes, which makes his term two years, while Jesse Graves, running on the old regime ticket with the defeated ex-president, Larry Steers, will serve one year due to his small number of VOTES. Mr. Boyd was elected with twenty-two other delegates believing in the BETTERMENT PROGRAM. So at last with only one of the old regime on the board in person of Jesse Graves, the many suffering GUILD MEMBERS will get fair play, because they have the majority on the BOARD OF DIRECTORS. MR. BOYD is the choice of not only colored members but most of the entire organization, SO PASS YOUR TROUBLES TO HIM--GET THE NEW GUILD SPIRIT; thanks for supporting a YOUNG, INTELLIGENT, HONEST MAN, with democratic views.

CLARENCE MUSE

I think the most important element of this great business of making pictures, is to be sure that they are MAKING ENOUGH PICTURES to furnish employment. This week is at the lowest drop; about twenty-seven pictures before the camera. The same time last year this figure was nearly tripled but it SEEMS THAT EVERYTHING POINTS TO A VERY BUSY SUMMER. Paramount just announced 58 major pictures to be made immediately. SO WITH ALL MINDS on employment, distributed to all of the JUNIOR MEMBERS not a few we happily close an interesting ELECTION CAMPAIGN, and I forgive all the "MUD SLINGERS" that did so in good faith, BUT WOE TO THE OPPORTUNIST! Yes, Miss Fay Jackson, I've ordered a NEW PHOTO from the Engravers and I DO HOPE I'M PICTURED A LITTLT LIGHTER this week. And I do hope our mutual friend MRS. CHARLOTTA BASS will insist that my "MUG" stays lighter, week after week and when it grows dark again JUST CALL THE ENGRAVER, I'M weak to GOOD LOOKING PICTURES of MYSELF. Ha, ha, Goodbye. THE FOLLOWING is from Ted LeBerthon's "Night Court" column in Thursday night's edition of the Daily News:

"In Night Court 13 Negroes are brought before Judge Charles Newell Carns on a charge of having shot craps in the home of one of the party, in violation of our anti-gambling ordinance. They plead guilty, and state there was $1.35 in the pot when five vice squad officers barged in and placed them under arrest.

"I have never been able to see how some gambling is right and some is wrong. If gambling is right at Santa Anita, it is right on Central Avenue or at Sing High's laundry.

"Humankind will do it — on the stock market exchange, on real estate, on horses. All purely human pursuits and guesses are a gamble. But certainly it cannot be right at Santa Anita, and at various swanky clubs, and be wrong on Central Avenue."

I thoroughly agree with Mr. LeBerthon in disapproval of such an inconsistent and self-contradictory system. But just as the actual law in these things is hypocritical, so are the various vice and gambling investigations with which our city is occasionally afflicted.

These "exposes" usually commence exposing on Central Avenue. As LeBerthon points out— it is human nature to gamble. It seems, however, that investigating committees labor under the impression that human nature in this respect was meted out more liberally on the Eastside. This, when it is fairly obvious that greater gambling institutions must operate in other more wealthy sections for the simple reason that residents there have more money to risk.

But vice squad raids in these swank districts would never do — reform is always so much more safe, politically, when manifested in a raid upon 13 Negroes caught crap-shooting on Central Avenue to the extent of $1.35.

The fact that a thriving commercial district is undeseryedly given a bad name does not count. Year in and year out, fine Central Avenue business institutions must watch the thoroughfare on which they are established slandered and degraded by press and politician. That such inaccurate propaganda reacts to their disadvantage as commercial enterprises is seemingly unimportant.

This, of course, is not to say that gambling and vice do not exist on the Eastside — it is merely to protest the repeated and undue emphasis placed upon such activities here. There are many other sections which, to a much greater extent, qualify for such notoriety.

However, picturing the Negro or the district in which he lives as mainly occupied with "crap shooting", is consistent with a great American policy. Someone at sometime conceived the colored citizen as a good-natured, kinky-haired servant afraid of ghosts and incapable of mental activity. This conception has been rigorously preserved.

In the South, appropriations for Negro schools are wholly insufficient. As a result, state maintained schools for colored are so inferior that in one body the representative Afro-Americans of that region have sent their offspring to private institutions where they have the benefit of the very finest environment. The white American then visits the inferior colored PUBLIC school, views the backwardness of its students and is re-convinced that colored people are mentally weak.

A great deal of the contact between white and black occurs throughout the nation's transportation systems — that is, the relation of passenger to porter. Here again, whites see Negroes in the time-honored servile role. Yet, if they could view statistics on how many colored men have used this means of gaining financial backing for a higher education and access to the professions, they would be shocked indeed.

One of the greatest mediums of perpetuating this erroneous conception of the Negro is the motion picture. Outside a savage, the Afro-American has appeared only once in films as anything other than a servant. That once was a few years ago in the picture, "Arrowsmith" in which Clarence Brooks portrayed a West Indian doctor.

In the production of the recent picture, "Jezebel", many colored were employed. Miss Theresa Harris, portraying Bette Davis' maid, was darkened several shades and a type of gold-dust applied to her cheeks in order to make them shine. All Negroes were instructed to wash oil or preparations from their hair, while three cosmetologists were employed to kink the locks of a little girl who had a line to say. A so-

FOUR TONS STEEL, IRON USED IN TYPICAL HOME

Nearly four tons of products made from steel, wrought iron and cast iron are used in the construction and equipment of a typical small dwelling costing $4,000, according to the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Besides the usual products such as plumbing and heating equipment, nails, window weights gutters and downspouts, window and door hardware, etc., there are many new products that, if used, can add strength, durability and convenience to the small home. Two of the most popular are metal lathing and steel understructure for the floors. Not only does it add strength and durability of the structure, but it also makes the home more fire-proof.

Other products that are gaining in popularity are smoke pipes, conduit for the electric wiring, coal chutes, window frames and flashing roofs.

Equipment for the home adds to the total amount of steel and iron in the small home. It includes house furnishings, range, refrigerator, cooking utensils, steel springs in davenport, chairs and floor lamps and cutlery.

The builder or remodeler should investigate the many possibilities that are offered by steel and iron products before deciding.

Vivian Marsh Tells Lobby Experiences in Washington

"When I went to Washington, my estimation of the N. A. A. C. P. wasn't so high, of our senators very high; when I returned, my estimation of the N. A. A. C. P. was very very high; of our senators very low." Thus did Mrs. Vivian Osborne Marsh, grand president of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, sum up her lobbying experience in the nation's capital when interviewed here Monday on the recent Anti-Lynch Bill filibuster wher she was sent by Delta to assist Walter White and other officials of the N. A. A. C. P. in a nattempt to force the bill to a vote.

In commenting on the present status of the bill, the sorority leader pointed out that the let up of pressure on the part of the N. A. A. C. P. was due to the lack of funds and observed that the militant organization heads kept the bill before the Senate with less than $3,000 at a cost of $250,000 to the government. Since leaving Washington, she has traveled extensively through the South and Southwest telling of the work of the N. A. A. C. P. is one of the stances serving as a forerunner to organization and membership campaigns. Mrs. Marsh said, "I found in the South that there was less knowledge than elsewhere that the bill was an important item of legislation." However she cited that Atlanta N. A. A. C. P. asone of the strongest in the country.

SAYS VOTE MUST BE USED

Mrs. Marsh further said, "If we keep constantly demanding of our senators that they vote for it, the bill will be passed. Many of them are coming up for re-election and women's auxiliaries should know those who supported the measure and use their vote accordingly." She emphasized the unconcerned attitude of Hiram Johnson, California Senator, and commended the support given the bill by Senator McAdoo. "I felt that both sides were playing politics. The Republicans were not anxious that it should pass because during all their administrations they have not been able to pass one. Both sides realize that the Negro vote is the balance of power and should the bill pass now, the Democrats would have the vote. However, Borah was the only Republican who openly fought the bill . . . that was because our vote kept him from getting the presidential nomination in the last campaign. Ou the other hand, Northern Democrats showed very little open support of the bill, and I think that the record shows that more Republican voted for the bill in proportion to their representation."

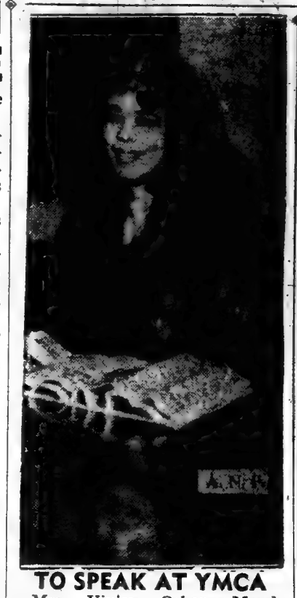
TO SPEAK HERE TONIGHT

Mrs. Marsh will be presented in a lecture-reception tonight, (Thursday) by the Los Angeles Chapters of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority at which time she will discuss the work of the N. A. A. C. P. and further emphasize the need of suport to legislation by collegiate groups. The meeting will be held in the 28th street Branch of the Y. M. C. A. and will be open to the public. Her appearance in Los Angeles is expected to draw throngs an ovations similar to that received in the South especially at Fisk university where James Weldon Johnson gave up his scheduleed appearance in order that students might hear her. Other colleges visited include Shaw, Atlanta, Morehouse, Spellman, in Georgia; Talledega, Tuskegee, Alabama State, in Alabama; Tennessee State A. and I., Dillard, Xavier, in Louisiana; Houston College, Prarie View, Samuel Houston, and Tillston in Texas.

Romance Seen in Growth of L. A. Beauty Shops in 25 Yrs.

It's a long way from El Paso, Texas to Los Angeles . . . at least it was in the days before streamline trains and high powered automobiles and planes; and it's not such a short distance in the world of beauty from house to house appointments to the modern beauty shops. The growth of beauty culture in Los Angeles is as romantic a story as one could wish, but time will not move through all those periods . . so we take the first establishment and the present modern shops that line Central Avenue. Efficient work and management have kept that first shop open and in step with its rivals.

Back in 1909, young and ambitious Rosa Sampson established the first Angel City shop . . . . and other comely brown women have followed her lead. Rosa Sampson, now Mrs. E. O. Morris, opened her first shop at 1310 East Ninth street. Then that was the place where everybody that was anybody went . . . as the lights of the business section of Los Angeles moved, Rosa Sampson's Shop moved. She now owns and operate the Creole Beauty Shop at 2221 South Central Avenue and has everything milady needs from vaseline to wigs . . . She is a native of San Antonio, Texas and received her training in El Paso and at the Corsen's Beauty School in Los Angeles . . when Corsen's was on South Broadway. Her chief assistant is her daughter, Alice Morris, who will probably carry the beauty torch to the next generation.



The modernity of shops is exemplified in the lounge room you'll find at Emile's Salon; the balcony coolness and spaciousness of Thriftown Shop, the efficiency of Dorothea's; the homey atmosphere of Rose Marie's; Lady Ebonee's originality in make-up from products created by Mrs. Hazel Williams who is also assistant manager at Henrietta's Beauty School, one of the pioneer institutions. For enterprising management, there is the Blanchette chain of three fully equipped shops.

Youngest of the schools is Ruth's Beauty School at 4206 S. Central where 60 girls are enrolled. Mrs. Ruth Mosby, proprietress, has been in the work twenty-one years; She came to Los Angeles nine years ago and established her first school in 1930 which ran until 1934. In 1937, she opened the present establishment and will celebrate its first anniversary Easter Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Mosby is formerly of Detroit and a graduate of four beauty schools--Mdme. C. J. Walker, Poro, Sophie's, and Apex. She has trained more than one hundred girls and teaches everything in the beautiful Central Avenue institution from shampooing to electrolysis with a free course in personal hygiene every Thursday night . . . that's open to the public.

For those who are skeptical about there being progress in the field of feminine beauty culture . . . compare the portraits of your grandmother or mother with your wife's . . . or just walk down the Avenue any Thursday and see the parade to and from the shops.

MONROVIA NEWS

Second Baptist Church
Maple and Shamrock Aves.
Rev. John A. Davis, Pastor

Last Sunday, Palm Sunday, was a very high day in Second Baptist church. The Sunday school began on time, with Cornelius Presley, superintendent in charge. A very large attendance witnessed the lesson period and listened to the pastor as he reviewed the lesson, subject: "Finding Ourselves in Service".

The morning service was well attended. It seemed as if the people came from every quarter of Monrovia to listen to the message brought by the pastor. The pastor took his text in the morning from the 26th chapter, of Matthew, the 69th and 70th verses. A message that was very full of thought and preparation, as well as spiritual application; as it affects the lives of men and women today.

The BYPU met on time, with Rev. B. T. Mayfield, the president, presiding. A lively devotional was conducted, with Mrs. Davis leading. After this period the groups assembled to their respective places, and discussed the very important lesson, "Jesus, Crown or Crucify Him".

The attendance at the evening service was not quite so large, but the congregation was very attentive and received with an enthusiasm that was never witnessed before. The pastor brought another splendid message from the 19th chapter of Luke, and the 41st verse. And when He was come near, He beheld the city, and wept over it. Subject: Jesus and the City.

Easter Sunday morning, the choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. C. Fisher, will render an Easter Sunrise Cantata, on the steps of the church. The choir will meet in the church at 5 a. m. and from 5 to 6, will give to the members and friends of the church, and the citizens as well, one hour of beautiful Easter music. Every person coming to this service is asked to bring a candle with them, so as to make the service more impressive.

From 6 to 7 a. m., on the front steps of the church where the worshippers can see the rising sun in all of its glory, the group of Christian men and women will assemble, and for one hour will blend their voices in prayer to the Risen Christ. After the services, the choir will serve a pancake breakfast in the dining room of the church, to which everyone is invited.

There were quite a number of visitors present at the services Sunday, prominent among them were Rev. and Mrs. A. F. Seaton of Riversdie. Rev. Seaton offered a very fervent prayer following the morning message.

The pastor and Cornelius Presley will represent the church at the Tri-County Baptist association which convenes with the Second Baptist church of Santa Ana, Calif., Rev. T. J. Anderson, pastor, Wednesday and Thursday, April 13-14. Quite a large delegation is expected, in view of the fact, that there is no school during the week.

The Sunday school will render its Easter program next Sunday night. Mrs. Davis has charge of the program, and we are promised a great time, and a program of outstanding quality.

Our sick: Mrs. Elmira Enge and Mrs. Dan McCoy.

Our visitors: Rev. and Mrs. Seaton, Mr. J. H. Thompson, Mr. Monroe Connor, and Mrs. Wallace, who recently joined her husband here from Louisiana.

Mrs. Lynn Carter Hostess

Mrs. Lynn Carter, of Grant St. Pheonix, Arizona was the hostess to the "Lone White Rose Club" of the Eastern Star, Friday afternoon. Mrs. N. E. White, president presided over the meeting. The minutes were recorded by Mrs. Velma Perkins, Sec'y. During the business period the chairman of the various committees serving for the annual Rainbow party, given March 17th gave their reports.

The president then presented Mesdames Marie Green of Chicago, and F. Matthews of Los Angeles, who gave timely remarks complimenting the club on its work. Mrs. Chlora Sledge responded to their remarks.

Mrs. Lynn Carter, Grand Worthy Matthews of O. E. S., gave an informative talk concerning the meeting of the grand lodge convening in May, at Globe Ariz. Mrs. Bryant was reported ill. At the close of the meeting a social hour followed, at which time the hostess served delightful refreshments.

POLITICAL POT-PIE

By IRA

Looks as though the Jones boys are suffering from a severe case of the "vice probe blues". William Moseley Jones, thru his legislative vice committee, started out to prove Central avenue wreaking in vice and crime, and thereby skyrocket himself into the attorney general's office. He proved a dud. Determined that the family banner should not trail in the dust James (Advancement League) Jones took up the cudgel in an attempt to carry on. In doing so he annexed a beating, said to have been administered by a creditor and, adding insult to injury, now languishes in jail, charged with theft. According to gossip along the Avenue, the Jones boys are determined to win and another member of the clan, James (Felix Argo) Jones, backed by Vice Crusader Clinton, will blast the black spots from the community thru the columns of a publication launched by (Advancement League) Jones. On with the dance.

'joy of living' goes into 2nd week at rko and pantages

Mixing melody, love and laughter into one of the most appetizing film cocktails of the season, "Joy of Living" continues its rollicking way on the screens of the RKO-Hillstreet and Pantages Hollywood theatres, where the film is in its second smash week. Irene Dunne and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. cavort merrily through the leading roles.

"Night Spot" heads the all-new supporting bill, with Allan Lane, Joan Woodbury and Parkyakarkus featured in this high-speed melodrama.

Miss Dunne sings four of Jerome Kern's catchiest melodies in "Joy of Living", in which she portrays a musical comedy star subjected to the financial demands of her mooching family.

Fairbanks makes a perfect co-star for the glamorous Irene, while Alice Brady, Guy Kibbee, Lucille Ball and Eric Blore add zest to the occasion in the leading supporting roles.

wiley college prof. signs for new play texan recently authored "a gallery of harlem portraits', epic poem

By S. J. Vincent jr.

MARSHALL, Texas, April 21. — Professor M. B. Tolson, coach of the champion Wiley College debate teams and well-known director of dramatics, has signed a contract for a Negro play with Claire Leonard, Broadway broker, famed for her connections with the International Theatre Guild, the Group Theatre which produced the Broadway hit "Golden Boy", and the Provincetown Theatre which gave Paul Robeson and Eugene O'Neill their start.

M. B. Tolson, whose great epic poem, "A Gallery of Harlem Portraits," was enthusiastically hailed in the February issue of "Current History" magazine by the eminent New York critic V. F. Calverton—this young dramatist and poet has come to the front again by sponsoring at Wiley college the most successful meeting of the Southern Association of Dramatic and Speech Arts, which was attended by such celebrities as Mr. Charles Wood, who followed Mr. Richard B. Harrison as "De Lawd" of the "Green Pastures", Professor Poag of the famous Community Theatre of Columbus, Ohio, and Mr. V. F. Calverton, novelist, anthropology, and critic of drama, who considers Mr. Tolson as one of the future great American writers.

During the interview, Mr. Tolson pointed out that the annual conference of the Southern Association could not have been so successful without the efficient help of his co-workers, Mrs. Diana Pierson of the University of Southern California and Prof. Bertram Lewis of the University of Nebraska.

joan crawford, spencer tracy co-star in tivoli pic

Katherine Brush, whose best-selling novel, "Young Man of Manhattan," was made into a motion picture hit, has scored again with the adaptation to the screen of her original story, "Mannequin", co-starring for the first time Joan Crawford and Spencer Tracy. The picture opens at the Tivoli Theatre.

With the New York Miss Brush knows so well as an exciting background, this is the human, realistic tale of a girl born in a Hester Street tenement, who winds up in a multimillionaire's penthouse. Jessie Cassidy, played by Miss Crawford, asks for nothing more in life than three clean, comfortable rooms and the man she loves, but fate takes a hand when two men battle for her.

The first is Eddie Miller, portrayed by Alan Curtis, Hollywod's newest leading man discovery. The second is John L. Hennessey, a part which gives Tracy a rugged characterization as a wealthy steamship owner who rose from Hester Street. Surprising story twists lead to a dramatic climax when Hennessey goes broke and Jessie finally finds happiness in three rooms.

Miss Crawford, never more beautifully gowned, wears twenty-eight costume changes, designed by Adrian as an advance fashion preview of feminine styles for 1938.

In prominent featured roles are Ralph Morgan; Mary Phillips, New York stage actress; Leo Gorcey, who plays the same type of swaggering waterfront tough role that brought him fame as "Spit" in the Broadway stage production of "Dead End"; Oscar O'Shea, veteran character actor who was discovered in a W. P. A. theatre project and scored an immediate hit in "Captain Courageous"; Elizabeth Risdon and others.

Frank Borzage, whose most recent film success was "Big City", and who gave the screen "Farewell to Arms." "Seventh Heaven" and "Street Angel", was the director.

--REVIEW--

By JOHN KINLOCH

The Easter evening musicale at the Second Baptist Sunday proved to be one of the finest in the church's history.

Under the direction of Mrs. Anna Mae Morrow, the performance was smooth, almost professional. The program was divided in three symbolic portions — "Jerusalem", "The Crucifixion", and "The Resurrection".

"The Crucifixion" was brought to mind through such famed hymns as "The Old Rugged Cross" (solo by Mary Lou Roberson), "When Night Involves the Skies" (Ladies' Choir and soloists Ernestine Wade and Alice Pruitt), and "Were You There?" (Rebecca Anderson and choir).

During the rendition of these songs, reminiscent of the suffering and trial of the Savior, a remarkable effect was had through lighting. The entire church was wreathed in darkness, outside a soft blue light which lay upon the figure of Christ on the Cross at the far side of the pulpit. Only other light came from outside the building — a spot-beam played upon the image of Jesus on one of Second Baptist's colorful windows.

At the commencement of the third and final portion of the evening's entertainment, "The Resurrection", indirect floodlights softly illuminated the pulpit area, while the blue light upon the bleeding figure of the Savior snapped off, and on the other side of the platform a cross of pure white lighted up. No doubt, the purpose of this latter program-division was to point out that the Son of God had surmounted the trials of suffering and had arisen triumphant; in short, a message of hope and victory. If this was the intention, it was beautifully achieved. Rising through the anthems, "Awake Thou That Sleep" and "Hosanna" (Vesper Octette), the program reached a soaring climax in an inspired choral rendition of "Inflammatus" (solo: Gladys Wells), which at its conclusion brought excited exclamations from the congregation.

One of the many highlights was the solo, "The Lord's Prayer", rendered by Archie Hairston. He is the possessor of a remarkable voice.

There were also vocal solos by Julia Moore and John Kinloch, while, earlier in the evening, Geneva Mae Bass rendered an excellent organ solo.

Remarks of Reverend Griffith were brittle and well-received. He announced the coming of Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune next Sunday afternoon in a mass meeting to be held at the church.

NEWSPAPER HITS MOB SPIRIT DISPLAYED BY HOWARD STUDENTS

Men and Women Students Defy Acting Dean of Women

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21 — Howard university students were taken to task here this week for a demonstration on the campus Monday night of last week in defiance of Miss Alida P. Banks, acting dean of women.

Crying--"We want Banks' with a rope around her neck", a crowd of 200 young men congregated on the lawn in front of the women's dormitory where dissenting coeds had been locked in to prevent their participation in the demonstration. The youths were making the oral exhibition after plans had fallen through to burn Miss Banks in effigy.

As the mob appeared on the lawn, dormitory windows were opened and filled with the heads of women students. They took up the word of mouth campaign started by the men and hurled rolls of toilet tissue at protesting school officials.

President of the Student Council Walter Washington undertook to persuade the students to desist, but his words were met with cries of "Hitler" and "Stalin".

According to members of the mob, grievances against the dean of women were the outgrowth of what they described as arbitrary acts on her part, without justification, a tyrannical attitude and general student discontent. Miss Banks is temporarily occupying the vacancy created by the death of Dean Lucy Slowe.

PREXY DENIES RUMORS

Rumors that privileges had been taken from resident students of the University because of the riot were denied late last week by President Dr. Mordecai Johnson.

He stated further that action by the Board of Trustees on filling the post of dean of women had been deferred until "some time".

Reports are being circulated that dormitory women have been denied all privileges and that they are mockingly referring to the resident building as "The Rock".

Taking the students to task, the Washington Tribune, in the April 16th issues, wrote: "Such demonstrations causes us to pause and wonder whether this is the sort of representation of which a school of higher education can be proud. Is mob frenzy so dominant in the human make-up that the veneer may be so slightly scratched that so called intellectuals in the making can turn to mobbery and yell 'a rope around the neck'."

2 Firemen Injured

Fighting a fire at 15th and Hooper in which an upholstery factory was ignited, George Bufford, of company 14, and Lawrence (Lucky) Stewart, of truck 30, sustained painful injuries last week.

Stewart's ankle was fractured when he slipped and fell while running with an extension hose.

Fireman Lewis Harris was burned on the face and hands when a sawdust bin exploded at 16th and Alameda, blowing him off his ladder.

Mitchell in $5,000 Suit

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21 (ANP)—Alleging that his auto had been wrongfully impounded by police on March 29, Congressman Arthur W. Mitchell of Chicago, has brought suit for $5,000. Defendants are Sergt. Paul Barnes and Private Ivy Murphy of the police department and Charles and Blanche Curry, citizens.

According to attorneys of the representative, he parked his car across a driveway and the police were called to remove it. The lawyers contend the driveway was unlawfully marked. Mrs. Curry contends the driveway is private, on her property and Mitchell had been repeatedly warned to move his car. This failing, she said she asked police for a "No parking" sign. Later, Mitchell's car again blocking the driveway, she called police who moved the machine.

Ask Ickes to Halt Jim Crow Ban

WASHINGTON, D. C., April21, (ANP)—In a letter sent last week to Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes, by Charles E. Russell, chairman Interracial Committee, Mr. Ickes was asked to cancel the contract of any concession granted on government property if it is established that discrimination because of race, color or station is practiced. Russell's letter intimated that it was believed the Secretary was dodging the issue, in his reply to an earlier note sent him by the interracial body. That previous note protested discrimination on local public golf courses and Mr. Ickes' answer was termed evasive.

Only 3.6 Per Cent College Grads Unemployed in 'Chi'

CHICAGO, Apr.21, (ANP)—Although 40.3 percent of the total Negro population were unemployed during the depression, in Chicago only 3.6 of colored college graduates in Chicago were jobless, according to a survey just completed by Dr. Charles S. Johnson of the Fisk University department of sociology.

At the present time, over 50 percent of all Negroes gainfully employed in Chicago are in the unskilled labor or domestic and personal service fields, but only half of one per cent of the college graduates are so employed, the survey states. Over half of the male graduates have annual incomes exceeding $2,000, with the median home income is $2,250 for men and $1,125 for women. These incomes are far above those of the average for all Negroes and compare favorably with the incomes of whites holding similar jobs.

The survey shows that 79.2 per cent of college graduates living in Chicago are engaged in the professions, while the remainder are largely concentrated in white collar occupations such as management, ownership, clerical work, etc.

The study was made by Fisk to demonstrate the practical values of higher and graduate education.

NEW ORLEANS COP WHO KILLED WAITRESS FREED FROM PRISON

NEW ORLEANS, April 21. (ANP)—Charles Guerand, a former policeman here, was freed from the state penitentiary at Angola Wednesday after serving a year of a one-to-three year term for manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting in 1930 of Hattie McCary, 14-year-old waitress in a Tulane avenue restaurant.

At his trial, Guerand said he shot after "she pulled a knife on me." He was found guilty on April 3, 1930, the first white man to face the gallows for the slaying of a Negro in the state since 1852. Soon after his conviction, through counsel, Guerand sought to be declared insane, and acting on the recommendation of a lunacy commission, he was sentenced by Judge A. D. Henriques to the East Louisiana Hospital for the Insane at Jackson "until such time as his sanity is restored or until further orders from this court."

Guerand served five years at Jackson.

Man Wins Discrimination Suit Against Restaurant

Declaring the facts fully indicated that the plaintiff was denied equal treatment by the defendant in respect to the service of food and that there was a clear violation of section 51 of the Civil Code, Judge Joseph L. Call awarded judgement of $100.00 against Geraldine Heard, white restaurent operator, to Milton Smith last Friday morning in the Municipal Court.

Smith charged in a Civil suit that Miss Heard and her mother refused to serve food to him on May 5, 1934, claiming that the restaurant did not cater to colored trade.

In court Miss Heard denied Smith's statement. She told the judge that she and her mother advised Smith that it was between breakfast time and lunch time and there was no breakfast ready for service, but that he could have a sandwich and coffee.

This statement was denied by Smith who also pointed out that there was an inscription on the front window, testifying "We do not cater to colored trade."

Miss Hear admitted the existence of the inscription.

Under section 51 of the Civil Code all citizens within the jurisdiction of the state are entitled to full and equal accomodations of restaurants and hotels Section 52 of the Code provides that whoever denies any citizen this right, on basis of color, is liable to damages.

OVERFLOW CROWDS THRONG CITY CHURCHES FOR EASTER'S SERVICES

Music, Birds, Flowers Color Day's Children's Programs

Despite the capacity attendance at Hollywood Bowl and Val Verde sunrise services Sunday morning, churches were thronged by overflow crowds throughout the city. Organ and string music were supplemented by birds placed in vari-hued cages in auditoriums and vestibules. Christenings and baptismal services followed the worship in a number of churches and children's programs drew scores for the Sunday School hour. Afternoon and evening services were mainly to pageants and organization presentations.

At the First A. M. E. Zion Church, at Pico and Paloma St., Easter services began with a children's program at the Sunday School hour in which the pupils from all departments participated. Many visitors and former members helped to swell the large audience. The memorial cross service in memory of deceased members was held. Mrs. A. Fields arranged the program. Mrs. Roberta Payne gave the Easter message at the Christian Endeavor hour and Floyd Grace sang the "Holy City". Climaxing the day, the senior choir presented the pageant of "The Resurrection" directed by Mrs. Florence Johnson.

On Friday evening, April 22, the Soul Stirrers will conduct the current revival services. The pastor, Rev. Walter R. Lovell, left Wednesday for a ten day vacation in Chicago with his small son accompanying him; Rev. Roger Willis, associate pastor, will be in charge during his absence.

An Easter cantata, "Christ Arose" was presented by the Bethel A. M. E. choir on good Friday evening at the Bethel A. M. E. church on West 35th St., under the direction of Lt. Leslie King with Mrs. Artie Mae Kingsberry serving as organist. The pageant was repeated Sunday evening because of numerous requests. Soloists included Rev. A. A. Moore, Granville Smith, Gwendolyn Coleman, and Esther Fortier. Mrs. Neosha Tatum and Miss Dorothy Crafton assisted in giving the synopsis of each number before its rendition.

The Sunday School of Shaw M. E. Church reports the largest attendance of the year with the High School Bible class attaining an all time record. At eleven, the pastor, Dr. A. C. Austin, rendered a well attended probrought the Easter message and the young people of the church gram at 7:30

The large auditorium of the Second Baptist Church at 24th and Griffith was filled with worshippers and visitors at an early hour. "The Resurrection of Christ As An Obligation" was the sermon subject chosen by Dr. T. L. Griffith, pastor. A dozen persons united with the church at the close of the sermon and fifteen parents brought forward their babies for prayer and blessing.

In the evening, an Easter musical was presented by Mrs. Anna Griffith Morrow, vesper choir director.

Worshippers packed the spacious main floor and balconies of the historic First AME church at 8th and Towne Avenue long before the scheduled hour. The senior choir of fifty voices brought verbal applause upon their rendition of the chorus from "The Crucifixion" with Jester Hairston, director, as soloist and the fifth and seventh from "The Last Seven Words". The music culminated in the Negro spiritual "'Twas on One Easter Sunday Morning" and a solo by Miss Gladys Wells, "Open The Gates". Rev. H. Mansfield Collins, pastor delivered the Easter sermon from the subject of the "Resurrection". Christening ceremonies for several babies closed the services. A children's program was presented at four and a pageant in the evening under the direction of Mrs. Hightower.

The Easter story was presented in song Sunday evening in an original musical at the Avalon Christia Church. The services were arranged and directed by Mrs. Zelma Watson Duke, wife of the pastor, Rev. Baxter C. Duke. Three major divisions comprised the program: "Passion Week", "The Resurrection" and "Jesus in Our Lives Today". These were preluded by the processional and a hymn of adoration; prologue and interludes were given by the narrator, Leland Whitney. Aside from choral renditions, "'Tis Midnight On Olive's Brow" was pantomined by three young women for the Nash School Expression; a string quartette directed and accompanied at the piano by Victoria Rice made its debut in three sacred selections; Miss Eddievies Flenoury sang an original solo written especially for the musical.

The main auditorium and annex of the People's Independent Church of Christ was thronged by worshippers Sunday morning and scores occupied seats placed around the church. In the evening, Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew directed "The Story of Calvary", an Easter musical drama. A capacity audience attended and acclaimed the pageant as the best ever presented by the popular director. The entire choir loft was removed to facilitate installation of elaborate scenery and for producing artistic lighting effects as a background for the rendition.

Verily, verily, I say uto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live." These promises of Jesus, from John, are the Golden Text for the Lesson Sermon on "Probation after Death" on Sunday in all branches of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ Scientist, in Boston, Massachusettes.

The Lesson Sermon includes these verses from Psalms :"The law of the LORD is perfect' converting the soul: the testimony of the LORD is sure, making wise the commandment of the LORD is pure, enlightening the eyes . . . Who can understand his errors? cleanse thou me from secret faults."

Among the passages from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, are the statements: Willingness to become as a little child and to leave the old for the new, renders thought receptive of the advanced idea. Gladness to leave the false landmarks and joy to see them disappear—this disposition helps to precipitate the ultimate harmony. The purification of sense and self is a proof of progress."

The Seventh Day Adventist Church at 40th place and Wadsworth Ave., invites all to the picture Sermon Sunday night when the pastor presents the subject "Is not the first day of the week just as good or better than the seventh for a day of religious rest?" SPRING CAR CHECK IS WISE PRACTICE

While Spring has become the accepted season for the annual thorough house cleaning it is also the time of the year when motorists should give attention to the various parts of their cars which have been subjected to the effects of winter driving, reminds the emergency service department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

A thorough checking and overhauling of the car from stem to stern is a wise practice to assure dependable performance for the summer vacation months where a breakdown is likely to occur many miles from home.

'The Visitor' Celebrates First Anniversary On Air

In celebration of beginning the second year of being on the air, special features are being arranged for the popular Sunday program, "The Visitor", broadcast from the People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, over KFOX from 10:15 to 10:45 next Sunday morning, April 24, according to an announcement made early this week by the pastor, Rev. Clayton D. Russell.

The second year of the broadcast actually began with last Sunday's program, when a special Easter service was released.

In keeping with his plan of church expansion and community uplift, the young minister conceived the idea of broadcasting a service every Sunday especially designed for the sick and shut-ins, and those who might find it inconvenient to attend church during the day.

When Rev. Russell took the idea to J. L. Hill, manager of the Angelus Funeral Home, it met with the immediate approval of Mr. Hill and the board of directors of the Angelus, who became the sponsors.

"From the very beginning," said Mr. Hill, "the Angelus has emphasized service to the community. We feel that we owe it to the people around us who are responsible for the success of the institution. The broadcast from the Independent church for the sick and shut-ins gave us a welcome opportunity to further show our deep appreciation to our hundreds of friends and well-wishers."

According to information received, the Angelus Funeral Home is the only Negro business in the United States that has sponsored a broadcast continuously for a year in the history of American radio. Since the Angelus opened its doors in 1925, it has become noted for helping individuals, and the community as a whole, in distinctive ways, a study of their varied activities revealed.

The program is released by remote control from the Hal Nichols station in Long Beach, and is rated by station officials as one of its most popular programs. Thousands of congratulatory communications have been received at the church, the Angelus and KFOX during the year for the excellency of the service and the inspiration it gives.

Also wishing to demonstrate his appreciation to his large number of customers, W. J. Benton, proprietor of Benton's Drug Store, volunteered his cooperation with the church, and pays the necessary telephone expense in conection with a remote control broadcast.

Rev. Russell is featured as "The Visitor", who makes a trip over the airways every Sunday morning, accompanied by Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, directing the large choir of eighty voices. William Gillespie, golden-voiced baritone of the famous Hall Johnson Choir has become a sensation as gospel soloist with the group.

Leroy Hurt, young radio technician, is at the controls, while the program is supervised and announced by War Perkins, one of the few Negroes in the country who has persistently specialized in promoting and directing radio programs for a number of years.

Among the many institutions tuning in regularly are: Los Angeles General hospital, White Memorial, Wildwood Sanitarium, Pauline Sanitarium, Olive View, and Ranchos Amigos.

RAILROAD CLATTER

By: CHARLES L. UPTON

UPTON SAYS

"You can fool some of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time." One night last week, Mark Kelly was boasting over his Rio-Tan sports broadcast and telling his sports fans how good Max Baer is, and how he would regain the world's heavyweight title when the Baer and Joe Louis fought again. He was going good until the radio announcer of the Rio-Tan program horned in with his advertisement spiel and the following words came bellowing at the tail-end of Mark Kelly's boastful speech: "Ladies and gentlemen, you can fool some of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time. Smoke the best, Rio-Tan."

Never fear menial work, nor those who "look down" on it. The only thing that can lower you is your own character.

Southern Pacific Red Caps Blamed for Deeds of One Black Sheep

One bad apple can spoil a whole barrel, and one black sheep can bring hell and damnation to a whole flock of good sheep. Such is the regrettable case that was flaunted before the public last week concerning the theft of money from a travelers bag enroute to Texas, by a Red Cap whom the pasenger discribed as walking like Stepin Fetchit. From all the information that the writer was able to obtain, regarding the incident, the theft was apparently committed by a crook who managed to get hold of a red cap's uniform out of a pawn shop, and which of course absolves the entire force of red caps at the station.

Every red cap employed by the Southern Pacific Company must give creditable references for at least five years prior to the time he is employed by the Company. The majority of the red caps working in the station have been there for many years and have one of the highest percentages in the country for honesty and careful handling of passenger's bags and belongings. The majority of these boys are raising families and buying homes and are without question, law abiding citizens. It is indeed regrettable that some culprit, not connected with them, should cause them to be brought before the public in such a manner. Many of the older employes are so honest that if they found a nickle on the floor of the depot they would turn it in to the management and I am quite sure that their names shall be publicly cleared when the real black sheep is caught and placed behind the bars.

Union Pacific Challenger Wrecked, Crew Injured

Five crew members were injured when a broken rail sent five cars of the crack east-bound Union Pacific train, The Challenger, into the ditch last Thursday near the California-Nevada line. The following members of the crew were injured: Jesse Thompson, Charles W. Hill, Leroy Bird, and Leslie Turner, all were members of the dining car crew. Ambulances were sent to the scene of the wreck from Las Vegas hospitals. The locomotive and first eight cars of the 14 car train passed safely over the broken section of the rail, or else the rail broke after the train passed. The ninth and tenth cars from the front, a diner and lounge car, hurtled from the track and turned on their sides, the next two cars, Pullmans, cantered over to a 45 degree angle, but did not overturn, the last car, also a Pullman remained upright. The wreck occurred at Roach, on the Mojave desert, 300 miles east of Los Angeles.

Santa Fe Pulls off California Limited, Many Crews Loose Lines

It will be some time before the dumping subsides on the Santa Fe after this blow.

Call Books Aids to Employment

By MIRIAM MATTHEWS

With millions in the nation still unemployed after eight years of depression and recession, it is small wonder that young and old alike are still asking the question—"What About Jobs?" Locally, an attempt has been made to answer the question at many jobs conferences held during the past few months and a special committee is introducing Vocational Opportunity Week next Sunday with a large mass meeting featuring a prominent national figure in a lecture on this all-important subject.

These activities have served to increase the interest in books on this already popular subject at the public library. Although Civil Service examinations have taught many the need for serious study when in search of employment, others perhaps have not realized that certain information would be beneficial to them also, even though they are not seeking jobs in the civil service field.

Any job seeker would be interested in two new pamphlets just received at the Vernon and Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Libraries: "Preparation for Seeking Employment." by Howard Lee Davis and "Finding Your Work," by Gustav White. The first suggests that the prospective employee who is willing to put forth his best mental efforts for pay, often fails to put the same mental effort into solving his own personally important problems of where and how to find the work best adapted to his interests and abilities. The second pamphlet furnishes vocational aid to puzzled youth and analyzes such questions as: What is there to do? What can I do? What ought I to do?

Frances Maule, author of a volume on business behavior and job requirements for women called "She Strives to Conquer" has recently issued a business volume for the opposite sex with the explanatory title: "Men Wanted: The New Opportunities and What They Demand." She emphasizes the fact that more will be required of young job seekers in the way of qualifications than of any previous generation. They will be expected to be more, to do more, and to give more but if they have the initiative and energy to go after their chance and seize it, the rewards will be greater than ever before.

Several important volumes are now available for the domestic employee and her employer: "The How and Why of Home Etiquette," by Josephine Perry: "Maidcraft", by Lita Price and "Housekeeping on Parade." These books point out the new trend of making housework a business which needs to be as carefully managed as the great enterprises men are engaged in. To run a household rightly takes executive ability and these books point out the training needed to elevate house work to a profession, worthy of the highest type of woman.

Hollis R. Thompson explains in an article on "Public Service and the College Graduate" published in the California Monthly Magazine that government service offers one of the most promising possibilities for a real and lasting career. This is especially true since several state and federal departments are now offering young people appointments after they pass general civil service examinations and then giving them a strenuous period of special training. This training together with the later experience in the department, eventually gives them all of the specialization necessary to cope with the complexities of modern administration.

Since amateur photography is becoming increasingly popular as a hobby, many will be interested in A. J. Erickson's "Making Amateur Photography Pay" because it gives timely advice on how to make and sell photographs and how to attain a professional status. Names and addresses of journals or syndicates which buy pictures are also included.

For a more complete list of vocational material consult the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 South Central avenue and the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Library, 2330 Naomi avenue.

DESIRE TO SEE STATE IS ON INCREASE

Neither floods nor recession apparently can put a damper on America's desire to see Southern California.

Since the first of the year, 9.4 per cent more vacationing tourists have entered the state than last year, the previous peak period, while March, the "flood" month dropped only 2.8 per cent behind last March, Don Thomas, managing director of the All-Year Club, announced last night.

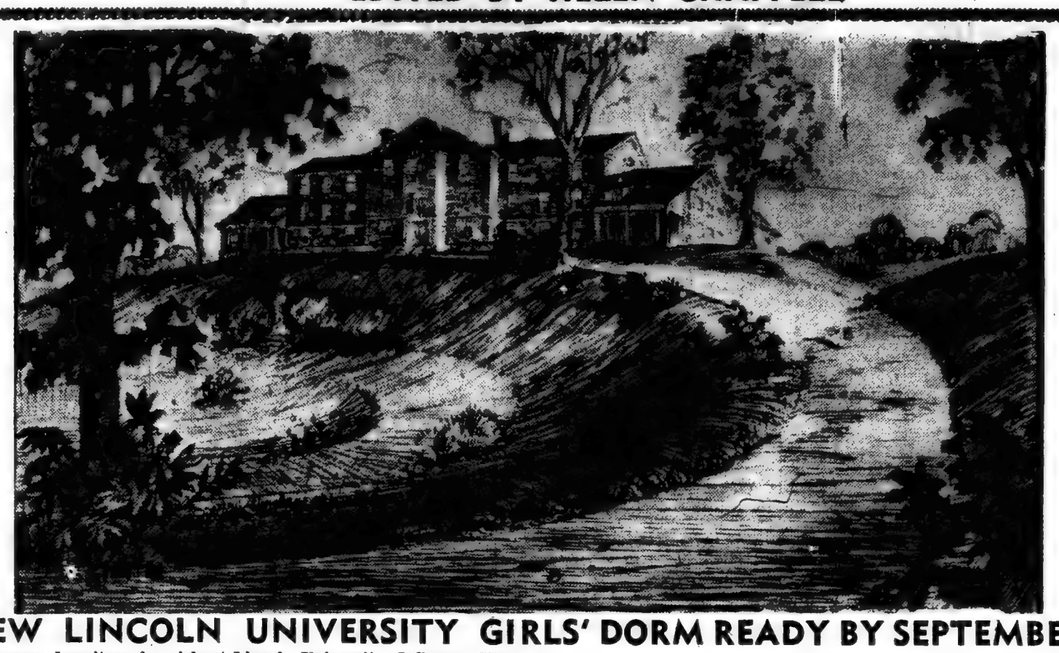
versatility in zelma watson duke recital boosts interest

The reportoire of Zelma Watson Duke's recital for April 28, released this week to the EAGLE, disclosed a versatility that promises to draw a record attendance of music lovers to the auditorium of the Avalon Christian Church where she is being presented by the Avalon choir.



Mrs. Duke who is fast becoming one of the most popular concert artists on the coast numbers among her triumphs the soprano role of the oratorio, "Elijah" by Mendelssohn sung in the Orchestra Hall in Chicago with the accompanist of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra; the musical part of a team with Miss Mary McDowell, famed director of the University of Chicago Settlement House which appeared before critical groups for three years; and a large following in sixteen states in the East and South wheer she has appeared in principal cities.

Her program for next Thursday's appearance runs the gamut of outstanding compositions by renowned composers from Giuseppe Verdi's "O Don Fatale" from the opera, "Don Carlos, through "The Last Hour" by Kramer, and Hall Johnson's spiritual, "iCty Called Heaven."

Divided into five parts, the program follows: "Amarilli", Giulio Caccini; "Nebbie", Ottorino Respighi; "O Don Fatale", Verdi; in the first group; "A Spirit Flower", "The Crying of Water", Campbell-Tipton; Recitative and Aria from "In a Persian Garden" by Liza Lehmann, the words being from the "Rubaiyat" by Omar Khayyam in the second group; "Ah! Mon Fils!" from "Le Prophete", Meyerbeer; "Still wie die Nacht", Bohm; "Hills of Gruzia, Nicolai Mednikoff; "When I Have Sung My Songs", Ernest Charles in the third; Do Not Go, My Love" and "The Star", Rogers; "The Last Hour", Kramer; Love's in My Heart", Woodman makes up the fourth group. The final division includes the spirituals: "Talk About a Child", Dawson; "On Mah Journey", Boatner; "City Called Heaven, Johnson.

Mrs. Duke is a graduate of the American Conservator of Music, Chicago; has studied with Charles LeBerg, Madam Van Buren of the Congress Hotel, and Madam Hanna Butler of the Auditorium Hotel, all of Chicago; she has spent several seasons coaching with Herman D'Vries, reputed "King" of music critics of America an dat Northwestern University Schol of Music, Evanston, Ill.

She will be accompanied by Miss Juanita Terry.

Chatter and... Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL

After a week of concentration . . . and consecration to things beyond mundane grasp . . . and yet so necessary to balanced living, we are turning again to vexations and problems . . . which the quiet period has fitted us to meet with more patience. They are minimized and happiness overrides.

Congratulations to the W. C. Bankses (Bessie Hosman) who are boasting of their second contribution to the population — Abriel Jean, a baby girl born at Osteopathic Hospital . . . on April 8. The Bankses live in West 35th St. . . . For some more last week's news: Jess Lee Brooks of "Macbeth" and other stage and screen productions, motored north, accompanied by his fiancee, Miss Vestarie Oliver . . . to San Francisco . . . through Oregon to Seattle, which Jess calls home . . . Canada . . . and back by way of Yosemite National Park. Happy pair, happy trip . . . happy to be in the City of Angels again . . .

MORE TRIPS:

Easter provided incentive for more than one motoring party . . . the C. S. Smiths and Windsor Jones together with Bob Peters . . . upped bright and early to Bakersfield . . . to see the wild flowers and cruise through the edge of the great desert . . . by Techachipi, the woman's prison, which I can't spell and don't have time to look up — please excuse indolence . . . blame Spring. The Robert Coxs, Edward Daniels and Miss Addie Sims, with guest, Miss Ozzie Lockett of Chicago . . . sought the desert for relaxation, too . . . and took in Palm Springs . . . the morning spent in breakfast and 'cycling around to see the town . . . the afternoon in picturesque Palm Canyon . . . which is the most talked of spot in the desert and worthy anybody's day.

The Mothers' Club of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, moves to the front this week with the announcement that they will participate in the frat's "Guide Right Week", national vocational program. Just what the mothers are planning "isn't for publication yet", but you can be sure it's going to be what you've been waiting for. The Kohinoors' sleeve trick turns out to be a tea dansante in Covan's Dance Studio on East 41st St. . . . next Sunday (May 1) . . . and you are cordially bidden . . . with your friends . . . Theo Hampton moves into another term as prexy of the Junior Business-ers . . . who recently became the Business and Professional Girls' League. Nice work, Theo . . . nicer when you can keep it three years . . .

The P-V-ites are hosting alumni and friends of the Texas institution at Camille's Party Den Friday night, April 22 . . . Mrs. Bessie Burke will be guest speaker . . . briefly so. Please don't tell anyone that they're serving dee-lightful refreshments . . . but they are . . . so maybe we'll slip by — huh? Friday night also offers the Book Club in Vernon Street Library . . . Almena Davis . . . and Dr. Henry A. McPherson are reviewers. It's at eight . . . and you'll have plenty of time to go elsewhere afterwards . . .

YOU'LL BE GLAD TO KNOW:

That Gwendolyn Valentine is home again . . . after that close siege in the General Hospital . . . and progressing splendiferously! That Charlotte Strange is probably home by now . . . so flowers are in order.

Continuing to make good copy and headlines, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune will actually be with us Sunday . . . (in Oakland now) . . . at three in the afternoon in Second Baptist . . . in her only public appearance in L. A. . . . as far as speaking goes. The Inter-Organizational Youth Committee is the sponsor.

Mrs. J. H. Holden, of 708 East 54th St., left last night (Wednesday) for her vacation — an extended trip East for about ninety days. She will stop in Marshall, Texas . . . thence to Hot Springs, Arkansas, to attend the General Conference of the CME Church . . . to St. Louis, Mo. . . . and on to Kansas City to visit her brother, the Rev. R. E. Holland, pastor of the True Vine Baptist church. From there to Denver . . . and to Alliance, Nebraska, to be feted by her son and family . . . to Salt Lake City . . . to San Francisco . . . back to L. A. around July 20. Lady, you have our best wishes for a lovely trip with happy landings all the way.

Because I rooted so loudly for their romance . . . I'm so sorry to learn that Sid Dones and latest bride, Althea Carrere, have come to the parting of the ways . . . but definitely. Still think they're both fine scouts . . . oil and water won't mix, but each has a very definite place in keeping the world going . . . so 'tis with folks . . . and it's all a part of being honed to this thing we label life.

Angelenos Spend Easter at Murrays' Dude Ranch

A number of Angelenos motored to Murray's Dude Ranch in Victorville to spend Easter Sunday in the popular desert oasis, which is only 85 miles from Los Angeles.

Among the visitors were the Herndon boys and a party of 16; Dr. John Robinson, Mrs. Katherine Wilson McCulloch, Mr. and Mrs. Morton and sister, the Polytechnic Hi-Y, Manual Tri-Hi-Y, the Gouchottis, and Walter Lawson of the Central Avenue Board of Trade. Nat Joseph, living on an adjoining ranch, was also among the guests.

'TWEEN TROY & WESTWOOD

By EDYTHE MEAUX

And it took only seven days again to make one weak, avowed all the Trojans as they unwillingly but compulsorily returned to the campus after the most welcome, but too, too short Easter vacation.

Back beneath the walls of Troy . . . Rev. Isaacs and Alva Shaw, wandering aimlessly about the campus, protesting that Easter vacation was just long enough to be teasingly tantalizing . . . Earlene Chase, bemoaning the fact that she must go unadorned as she observes "hell week" in line with her AKA initiation . . . Sarah Collins, looking all modest when we complimented her on her chic Easter outfit which was of navy blue trimmed with dusty pink . . . Dillard Brown, scurrying swiftly around campus, making up for the time he spent in leisure during vacation . . . Julia Taylor, another "hell week" victim of the AKA's mildly complaining that someone should have told her that school wasn't in session last week . . . Steve Roland, looking a bit reminiscent after his trip over to Arizona with Odie Walker . . . Georgia Williams-Nolan Payton duo, looking a bit sleepy, having gotten up so early Sunday morning to attend Easter sunrise services in the Hollywood Bowl . . . Chris Wright, who being in law school, failed to get in on the seven days reprieve, declaring our good luck was unfair to organized labor.

To aid in drawing the basketball season to its real and ultimate finale we joined in the Easter parade and hied ourselves up to the Elks to view that last grudge game between the Bojangles and the Million Dollar Production teams.

Dr. Lois Evans and Sylvia Smith, regular basketballers, arrived a little early so as not to miss a bit of this grudge affair, what with Bill Robinson himself being there to spur his team on to victory . . . Jackie Corry of Pasadena, and "Drippy" Williams were discussing a few basketball techniques as they watched the preliminary games . . . Euvalda Ballard, also from over Pasadena way, was trying to pacify Al Brewer, who was rarin' to go against the MDP's as soon as he entered the door . . . Marie Hopson, with Arnold Armstead, carried on a bit of sign language, with Winifred Orr, to discover if there were any vacant seats near her . . .

All in the spirit of the day we saw George Roland, who was squiring Miss Adams up from El Centro for Easter . . . Hattie Hopgood, looking very smart in a plaid and beige sport outfit, was putting all her energy into rooting for "Sug" Morrison . . . Billy Turner was keeping Patsy Brewer, down from 'Frisco all occupied . . . Bernice Eblong, cleverly attired in a black and green print with black accessories, was seen trying to persuade Roger Hogan to get up and let her climb to her seat . . .

'Reader's Choice of 1937' Ballot Results Announced

Los Angeles readers enjoy books on the arts, philosophy, biography, history and drama to almost as great an extent as fiction, according to the results of ballots cast in city libraries for "Reader's Choice of 1937."

Among the thirteen books of 1937 receiving the largest number of votes, seven were novels and six were found in various fields of interest; two in biography, "Madame Curie" by her daughter, Eve Curie; and "Present Indicative," self-told adventures in literature and drama by the successful playwright, Noel Coward. One choice was an original and forceful history of a river, "The Nile" by Emil Ludwig. One was the Pulitzer Prize play of the year, "You Can't Take It With You" written by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart. The fifth was Hendrik van Loon's unique and comprehensive story of "The Arts" and the sixth choice was "The Importance of Living" by Lin Yutang which has been called "a wise and merry philosophy."

In popular fiction Margaret Mitchell's "Gone with the Wind" topped the list although it was a 1936 publication. Next to this melodramatic story of the Civil War, came John Steinbeck's "brutality tender" tale, "Of Mice and Men", a novel which has aroused both violent partisanship and marked distaste. Dr A. J. Cronin's story of a physician's problems, "The Citadel", was followed by Kenneth Roberts' "Northwest Passage", a finely drawn historical novel of the Colonial period. Historical England in the elaborate and romantic adventures of a young man who assisted Victoria to the throne--"And So--Victoria" by Vaughan Wilkins, found favor and present-day India proved interesting as presented by Louis Bromfield in a novel of complicated plot and sharp suspense, "The Rains Came". A brutally realistic picture of the great African trek of 1836, "Turning Wheels" by Stuart Cloete, ranked equally in favor with James Hilton's gentle story of the Little Doctor, "We Are Not Alone."

Tabulation of votes reveals a rather high standard of reading tastes both for varied subject matter and literary style. Additional titles which received many votes in individual branches included: "Conversation at Midnight" by Edna St. Vincent Millay, "How to Win Friends and Influence People by Dale Carnegie, "Life and Death of a Spanish Town" by Elliot Paul, "Four Hundred Million Customers" by Carl Crow, "To Have and To Have Not" by Ernest Hemingway and "Paradise" by Esther Forbes.

The books listed above may be borrowed from the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 South Central avenue and the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Library, 2330 Naomi Avenue.

SHOTS AT RANDOM

Palmer Conerly, a little on the lee side but still up to his old enthusiastic rooting . . . Carl Kimbrough declaring he's going to be seen out more often these days . . . Frances King, looking a bit bored with things . . . Ray Smith almost being sat on by a few of the basketball boys in one of their flying plays . . . Bootsie Collings and Ballinger Kemp holding their own on the dance floor . . . Ruth Rochelle, just back from points East . . . Tom Lacefield, nominated for the most interested and gentlemanly basketball rooter . . . as also were the Jerrene Webbs . . . Leon Coleman, bidding us goodbye before he embarks on his so-called trip around the world which his cousin, Johnny Randolph, exposed as a trip to one of the Carolinas . . . the Cliff Whites indulging in a bit of after-game dancing . . . Arvelle Akers chatting with Flo Riddle and Ethel Robinson . . . while Ed and Louise Woods strolled around to get a bird's-eye view of the Easter fashions.

Easter Sunday dawned in Pasadena . . . with a sudden burst of sunlight that put to flight the grey light of early morning . . . that but a bare moment before had filled my room . . . and as suddenly, with the touch of a switch my room was flooded with glorious music . . . beautifully symbolic of the Ascension . . . hours before I had listened to the maddened mob that thronged the streets of Gethsemane. . . had hurled infuriated cries of scorn and hatred in . . .DuBois' Seven Last Words of Christ . . .the traditional Good Friday musical legend of His suffering . . .now, as I listened, I could visualize the great, great concourse that at that very moment thronged Hollywood Bowl, in the yearly pilgrimage . . .so much a part of life in Southern California . . .to the shrines of Easter Sunrise services . . .and each note seemed to speed heavenward. . . . to die away within that all-incircling, sunlit canopy of blue that was the sky . . . thence to listen to the melodious surges of the Great Mormon Tobernacle Choir . . .and here was no change of mood . . .only the unbroken, the beautiful chain of thoughts that found no rival in brightness . . save the sun . . and then on to Church . . .and in the cool, reverential atmosphere of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Pasadena . . .I noted, with gratification, the number of faces present . . . especially gratified inasmuch as I chose to regard their presence as a significant expression of their advanced intellectual and spiritual thought . . and thence, back again along the pulsating main stem of the City . . .and through tree shaded lanes . . .to call upon our beloved Mrs. Anna Baptists . . .thereby making my first and my most important Easter Sunday morning call . . .thereupon home again to await the deluge of always welcome callers. . . doing double duty this particular Sunday . . . what with my natal date but a day old . . .and the Misses Della and Mattye Mae Sharp, those inimitable purveyors of excellent food, were callers on Saturday to deposiit a heavenly birthday cake unto my eagerly outstreched palms . . .then to go on . . . with "Madame ma femme" . . . to dinner, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Washington . . .who are, you know, the owner managers of that cleverly named "Dixie Kitchen" . . .out Fair Oaks Avenue way.

Maybe it was ninety-three degrees . . .or something very close to it . . but the fact didn't deter an hundred or so of Pasadena's younger married citizens from attending the gay "Easter afternoon dance" that the Gay Cavaliers chose as a medium to introduce themselves to their many friends . . .beginning shortly after four o'clock the affair continued until well toward nine o'clock . . .with not a single low-spirited person in the whole crowd. . . music was furnished by the Ollie Jackson swing quartette.

Williams . . .and members of the League's board of directors are expressing keen satisfaction and expectancy for the May breakfast. . .already a number of reservations have been secured . . .for the Pasadena citizenry, as well as not a few of our Los Angeles neighbors, have come to see the definite importance of the League as a force . . . working toward civic, social and racial betterment.

At a recent surprise cocktail party. . . given by Mrs. Nolan H. Volrie to honor her husband's natal date . . the late Volrie home at East 108 street, furnished a charming background for a clever courtesy . . . later there was dinner . . .for which Messrs . . . and Mmes. Ted Johnson, Earl Johnson, Thomas Jefferson, Maurice Soares, Emma Herbert, Daveanna Wimberly, and Messrs. Alonzo Crowell and Nathan Willard took their places at the handsome dining board . . .later the Cliff Pleasants and the Gaines dropped in for a short period of felicitiation and participated in the celebration . . .which, alliteratively, just about sums it up.

PASADENANS . . .will, on the evening of Sunday, May first, go on in a body . . .notwithstanding the expected influx of Los Angeles residents as well . . .to hear first lady of the Race, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, deliver an address in the main sanctuary of Pasadena's Friendship Baptist Church . . a civic and cultural event that will , without question, up considerably Pasadena's already enviable position in the foremost ranks of cultural activities . . . Mrs. W. D. Carter, wife of Friendship's beloved pastor, is exerting all effort to make of the public mass meeting an affair that will remain indelibly stamped upon the sensibilities of our citizenry . . . she is to be commended for her forward thinking.

Bass . . .for full information concerning bids to this outstanding social and civic event you may phone the CALIFORNIA EAGLE office . . .an entirely advisable procedure inasmuch as the Colonial Ball Committee is rapidly advancing its plans to make this affair one to be discussed by staid, aristocratic pioneers and gay, frivolous debs and juniors alike.

BRIDGE POINTS

By M. L. MILLIGAN

Replies to April 7, 1938 Question Box:

1. A grand slam force, is any ree bid of five no trumps made by either partner after a suit has been agreed on; the responder must bid seven in agreed suit, if he holds the AK, AQ, or KQ of the suit.

2. To make a takeout double of a suit bid, one must hold three honor tricks and a strong rebiddable suit, the ability to bid N. T. or adequate trump support for partner's response. A take out double of one no trump calls for four honor tricks. (When vulnerable you should have more strength.)

3. You cannot rebid after a negative no-trump response if you do not hold any more than 3 H. T. with balanced distribution, with less than a six-card suit, even with an unbalanced hand, unless it has a void, or one more honor-trick—you must pass.

4. From the following hand even though your partner had bid hearts, your proper play was o lead the K of spades, and then ead your partner's suit, thus telling him if he wants you in so you could lead through the dummy, that by leading the spade you could accomplish this feat.

Well, Bridgers, how about a few problem hands or questions.

Miss Strange, I hope you have completely recovered, without you among the Bridgers, it is almost a calamity.

STYLE NOTES

STYLE NOTES THIS WEEK are in retrospect. . . . You saw the Easter parade . . . More than that, you were in the parade either in last year's suit made shorter . . or dress with a new bright bolero jacket that cost from 98 cents up . . . or among the fortunate hundreds attired in new finery from top to toe . . . Wherever you were, we hope you looked around and made mental notes of clothes that caught and held the eye . . . Likewise, of clothes that caught and blinded you and sent eyebrows up and the accompanying look interpreted: "Why didn't someone tell her she couldn't wear that?" The question is "Were you among those smart women who dressed their individuality with just the right touches of style?"

For your mental style album we present: Mrs. Bill Robinson, wife of "Bojangles" Robinson, who appeared in an imported printed crepe with navy blue predominating. The dress was cut slim lines molded to her svelte figure and set off by navy blue accessories. Her hat, a flat crown navy straw, contrasted beautifully with her clear vaseline brown complexion and accentuated the flash in her dark eyes. Mrs. Robinson was observed at the post-season basketball game between Bojangles' team and the Million Dollar Production five. Also, attending the game was Edna Mae Harris, stage and screen star, who drew more than one pair of eyes in a beige sheer dress with a low gathered decolletage. Miss Harris' dress was complimented by a poke bonnet hat of sky blue that heightened the gleam of her dark tresses worn in a shoulder length bob with straight bangs. Generally speaking, contrasting sports suits with herrinbone coats in high favor and boleros led the march; sombrero styled summer felts in pastel shades, poke bornets and veils were tops among hats.

For an odd looking and misplaced outfit, we mention an actuality and no name: A very dark miss in an apple green crepe two piece dress cut on straight lines with a violet corsage at poke bonnet with double streamers tied under the chin. A black patent leather purse and pumps completed the outfit. Needless to say, the greens were hard on the ladies' complexion and violets at her throat put purple in her lips . . . Apparently the outfit cost her twenty five hard earned dollars . . . not much as the cost of clothes go, perhaps, but she might have been unobtrusive and acceptable for less. Not being catty, lady friends, but just reminding you that whether or not you can wear the clothes you can afford should be the deciding factor in replenishing your wardrobe.

Mrs. Ella Isehour, a pioneer of Hanford, was called to Los Angeles last week because of the death of her brother, Henry Rousseau of San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglass Crawford and Mrs. Susie Moore spent Easter visiting Miss Bernice Crawford at Springville.

On the sick list at this writing are Lynn Kinnard, Mrs. Troy Baggley (nee Miss Gwendalyn Alhiem); Mrs. Mollie Galavez is improving.

Felix Taylor has left for Holtville, his wife and son will join him later.

The AME Zion church, Howard chapel, celebrated the Passion Week with candle-light services each evening. Palm Sunday, the church was artistically decorated with palms, and Easter Sunday became a mass of floral beauty. Rev. George H. Maunder, the pastor, delivered the opening address at the union services held Good Friday in the Church of the Saviour, Episcopal. The subject being, "Father, forgive them". Sunrise service Easter Sunday was held in Lacey Park by the young people of the various churches here. Rev. Maunder delivered the sermon, with the subject, "The Walk to Emmaus". In Howard chapel, Sunday morning, a large attendance enjoyed the service. The program at the evening service was well attended, and the highlight of the program was a pageant entitled, "The One Who Came Too Late". The story rested upon the healing of a small child, and was beautifully portrayed by the baby, Marian Watts; the mother, Miss Aldine Myers; a friend who had been to Jerusalem, Miss Helen Thaxton; and the remaining members of the cast were Kenneth Blakeney, Katherine Todd, Sarah Lee Kelley, Stanley Benton, Charles Thaxton, Milton Myers, Queen Mary Harden and Josephine Harden. Mr. Harold Hill was master of ceremonies. Easter Sunday being a connectional day of this church, the money raised is known as general claims, and the amount aimed for was nearly reached. Total collection, $22.78.

New arrivals in Hanford are Misses Doreatha and Elsie B. Carroll, and are the boys on their best behaviour?

THE SNOOPER

By LUCILLE DYE

To the general public: Since you people enjoy reading dirt slung at other people, please be good sports and laugh it off when it's slung at you.

People as suited to songs: Francis Carroll, Melvin Nickerson, and Vera Collins, "Three On A Match"; Dunbar Hunt, "Count Me Out"; Donald Derricks, "The Gentleman Obviously Doesn't Believe In"; June Baker, "Honey, Keep Your Mind On Me" (Kirk) T. D. Floyd, "Rosalie" (or we wonder); Thelma Hughes to Bill Tabor, "Thanks for the Memory"; Frank Matthews to Jo Campbell, "I See Your Face Before Me"; George Lee to Dorothy Arnaud, "Isn't Love the Grandest Thing"; Celia Dye to Arthur McNeely, "Please Be Kind"; Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Arnaud, "My Blue Heaven"; Josephine Blodgett, "That's Why the Lady is a Tramp"; Georgetta Thomas, 'Oh, Rock It"; Bob Cushnie, "You Can't Marry Ten Pretty Girls"; Lavina Twyne to the opposite sex, "I Never Had A Chance".

What happened to Buddy Lockett? Who is the chick from Chicago with the southern accent, so called Mardina Williams who thinks she has taken L. A. by storm . . . What's this we hear about Florence Gagniet and Eugene Smith? Where was the popular Miss Hill. Is she fading? During the past couple of weeks, the consecrated people have formed a club and sinse among themselves, have considered with utmost care that the vainest person among them was Bernice Townsend, and elected her president . . . My apologies to Almo Phelps, it was a misidentity, we hope Elizabeth Mills understands . . . What makes Gloria Bostic think that she is built from head to foot. We can't see it, and we only are too glad that she can, because she gets such satisfaction out of it . . .We wonder if Carey Jenkins' embers are burning low for Helen Mills? . . . We wished that Jo Campbell and Janet Pearson would eat wheaties and drink cocomalt or eat some food that would give them resistance enough to stand up on their own feet and stop trying to be so alluring leaning on the opposite sex, because that isn't to accomplish their goal . . . We heard that the Zephyrs, Lancers and the L.A. Hi-Y had a ball at Val Verde when they were entertained by the L. A. Tri-Y and their guests April 10.

Wonder if Edmund Prescott is still dangling from Opal Randal's strings. If so, you better cut them . . . The Majestic Corsairs were just too sharp for anything last Friday night at the Elks. The boys had a hay fight that was too cute for words, with everybody having hay fever the next day . . . This is not worthy of my column but since Thelma Wallace thinks she's a society deb, she broke down and came down to earth and acted the rowdy she was at m. c. It needs mentioning in somebody's column, so I'm giving her a break. Since she wanted to be noticed and she surely was . . . Don't let jive get the best of you, Ada Keys, especially the jive that man-about-town, Milan Qualls (so he thinks) hands out; you might be fooled . . . Alonzo Martin and Jo Blodgett are seen quite a bit steadily, so what? . . . Earl Bruce is being seen frequently on 36th pl. . . . Eddie Fields is stagging all the time; is it because he wants to be noticed by the opposite sex; if so he's doing mighty sad . . . Earl Miller is O. K., if you know what I mean . . . What happened to Bob Burns and Tommy Moore, couldn't she hold him? At all the city track meets you see James O'Neal and Theron Kirk in their Uncle Sam uniforms, what's the matter haven't you got anything else to wear boys?? . . . Joe Mills and Jo Thomas are doing fairly well although I must say isn't very friendly, is she??

Dig the Eboney (Black) Socialites . . . Jeff is doing all right in track but I wonder what Lawrence Boswell is going to do?? I've tried to make this column very interesting to all, in fact I have "sent" some of my best friends but it doesn't mean a thing, because from now on YOU might be NEXT.

Luncheon Launches Eastside Mothers Club Member Drive

Getting off to a fine start in a luncheon at the Eastside Shelter last Thursday, the Eastside Mothers' Club looks forward to culminating a successful membership drive.

Mrs. Sadie Hicks, chairman, membership committee, after a few words of welcome to the host of members and friends who taxed the limited capacity of the Shelter, presented the Mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. Edna Comathiere LeSesne. A comprehensive report of activities and finances was made by the superintendent, Mrs. Nettie Reese. Expressions of the vital need served by the institution in housing and aiding in the solution of problems of indigent girls and women, and in various character building activities were attested to by Mrs. Juanita Ellsworth Miller, social case auditor, County Welfare; Mrs. Juanita Edwards, policewoman; Mrs. Faustina Johnson, social worker; Mrs. C. A. Bass, editor, California Eagle and Ben Ellison, supervisor South Central Coordinating Council. Speaking summarily, Mr. George A. Beavers, Jr., a member of the Advisory Board of the club, emphasized the necessity for expansion and extension of the work through an increased membership and appealed to the group to exert themselves to enlist others to the cause to make that necessity a reality.

To evidence their desire to do their bit to make the current membership effort a success, all those present signed pledge cards indicating their choice of canvassing for members or giving some form of entertainment, such as, a tea, bridge party, musicale, dancing party or benefit show to attract friends to the club. A few of the pledgees were: Rev. and Mrs. Baxter C. Duke; Mesdames Mattie L. Warrent, Camillia Ross, Mable V. Gray, Josephine Brown, Viola Pollock, C. J. Finlayson, R. L. Hudson, Juanita E. Miller, K. O. Johnson, Faustina Johnson, Walter Gordon, Sr., Lucille Howard, Evelyn McAfee; Mr. and Mrs. George A. Beavers, Jr., and Messrs Harold M. LeSesne and Clinton W. Hall. Others will be published subsequently.

In brief remarks Mrs. Elizabeth St. Charles Edwards, Mrs. Sadie Cole, and Mr. L. G. Robinson told of their long association with the work of the Eastside Mothers' Club which operates the Eastside Shelter. Following their introductions, Miss Dorothy C. Quinn, "YW" secretary, and Rev. and Mrs. Baxter C. Duke of the Avalon Christian Church expressed willingness to use the resources at their command to further insure the success of the membership campaign.

To note "progress", a public luncheon will be staged at the Avalon Christian church, 43rd and Avalon, Thursday, April 28 at 12:30. The price of luncheon will be twenty-five cents. Persons should phone PR. 7988 for reservations by Tuesday noon. Those interested in sharing their little with someone else; in bringing a bit of hope and cheer into lives of some less fortunate are urged to contact the Eastside Shelter, 1657 East 22nd street, PRospect 7988 and secure a $1.00 membership; or, join in the intensive effort to secure 2000 members by May 12! Attractive prizes will be awarded to young women individually or as representatives of church groups who secure the largest number of memberships.

Jordan Hi Loses Promising Pole Vault Star

Jordan High school lost what might have been one of the season's best prep pole vaulters the other week when Griffin Lee, the lad in question, dislocated an elbow hoisting himself skyward 12 ft., 6 in., in an interclass meet.

As a consequence, according to coaches at the Watts school, Lee will probably be benched the whole season which gets underway in prepdom tomorrow.

This combined with weakness in the distance races has Coach Karl Renius doubtful of victory over Bell High School when the two schools meet tomorrow on Davis Field at Jordan High.

BETTER THAN FAIR

Jordan will make a better than fair show, nevertheless, represented by Clarence Mackey, 23 foot broadjumper, sprinter and shot-putter. Mackey, who was a junior decatholon champion a few years back, should lead not only the Pacific Coast League but the City, in the broadjump this year.

Minor Robinson, is another of Coach Renius' mainstays, doing his stuff in the 440 yard run. His best time this season has neared 53 flat.

Best Pacific League high-jumper and a candidate for city honors is Paul Shoaf, white, top mark is 6' 2".

ON THE AIR

CHICAGO, — Perhaps you sometimes wonder what this fan mail business is all about. Maybe you want to know why you should go to the trouble of writing to New York or Chicago to tell someone you don't even know that you liked a program you picked up by accident.

Well, I'll tell you. First, there would seem to be so much turmoil, chaos, uncertainty and evil surrounding us, that we can we can be grateful for every good thing that comes to our attention. Well, you say, if I write in about every good radio program I hear, I'll be writing all the time. That's just my point, sez I, so you strike a happy medium, and express your gratitude for the good that affects you more personally. In the case of radio programs, those which would gratify you most are the ones that give Negro stars an opportunity to utilize their talent for the entertainment and enjoyment of the radio public.

Well, (you shrug your shoulders) good programs that give Negroes more than two lines to say are few and far between. But I am ready for your contention and I immediately call your attention to Jack Benny's Jello program, which for several years has been voted the most popular one of the air. The newest addition to Jack Benny's cast is Eddie Anderson, a young Negro comic, whose excellent performance as Rochester, the butler, is bringing new and hearty laughs to the program every Sunday.

Eddie made his first appearance with Jack Benny a year ago when he played the Pullman porter who never heard of Albuquerque, New Mexico. He interpreted the part so ably that it was immediately agreed he should be heard on the program often, and arrangements were made for his appearance on the program this season.

And well you might say "Local boy makes good," for Anderson was born in Oakland, California, and attended school in San Francisco, which makes him one of the few native sons in Hollywood motion pictures and radio. He appeared successfully in "Lucky Day" which toured the country a few years ago, but his outstanding role to date has been that of Noah in the picture, "Green Pastures," which starred Rex Ingram. Eddie is now playing an important part in the new Rudy Vallee picture, "Gold Diggers in Paris".

Here 'n' there in the air. Believed to be the oldest woman in the country, Mrs. Flora Tatum Williams, 119 years old and a former slave, took time out to go to New York for a radio appearance last week. . . . Last week Henry (Homicide Hank) Armstrong told St. Clair Thomas Bourne, N. Y. sport writer, a few incidents in his hectic ring career for the benefit of listeners to Joe Bostic's "Tales from Harlem" program, Saturday evening over WMCA . . . Theodore Ward author of "Big White Fog," currently at Chicago's Great Northern theatre, was at one time a member of the staff radio station WIBA, Madison, Wis., in the dual capacity of script writer and dramatic actor . . . The National 4-H Club Radio Broadcast last week from Wilcox County, Ala., starring an All-Negro cast with T. M. Campbell, field agent of Negro work on the extension service of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, narrating went over big and was really very interesting.

Dr. Roscoe C. Giles, former president National Medical Association, spoke over station XYZ, Detroit, on the National Negro Health Week last Thursday . . . Dr. Alfred C. Fentress, Norfolk chairman of the National Health Week, broadcast a health message over station WYAR last Wednesday as one of the highlights of the week's local celebration . . . Fats Waller starts one-niting April 18 . . . Jimmy Dorsey, starring June Richmond, will be at the New Yorker Hotel, N. Y. until May 15 . . . Chick Webb plays the RKO theatre in Boston the week of May 5, and then begins three weeks of one niters through New England.

NEW YORK—The Southland has sent up another songbird of rare promise in the person of . . . MELBA SMITH, vocalist for Teddy Hill's Orchestra organization appearing this week-end at the well known APOLLO THEATRE in "Harlem's" main business artery.

Wonder if the splendid work of REX INGRAM and others, had anything (much) to do with that . . . "SCAREPHOEBIA", Broadway theatrical producers have rigged up as a direct weapon against . . . WPA THEATRE COMPETITION.

JIMMY MARSHALL, capable manager of APOLLO THEATRE, gave us all the details of last week's party thrown for Bill (Bojangles) Robinson, by the leaders of stage and screen. Little Jimmy voted the affair the finest he or anyone else was ever privileged to sit in on. Especially was Marshall thrilled over the 40 minutes oration gotten off by Ex-Mayor . . . JIMMY WALKER, anent . . . POPULAR BILL ROBINSON. Back in Hollywood . . . city of his adoption, a lovely home will rise there to further establish his place among screen stars.

by JERRY FLEMMING

BAKERSFIELD, April 21 — The local junior college has a threat to Compton Jaysee's Wilbur Miller in Larkin Mackey, 9.8s century man.

Mackey, who stood out in upsetting the U. C. L. A. frosh last week, in addition to running the century, runs the 220 yard dash in 21.9 and is believed by coaches to have a brilliant future in the sprints.

With about twenty five Race students enrolled in the local Jaysee, sepia talent is noticeable in sports, track in particular.

In addition to Mackey there is Luther Goodwin, who jumps 6'1" consistently and the writer, whose best time to date in the 880 is 2.03.

Dr. Tobias, Y Executive, Barred From N.Y. Church

NEW YORK, April 21., (ANP)—Dr. Channing H. Tobias, nationally known lecturer and for years the senior secretary, colored work department, world council YMCA, this week was still pondering the strange action of Rev. P. K. Fonviele, AME Zion church pastor at Mount Vernon, who last Sunday pointedly refused to allow Dr. Tobias to preach from his pulpit.

Dr. Tobias, who is also a Methodist minister without a charge, was conducting a financial tour for a YMCA building in Mount Vernon, it was learned, and was seeking to raise $1,000 for this purpose. His chedule, according to Arthur Gaines, chairman of the New York committee, called for speaking engagements at Grace Baptist church, Rev. Millard Levister, pastor; Macedonia son, pastor; and Centennial AME Baptist church, Rev. Renrico Nelson church, pastored by Rev. Fonviele.

Tobias had no intereference until his visit to Centennial church but there according to reports as he started to mount the rostrum, he was confronted by Pastor Fonxiele, who demanded that Dr. Tobias show his credentials as a minister. Taken aback, the YMCA secretary exclaimed, "I am nationally known as an ordained Methodist minister." But the pastor was obdurate, told Tobias that if he spoke at all it would have to be as a layman. The incident was made more embarrassing to Dr. Tobias because the conversation could be plainly be heard by those of the audience in the front pews.

Thoroughly disgusted, Dr. Tobias and his party left the church, and as they departed, the pastor was reported to have shouted, "He never had a charge!" Declared Tobias later concerning the Pacific Coast Tabernacle Celebrates

By D. D. HOLMES

Pacific Coast Tabernacle No. 1, Knights and Daughters of Tabor, celebrated the 26th Anniversary of its establishment and incidentally the beginning of the history of that order in the west, when on Friday evening, April 8 they held a special meeting which was attended by a large gathering of members and friends. Special honorees for the occasion were Dtr. Carrie F. Graves, the First Grand High Preceptress of Pacific Coast Tabernacle.

A beautiful program had been aranged by Dtr. Mabel V. Gray, a former Grand High Preceptress of the Jurisdiction, the highlights of which were, reading of the original charter, granted in 1912. The name of Sir W. F. Woodyard, who was present was included as one of the first Tribunes of the Tabernacle and his wife (now deceased) was the first Chief Preceptress.

Baxter S. Scruggs delivered the principal address of the evening. He stressed the great need of fraternal organizations and churches in putting over a program of economic security and racial soldarity.

Rev. S. M. Beane, in his usual masterful way, paid a tribute to the honorees of the occasion and gave a few side-lights into the work of the order in the far west.

Dtr. Carrie F. Graves, first G. H. P. and affectionately known as Mother of the Jurisdiction, recalled her association with those who have labored to build Tabor in the West, from the time that we were under the Arkansas Jurisdiction down to the present date.

Dtr. Daisy Williams, who was introduced by Sir D. D. Holmes, Tribune of Pacific Coast Tabernacle, expressed her pleasure in having been selected to carry on the work so well begun and extended welcome and greeting to those present.

Dtr. A. L. Danforth, PGQM rendered a beautiful reading reminiscent of the history of Tabor in the West; Dtr. Frankie W. Mack, present G. . . M. extended greetings in behalf of the juvenile or Tent Department; Dtr. Ola Mae Swanigan, International V. G. H. P. and for many years G. H. P. of the California-Arizona Jurisdiction, represented the International organization with fitting remarks.

Sir Geo. W. Brown, G. P. P. spoke briefly. Special hostesses of the evening were Daughters Susie Kirtley and Mary Taylor both of whom have served as Chief Preceptress of Pacific Coast Tabernacle. Musical numbers were rendered by the following soloists, Mr. Morris Phillips, Mrs. Louise Cooksey White and Mr. Geo. Jones all of which were highly enjoyed. Sister organizations were represented by Mrs. Birdie LaGrand who brought greetings from Hiawatha Temple, Daughter Elks. Sir W. L. Martin, C. G. M. extended felicitations in behalf of the Jurisdiction. Many letters and telegrams of greetings were received from local and out of town members and branches and from city officials.

New Feature in Service Five Star Announces

An entirely new feature in service to his patrons has been put into use by Leonard Senters, the proprietor of the Five Star Liquor Store, of 4627 S. Central Avenue.

Realizing the value of prompt, courteous delivery, the Five Star has been using two roadsters with the telephone number CEntury 29392, and the name Five Star printed clearly in large white letters, but Mr. Senters has found that it would satisfy his patrons if plainly painted automobiles drive in front of their homes instead of the gaudily painted liquor store care.

The idea has met with wide approval.

Easter was ushered in with all the glory that a beautiful sunshiny day could bestow. The week, of course, was one of the busiest for the matrons and misses of the various civic and social clubs. Two of the outstanding events of the week were Easter play given at Carter Memorial church and the Fashion show-dance that was sponsored by the Elite club. Bill Burns' Rhythm Kings furnished the music.

The Sentinel Guild met at the home of the president, Mrs. J. Gilberts. The subject debated this week was: Should the Government have taken more drastic action against Japan for sinking The Panay? Mrs. H. K. Marshall and Mrs. Leroy Calhoun defended the attitude taken by the government, and won the decision of the judges. Mrs. J. Gilbert and Mrs. J. E. Nickols. Mrs. A. C. Wallace and Mrs. Gus Woodson ably defended the negative side.

The W. W. Club of Carter Memorial met at the home of Mrs. Wm. Garner. The cake raffle was won by Mrs. Wm. Hemmitt.

Spring flowers of varied hues enhanced the several formally clad group hostesses who presided. Entertainment and program, directed by choir directress, Mrs. Luvenia Lewis. Rev. F. K. Leath is pastor.

Sunday, April 17, will mark observance of homecoming day at the First Baptist church of Venice, Calif. All former members are asked to attend one or all of the services terminating with evening worship. Dr. Mayberry, executive secretary of Mission City society, will be guest speaker at 11 o'clock a. m. worship. A basket dinner will be served immediately after with Mrs. Gertrude Reese heading the committee of refreshments. All friends are welcome. Rev. G. Albert Miller is pastor.

The palatial home of Mrs. Nancy Butler was an attractive setting for one of the most lovely affairs of early Spring, honoring Miss Lillian Jones, gifted young speaker and journalist of Los Angeles. Serving as genial hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Butler, Miss Edna Rosalyne Heard and Alden Drudhomme. Miss Jones gave a very splendid talk on the National Negro Congress, which was hailed by all present as the most timely and informational discourse heard in local circles for some time. This very educational dissertation was followed by Miss E. R. Heard's rendition of several of her original compositions that were scored in Yasha Frank's production of "Aladdin". A delightful luncheon and lawn party climaxed the affair. Prominent among the guests were Mrs. Flavia Craddock, Christian Science practitioner; Mrs. Eunice Russell Ward, former president of the Las Amigas and organizer of the new Cosmopolitan club; Mmes. Laura Emanuel and Velma Kennedy, popular matrons of this locality; Miss Thelma Fletcher, formerly of Howard university, and now affiliated with the recreational department of S. Girl Scouts; Miss Cornelia Craddock, popular young student, also associated with local Girl Scouts, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Middlebrook, prominent pioneer citizen of Venice, and militant members of several progressive organizations.

The Tophatters are looking forward to Friday night, May 6, as the starting point of the social merry-go-round in Santa Monica. On that night the club will sponsor a dance in the Masonic hall, Broadway at 18th St. The public is invited. Plans, so far, suggest that a gala time will be had. Come and bring your friends. John Moor, president; J. Johnson, reporter.

WITH THE STAFF

We offer apologies for repeating the trite phrase "history making" and "unprecedented", but the winter sports season, now that we get around to viewing it dispassionately, was just that.

We repeat, both unprecedented and history-making, not to mention financially lucrative for certain individuals, was the program of sports promotion undertaken this past season on the Eastside.

Until this year Winter League baseball at White Sox park was the only sport ever projected successfully within the Negro colony.

Came 1938, however, and with it Ralph Cooper, movie actor and athlete, and we have a new day.

Cooper, backed by Harry Popkin, millionaire Jew, tapped a new source of revenue in the Sunday evening basketball games at the Elks' Hall. What they made in this season will be more than tripled next season and doubled the next season, and there you have something.

Since inception of the Sunday night games, Cooper has been getting the plaudits of the public for his foresight and business acumen. And there are a lot of fellows who have dabbled in sports around here all their lives, who would like to kick themselves swiftly in a significant spot for letting an outsider come in and show them the pot of gold melting under their very own rainbow.

Los Angeles, it was proven by the crowds that jammed the Elks' Hall whenever the papers said basketball—is ripe for a sports promotion program. Not only does basketball lures the cash customers, but so would a card of boxing, swimming or tennis.

In Ralph Cooper we have an ideal sports promoter and Mr. Popkin, who back enterprises such as the Olympic boxing arena, has the money.

There is only one hold-back in a greater program of sports that we see—that is an auditorium large enough to hold the spectators.

Unless something is done, the Elks' Hall will not be large enough to accomodate the crowd next season. This year's collapsible bleachers were moved in especially for the games, but due to lack of space, could not seat more than 300. At the outside 450 people have been able to get into the Elks at a sitting.

The situation could be mended, however. The back wall separating the foyer from the floor might easily be removed, thus allowing room for another set of bleachers. The stage at the other end might be enlarged for a third set. That should provide room for 1000 to 1500 seats.

Other than the Elks' hall there is no other place that even approaches the right size. Of course the games might be taken away from the Eastside, but that would defeat the project's purpose and considerably lessen the gate.

In addition to the auditorium there is a wealth of space wasting away in the rear of the Elks' Building. If Cooper is as smart as we think he is, he should look into the possibilities of tennis matches there this summer.

A good grass court and some collapsible bleachers, plus booking of some of the Eastern tennis satellites, would prove a welcome entertainment addition to Southern California.

Los Angeles is becoming more and more tennis minded. Every year some of us pay from $1.00 to $2.50 for a seat on the sidelines of some tennis court out in Hollywood or Beverly to watch the national champions play.

It would be just as exciting to see James Stocks of El Centro, one half of the national doubles championship, take on Dr. Reginald Weir of Chicago, or Lloyd Thomas in a pre-tournament tune-up.

'BOJANGLES' LOOKS ON AS TEAM BOWS TO MILLION DOLLAR, 30-23

By ALMENA DAVIS

With apologies for the April fool joke played on sports fans last week, to wit — side by side on the sports page — "Unless Gov. Merriam and Lieut.-Gov. Hatfield decide to shoot it out on a basketball court for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, the basketball season was finally closed last Sunday night at the Elks" . . . and—"Bojangles Get Another Crack, at MDP", we settle down to write the last basketball story until next December . . . we hope.

A post-post season game, between the Million Dollar Productions and the Bojangles teams, was played last Sunday night at the Elks' Auditorium, staged especially for the backer of the Bojangles, Bill Robinson, the famous tap dancer.

In a previous three game series, to decide the mythical championship of the Eastside, the Million Dollar team twice shellacked the Bojangles. Robinson was in New York while this was going on, and up on returning, he figured it was all a mistake and that he could bolster his team's morale to a win.

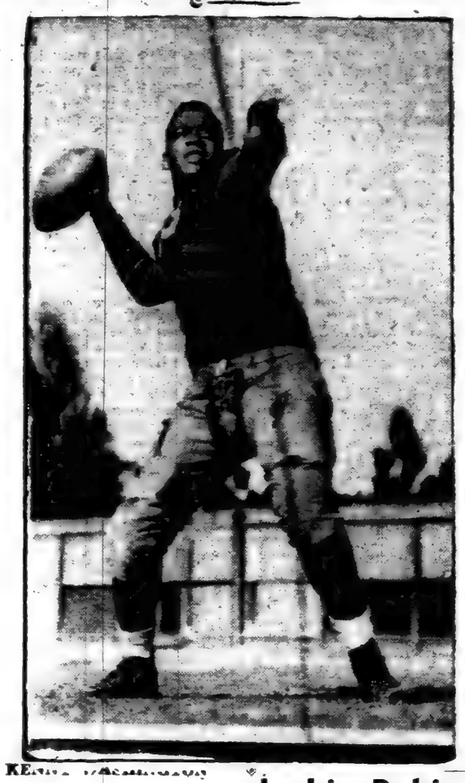
GALLANT FIGHT

He and his boys made a gallant fight. For a while it looked as if victory was their's. But the score board at the end of the game read "Million Dollar, 30; Bojangles, 23".

The game was slow and the crowd was hoarse, with exception of the irrepressible Melvin Nickerson.

There was the same crowd that had witnessed the previous matches, but I suspected the crowd and players were tired of the whole shebang and came largely out of habit.

At the end of the half Bojangles stood two points over MDP, 11--9. In the first part of the second half, Bajangles had a four point lead over MDP, 17--13. Then the semmingly inevitable happened. They got the jitters and Father Miles got hot and it was another win for the movie production boys.



PROMISES CONTINUED BACKING

Continued success gets one out of the habit of losing and Robinson didn't like losing a bit, although he was a fair sport about it. In a statement to the press, he said he thought his boys were "wonderful", and praised their showing against the Million Dollar team, whom he dubbed (and rightly) professionals. He promised continued backing for the Bojangles.

The crowd hooted and booed Skippy Buford, referee, whenever they thought he was too diligent in calling what he say. But I want to say here and now that Skippy did his duty as he saw it, suh . . . and was most always right. Truth is, there should be two referees, for as dirty as some of the lads on both teams play, one can't see half all they do.

High point man was Lank Price, MDP center. Price bucketed four field goals and four free shots. Wince King, the outstanding player for either team on the floor, was second with ten points, followed by Kilgore with nine.

Players were: M.—King, 4 Easter, 1, Price, 12, Miles, 7, Morrison, 8, Davis; Bojangles—Kilgore, 9, Ashford, 3, Garland, 1, King, 10, Reeves, 1, Vernon Harding, Hally Harding, and Drippy Williams.

Kenny and Schell Set Passing, Kicking Records

Kenny Washington and Walt Schell, two Bruin backfield aces, yesterday set American records in passing and place-kicking the Australian football as gridiron athletes of the University of California at Los Angeles staged their part in the five-way international kicking and passing contest at Westwood.

Washington heaved the Australian ball 64yd. 1ft. 4in. for his new standard. He also led passers of the American ball with a throw of 72 yards. A place kick of 65yd. 2ft. earned Schell's new mark. The old record was but one day old, having been set by Bill Coleman, Trojan end, Wednesday.

San Diego Walloped By Bruins

SAN DIEGO, April 21—The Bruins from the University of California at Los Angeles might just as well have stayed at home and taken a work-out on the Westwood oval for all the competition furnished them here last Saturday.

Led by Woodrow Strode and the other members of the Negro contingent, UCLA blanketed San Diego State college 95 to 36.

Strode, Tom Bradley, Tom Berkeley and Bill Lacefield won six first places, one tie for first place, one third place and the relay.

TIE IN JUMP

Strode placed first in the shotput, the discus and tied for the high jump, once his specialty in high school. Berkeley was number one in the century dash, at 9.8s, a new meet record and an improvement over previous season time, and first in the 220 yard low hurdles.

Lacefield took his long suit the broadjump and the 120 yard high hurdles, while Bradley placed third in the 880 and ran a leg on the winning relay team.

An aggregate total of 34 points was turned in by the sepia youths.

Jackie Robinson Broadjump Find

Jackie Robinson, younger brother of Mack Robinson, star of the last Olympic Games, loomed as possible number one broadjumper of the West Coast today after his performance in last Saturday's Pasadena Junior college versus Sacramento Jaysee track meet in Pasadena.

Robinson leaped 24ft, 2½in. to win the meet broadjump, almost three feet beyond the second place winner. The mark shaded by one half an inch the new meet record set that afternoon at San Diego by Bill Lacefield, UCLA jumper.

Jackie displayed similar speed to his brother, Mack, in running down the stretch to the takeoff. Mack was second place winner behind Jesse Owens in the Olympic Games broadjump and also 200-meters.

Coaches predict that Robinson, a Pasadena Jaysee youth, will equal Owens' mark this season.

Japan supplied the United States with 57,816,000 pounds of raw silk last year, 93.3 per cent of the total imports

Russians are experimenting with domesticating emus, ostrich like birds from Australia, for their meat and aggs.

Coates On Next Week's Boxing Card at Olympic

Charley (Ex-Killer) Coates, the lad with dynamite in both mitts, returns to the Olympic ring next Tuesday night in one of the two ten-round feature bouts. Little Dado, Filipino sensation, makes his first local appearance in the other bout.

Experience defeated Chuck Crowell at the Grand avenue arena Tuesday night. Experience under the name of Gunnar Barlund, the Finn, cost Crowell the ten-round decision.

Kenny Leads in Batting

Kenny Washington, shortstop on the UCLA baseball team, led the California Inter-Collegiate Baseball Association in batting this week. He has averaged .454, getting 20 hits in 44 turns at bat.

The leaders are:

	Games	AB	H	Avg
Washington, ss., UCLA	10	44	20	.454
Stolich, lf, St. Mary's	11	45	20	.444
Carter, lf, UCLA	10	43	19	.442
Lingua, c, St. Marys	6	21	9	.429
Hamilton, p, Stanford	7	24	10	.417

BENSON REINSTATED; McDANIELS OKAYED

Frank Benson, heavyweight fighter in the amatuer ranks was ordered reinstated this week by the State Athletic Commission. Benson was suspended temporarily for a contract violation.

Jimmy McDaniels, boxer, managed by C. J. Welch, filed a three year contract this month, it was revealed by the Commission's bulletin.

USC FAVORITE OVER BRUIN IN WEEKEND MEET AT COLISEUM

Anyway you figure it, USC is a two-to-one favorite over UCLA for the grudge trackfest at the Coliseum Saturday afternoon.

Anytime UCLA and USC meet, although a league title is seldom at stage, it is a grudge match. The title in dispute is seldom more than the championship of Vermont street, but rivalry between the two schools is keen, which bodes no good for existing records on that day.

On basis of performance thus far this season, Southern California should take Westwood into camp by almost double the Bruin's score. Out of a possible 131 points, I give the Bruins 45 to the Trojans 86, and that's being sentimental.

As it is, the small band of colored athletes on the Westwood team will keep the Bruin from having its noble snout rubbed in the cinders. There are four of them: Woodrow Strode, Bill Lacefield, Tom Berkeley and Tom Bradley, and betwixt them, they should garner 30 to 33 points . . . but that also is written with my fingers crossed.

Faced with stiffer competition that he has met this season, Strode should send his discus soaring to a new record, and the shot put, the same. Should Westwood's mentor enter him in the high jump, which is doubtful, he might garner an additional one point in third place.

Gasper of USC, who flings the discus consistently around 155 feet and Fisher who puts the iron ball in the early fifties, are Strode's nearest competitors.

BERKELEY A LONG SHOT?

You keep your fingers crossed when ceding ten points to Tom Berkeley. Last Saturday against San Diego state he set a new meet record of 9.8. Adrian Tally of USC has run 9.7 this season. Berkeley, built for speed, should cross the line ahead of Talley and Payton Jordan, both of whom have been beaten by Wilbur Miller, Compton Jaysee ace. If he does, there will be a new meet record set, I'll wager.

Berkeley again should beat Vickery S. C. low-hurdler by two yards, time about 23.8.

Lacefield should have no trouble beating Don Skinner and Bromfield in the broadjump, and I expect him to crack 25ft. Prior to that it should be Lacefield's race in the 120 yard high hurdles. His best time this season has been 14.7s and against competition of Humphreys and Olsen whose best time is the same, should come out on top.

Tom Bradley, a youngster from Polytechnic high school, has been getting better with each meet.

Aside from a conference with Mrs. Vassie Brown, regional director of the Delta sorority, the young ladies visited with Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Draper, uncle and aunt of Miss Allen, and Mrs. Lucille Goward, cousin of Miss Gorham.

Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Allen and family, 2844 Franklin avenue, had as their dinner guests on Easter Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Draper of Los Angeles; Simms Draper, also of Los Angeles; Mrs. Thomas of San Gabriel; and Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Williams of East San Diego. Elder and Mrs. E. Fegan, residents of San Diego, for a number of years, left the city one day this week for Tacoma, Washington, where Elder Fagan will take charge of a Holiness church there. Both of these young people were loyal members of the Church of God in Christ of this city and no doubt will be missed greatly from the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. W. Johnson of Independence, Kan., were the guests of their cousin, Mrs. Elsie Thompson, a few days last week.

The Women's Civic league, of which Mrs. J. E. Craft, is president, is getting its various departments lined up in fine working order.

Val Verde

By CLARA TAYLOR

"He arose! He arose! He arose from the dead." These words of an age old song, in memory of a risen Lord, were wafted on the morning air, crisp and cool, at sunrise atop of Mount Ascension at Val Verde, this beautiful Easter morning past.

As the sun rose over the eastern horizon, and its rays fell on the great white cross that stands as a symbol of Christianity, it not only illuminated the cross but it illuminated and inspired Rev. Clayton Russell, the popular young pastor of the Independent Church, his full-vested choir and hundreds of pilgrims who journeyed to Val Verde and up the winding trail to the cross.

The soloist of the morning was Mrs. Jessie Cole-Grayson, who lifted her sweet voice in adoration and praise for the risen King.

All night long, the autos, like phantoms, came out of the dark from everywhere bringing worshippers to pay homage to and commemorate the resurrection of Him Who, as He said He would, arose from the dead.

It was an inspiring sight here in this quiet valley, where all was still, save now and then, the shrill call of a meadow lark and the regular chirping of crickets. Then the air was rent with a familiar old song and the hundreds of pilgrims were started on their march up to the cross.

The pilgrimage and services were under the auspices of Dr. Leonard Stovall, who is at the head of the Outdoor Life and Health organization, under the leadership of Mrs. Fannie Williams.

After the service, many of the pilgrims remained to make a trip to the proposed country club site, just a half mile north of the county park clubhouse. Here, in a picturesque woodland dell will be erected a modern country clubhouse, to be used by club members and their friends. For a long time, those of us who have a desire for the best things of life have wanted an exclusive resort colony which would supply all the health giving recreational advantages, including horseback riding, bathing, dancing and supervised play facilities for children. Among the promoters of this project that will rival "Idlewlid" of Michigan and "Shady Rest" of New Jersey, are Albert Baumann, Frank Harvey, Norman Houston, Fred Roberts and Paul R. Williams.

The Los Angeles Tri-Y Girls' Reserve spent the week-end at Val Verde. Mrs. Emily Portwig is their advisor. She accompanied them. The girls were Marcela Monroe, president; Lois Moore, treasurer; Betty Robinson, secretary; Consuelo Monroe, Jean Rickman, Wesleen Foster, Winifred Allen, Marian Allen, Helen Lamb, Violet Mitchell, Ernestine Collins, Clara Jean Herndon, Anita Collins, Mardina Williams, Ellen Maddox, Ina Duval, Ougrethen Gaul, Geraldine Broadway, Sarah Lumpkin, Anita Spearman, Josephine Spearman and Rachel Isul. The L. A. Hi Tri-Y entertained the L. A. Hi-Y, the Zephyr Hi-Y and the Lancers Social club (boys) at the clubhouse, Sunday, April 10.

Week-end guests at Casa de Baldwin were Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Stovall and family; Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel George and family, E. G. Hill, Miss Louisa Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Virgie Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Richardson.

Rev. Ford, Rev. McClure of San Diego; E. G. Hall, B. G. Scott, Bertha Churmley, M. B. Thomas, W. W. Thomas, William McCulay, Herbert Sprague and Miss Allen of Santa Monica, were last week's visitors at the club house. The register also included the names of Bettie Laseter, Patsy Laseter, Lewis Brown, Bob Frizel, Fred Rudd, Beverly Gray, Jefferson Hi-Y boys, Mrs. Emma Tedrington, James M. Colluns, T. W. Suns, R. V. Suns, Mrs. L. V. Stanley, Santa Monica; J. Overstreet, H. Carter, Eugene Johnson, Albert Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. H. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. H. Rhodes, Mrs. Carl Hall, C. V. Moss and A. Anderson.

Troop 180, Boy Scouts of America, encamped three days at the park. Tents were pitched along the roadside on the park grounds. Thomas Nelson, scoutmaster; Bud Petterson, assistant scoutmaster; Captain Spearman, advisor; Mike Taylor Luntener and Charles Isul. Some of the boys were working on tests for merits. One platoon, Girl Scouts of America, spent three days in Val Verde. They enjoyed the outing. Mr. Johnson's cabin proved a fine place to stay. Lucile Taylor is scout mistress.

The names of the following were recent callers at the clubhouse: Marjorie Scott, Eddie Lynn, Harold Faulkner, N. Y.; Mrs. Virginia Dee, Louis Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bellamy and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Brown and daughter, George Suns, Loyola U.; Eleanor Givins, Blair Dione, Anna LaCalls, Paul Weaner, Glen Neilson, Mr. and Mrs. G. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson, Mrs. F. Howard; Mrs. E. Armstrong and daughter, Pasadena; Mrs. Thelma D. Gilespie; Mrs. K. McKinsey, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Brown, Marion Jones, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Heberly, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. Cunningham, Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Booker Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoston, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shipp and Mrs. Howard. of this world."

PASADENA NEWS

Easter services at St. Barnabas Chapel, a climax to Lenten activities and observance was Easter Day at St. Barnabas, Pasadena. At the 6:45 a. m. Mass a record number of communicants received the Blessed Sacrament, after which Mesdames Bert G. Brooks and Maude White and others were hostesses to the congregation at breakfast in the parish hall. At the Choral Celebration at 11 a. m., the congregation overflowed into the patio. Lillies and delphinium and white flowers galore with candles bedecked the high altar and the paschal candle added to the ritualistic solemnity of the service. Miss Bernice Ellis, of Los Angeles rendered the offertory solo, "I know that my Redeemer liveth" from Handel's "Messiah". The Vicar, Fr. Alfred Wilkins delivered the sermon on "Unused Spices", contrasting timid Nicodemus who brought his offering of devotion after Christ's death and Mary Magdalene, the sinner whose surrender was made to the living Christ--"Let us bring our offering of appreciation, of love and kindly service be made while we have opportunity--and so prove the eternity of Christ's life amid the malice and hatreds of this world."

Little Nancy Ruth Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Robinson (nee Helen Kennedy) and little Jeanette Marion Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Walker (nee Marion Jones) were baptized after the Easter Eucharist.

ELSINORE

By ANNA LOUISE THOMAS
(Poe and Flint St.)

Elsinore awoke to a glorious sunrise with early service on Hampton Hill. The day was equally as beautiful.

The St. Paul church was largely attended all day. The Easter egg hunt for the Sunday school was at 3 p. m. and the childres's Easter program was at 7 p. m. and was well attended with testimonial service and sermon following.

Mrs. O. W. Washington of L. A. spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. W. E. Tucker.

Miss Z. Gordon, who is in California visiting with her brother, Dr. G. D. Gordon, spent the week with Mrs. Daniels and returned to Los Angeles and then to Jamaica to resume her work in the postal service.

Mrs. Josephine Howard is stopping at the residence of Mrs. Sterling and expects to stay in Elsinore indefinitely.

Lucille Saville, granddaughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Roberts spent her Easter vacation here with them.

this season. However no stellar performance is expected of him. He will be entirely shaded by Louis Zamperini, USC's ra[illegible] haired wonder from Torrance high school, in the 880, but might take a third. In addition he will run a lap on the relay, that has a slim chance of beating S. C.

By virtue of his high school performances, it seems to me, Bradley should stand a chance of placing high in the 440 but he hasn't run it all season.

GREAT BRITAIN IN THE RUMBLE SEAT WITH HITLER, MUSSOLINI DRIVING NOT ASSURING

Dictatorship Inevitable, Says Gordon B. Hancock, Famed Observer

By GORDON B. HANCOCK

Observers of world affairs must be amazed to see Great Britain riding in Europe's rumble seat with Hitler and Mussolini driving — driving furiously. To see the Great Britain of Cromwell, Gladstone, Disraeli and Lloyd eating humble pie is not an assuring spectacle. The once mighty British lion has become invertebrate with false teeth and with knots in his tail that Musolini and Hitler tied.

That "A stitch in time saves nine" is just as true in war prevention as in the conservation of social and economic resources. Whe Great Britain and France betrayed Ethiopia they opened the flood gates of international disaster which human hands can hardly close until untold woes have been visited upon mankind. Mussolini's coup in Ethiopia was the inspiration of Hitler's coup in Austria and so the stage is set for terrible enactments throughout the world. In the meantime dictatorship goes marching on with no human means at hand to thwart its imperious course.

Some months ago this writer pointed out the almost inevitability of dictatorship. Last week Winston Churchill pointed out the same weak spot in the armor of national and international affairs. The matter of survival is not a matter of what we humans like or dislike, but what we must do to be saved! The possibility of a dictatorship throughout the world is fast becoming a probability for it takes a dictator to cope with a dictator. Twenty-five years ago Muller-Lyer pointed out in his great book The History of Social Development that culture cycles are becoming shorter by reason of the dynamic nature of a scientific age. It naturally follows that speedy change of policies. The changes and emergencies are more apparent in war time. But in war time the emergency always makes dictatorship necessary. We are living today in a perpetual state of emergency and the emergence of dictatorship becomes imperative and the thing that matters most is the kind.

There are three reasons why dictatorship is inevitable. In the first place it is more efficient. Democracy is too clumsy and expensive for the Twentieth Century world. There is too much lost motion. And besides with Russia and Germany and Italy and Japan already within the family of dictator countries, it is just a matter of time before France and England and our U. S. A., will be engulfed; for only by embracing some of the "isms" can they successfully compete with efficiency governed dictator nations.

It is quite significant that in the dictator nations unemployment and the business cycle have been banished-one of brilliant marks of efficiency. Our present recession could be curtailed at once under a dictatorship but under a democracy must be allowed to run its dangerousa course. Again, dictatorship is more human, meaning thereby that it is especially adapted to the foibles of human nature. Humans want to be governed!

The idea of democracy arose with the Greek city-states over 2000 years ago. This was when men had only a static concept of society and long before science had made of this world one tremendous boiling pot of human notions and movements. It is extremely difficult if not impossible to gear the democratic concept of the city-states to the modern concept of a dynamic world. Democracy has completely broken down except in name; for men lack sufficient interest in governmental affairs to keep it alive. The Congress of the United States is a kind of elected dictatorship and like the appointment of committees in general proves that the masses are not sufficiently alert to be trusted.

Finally, dictatorship is more logical. In the coming ages democracy may become a vital part of political life but that will be when a nobler race of men lives upon the earth. Christianity has failed not because of its inherent defects but because of defects in human nature that it could not sufficiently overcome. Democracy has failed for the same reason. The masses of men have not arrived at that stage of social and biological evolution when they know what is best for themselves. The first pandemic of influenza was the most deadly; the later types were milder. The hope of mankind is that the later types of dictatorship may be milder!

CALIFORNIA EAGLE

VOL. 59 — NO. 2 LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1938

THE LAUNDRYMAN . . .

Easter has come, and gone. As usual, mankind, inthe very act of commemorating the Resurrection of the Master Jesus, proved himself an hypocrite, by actions directly contrary to the teachings of the Illumined One. In Palestine, where Jews, Arabs, and orthodox Christians worshipped at the shrines of Jerusalem, fierce passions flared forth, human blood was spilled, many were killed and wounded. In our own Angel city two dastardly crimes were committed during Holy Week. Our world is still many ages removed from the Millenium.

PUSHKIN, THE NEGRO POET

There is a picture slated for appearance at the International theatre at Eighth and Grand Ave., which every Negro boy and girl in the city should make it their business to see. The title is "YOUNG PUSHKIN". Produced by a Russian film company, it will be shown in the near future. As most of us know, Pushkin is the National poet of Russia, a country with a population greater than that of the U. S. A. His grandfather was a Negro slave brought to Russia by Peter the Great who bestowed high honors upon him. His birthday is a National holiday in Russia.

It will be interesting to note the treatment given the theme by its Russian creator, whose name I forget just now. Of one thing we can at least be sure, however; that the portrayal will most certainly be marked by a diginity and high seriousness so conspicuously absent in the serio-comic portrayals of Negro characters by white American artists. Watch the papers for the announcement of "Young Pushkin" at the International theatre.

CHURCH DINNERS AND HUNGRY BACHELORS

Somebody sold me a ticket the other week to a church dinner. I was somewhat loath to buy it on that particular day, for two good reasons. One was, that I only had 35 cents--the price of the dinner--to my name; and the other, was a sneaking fear that I might not get enough to eat. My last hunch proved to be more than right. The ticket-seller, a good-looking young woman, hoodoed me however, and charmed the money right out of my vest-pocket.

Well all this happened about nine o'clock in the morning. Around three-thirty--the time when thrifty bachelors usually eat their ONE god meal per day--I went over to the place where this dinner was being served. Twenty minutes passed before I was given a bite to eat. Meanwhile, the preacher came in after I did and of course got his dinner right away. Several other big-shot members of the congregation did the same, while I fumed and fretted and muttered (prayers) under my breath.

Finally one of the six or seven ladies who were serving, brought me a handful of food on a great big platter. As she placed it in front of me, she informed me that if I wanted something to drink with it (beer or pop), that would be extra. Well, not being a churchman, I didn't care for beer or pop, and so I asked her for tea, or coffee. She said "Nothing doing we don't serve it". And that was my cup.

What I can't understand is, why they expect to give a fellow less for his money than he can get elsewhere, and still look for his continued patronage.

To my mind, the church should serve as a Beacon Light in all of its activities, both Spiritual, and secular. The should at least give a fellow approximately what he gets at his regular eating-place for the same money. The next party who approaches me with a ticket must positively bring me a bill of fare along with it, or else there'll be nothing doing. So long!

MOTHERS--WHEN CHILDREN ARE GOOD, TELL THEM, THIS ONE SAYS

Looking back upon the past, I am gazing upon the faces of three children, Lillian Mae, Ellie Lee and U. W., each gaily watching for red letter days, dreaming of the joys each day would bring.

Although thirty-two years have passed, it seems as yesterday to me, making Easter dresses for the girls, pressing clothes for the boy and sending him to the barber shop to get his hair cut. Then my next task was the daily task, having them saying their speeches and on the Easter Sunday before going to church, they would have to say their pieces over and over so as not to forget them.

How to feel when the tide changes! This Easter the two girls are grown up women in their homes and have made me feel like the little girls. They dressed me up for Easter, gave me beautiful flowers, lillies to remain in bud and bloom. Well--Children, the only thing that Mother missed was the Easter speech and the everyday practice so that I might not fail before the congregation.

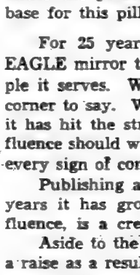
Feeling thankful for each little sentiment, I am now greatly encouraged to forget what the future may hold in store for me.

Your beautiful flowers, hand picked and trimmed, your suit of powdered blue-tells me your love for Mother is true.

As I watched these lillies in their tender bud, I shall ever remember your childhood with your buds.

This each mother should realize that every child is a bloom in bud. They should be watered and nurtured in Love, so that they may be able to attain the blesings above. Those dear children are the renewal of Mother's own youth.

I now have passed the first age of youth, travelling through each of life's big booths, though my physical strength grows weak, your life being so humble and meek, I can from nothing shrink.



Although at times, I am lost in your young mind, I am happy without a dime because you are all to me that life demands, which is the key of things which I can't understand.

Hearts like doors will open with ease with very little keys, and don't forget that two of these are thank you, Sir, and if you please.

Signed A Thankful Mother
MRS. HATTIE EDWARDS

Fair Fairness
After A Quarter Century
The Week's Personalities

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Two events of much importance which will take place within the next year or so — the New York World's Fair and the Golden Gate Exposition — are fast taking shape.

Last week from New York, it was announced that Walter L. Roberts, a native of Cambridge, Mass., an honor grad of Carnegie Institute of Technology, has been employed as a draftsman of the board of design of the N. Y. event.

At 24, Roberts has won his school's approval of his design for a pylon to represent the institute at the Fair. It is a tower, 75 feet in height, constructed of Pittsburgh products, steel, aluminum and glass.

He joins Augusta Savage, New York sculptress, as the second sepia employed by the Fair for its official staff. Miss Savage has created a dramatic group symbolic of the race's contribution to the music of the world.

All of which brings to our attention the Golden Gate Exposition. Following announcement here some months ago of the selection of W. R. Wingfield, of the Bay Region, as an official of the so-called Negro committee, newspapers have been without much information regarding the progress being made by the committee — if any.

The New York appointments are said to be in accord with the policy of Grover A. Whalen, president of the Fair corporation, to "employ in the construction of the Fair the best mind available in every field, regardless of creed or color".

Such a policy merits admiration from Mr. and Mrs. John Public and support from the nation's press. A like policy on the part of the Golden Gate Expo merits the same admiration and support from the press. The only catch is — publicity, if such steps are being taken "to employ in the construction of the Fair the best mind available in every field, regardless of creed or color", is lacking. Result: Nothing is appearing in the papers.

We have been writing this column in the EAGLE now for something like six years, less than one-fourth the EAGLE'S age under the present management. As a newspaper, an operating base for this pillar, the paper is celebrating its silver jubilee.

For 25 years, the boss has consistently tried to make the EAGLE mirror the struggles, accomplishments, hopes of the people it serves. Whether it has failed or succeeded is not for this corner to say. We do know that, (1) 25 years is a long time: (2) it has hit the streets every publication date; (3) its scope of influence should widen every time it does hit the street; (4) it shows every sign of continued publication.

Publishing a newspaper is a JOB, and the fact that after 25 years it has grown and undoubtedly widened its sphere of influence, is a credit to its head-lady.

Aside to the heckler in the back seat: We are not looking for a raise as a result of this alleged praise but, if we do get one, we would still say the old bird's flight is encouraging. So there!

SAGACIOUS SAYINGS . .

"If every man, woman and child in the U. S. would have a Wassermann blood test and all known or discovered cases of Syhpilis were put under immediate and continuous treatment and this program were relentlessly continued for 5-years, the U. S. could control its venereal disease problems as surely as have such European countries as Norway, Denmark and Sweden".--Dr. Ruth J. Temple in California Eagle Radio Quiz on "Social Diseases".

"The reorganization bill even more than the Federal Court measure brought out the growing reluctance of Congress to continue secondary to the executive".--Selected Editorial, the Kansas City Call.

"Colored people beg for what they need and pay for what they want".--Kelly Miller, former Dean of Howard University.

"We ofay girls who fall for the "charm of the color", or the "tall, tan and terrific" boys have a tough time . . . but it's worth it."--anonymous white girl.

"You have never seen a red bird mating with a black one. I believe God knew best when he made all those colors or races".--James E. Strong, Germantown, Pa.

"No one has been able to show how a people can gain industrial equality without social equality."--George Schuyler.

"There are not enough Negroes doing anything anywhere in the United States".--Dr. Leslie Pinckney Hill, principal Cheyney State Teachers college.

"It is high time that we stopped talking about upper-class Negro "sassiety", difference of color, and conflict between native born and the foreign born. The first item doesn't need to be argued about. It is a myth. There is no such thing as upper-class society anywhere in the world and least of all among our people. The so-called society of our race couldn't stand the most casual scrutiny of the cross-eyed man".--Adams Powell, convention-busting preacher of New York City.

"Low economic status coupled with exorbitant rentals and high general living expenses render it almost a superhuman task to eke out an existence in Harlem".--Dr. John B. West, Harlem Health Center.

"There are three reasons why dictatorship is inevitable. In the first place it is more efficient. Democracy is too clumsy and expensive for the Twentieth Century world. There is too much lost motion".--Gordon B. Hancock, Howard U professor.

THIS WAS LOS ANGELES --

April 20, 1918

"Time changes and with it, so do we. The mighty conflict now raging is disturbing the even tenor of many. I am among them" . . . so wrote the Rev. B. C. Robeson, brother of Paul Robeson, now famous singer and actor.

"Uncle Sam has a training school for chaplains at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky. Here he helps men to become acquainted with the tasks they may have to perform. He asks me to be present. I told him 'I'll be on hand'."

And so off to the training camp and thence to the great war went the Rev. Robeson. Then supplementing his duties as pastor of Los Angeles' AME Zion church, with a weekly column for the EAGLE, Rev. Robeson is now pastor of a church in New York City.

There were Los Angeles boys departing for training camps and overseas every week, depleting the small Negro colony of its youth. Each week's paper made mention of a farewell party given for some brave youngster, who was off to make the world "safe for democracy". Los Angeles was fortunate in that seldom came back word of a death or an injury in conflict.

Nothing was too good for the lads who were leaving home and family for the "Front". Each week's "Social Intelligence" would contain items such as this:

"Wednesday morning the Harriet Tubman Red Cross auxiliary of which Rev. Robeson is a member, presented him with a sweater, wristlets and other knitted articles so essential to army life".

THE FIRST OLD GLORY

QUILT MADE BY A COLORED WOMAN

"Mrs. H. M. Talamantoes of 1366 W. 35th place, assisted by her daughter, Miss A. Talamantoes, has made an Old Glory quilt. It is quite unique and all hand-made. It is on exhibition at Rhodes and Rhodes company, auctioneers, on 15th and Main streets. The quilt is exhibited on a bed made by Mr. Talamantoes from one limb of a pepper tree."

This item is proof of the claim that the residential sections of Los Angeles remain fairly stationary — as opposed to other big cities where the migration is ever southward and westward.

Even then, twenty years ago, real estate dealers were selling in the West Jefferson district and in the Boyle Heights section. Sidney P. Dones, now a leading realtor, as he was then, advertised:

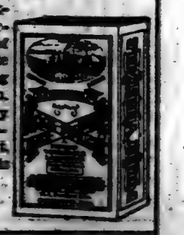
"For sale, 5-room mod. bungalow, Boyle Heights on La Franco street, $1400.00.

"For sale, 5-room, modern house, West 36th street, all built-in effects. A big snap, $1800.00."

As an added inducement, Dones promised:

"My 7-passenger auto will call and get the whole family and show you our property free."

refreshing relief . . . that good feeling when you get the benefit of BLACK-DRAUGHT for Constipation



IT is better for you if your body keeps working as nature intended. Food wastes after digestion should be eliminated every day. When you need a laxative, take Black-Draught for prompt, refreshing relief. It is purely vegetable, made from plants widely used and scientifically approved for their good laxative qualities.

Black-Draught is a truly good laxative which benefits the lower part of the digestive system. Many persons have found that in long-standing cases of constipation it was not necessary for them to increase the size or frequency of the dose of Black-Draught in order to secure full evacuation. And many have found that by a slight change in the diet, and an increase in the consumption of liquids, the dose of Black-Draught may be reduced until it is no longer necessary except for temporary upsets. This proves that Black-Draught is not habit-forming.

Be sure you get this purely Vegetable Laxative

Remember that Black-Draught is made to perform the real duties of a laxative. It is made to give you refreshing relief from constipation. It is not only thoroughly effective, but it is economical as well. When you buy Black-Draught, you pay for what you really want—and that is dependable, easy relief from constipation.

EDDIE ANDERSON IS CAST IN NEW COLUMBIA FILM

By FAY M. JACKSON

MOST OF OUR COMMUNITY THEATRES seem to be making a definite effort to present films and vaudeville fare suitable for family consumption and, more particularly, for the CHILDREN of the neighborhood.

It was not many seasons ago that we made a survey of these houses along Central avenue strip and interviewed the movie house managers on types of films they were presenting. With one except, ion, from 9th street to Slauson, the answer to "why do you seem to specialize in pictures glorifying crime and gangsterism" . . . was that . . . "colored children like plenty of blood and thunder".

Having a colored child of my own and knowing something of her tasts and those of her friends, as well as the little fellows one meets and talks with along the rialto as they stop for a game of hop-scotch or marbles in the alleys and on the sidewalks, I differed with these managers.

"Even if they do seem to prefer low brow films, you'll admit they aren't good for them and I suggests that you CHANGE this type of program." Meantime, the Parent-Teachers Association and the Federated Women's Clubs were invited to meet with the managers and help them decide what is best for our kids to see on the screen.

The result in an improved screen and theatre today and a lessened juvenile delinquency record TOMORROW. Or, at least, we think so.

An eastern club thinks that "Adventure for Tom Sawyer" is unfit because it shows the colored child in a bad light. If you think so, add your protest to its showing, too.

From personal observations of my one chick and yours, what the offsprings really like is ADVENTURE stuff with feats of heroism and skill, plenty of clean wholesome humor, perhaps a dash of barbaric "practical jokes" (for they are little savages in some respects, psychiatrists tell us) but their nature calls for ACTION. There isn't any sense or need to superimpose ADULT motives and propoganda upon these themes to catch the eyes of the adolescents.

THE TIME HAS COME FOR NEGROES TO TAKE SIDES AND HAVE THE COURAGE OF THEIR CONVICTIONS .EVERYBODY ELSE IS DOING IT AND GETTING PLACES. EXIT MUSICALES

According to recent announcements of production heads of Hollywood's major studios, there will be VERY FEW, if any film musicales in the future. An entire music department of one of these studios was dismissed this week. Men and women employed over a period of years are now out of jobs in Hollywood.

Which means, also, that VERY FEW colored film names will be retained in pictures. This will include bands, choruses, dancers, et, al.

First to make preparations for an exit is JENI LEGON who stated this week that she and manager Earl Dancer would leave soon for New York where the accent on FLESH is said to be on the upswing.

It is DOUBTFUL if the exit of filmusicals will be regretted provided the number of those scheduled for production exceeds the quality of those produced in the mad contest of recent years. Millions of dollars have been spent on these pictures for an hour's entertainment, most of which could not be remembered beyond the lobby.

Hollywood should evolve some sort of an art in motion pictures that contributes more to American culture than enlarged type for "name players" and superlatives for exploitation of mediocrity.

I daresay the intelligence of our people is KEPT at a low level as much by mediocre picturesas by any other factor, and more perhaps. It is a sad commentary on American films that they are produced mainly for women who need a place to sit down from a shopping tour and rest their feet rather than being produced for general consumption with an eye to education as well as entertainment and relaxation.

See a picture like "Emile Zola" or the "Life and Loves of Beethoven" and you'll get what I mean.

Relinquishing its hold on musicals, indicates a healthy growth of Hollywood mentality, we believe. The legitimate stage has had its scare and very evidence points in the direction of better productions on that end, once it gets back the old hold it formerly had on the American entertainment market before it was frozen out by the invasion of motion pictures.

WHERE WILL THE NEGRO PLAYER BE when the shuffle is straightened out? The fittest will survive. Those whose hatbands have been enlarged by ONE appearance before the camera; those who parade under the badge of "artists" without just claim and those who have not made use of their time to study and improve their wares will be discarded.

By and large greater credit will rebound to the industry, to the nation, to the race by this tightening up of motion picture production. We shall see less of a madcap race of competition flooding our theatre market with nonsense, more of the evolution of another art-form to take its place in the gallery of human expression along with the Opera, the Symphony, the Drama, and the Dance.

Song Police Guard American Music

By Joseph R. Fliesler

MOTION picture cameramen hied themselves high in Radio City, New York City, the other day to the head offices of the "M-men," the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers. "M-men" are a law-enforcing body, protecting the music of American creators against piracy.

The prime business of ASCAP, of course, is to license the legal use of musical works copyrighted by its members.

The cameramen wanted to know all about the Society and its members for use in Pathe Parade, a current series of motion picture short subjects on interesting topics, personalities and events.

Several ASCAP composers agreed to perform for the movie, including George M. Cohan (1), "Over There"; Carrie Jacobs Bond (2), "Perfect Day"; Hoagy Carmichael (3), "Stardust"; Nat Shilkret (4), "Jeanine, I Dream of Lilac Time"; W. C. Handy (6), "St. Louis Blues"; and Rodgers and Hart (11), "I'd Rather Be Right".

Gene Buck, president of ASCAP (7); E. C. Mills, chairman of the Administrative Committee (8); John G. Paine (9), General Manager; a bust of Victor Herbert, founder (5); and several of the young ladies of the clerical staff (10 and 12) are also seen in the film.

The "M-Men" are not shown—they are investigators who do the field work and discover infringements.

Practically all recognized American composers and authors are members of ASCAP.

'I'M AN ACCIDENT' MAXINE SULLIVAN TELLS SCRIBE HERE

NEVER SWINGS SPIRITUALS

By Fay M. Jackson

Maxine Sullivan jammed Phil Selznick's Club Versailles on the Strip when she opened Sunday night to one of the most exclusive Hollywood patrons' list assembled to pay tribute to an artist's premiere in the film capital.

The Don Ameches, Jack Benny, Mary Livingstone, the Bill Robinsons, George Burns, Gracie Allen, Betty Grable, Joe Penners, Sophie Tucker, Fernand Gravet, Peggy Fears and scores of others were among the celebrities who greeted the young star.

Granting an exclusive interview to the CALIFORNIA EAGLE shortly after her arrival here by plane from Detroit, the dimunitive singer (she's only 4 feet high, weighs 91 pounds!) presented a pleasing picture of delightful charm and naturalness.

She wore pale blue flannel slacks, a soft pink sweater, white sandals and pink socks, and looks surprisingly like Midge Williams, California song stylist now touring with Louis Armstrong.

"I never anticipated so much ado over me", Miss Sullivan began, "I mean, by that, that no particular effort was made on my uncle's band and one night I hit upon the idea of swinging 'Trees'. (ed's note: we've often thought that something should be done about "Trees".) Then, seeing that the patrons liked it, I had swing arrangements made of all the old ballads that I knew. "Loch Lohmond", the Scotch song about which there has been so much publicity and to which my present claim to fame (!) may be attributed, just happened to be in the lot. So you see, I may be really something of an accident."

The simplicity of her story and manner as well as a certain humility about the widespread publicity and sudden jump to fame from comparative obscurity, is a mark in Miss Sullivan one often finds repeated in most personalities on the top rung of the ladder of success.

RESPECTFUL

Asked if she had or would "swing" spirituals, Maxine said she did not think that she would.

"One could almost say that I am sorry I "swung" "Loch Lohmond" now that I know its significance to the Scottish people", she said rather regretfully. 'I have a reverence for the spirituals and all religious music. There is a definite place for sacred and profane music and I think that each may be respectfully glorified in its own sphere. But, then, if I hadn't dared--even if it was innocently--to put the indigo touch to the Scottish tune, I wouldn't be the Maxine Sullivan people are talking about today."

California, of course, is marvelous to the newcomer. She traded snow for sunshine when she left the East for the West Coast and most of the time when she is not rehearsing or working, she sits by the window in her luxurious Dunbar Hotel suite gazing in wonderment at the brilliance and beauty of California sunshine, its landscape towards the Pacific and the golden sunsets that have entranced so many Easterners.

Miss Sullivan began the first of a series of radio broadcasts Tuesday for CBS and will be heard twice weekly over a national hookup. She will do a film in Hollywood at the expiration of her nite club engagement.

capra starts production; complete cast announced for stage success colored players named as first scenes filmed

Considered one of the finest all-star casts assembled for a motion picture, Frank Capra last week was set to begin filming the first scenes of his latest production for Columbia "You Can't Take It With You", according to a studio announcement.

Following a long period of painstaking preparation of the screenplay with Robert Riskin, Capra made many tests to obtain players most ideally suited for the exacting roles of the Kaufman-Hart stage success.

The complete cast includes Jean Arthur as Alice Sycamore, James Stewart as Tony, Lionel Barrymore as Grandpa, Edward Arnold as Mr. Kirby, Ann Miller as Essie, Spring Byington as Penny, Mischa Auer as Kolenkhov, Donald Meek as Mr. Poppins, Halliwell Hobbes as Mr. De Pinna Dub Taylor, former vaudevillian making his first appearance in pictures as Ed Carmichael and Mary Forbes as Mrs. Kirby.

Eddie Anderson and Lillian Yarbo have been engaged to play the parts of Donald and Rheea. This will necessitate Anderson's return to Hollywood from New York where he is appearing on a transcontinental radio program.

thelma porter sails for year in honolulu

Off to Honolulu goes Thelma Porter on Friday, for a year's stay in the islands. She will join her husband, Duke Upshaw, who left over a month ago to open with an eight piece band at the Canono Ball Room. From Los Angeles he took Dizzie Derricote, Frank Valley, Le Grant Mason, and Rafael Gregory. He was joined there by Andy Blakeman, Kirt Bradford, and Buck Campbell.

Miss Porter will sing with the band at the Hawaiian pleasure resort. This is their third trip to the Orient, and their travels have included China and Japan besides other countries.

Less than a year before hostilities broke out in Shanghai they spent a year there, playing and entertaining at the Canadrome Ballroom and other popular spots that have since been destroyed by Japanese bombs.

man outroars lion for picture scene

That leonine roar you will hear in the zoo sequence of the current Bing Crosby-Beatrice Lillie picture, "Doctor Rhythm", wasn't uttered by a lion, but by Rufe Davis under emergency conditions.

Although there were six real lions working in the Major-Paramount production, all apparently were too happy in their work to utter a single roar.

Director Frank Tuttle tried in vain to get them to utter something convincing for the benefit of the sound track. Finally, he postponed the matter, figuring that a good roar could be gotten at feeding time.

But a futile hour was spent when the lions were fed. Even when they were teased with big hunks of red meat, held just too far away to reach, they didn't respond.

Davis, who got into pictures on the strength of his vocal mimicry offered to substitute. Sound men gave him a chance to see what he could do, and putting the microphone close to his lips Davis roared into it. Tuttle okay'd the "take".

chicago girl, 7, writes music for lullaby

CHICAGO. (ANP)—Local music lovers last week thrilled to the news that little Juanita Dillard, 7, third grade pupil at Phillips school, had set to music the lyric of a popular lullaby. The child had played the composition to her teacher, Miss Nellie Cassidy, who wrote down the notes in amazement.

Junita also has composed four other short musical pieces based on poems she herself selected. Explaining the child's talent, Miss Cassidy said:

"We were acting out Rumpelstiltskin, one of our fairy tales. Juanita offered to sing a song, closing the lyric, 'Lullaby,' by Christina Rossetti. Her melody was not based on any song she had heard before. It was new and appropriate.

"She does not have a good voice and apparently has had no musical training. Her music seems to come freely and without influence from other music. It is not Negroid in type. I believe the child has an innate gift for musical expresson."

hit caricature of race in film

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 21, —(CNA)—The New Haven Negro Community Council meeting here this week unanimously voted a resolution denouncing the discriminatory portrayal of the Negro child in the film, "Adventures of Tom Sawyer."

The Council, which is composed of 400 members representing various organizations, pointed out that the practice of film producers in portraying Negroes as clowns and criminals is directed at perpetuating race hatred, and false concepts of white superiority.

paul robeson returns to english concert stage with triumphant success

LONDON — By Rudolph Dunbar — After an absence of about two years, Paul Robeson returned to Albert hall with triumphant success on Sunday afternoon in a recital with Lawrence Brown, assisted by other artists. People generally gaze with wonder at the enormity of Albert Hall, yet the vast interior was crowded with every nationality who gave Robeson a spontaneous reception as he walked on the stage.

Nature has been very kind to Paul Robeson by the endowment of a rich sonorous voice, which he uses to great advantage. Aside from this, Mr. Robeson is a supremely great artist, because of his simplicity, candor, and uncompromising fanatical honesty.

He has achieved like all great artists, the lucidity of emotion that contains all the wisdom of experience. He has solved his problem, and therefore beninly wishes to eludicate ours through song.

FOLK SONGS

I reflected as I listened to the Russian songs he sang. Unfortunately, Russian is not among my list of languages, hence I did not understand the text of these songs; but it was not necessary to know Russian in order to sense the emotional Slav nativity and the incisive clearness of enunciation which Mr. Robeson expressed in them. Sitting beside me were Russians who seemed to have been deeply moved by his utterances. His voice was rich, even and miraculously controlled. "Go Down Moses," "Every Time I Feel de Spirit," "Oh, No, John", "Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Chile," and "Joshua Fit de Battle ob' Jericho" were all expressed in a model of style and shapeliness, portraying the beatitude of Negro folk music.

Encores were in abundance. Lawrence Brown, the accompanist who was particularly inspiring, has become a part of Mr. Robeson. He must be congratulated for his indestructible affinity between the singing and playing.

TEST PILOT

Adapted from the M-G-M Picture

By GERTRUDE GELBIN

"Come on, girls—blow."

Jim Lane (Clark Gable) is a hero to his whole world—including himself. He's the most daring and capable test-pilot working for the Drake Aviation Company. He's the idol of the cheering crowd of kids and grown-ups who run to the field each time he takes off. He's the boy friend of every blonde in town. He's even a hero to Gunner Sloane (Spencer Tracy), his mechanic. But he's a headache and a heartache to Gunner every time he flies.

Copyright 1938, Loew's, Inc.

"If I don't see you again it'll be too soon."

Gunner not only keeps Lane's planes mechanically perfect—he's wet-nurse to Jim as well, shielding him from reporters and the fury of Mr. Drake (Lionel Barrymore) whenever he's off on one of his accustomed binges. Gunner alone understands that Jim must drink and pursue blondes to wipe out the fear that grips him each time he takes to the air in an untried plane. Gunner's concern at the moment is locating Jim so he can take a few hours' rest before making a transcontinental speed record flight.

"So long, Jim. See you in New York tomorrow."

Gunner tries all the likely places in town without success. Wearily he returns to the room he shares with Jim. Lane's not there—but the two blondes with whom he had made dates, are. Gunner throws them out. Jim arrives in time to be hustled to bed for a nap. When he awakens, Gunner shouts down his excuses, pours him into his flying suit and rushes him out to the field where a crowd is waiting for him to take off.

"I see you—and goodbye record."

Once in the cockpit, Jim's a new man. Alert, aware, every nerve tingling, he guides his plane safely over mountains, through snow and lightning storms. Sudden engine trouble forces him to seek a landing place. Below are the wheat fields of Kansas. He makes for them. As he nears the ground, he grins—for, watching him is a girl, who, eager and fascinated, runs to the plane as he lands. Read the next chapter.

"i'm not a has-been" ethel waters tips off scribe in new orleans

NEW ORLEANS — By Leon Lewis — Assuming an air of aristocracy and clinging to her "hey-dey" years of box office supremacy, Ethel Waters and her Harlem revues played to capacity crowds at the Palace theatre here last week.

Charged with Southern response to her stage and radio fame, the sepia songster lost no hesitancy in informing approachers that she was no "has-been".

As proud as a peacock and as hopeful as a farmer looking for rain, Miss Waters (to you) put on a show for Palace theatre audiences that far surpassed some of her "flop" performances in the East and Mid-west.

Improvements in the show have raised Dixie response to her bid for box office supremacy. Eddie Mallory, spouse and band leader for the Waters' revue, does a good job of stage orchestration, while Butter Beans and Susie cop the high lights as usual.

FEMMES ARE OUT

Particulary noticeable as a lack in making the new show tops, is the absence of feminine talent. A satirical mens' chorus supplements what the audience was expecting—a fast pep squad of chorines. There were only three "fems" in the show including Miss Waters.

Sunshine Sammy upheld his fame in a snappy dance act. The entire show received hearty applause from New Orlean's audiences, which gave credence to her statement that she was no "has-been" and was not playing Dixie as a refuge from Eastern flops or on a come-back debut.

the artistic welfare of this large number of citizens. Our taxes help pay for the project.

"We feel", he continued, "that it is a matter of taxation without representation for policies of this project to be molded and handed down to us without a single Negro having a word in that policy. We have been denied a single director or supervisor in our drama unit with the curt announcement that "the time is not ripe for Negro directors."

Disclaiming any effort to establish a jim-crow theatre, Webb King clarified the committee's aims by stating that it was asking for opportunities to train their people in the various positions connected with the opperation of a theatre unit.

"We are most desirous of adding to the personnel of technical employees in the project," King said. "There are plays, writers, technicians and artists not on the project because places rightfully belonging to us are being filled by non-relief foreigners who are not even citizens of the United States.

"A recent instance is that of our having to wait until a play writen for us by a German non citizen, had to be translated into English before it could be produced. We have absolutely nothing to say about what plays we shall appear in. This German's play was offered as being particularly to our liking by the author because "it had a song in it about Alabama". Those are the types of ridiculous effronts we have been up against and we believe the community will bear us out in our demands for improvement."

Despite the apparent shunting aside of the Negro players, box office reports show that their productions ranked over any other productions given in point of attendance, financial receipts. Members of the project declare that they have supported the theatres' program from its very inception.

A call has been issued for all persons qualified in any departments of theatre operation to be present Friday evening.

EARL DANCER

With a flare for headline topics which few, if any journalists seem to possess, Earl Dancer has released to the press one of the most amazing stories about his next move as an empresario which ever--emanated from Hollywood--the admitted Mecca of the Gullible, Capital of the Spectacular on a stupendous scale.

"Africana", musical extravaganza of the stage produced a decade ago by Dancer with Ethel Waters as a star is to be filmed, Earl says.

Not five but FIFTY of the biggest names in all forms of dramatic art are included in the Dancer setup. Cab Calloway AND Duke Ellington, bands; Andy Razaf, Will Vodrey AND Donald Heywood, for music. Anne Brown, Ruby Elzy, Todd Duncan AND Ivy Anderson co-featured with Jeni LeGon. Oh, yes, we forgot, ETHEL WATERS.

Several of the sequences will be filmed in New York, the rest in Hollywood. That gives geography a break.

Santa Claus lives at 836 Birch street. If Garbo or Rainer, Gable or Charley Boyer feel that Hollywood is letting them down, address the Earl Dancer Motion Picture Corp. NOW! (FMJ).

floor show turned into stage unit when it flops

One way to solve a nite club flop is to turn the show out for stage presentation. That is what happened this week in Pittsburgh when a sepia floor show at defunct Harlem Casino, with Larry Steele producings, was whipped into a stage unit and booked for a series of one niters and split-weeks by Joe Hiller's office.

Jimmy Wadkins swing band is sticking with the unit and Steele as emcee.

Invisible Actor for Film Role Sought

An invisible actor was sought in Hollywood today.

The requirements are highly exacting, since the role is one of the most important in "Tropic Holiday," the new Bob Burns-Martha Raye musicale picture at Paramount.

Throughout the picture this character, a Hollywood producer, is heard in conversation with Ray Milland. Only the talk is all on the telephone, so that the producer is never seen.

Director Ted Reed has notified his casting assistants that the player must have a voice capable or rising to great heights of emotion—so great, in fact, that it registers significantly even over the long distance telephone.

LAURA BOWMAN FURNISHES N. Y. PLAY WITH 'VOODOO' CHANTS

New Haitian Husband Helps

Voodoo chants from the newly published "Voice of Haiti" are being used in the New York WPA Federal Theatre project production, "Haiti", a stirring drama of Christophe, currently showing at the Lafayette theatre.

This collection of authentic folk material was compiled by Laura Bowman, noted stage and radio artist, former member of the Lafayette Players, and her husband, Leroy Antoine, a singer and native Haitian, during their seven month tour of the island ast year. It contains ceremonial songs, invocations, voodoo chants, drum beats and rhythms, children's play songs, work songs and traditional stories of the Haitian people.

It was actually the drums, carrying messages to the natives in the hills with telegraphic rapidity, which defeated the French, and not yellow fever as depicted in the DuBois play, Miss Bowman discovered.

Her interest in Haitian music was inspired by her portrayal of a vodoo woman in Gus Smith's "Louisiana", which was produced on Broadway in 1931 and later made into a picture under the title of "Drums of Voodoo".

"And when I married a Haitian", stated Miss Bowman, "naturally my interest became greater."

In March, 1936, Miss Bowman and her husband embarked for Haiti and it was in his parents' home that most of these native themes were gathered. His mother sang the songs in patois. Antoine translated them and Miss Bowman recorded them. She listened to the children in the streets and the elders singing in the fields. She attended their voodoo ceremonies--thus being able to secure through personal association authentic Haitian songs. "In compiling them", Miss Bowman said, "my husband and I had but one thought in mind--that of preserving their purity and their simplicity and beauty."

the real swing king is dead -- joe oliver

The real king of swing died last week in Savannah, Georgia. His name was Joe Oliver, once called the world's greatest trumpeter. He died at the age of 53.

King Joe, as he was familiarly known started the renowned Louis Armstrong and more than a score of others on their present careers.

Born in New Orleans, in 1885, Oliver died as a result of a hemorrhage. At the time of his death he was operating a fruit store.

Funeral services, held in New York under auspices of the Negro Actors Guild, were conducted by Rev. Clayton Powell, jr., Armstrong and Fredi Washington served as soloists.

"He started all of us youngsters", Armstrong said. "And there isn't a riff played today that he didn't play more than 15 years ago."

Oliver started what is currently called swing shortly after the World's War, but natives along the Mississippi Delta called it "ragtime". Later he went to New Orleans, then to Chicago where he played for awhile with Kid Ory's orchestra.

Soon afterwards he organized his own band and sent for Armstrong who once ran his errands down in New Orleans. He kept Armstrong by his side for several month teaching him the finer points of the trumpet.

Together they produced "Dipper Mouth Blues."

STAR PROSPECTS PICKED

Phyllis Welch, Annabella, and Olympe Bradna were recently designated in a poll of Hollywood directors as the most likely prospects for stardom in 1938. Miss Bradna has just been given her first starring role in Paramount's "Stolen Heaven."

L. A. GRAND JURY PRACTICE MAY HIT A SNAG

As contended all along by The California Eagle, Negroes have been the victims of a system that has barred them from service on grand juries in Los Angeles County.

Not in the memory of our oldest inhabitants (some dating back a half century) has a colored American served on the grand jury. In all these years, such a thing could not be a mere accident, but is the result of a well-worked out agreement.

Two Negroes were proposed for the jury now serving, but were promptly stricken from the lists by opposing judges.

Members of the jury are proposed by Superior Court judges and other judges are at liberty to challenge those deemed undesirable.

The system that has been in vogue for all these years stands a fine chance of being challenged in legal proceedings.

The cases of Officer Kynette and two aides and George Farley offer a fine opportunity for such a test. Not so long to the windward, a St. Louis, Mo. white man demanded a retrial because Negroes were excluded from the jury and with such crafty legal lights as Loren Miller and ex-Senator Rochester defending their respective clients, in case of an adverse decision, this may furnish the grounds for a retrial. Who knows?

CHICKEN STEALING

White America, back in the long ago, succeeded in placing the Negro in the spotlight as a chicken thief, by nature and inheritance. He was the inspiration of all the stage jokes, both as eater and thief.

Time alone will, in the end, shine the spotlight upon the guilty, and chicken lifting is not an exception.

Last week, the papers carried a whale of a record for chicken stealing, set by an old colored brother in deep Dixie, and the white world laughed and said, "They'll all do it".

However, it remained for good old Kansas to clear the records and turn the spotlight on the real culprits, and in so doing, made the colored brother, who "lifted" an occasional pullet to stave off hunger, look like a piker.

At Marion, home of a former governor of the Sunflower State, a young white man — teacher in the junior high school, YMCA leader, Sunday School superintendent and insurance executive, was caught with the hens on him. He confessed activities in the poultry business, covering a period of three or more years, during which time he said he had "lifted" over 3000 chickens.

Colored residents of Marion now walk the streets without being eyed and spoken of in whispers!

LIEUT.-GOVERNOR HATFIELD LOOKS GOOD

Negro Republicans are looking with great favor upon Merriam and Hatfield who have declared themselves candidates for the office of Governor.

Of Merriam, we have spoken.

Hatfield has always packed fair with the group and has many concrete examples of his friendship and interest in the uplift and progress of the race. Those who are acquainted with Mr. Hatfield are loud in praising him as an official and a man never too busy to stop and render aid wherever needed.

IT STILL PAYS!

Just 234 years ago this month, America witnessed the publication of its first permanent newspaper, the Boston "News Letter".

The birth of that fledgling on April 26, 1704, is memorable in the history of American journalism. But the now ancient "News Letter" is also memorable for something else. It contained the first advertisements America had seen, and these advertisements held revolutionary implications.

They contained the seeds of an increasingly higher living standard. They appealed to popular demand. They foretold the rise of mass production to satisfy the demands of America's future 129 million consumers, and the rise of large-scale industry — steel, with 775,000 workers and $877 million annual payroll, automobiles with their 400,000 workers and $400 million payroll, textiles with its more than one and one-half million workers, and payroll of more than a billion dollars annually.

Because they, like the "News Letter's" first advertisers, believe in telling the world what they have to offer, retail stores have played a particularly big part in enriching the productivity of our state and nation. How vast, and how essential, their role is, you can gauge by this. The centrally managed retail systems, who do less than 40 per cent of the retail business, alone purchased over $2 billion worth of goods from farm producers and manufacturers last year, and to 220,000 employes these stores paid $334,000,000.

But before this was possible, it was first necessary to tell the world what they had to offer. If merchants hide their light under a bushel, as the saying goes, the consumer can't be expected to see the light, or the bargains. Far-sighted merchants knew that when they placed ads in the Boston "News Letter" 234 years ago.

And their principle remains constant, "It pays to advertise!"

BILBO REPRESENTS SENTIMENT OF OLD MISSISSIPPI

Ranting and raving against a law to prevent wholesale murder, Senator Bilbo had behind him a people steeped in the lust for blood.

Dr. R. H. Whitfield, director of Vital Statistics of the Mississippi State Board of Health, in the City of Jackson, released some startling figures on Mississippi's bloody record of murder, which is greater each year than the whole United Kingdom. This record does not include those killed by mobs, and the low rate of execution for murder is because the offenders are white. Only Negroes are executed by law, a fact which the doctor fails to state. However, he places Mississippi out in front of all states in the Union in the crime of murder.

We quote a portion of an article by the doctor which appeared in one of our leading journals. Dr. Whitfield writes:

"In 1936, Vermont was the only State without a murder. Mississippi had a rate of more than 250 murders for every million persons. In a personal study made by Dr. Whitfield, it was found that in sixteen years, ending with 1931, Mississippi had more than 6,000 murders, with only one-third as many convictions, and 371 pardons. During the time that the population of the State went up thirteen per cent, homicides increased sixty-six per cent.

"But the most fantastic fact of all was that out of 6,415 killers, 4,225 escaped all punishment; 2,190 received more or less punishment, and only sixty were hanged. That meant there was not even one chance in a hundred of getting it in the neck if a person committed murder.

SUCCESS AT FORTY

Let the country's budding authors take heart! Though their literary offshoots may now be green, crude, and discouraging, the leavening blows of time and experience may bring them mastery just as it did Elizabeth Seifert of Moberly, Missouri. The other day this 40-year old housewife won a $10,000 first prize for her novel about a small town doctor. This was the first manuscript she had ever submitted to a publisher. The miracle is not that she succeeded in writing what apparently is a good novel, but that she managed to write one at all. She has four children to rear, ranging in age from 12 to 17, and a husband and house to look after, not to mention the baking and the washing, which she does herself. Nevertheless, she found time to scribble parts of her story on scratch pads, parts of it on the typewriter. If there's any secret to her triumph, she probably expressed it when she said, "You'll write somehow — if you have it in you!"

FACTS ABOUT TAXES

An average "take" of $104 from every man, woman, and child in America!

A total charge of $13,500,000,000 — equal to one-fifth of the entire national income, twenty cents out of every dollar earned!

An amount equal to more than the total yearly cost of feeding the 130 million mouths in America! That's our tax bill — local, state, federal!

In the past ten years the cost of government has doubled. In the past two years it has gone up one-third. One business concern paid a 600 per cent tax increase in the past two years — enough to put 6,500 additional men to work for an entire year. Another business paid out $1.15 in taxes for every $5.00 paid out in wages.

These are facts! The price-tags on local, state, and national government are being marked-up each year. Where is the end to be?

THE AMERICAN LANGUAGE

"I'll look it up in the dictionary!" That decision, a favorite when the American language is in question, has been possible for just a little over a century. Just 110 years ago this week, the first edition of Noah Webster's dictionary rolled from the presses.

With 12,000 new words and 40,000 new meanings, the two-volume American Dictionary gave the official stamp of acceptance to the American language. Prior to 1828, the tongue of the United States was the King's English. After Noah Webster's compilation appeared on the book shelves, American, as a separate language, came into existence.

Today, 110 years later, the American language goes on growing and changing. New occupations, new conditions, new meanings bring new words into popular usage. American, the most fluid and youthful of all languages, readily grafts those new words into accepted usage.

Thanks to Noah Webster, you and I today write and talk — American!

MAN'S BEST YEARS

What are man's best years? If you could live your life at one age, what age would you choose? Would you be satisfied to follow a normal life span?

Those questions, always good for a verbal battle, recently started a word-fracas in the British press when Winston Churchill, former Minister of State, recorded in the "Sunday Chronicle": "Twenty to twenty-five are the best years of a man's life, the earth is his and the fullness thereof!"

To which George Bernard Shaw, not to be kept out of any argument, replied: "If you want to be a prize-fighter, you don't want to be over thirty. If you want to be an old dotard, well — I'm over eighty!"

The best answer of all came from Dame Marie Tempest, the actress: "Each age should be a golden age, if you keep your brain clear, and if you have the capacity for absorbing those things which will give a happy life.

Guest Editorial

Grand and Federal Juries

Being an illogical thing it is too much to expect of prejudice that it will learn, even in the school of experience. For that reason case after case will be sent back to the states which continue to try Negroes with all-white juries. The lesson of the Scottsboro cases is lost on some courts. Either that or they prefer the cost and trouble of a new trial to voluntary compliance with the supreme court's orders.

In the latest case remanded, the high court made clear that not only are Negroes to be included in the petit jury but in the grand jury as well. There's a thought—they should be on the federal juries also.

Some part of the reluctance of the authorities to include citizens of color is their fear that the two races cannot be kept in the close intimacy of jury service without friction. Let them have whatever credit there is for not discriminating deliberately. But they make a mistake. There will be no friction—if they will only stop suggesting the thought.

Whites and blacks go fishing and hunting together all over this country. They work together amicably whenever an employer makes it clear that anyone who does not like his job can quit. They share the same shell holes in France. The stars will not fall if they are put together in order to see that justice is done. In short, any prejudice that makes the presence of men of different races on juries occasion for friction, is of less moment than their obligation to the law. The time must come when Negroes will be serving on all juries, grand and federal juries included.

WANTS MORE LOCAL NEWS

Dear Editor:

Why not more local news on your evening broadcast of the California Eagle "Newspaper of the Air"?

What people are doing in other cities is all very interesting but don't they do similar things here in Los Angeles?

That is the only criticism that I have to make of your broadcast. The announcer and guest announcers are just fine. I feel that you are making a great contribution to Negro culture.

Respectfully submitted, by
CALLENDAR HENDERSON.

NO 'DOWN HOME' ACCENTS

Dear Editor:

I have listened in almost every night since you started your broadcast of the "Negro Newspaper of the Air", over station KGFJ. I enjoy it very much and for sometime have been meaning to write and tell you how much I do appreciate it.

One thing in particular I must congratulate you on — I have not heard one "down home" voice during the entire seven weeks.

There is no slurring of words, thick tones or anything that people usually credit to Negroes.

I think this is most commendable.

Very sincerely yours,
ROWLAND McCOY.

NO SEPARATE ARMY

Dear Editor:

Am in hearty accord with your views on the Negro army division, as set forth in "On the Sidewalk", April 14. I have read the articles and editorial comment in the "Courier". I think there is altogether too much harangue for separate this and that, not only in the Courier, but in all eastern newspapers.

A soldier, dying for the American flag, doesn't die a separate death, the bullet or bayonet is no respector of race or creed. It is idiotic for our leaders to request that we train for death in separate units.

Anyway, who brought up all this ballyhoo of Negroes training for war? Who wants to go to war?

Yours truly,
ANDERSON HAYMAN.

A NEW HIGH

Dear Editor:

May I offer heartiest congratulations upon the Negro's long stride in journalism, namely the coordination of radio and news. I am certain your thousands of readers appreciate and are justly proud of this fine set-up, which not only brings greater service but sets a new high standard for weekly journalism.

Sincerely

Dear Editor:

When I last met your good husband, and one of my most faithful friends, I told him that "I thought the world of you." His reply was, "Capt. I, and numerous others, think likewise", and he said it with that natural and beautiful smile of his, that only a few could appreciate to its fullest extent.

How mean of me, after all of these many years, to be sending you my first letter, however, it is not attributable to neglegence or forgetfulness, but rather to that inherent human trait, of putting things off until tomorrow.

Sone one in L. A., has been kind enough to send me a copy of the Eagle, and its arrival brings increased happiness to us monthly. How happy we were to note in the first copy the good results now being reaped, from the hard work, and competent labor given the publication by Mr. Bass and you.

I seldom pray, because my daily thoughts are based upon the life of Christ, but when we read of your being in the hospital, we prayed for your speedy recovery.

My many years in the Philippines have been happy and succesful ones, yet, I long to be back and give my remaining years to the advancement of my own people. Your editorial in the Jan. 20, 1938 number awakened that desire, more than anything else I have read during the last ten years. It describes a way in which I can be of service to their economic progress, the very field in which I have been able to help the Filipino people.

"From Los Angeles to San Francisco, there are great stretches of land. There could be formed a cooperative society of California Negroes, who would purchase a tract of this land, divide it into small farms, settle families on it provided with agricultural necessities and establish wholesale houses in Los Angeles and San Francisco. Then we should supply at least some of our needs, and we could surely be on the road to economic independence".

I love to solve the big hard problems, which fall in my field of Industrial Engineering, and when one can solve such problems for the benefit of a group that needs the benefits there of most, the satisfaction would always be a source of happiness.

Mrs. McKinney and I, are seriously considering returning to L. A. Extend our best wishes to all, and we sincerely hope, that the Forum is still carrying on.

Yours truly,,
T. NIMROD McKINNEY

called technical expert was hired to show colored actors just how to fawn and giggle properly. In all, a tremendous expenditure to teach Negroes how to act and look as Negroes.

Paul Robeson is recognized the world over as a great singer of spirituals. But this is still within the conception: colored people are supposed to be musical. It is little known that Robeson was also an all-American football star, top-ranking student at the university which he attended, a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and that he now speaks fluently eight languages.

TO FURTHER illustrate. On a day a few weeks ago, when Marian Anderson broke attendance records at New York's Town Hall, when three Negroes were awarded the English imperial service medal in Barbadoes, when Norman O. Houston, of the Golden State Life Insurance company, was selected to serve on the Chamber of Commerce Flood Control Recovery Committee, and when a colored officer was advanced to the rank of lieutenant-colonel in the Army, there appeared but one lone article in The Daily News concerning the Afro-American. It told of a youth in Missouri who took a five-day jail sentence rather than go to work.

THIS SORT of thing is as tragic as it is amusing. We wonder how long it will be before the great masses of whites will realize that the Afro-American is an intelligent, serious-minded citizen, deserving all the respect, and demanding all the civil liberties due any other American.

NOW THAT Negroes are beginning to be awakened as to the significance of the statement "Man cannot live by bread alone", they are shying away from the Democratic party. But, in so doing, are they taking refuge at the Republican fireside?

No longer will appeals by way of Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation strike a vibrant chord in the Negro's political thinking.

Observations along the political highway also point to the fact that Negroes are no longer influenced by a hand-picked leadership. They realize that for FAR too long have the Republicans strayed from party principles.

The present Republican party was organized in 1854. It was first known as the anti-Nebraska men, but later became the Republican party, and in 1856 held its first National Convention in Philadelphia, at which Freemont was nominated for President and Dayton for Vice President. The platform adopted by this convention declared against the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, opposed the extension of slavery to the territories, and advocated the admission of Kansas as a free state. In the campaign for election of Freemont, the slogan was "Free Soil, Free Speech, Free Men, Freemont".

The real agitation against slavery started in 1860 when Abraham Lincoln was elected President.

One of the Party's first positions at that time was to oppose the extension of slavery. It favored a vigorous prosecution of the Civil War, the Emancipation Proclamation, the Fourteenth Amendment, the Civil Rights Bill, the Reconstruction Bill, the Freedmen's Bill, and education for Negroes.

For 44 years the Republican party controlled the executive branch of the government — during all of which time it depended for strength upon the North and West.

Because Negroes know the history of the Republican Party as the only source from which they received relief during that trying period of the nation's history, they naturally enough, fell in politically with those they considered their friends. While, on the other hand, the Republicans became so secure in the belief that Negroes would always ride in the Party hand-wagon that within the past half-century they have lost sight of Afro-America's political and civic welfare. Colored allegiance, however, began to waver, whereupon the head-wolves (Race leaders) were summoned to drive the pack. This went on merrily for a period — the leaders growing fat on the political crumbs from the master's table, while those who had voted and supported grew leaner and leaner. Finally, one day, when the drivers came forth to perform their time-honored task, they found the Republican stalls empty and, when they called, only the echo of their own voices answered.

The Democratic party that always preached the doctrine of keeping the Negro in subjection, had at last realized that some 14 million Black Americans would be quite a political asset.

The attitude of the Democratic party, especially under the New Deal, shows very clearly that it had carefully studied methods used by the Republicans in dealing with Negroes.

Mark the improvements, if you please. Negroes used for leadership in Republican party were picked from as far South as Mississippi, westward to Chicago and East to New York. The New Deal picked them from all parts, using as a basis strategic points designated as such by virtue of the population. Washington has set up its white brain trust and its black brain trust; its white political traveling salesmen and its black.

It is needless to say that Negroes were not discriminated against in the Republican party machine. But never, until the coming of the NEW DEAL was there a definite attempt to systematize party segregation and discrimination on a national basis.

Recent demonstration of the Negro's political awakening has been heard and felt in Los Angeles. We are beginning to realize that the Democratic party is not the solution of our problems. We are not bidding for political patronage on the segregation plan, but full and equal rights on a basis of citizenship, and I believe we stand ready to give the Republican party another trial.

Family Keeps White Bride in Seclusion

Husband of Less Than 2 Weeks Seeks to Have Park Ave. Mate Return

B-U-L-L-E-T-I-N

NEW YORK, April 28. (ANP)—Although William Sau Hart Stewart flew here from Chicago shortly after his white bride of less than two weeks had been snatched from him by her family, and asked G-men to help him get her back, he was unable to stave off her legal committment Thursday to a private sanitarium for insanity.

Papers signed by Westchester County Judge Coyne, after two doctors found the pretty young woman mentally incompetent, aparently wrote a finis for at least the time being to the case. The committment order was signed at the request of her father.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The Park Avenue family of the former Sylvia Lazarus, 27, kept her secluded today as her Negro husband of less than two weeks, William Sau Hart Stewart, 32, sought to have her returned to him.

The husband a Harlem entertainer and animal trainer followed his wife here by private plane from Chicago after swearing out kidnap warrants against three Chicago policemen and five "John Does" from New York who, he charged, took her from his apartment forcibly.

The young woman, assertedly ill, arrived here late yesterday by train, accompanied by her brother, Joseph A. Lazarus, who said she would be taken to a sanitarium.

Stewart met his wife in Greenwich Village. He is said to be a follower of Father Divine. She comes from a family of prominent brokers and attorneys, and is a graduate of Smith College.

The Faculty Club of the University of Southern California, will honor Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, educator and NYA executive, at a luncheon at Elizabeth Von Kleinsmid Hall on the university campus next Wednesday noon, the EAGLE learned late today.

For full particulars and reservations, call Miss Pauline Slater, PA. 1632; Mrs. Paul R. Williams, PA. 8333; Mrs. J. L. Hill, RO. 3431, or Stanford Williamson, TE. 0735, before noon, May 2.

"We must realize whether north, south, east, or west, we are all our brother's keeper," Mary McLeod Bethune told 2500 persons who packed the auditorium of the Second Baptist church, Sunday afternoon in a mass meeting sponsored by the Inter-Organizational Council.

Mrs. Bethune, who is on an official tour of inspection of NYA projects in which she heads the division of Negro affairs, electrified her audience for an hour in recounting her experiences in public life and before her rise to eminence.

The famed orator pointed out a need for better interracial understanding and said that much of the seeming discrimination was not because of prejudice, but "because we are forgotten". Here she humorously remarked that she was in Washington as a reminder . . . and followed her contention with the suggestion, "Ev-

YOUNG OFFICER
ALICE MARIE ROBINSON

Miss Robinson, of 1638 West 35th street, has proven herself valuable material for progressive organizations as her record at Polytechnic High school proves. Alice is a B-11 student, 17 years old, and possesses a charming personality and keen mind. She is presiding treasurer of the Girls League of Poly High, and holds the same office in the Federation of Girls Leagues of Southern California and southern Arizona. One hundred and seven schools are represented in this federation by delegations of two or three members. Alice is the only Negro ever to hold the office she fills, and is also the only Negro in the federation. Her accomplishments and personality won for her a place on the reception committee and an introduction at the federation luncheon.

Woman Solon Flays New Deal at Parley

Charging that "the American morale has broken down as a result of the New Deal", Miss Marion E. Martin, assistant Chairman of the Republican National Committee, was guest speaker for 1600 members of Southern California Republican women's organization in the Biltmore Bowl at a luncheon meeting Monday.

Three hundred of the woman came from various units of the Republican Study clubs, of which Mrs. Betty Hill is founder-executive secretary. Mrs. C. A. Bass was invited as a special guest.

Mrs. Martin is a state senator in Maine. She proposed that Republican women organize to "get rid of dead wood in the party; forget personalities and fight the opposition rather than each other. Mrs. Charles F. Van de Water, of Long Beach, national committeewoman, presided. Governon Merriam was present at the speaker's table, as were other Republican leaders, both men and women.

MASS MEET MONDAY AS TRIAL DATE NEARS

With George Farley scheduled to go on trial next Wednesday on two counts of murder, the Farley Defense Committee slated a final mass meeting for

Monday night at Independent church of Christ, 18th and Paloma streets, at which Attorney Hugh MacBeth will be the principal speaker. Defense headquarters are located at 4255 Central Avenue.

Deputy District Attorney, Ernest Roll, prosecutor in the famous Wright murder case will represent the people at the trial, it was revealed today, and with Attorneys Loren Miller, Grover Johnson, and Curtis C. Taylor, representing the defendant a bitter battle is expected on the double plea of "not guilty" and "not guilty by reason of insanity" entered for Farley.

That the killings grew out of Farley's inability to complete $29.66 in payments on a street assessment bond, the Defense Committee asserts and this week issued another urgent plea for funds and public support for the accused man.

"Superior court records show that Farley and his wife were losing their home because they were unemployed and unable to obtain relief to complete payments on an assessment for Long Beach avenue improvements. It is obvious that under the circumstances Farley was the victim of circumstances he could not understand and that what happened to him might have happened to any home owner.

Farley shot and killed two deputy marshalls last Feb. 17 when they went to his home at 1741 E. 23rd street to evict him for alleged non-payment of rent. No witness heard the remarks leading up to the shooting. Farley as-

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

Actors of New York point the way, in the desire to raise the standards of the theatre, intellectually, aesthetically and spiritually. Easter Sunday, last, they held memorial services, stating "We dedicate this, our first religious service, to the memory of those brave troupers of the past who established the NEGRO as an artist of outstanding ability. Their number is legion. From obscurity they came, unheralded, yet their trail is a blaze of glory that has touched every corner of this far flung world. Through music and through drama, they have gone on to be judged by the ETERNAL ONE. To honor these GREAT BLACK HEROES, we come." The Negro Actor of Los Angeles and Hollywood is demanding the RIGHT TO DO THINGS that will fit in this great program of PROGRESS. The Federal Theatres, the most valuable asset the actors ever owned in the field of the theatre, has been made conscious of the fact that the HONORABLE and SACRED TRADITIONS of the RACE, must be preserved; plays and direction must tend to build NEGRO CHARACTER, ambition, opportunity, and above all, the climax must be VICTORY. The old formula of having him descend or meet with failure of his purpose in the end, has served its usefulness. Many Negro minds have been prepared for the THEATRE; they and they alone, are the ONLY persons who can ADMINISTRATE these doctrines. The FEDERAL THEATRES at Los Angeles is being requested to encourage and give these artists this opportunity. NOT AS A JIM CROW UNIT, but a definite part of the Federal Projects, with all their past good fellowship, with the NEGRO in CHARGE OF NEGROES. A great forward step, and I believe every YOUNG and OLD TAX-payer, every voter in these UNITED STATES will support this program of ADVANCEMENT! Get behind this, with all your might! (NOTES): Hall Johnson rose again MILES AND MILES above all choral directors at his recent CONCERT. Entirely new and fresh, with MATURED arrangements, subtle in purpose and design. Spiritual and MUSICALLY POLITICAL was the "SCOTTSBORO SONG". Many thousands of singers will follow this brave departure in MODERN MUSIC. HAIL, JOHNSON! MITCHELL PRESSES 'JIM CROW' SUIT AGAINST RAILWAYS

Congressman's Action May Save Negroes Millions of Dollars

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28. (ANP)—The fight of Illinois Congressman Arthur W. Mitchell to combat the Jim Crow policy of railroads in the South of giving second class accomodations for first class fare, entered its second fight in the courts this week.

Early in May of 1937, while traveling in Arkansas (enroute Chicago to Hot Springs), Mr. Mitchell was chagrined, humiliated and insulted by the conductor who refused him a Pullman berth, cursed him and forced him to ride in the Jim Crow car attached to the train.

Briefs on behalf of Congressman Mitchell was filed on April 20 by his Attorney Richard E. Westbrooks of Chicago with the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D. C. Briefs were also filed by the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific Railway company, Illinois Central and Pullman company.

Attorney Westbrooks in his brief contends that colored people who buy first class railway tickets must, under the law, be given first class accomodations, and that a denial or refusal to furnish first class accomodations to colored people who have paid a first class fare violates the Interstate Commerce Act. Westbrooks also contends that all colored persons who have been paying the first class rates of fare, which is the 3 cents per mile fare, and who have been riding in the "Jim Crow Cars" are entitled to a refund of 1 cent per mile for every mile they have traveled in a "Jim Crow Car."

Negroes Charged More, Get Less

It is further pointed out that white passengers who ride in the 'Day Coaches" only pay 2 cents per mile, while colored passengers have been paying 3 cents per mile, which is the first class rate, but only second class accomodations have been furnished colored people.

The Railroad companies were compelled to admit that the 'Jim Crow Car", service furnished to colored passengers paying first class fare was not "First Class Accomodations", and the Rock Island was compelled during the hearing before Commissioner Disque to admit an unlawful charge of fare in the sum of $3.74 which had been paid by Congressman Mitchell and offered to return the overcharge.

Westbrooks' brief claimed that this overcharge violated the Interstate Commerce Act. He further contended that under the law it is the duty of every Railroad company engaged in Interstate Commerce to provide all persons who pay a first class fare with first class accomodations, whether they are white or colored, and that a failure to provide equal accomodations for all persons holding tickets of the same class violates the Interstate Commerce Commission a tariff schedule of fares and having charged Congressman Mitchell a first class fare while giving him second class accomodations the Interstate Commerce Act was again violated.

It was pointed out in the brief that even the Separate Car Law of the State of Arkansas provided for "equal accomodations for white and colored passengers."

Conductor Admits

It is further pointed out in the brief that under cross-examination of Albert W. Jones, a conductor on the Rock Island Road, for the past 32 years, Jones frankly admitted that the Rock Island Road was violating the the Interstate Commerce Act.

Many cases were cited by Attorney Westbrooks showing that colored persons throughout the United States have recovered damages for being compelled to ride in "Jim Crow Cars", after having paid for "First Class Accomodations."

40 Percent in Chi on Relief

CHICAGO, April 28—Pressure for a special relief session of the Illinois legislature is becoming more insistent.

Thus far, Gov. Henry Horner assertedly has "crawfished" on the exact date of a special session. Relief funds are 47 per cent off for the month of April, and there is a strong possibility that they may be exhausted altogether before May 1.

Although Negroes constitute only about eight per cent of Chicago's population, they number 40 per cent of the relief rolls.

Supervisors Act to Protect Gardens Property

Acting on the motion of Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough, the County Board of Supervisors this week instructed the Regional Planning Commission to make a complete study of the Florence, Miramonte, Firestone and Central Gardens districts with the view of establishing adequate zoning regulations to assure protection to property values.

"In many instances zoning regulations are not adequate," declared Supervisor McDonough, "and for this reason it is advisable that the proper study be made. Adequate zoning assures the upbuilding of a community on a well planned schedule, one that does not decrease property values but rather enhances them by a well balanced building and improvement program."

8,000 in N.Y. Meet Ask Mob Passage

NEW YORK, April 28.—The argument of the Senate filibusterers that only "small groups of Negroes in Harlem and Chicago" demand Federal anti-lynching legislation was refuted last week when 8,000 persons, most of them white, attended a demonstration in Union Square here to demand passage of the Wagner-Van Nuys Anti-Lynching bill in the present session of Congress. The demonstration was called by the New York Council of the American Negro Congress.

The demand for immediate passage of the bill was linked to demands to "Stop Lynching--End Anti-Semitism" and "Free the Five Scottsboro Boys", who are still held in Alabama prisons despite the release of four of the original nine defendants.

Speaker after speaker drew attention to the fact that the "fight for the Jews in Austria is directly linked up with the fight of Negroes in America.

HARLEM'S FAMOUS DUNBAR NATIONAL BANK TO CLOSE

Action Awaits Ratification By Stockholders on May 23

NEW YORK CITY, Apr. 28. (ANP) — Business and professional people of Harlem were surprised last Tuesday to learn that the Dunbar National bank, the nation's outstanding interracial banking institution, will close its doors if the stockholders ratify the announced decision of the board of directors to withdraw from business in Harlem.

The bank, organized in 1928, by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has assets of over four million dollars and deposits of about three millions. At last Monday's meeting of the board of directors, Mr. Rockefeller's desire to withdraw from business in the Harlem district was made known. Since he is the principal stockholder of the bank, the directors decided upon liquidation, their action being subject to ratification by the stockholders at their meeting to be held on May 23.

Most of the bank's mortgages have been made on Negro properties, hundreds of owners having been given financial aid, the courtesy of bank officials and employes to the colored patrons has become a tradition of the district.

At present, Dr. R. R. Moton, president-emeritus of Tuskegee Institute, is the sole colored member of the board of directors. Colored bank officials include Robert P. Braddicks, manager 150th street branch and assistant vice-president and G. Russell Waller, Jr., assistant cashier.

There are about 20 Negro employes, including the officers, tellers, stenographers, bookkeepers, janitors, etc. All will lose their jobs when the closing order becomes effective.

The bank has approximately 16,000 checking, thrift and Christmas Club accounts. The directors said that all depositors will be paid in full, and they may withdraw their funds at their convenience.

Explaining its action, the board of directors' statement said, in part, "At the time that Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., built the Paul Lawrence Dunbar Apartments, it was thought that there was need for greater banking facilities in Harlem. Therefore, because of Mr. Roskefeller's interest in the problems of the community, he organized the Dunbar National Bank, which took space in the Dunbar Apartments.

"In recent years, the city, with the aid of the Federal Government, developed a Low Cost Housing Project on land adjacent to the Dunbar Apartments. With the Government's entry into this field, Mr. Rockefeller felt it appropriate for him to retire from it. He consequently foreclosed his mortgage on the Dunbar Apartments, bought them in at the foreclosure sale, and not long after resold them to a purchaser who he felt would maintain them in the interest of the tenants.

"The decision to liquidate the Dunbar National bank was not unexpected in view of Mr. Rockefeller's withdrawal from ownership in the Dunbar Apartments and the fact that several of the larger New York City banks have branches in Harlem which provide adequate banking facilities for the residents there."

Eastern Announces 'Perfect Partner' for An FHA Loan

"Take as long as 5 years to pay for the complete furnishing of your home, if you're buying or building it with an FHA loan". This was the good news announced today to prospective and present home owners by M. H. Harris, manager of the Eastern at 4501 Central avenue.

"This 'perfect partner' for your FHA Loan is a sound, workable plan for completely furnishing that new home" said Mr. Harris. "Our new revolutionary system will enable many people to enjoy modern conveniences, and finely appointed homes, on terms to meet all requirements".

Spurgeon Jones

"Eastern is proud to be affiliated with this new plan which is ideally suited to smaller incomes", continued Harris. "If you are still 'talking it over' and haven't come to a decision, drop into our store and we will be very happy to explain the entire proposition to you. The complete transaction, from the application for an FHA Loan to the furnishing of the home, can be handled here at Eastern. Let us show you how simple it is to switch from being a 'home renter' to a 'home owner' without red tape or delay.

"Furthermore", stated Mr. Harris, "when you're ready to completely furnish your new home, your FHA loan automatically makes you eligible to purchase your appliances, furniture, and all 'the trimmings' on Eastern's exclusive five-year plan. It is important to remember that this plan is exclusive with Eastern and also, if you get your FHA loan from the bank, you are still eligible to buy from us on the five year plan."

Demand Hearing On Bills to Lessen Jim Crow in Services

Citizens are urged by the NAACP to write Congressman Fish, House Office Building, Washington, D. C., voicing a demand that the House Military Affairs Committee hold hearings on the bills and not leave them in pigeon holes.

Electric Chair Goes Haywire

CONDEMNED MAN CALLS IT "ACT OF GOD"

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., April 28. (ANP)—Early last Friday morning at state prison, John Vaughn, convicted slayer of a policeman, stood before the electric chair; declared his innocence before the 40 spectators and officials in the death chamber--when suddenly the electricity for the death chair failed. Warden Waid hurriedly called to Chaplain Garrett, standing at Vaughn's side: "Wait just a minute .The motor is down."

A quick inspection revealed a motor-generator unit had broken down. The warden phoned Gov. Allred who reprieved Vaughn and another condemned prisoner, Johnnie Banks—convicted of killing an 11-year-old girl, for a week. Smoking a cigar and unmindful of the commotion caused by the interrupted execution, Vaughn said to the witnesses.

"I have a speech I want to make you men. I am being executed to save another man from being executed. I said a prayer today and I asked God to stop this electrocution, and he has brought warning to man to realize it was against his will . . . I fell heir to another man's crime." When he had finished, the warden led him back to his cell in "death row."

Finds Youth Problems in All Nations Similar

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Apr. 21 (ANP) —Basil Matthews, world famous dancer, lecturer, editor and traveler, of London, Eng., was guest speaker at chapel services, Tuskegee Institute, on Sunday night. D. Matthews listed six major problems of today that he had found to be common to youth in all countries of the world.

These problems as Dr. Matthews found are (1) unemployment—thousands of youth come out of the schools everywhere to find that the world has no place for them. This is true of India as of Brazil and is true of Japan as of United States; (2) the ever widening action of the state in the regimentation of youth to the end that youth will recognize the state as being all powerful; (3) the changing of family status in the world order, particularly in the Orient where the will of the parents dominates in the selection of mates for young men and young wome.

The fourth problem is race relations. In Germany the Teut- the British against the M hamdens against the Jews, in India medans, and so on in countries throughout the world. The fifth, the ever increasing threat of war.

As the sixth problem of youth today, he stated that life was not all material there must be the recognition of the supremacy of incident, "I have never been so received, so embarrassed in over 30 years of speaking in all parts of the world."

Hubby Seeks 8 Arrests in Kidnaping of Wife, While Honeymooning

CHICAGO, April 28. (ANP)—A dream of happiness which they hoped to find in Hollywood's film kingdom was rudely shattered when the brother of Sylvia Lazarus, principal in the nation's second Alice Jones-Kip Rhinelander case, descended with police upon the Southside home where she and her husband, William Sau Hart Stewart, Harlem playboy, were honeymooning and spirited his sister away to a New York sanitarium for "mental treatment".

Stewart telling his story to the press today said that the romance began two years ago in Greenwich Village, Gotham's famous artists' settlement. Stewart, now 32, owned a Harlem ice skating rink and tennis court, a Greenwich village dog-store, and assorted enterprises. He is a tall, heavily built man with a moustache pointed in Kaiser Bill style and a small goatee.

Sylvia Lazaru was then an artist in the village. She is now 27, petite, lovely, and quite dark. Until her marriage, she lived with her family on Park Avenue, in the heart of New York's best neighborhood. The brother, Joseph who took her away from Stewart, is understood to be a famous Fordham university athlete and a member of an Olympic boxing team.

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT

"I was running my dog shop in Greenwich village about two years ago when we met," he said. "She said it was love at first sight, and I agreed. She never had any prejudice against me because of my race. I loved her and she loved me. We kept company steadily. I had gone with white girls before, and didn't see why anyone should object. In Greenwich village they don't notice those things anyway.

"We went about together, attending social functions in the Bohemian Greenwich section and in Harlem, and we decided finally to get married. I never knew whether she had any money, particularly. I understood her father was pretty wealthy and I knew his reputation as a great lawyer. But I had money of my own, and I never inquired about hers."

He said she called him by phone nearly every day, and Sundays they took long drives on Long Island. "She was unhappy at home and drank a lot before they met, but she quit afterward." Stewart said he called for her once at her Park Avenue home, but waited downstairs and didn't meet the family.

SOLD DOG SHOP

"After deciding to get married, we thought it best to wait until I straightened up my business affairs so we could go west and start a new life. In March I sold may dog shop in the village, and I kept only one dog, a Spitz named Beauty, who is an accomplished tap dancer."

In Hollywood, he said, Sylvia was going to open up a studio and paint, while he would try to crash the movies with his dog. Stewart asserted he planned to see Bill Robinson, the tap dancer, and try to get Beauty into a Shirley Temple picture. So on April 10 at St. Mark's they got married. No member of the bride's family was present.

"TALKED WITH FATHER"

"Sylvia wanted it that way, secret," he said. "I had talked to her father over the 'phone several times, and told him I intended to marry his daughter. He made no objection at the time; I got the impression they weren't prejudiced against me."

The license was issued to "William Sau Hart Stewart," who gave his race as "Indian," and to "Colette LaZare," who said her father was a native of France. Both said they were artists, according to New York license bureau records. Two days after the marriage, they came to Chicago and stopped at the home of Stewart's aunt, Mrs. Alice Vena, where the bride was introduced as "colored." But she did not take them in, and instead sent them to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Ross, a few doors away.

OTHER WHITE WOMEN

Mr. Stewart, it is alleged, once before introduced to his aunt a girl he described as "colored" but who later was found to be white, and is understood to have been married at one time in St. Louis to a white girl named Irene. At the Ross apartment all went well until Sylvia became ill. Monday night she called her family in New York, told them where she was, but insisted she was alright.

Immediately brother Joseph chartered an airplane and flew here with New York detectives. Together with local police, they hurried to the Ross apartment. When he opened the door, Stewart said, they came in with drawn guns.

"Where's my sister?" the husband said the brother demanded.

"What do you want?" Stewart asked.

"These are detectives," Joseph answered, pointing to the men. "Where is she?"

Stewart pointed to an adjoining room. The brother and the police burst through the door.

PROMISES ETERNAL LOVE

"I ought to kill you both," Stewart said the brother shouted. Then he slammed the door refusing to let the husband enter. Later the brother emerged, went out and brought back the doctor. There was an argument over whether the girl should leave. Finally an ambulance was summoned. As his wife was being carried out, she allegedly held Stewart's hand, and told him.

"I don't want to leave you." She said she would love him always.

Bride Seemed Intelligent -- Rev. King

NEW YORK, April 28— The Rev. Lorenzo H. King, pastor of St. Mark's church where the ceremony uniting Park Avenue heiress, Sylvia Lazarus and Harlem playboy, William Stewart took place April 10, said that at that times he seemed intelligent and definitely knew what she was doing.

"She talked to me intelligently about the situation," the noted pastor said. "She told me she was devoted to Mr. Stewart. 'I am very much in love with him, and I am sure my marriage will be a success,' she said to me".

But the wealthy family held otherwise.

"NOT IN RIGHT MIND"

"My family is all to pieces, not because the man is a Negro, but because my sister is not in her right mind," said Herbert Lazarus, a brother, Wednesday. "After all, you couldn't call a romance between a girl who has been a psychopathic case since 1929 and a fellow she knows almost nothing about, a sane thing, could you?"

ONCE BRILLIANT

He said his sister was on her way to take a nerve treatment from a neighboring doctor when she disappeared seven weeks before, and they did not know what had happened to her until she called from Chicago on Monday night.

Joseph, who brought her back from Chicago, said she was once a brilliant girl, writing poetry and painting. Then they received a sudden call from Smith college, where she was studying to come and get her. Since then, she has been treated by specialists, was in a sanitarium at Westport, Conn., for eight months in another for four months, but all the time became progressively worse. A nurse attended her most of the time.

"We felt there was one chance in a million she might be redeemed. Now we know she cannot be. We shall have to commit her to an institution permanently," he said.

Woman, Two Men Slain by 'Madman'

CLEVELAND, April 22—Two men and a woman were slain today by a 43-year-old Negro, who police said, apparently went suddenly insane.

Police listed the victims as Hans Getslaff, Mitchell Paser, and Lily Traylor, a Negro maid.

All of the victims were killed by shots from a revolver.

The two men were killed in a fashionable apartment within 15 minutes after the woman was thrown from the slayer's car near the apartment building.

Police captured the slayer after an 80-mile-an-hour automobile chase which ended in a gasoline filling station lot.

Police said Peters' wife, Annabelle, had been an elevator operator at the apartment for 14 years but was discharged last week and they believed the shooting was due to Peters' resentment of the discharge.

Getslaff was the building custodian and Paser the engineer.

8 Die When Trapped in Flood

AUSTIN, Tex., April 28. (ANP)—Lee Lemuel, a 60-year-old Negro farmer and his family were trapped on a nearly broken down bridge when they attempted to cross last night in his car over the flooded Piney Creek, near Smithville, Texas. Victims were Lee Lemuel, his wife, three daughters, Vivian, Kimmie and Zolma, and a son, Jess, and two grandchildren.

The bridge was weakened by flood waters, which have menaced crops in this area. Seven of the occupants were found trapped in the automobile, and the body of the eighth was discovered a few thundred yards, floating downstream. The bodies were taken to a Smithville funeral home.

CLEVELAND, April 28—Miss Florence Nelson, Negro WPA teacher, has been absolved of charges that she violated her oath as a juror by refusing to convict Willie Caldwell, Negro, accused of murder.

Miss Nelson defied eleven white jurors in holding out against the conviction. She was charged with racial prejudice in favor of Caldwell, and of declaring that Prosecutor, Norman S. Minor, also a Negro, betrayed the race by asking for the death penalty.

Prosecutor Minor found the charges untrue upon investigation.

ANNE BROWN, 'PORGY AND BESS' STAR, WINS DIVORCE

BALTIMORE, Md., April 28. (ANP)—Anne Brown, who won acclaim as "Bess," leading feminine role in the late George Gershwins folk-opera "Porgy and Bess, last week won an uncontested divorce suit in Circuit Court from her husband, Dr. F. H. Howard, and the right to resume her maiden name, Anne Wiggins Brown.

Refusal of her husband to resume marital relations after her return from a singing engagement abroad in 1934 was given by Miss Brown as the reason for the rift in their happiness. She told the court that her repeated efforts at reconciliation were in vain.

Miss Brown married Dr. Howard secretly in Portchester, N. Y., in 1932 while still a student at Julliard School of Music. She graduated that year. While at Juilliard she also won the Margaret McGill scholarship, a three-year alumni award. The marriage was not publicly known until nearly two years later. Dr. Howard is the son of Rev. Florada Howard, vicar of St. Jude Chapel, New York City. He is a graduate of New York University and was pursuing a medical course at Fowler hospital when his marriage became known.

Insurance Salesman Dies at Post as He Argues Uncertainty of Life

CLEVELAND, O., April 28. (ANP)—Death claimed George Sanders, special agent for the Supreme Liberty Life Insurance company of Chicago, shortly after noon Wednesday while he was in the midst of expounding the necessity for insurance and the uncertainty of life to a prospect, Mrs. Babe Cyrus, 2240 East 46th street.

According to J. F. Morning, district manager of the company, Mr. Sanders had been working as a special agent out of the Clevelad office for only a few days, having been sent here by the home office from Decatur, Ill.

Employes of the local branch observed that Mr. Sanders appeared to have been in excellent health. The coroner's report indicated that death was the result of natural causes, hastened by a heart attack.

Haile Selassie to Again Plague League of Nations

LONDON, April 28. (ANP)—Great Britain and France, on the verge of officially recognizing Italy's conquest of Ethiopia, will be greatly embarrassed on May 9 at the meeting of the league of nations council if Haile Selassie, who is still recognized as emperor in London, Paris and Washington, carry out his announced intention of attending sessios.

Under the terms of the league covenant, the Ethiopian representative may sit as a member of the council while the council is considering any matter directly concerning Ethiopia, and presumably as a temporary member of the council he will have the right to veto any decision by voting against it. Thus he is in a position to throw a wrench into British and French plans to have the league recognize Mussolini's conquest.

Experts of the two European countries are still trying to decide how to get around this ticklish situation without appearing too crass. One suggestion is that a vote should be avoided and each individual member of the council should simple signify his intention to recognize the Italian empire.

Another suggestion is that a simple majority of the council might pass a resolution recommending that all league members assume freedom of action in regard to the recognition question.

Some experts have suggested that Selassie be given a nice life pension, either from the league, Britian or Italy, with the understanding that he refrain from embarrassing the leagu further.

CHICAGO—Shortly after midnight last Monday as guards at the county jail planned to lead J. C. He had played rummy, joked with guards as they shaved his head, slit the legs of his trousers for the electrodes, put the black death mask over his head. But as they approached the chair, Scott suddenly went berserk, threw the force of his six feet two inches, 200 pounds of bulk against the guards, tore the mask from his face, startled the 100 spectators, was finally subdued by the four attendants and thrown into the chair. Breathing heavily, he said "Please, I want to see it all!" They granted his wish, left off his mask. Three minutes later he was dead, the 36th man to die in Cook county's electric chair.

Science Subject

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text is from Ezekiel: "Have I any pleasure at all that the wicked should die? saith the Lord God: and not that he should return from his ways, and live?"

One of the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon includes the verses from Job: "I would seek unto God, and unto God would I commit my cause: . . . He disappointeth the devices of the crafty, so that their hands cannot perform their enterprise. He taketh the wise in their own craftiness: and the counsel of the forward is carried headlong."

The Lesson-Sermon presents also this passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mere legal pardon (and there is no other, for divine Principle never pardons our sins 'or mistakes till they are corrected) leaves the offender free to repeat the offence, if indeed, he has not already suffered sufficiently from vice to make him turn from it with loathing. Truth bestows no pardon upon error, but wipes it out in the most effectual manner."

In Memoriam

Climaxing an illness of a few days, Mrs. Mary Barret, Sunday School teacher, BYPU and Missionary worker in the St. Paul Baptist church for more than eight years quietly slipped away two years ago today, this twenty-fourth of April.

Her prominence as a teacher of religious science and worker among young people perhaps was her otstanding attribute, so generous her appreciation and devotion to youth. Untiring energy, sincerity in daily toil, human understanding, graciousness unexcelled and modesty in success were hers.

The sharp sorrow felt by her relatives and many friends can be solaced only by the beautiful life pattern she enriched for us. For the many fine qualities of character which she possessed will long be reflected in the lives of those with whom she came in contact.

"You are not dead—Life has but set you free
Your years of life were like a lovely song,
The last sweet poignant notes of which, held long
Passed into silence while we listened, we,
Who loved you, listened still expectantly!
And we about you whom you moved among
Would feel that grief for you were surely wrong.
You have but passed beyond where we can see.

'The Visitor's' Broadcasts Meet With Public Approval

Communications and telephone calls were received at the Angelus Funeral Home this week following the special anniversary broadcast program last Sunday morning from People's Independent Church of Christ, with the Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister, featured as "The Visitor".

This service, designed especially for the sick and shut-ins, began its second year Easter Sunday morning, and according to reports from the station, KFOX has become one of its most popular Sunday programs.

When the suggestion of the broadcast was made to Rev. Russell by War Perkins, who has specialized for a number of years in presenting high-class radio programs of the race, over a year ago, it appealed to the youthful minister's desire to broaden the scope of the work of the church in the community.

Accordingly, the idea was brought to the attention of J. L. Hill, manager of the Angelus. Mr. Hill said this week that the spirit of rendering an unusual service to the community in this way appealed strongly to him because the basic policy of the Angelus Funeral Home is doing as many deeds of kindness and helpfulness for the people whom it serves as possible.

Success of this new branch of community service was assured the Angelus almost from the very first broadcast as congratulations and expressions of gratitude for spiritual benefit began to pour in from all over the state.

When a check was made on Negro radio programs towards the end of the year, it was found that Angelus Funeral Home is the only all-Negro business that has sponsored a broadcast continuously for a year in the history of radio.

This institution, records show, has been financed entirely by Negro capital ever since its beginning in 1925. In addition, the complete operation and management has been by members of the race, headed by Mr. Hill, who previously had been a waiter, club steward and Pullman porter. When the Angelus threw open the doors of its beautiful new home to the public in November of 1934, nine years after it started, the entire plant and equipment was fully paid for, investigation has shown.

"I was taught," said Manager Hill, "to believe and practice that saying in the Bible that he who would be greatest must be a servant. That is the slogan of the Angelus, and that is why we are so pleased to go into the second year of presenting Rev. Russell as "The Visitor" every Sunday morning for the sick and shut-ins —it gives such a splendid opportunity to serve our friends."

POLITICAL POT PIE . . .

By IRA

There's nothing exciting politically and we're stumped for copy. Democrats are squabbling among themselves as they gird for battle next August. Senator McAdoo is in town, and believe us, he's as busy as a cat covering beans on a marble floor. Col. Neblitt and Pierson M. Hall, candidate or Mc's job, are a source of much worry to the Senator.

x x x

Hartley Jones, kingpin of Elkdom and popular business expert, has flung his old flop-down hat into the ring with declaration that he's after the GOP nomination for Assemblyman, 62nd District. Hartley is popular with all groups and would prove a stubborn foe for incumbent Hawkins.

x x x

If all reports are true, the Jones boys are being dealt some misery in their advent into the publishing and political fields. James (Advancement League) Jones languishes in jail after conviction on three charges of petty theft. James (Felix Argo) Jones, who is said to have been selected by Crusader Clinton to shoot the lid off Central Avenue vice via a scandal sheet, finds a cactus garden in his path, according to current gossip along the Avenue. Notes for cash borrowed and endorsed by trusting business folk who had faith in the honesty and integrity of the suave youngster, are raking Los Angeles with a fine-tooth comb in an effort to bring him forth and thus stave off having to pay a sizeable amount for their folly. Added further to the woes of the smooth Atlanta fashion plate is a dame fired with all the vengeance of hell, because she fell for his line of horsefeathers and not only let go her heart, but also a heavy stick full of dough — the hoardings of many years. Be on the lookout. If a trim youngster passes your car afoot, when you are doing 45, don't get scared, it's Jones fleeing the wrath of a woman, broke and scorned.

Club Urged to Show Interest in Public Schools

The Prairie View club was urged by Mrs. Bessie Burke, principal of Holmes Avenue school, to show more interest in the public school system in her talk to that organization last Friday evening, April 22, in the Camille Party Den. The occasion marked the monthly social meeting of the club which is headed by C. S. Smith.

Aside from the constructive program, cards, music, dancing were enjoyed by the members and their friends; among them were several new members. The committee in charge of the meeting included Mmes. Clark, Criner, Cotten and Mr. Carr.

The next social meeting will be in the form of "A Trip to the Orient" on the "China Clipper" and will be held May 27.

Southeastern AKA Sorority Conference Held

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Apr. 28. (ANP)—Sixty-five representatives from chapters in Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama attended the Southeastern Regional Conference of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority held here last week. An interesting purposeful meeting was held, one of the highlights of which was the guest address by Miss Maude E. Brown of Louisville at the public meeting held Friday night.

Miss Brown flung the gauntlet down to college and sorority women, pointing out the sorts of program which they should interest themselves in. "As Alpha Kappa Alpha Women throughout the country," she said, "We must concern ourselves with the following urging racial needs:

"1) Guidance in education. Many occupations are open, but our boys and girls are unprepared. 2) Juvenile delinquency. Crime rate among our group is too high; a special drive must be made on crime to crush it. 3) Better housing condition. The government housing projects are not clearing the slums; the lower-bracket families cannot afford to pay the rents. Negroes must pool their resources to create employment to make earning opportunities for the lower-bracket breadwinners.

"4) Improved health conditions. We must be more aggresive in the war against syphilis and tuberculosis which is the white man's disease. 5) The credit system and installment paying are pauperizing the race. We must teach our people to live within their means. 6) Negro youth must be taught to be thrift-minded; to buy and organize so that the race will control some service, trade or business."

ANNOUNCE CANINE QUARANTINE IN CITY

Dog bites man — and that's good news to the campaigners against the pups wth a city-wide quarantine ordered late yesterday and all streets plastered with placards announcing strict care of loose canines.

William Nesbitt, 1206 E. 25th street, reported to Newton street police that he had been severely bitten by a mongrel dog while he was walking home late last night.

He was given emergency treatment against rabies and the pup ordered examined.

16 KILLED, 54 HURT AS CAFE ROOF COLLAPSES

PHENIX CITY, Ala., April 28. (ANP)—Sixteen men were killed and 54 others injured Thursday as a roof collapsed, bringing a two story wall of the building down with it. The dead and injured were removed from the wreckage by firemen, police, highway patrolmen and soldiers from Fort Benning, Ga., across the river. Rescue work was retarded to some extent for fear other walls of the building would fall.

Restaurant Jim Crow Try is Nipped

When Milton Smith, of 193 So. Vernon Avenue, Pasadena, Calif., went into the restaurant of Mrs. Geraldine Heard, on Myrtle St. in Monrovia, he ignored a sign on the window which read: "We do not cater to colored trade". Mr. Smith was refused service on this ground, by the proprietor, and he afterwards brought suit for damages through the offices of Attorneys Willis O. Tyler and Edwin L. Jefferson.

After a stormy session in court, Judge Joseph L. Call concluded that Smith had been discriminated against, and assessed $100.00 damages and cost against the restaurant keepers.

The restaurant owners sought to escape judgment by testifying that it was 10:30 a. m. when Smith came into the restaurant, and that at that time of day breakfast was over and lunch was not ready, and for that reason he was not refused but was told to come back later in the day.

Smith called a Monrovia policeman into the restaurant and wanted him to witness the fact of his refusal, but was told by the policeman that he ought to run him in for wanting service in a "white" restaurant.

Deaths Among Negroes in State Exceed Births

California may be the fountain of youth, but it is shunned by the stork. Birth and death figures, released from Washington today by Director of the Census W. L. Martin, show that almost three hundred Negro deaths, in excess of births, are recorded annually in the state of California.

Actually, for four years, since 1933 to 1936, inclusive, there have been 5,938 deaths within the race, as opposed to 4,946 births.

California's annual birth figures have never reached the 1500 mark, the Census report, which deals only with Negro figures, illustrated. Nevertheless, each year, excepting 1934, there has been a gradual increase. In 1934 there were only 1,178 births recorded and there were 293 more deaths, the largest surplus figure of the four years.

The 1500 mark, however, has been passed twice by death figures, 1,595 in 1936, an increase of 93 over the preceding year.

California is at the bottom of the list of population increases. Total figures for all of the states give births 283,155 in excess of deaths, with the South, excepting a few states, leading.

1936 FIGURES

There were 251,098 Negro births reported in the United States in 1936 as compared with 192,748 deaths of an excess of 58,350 births over deaths. In 1935 the number of births exceeded the number of deaths by 77,601. This decrease in birth excess was mainly the result of an increase of 15,225 deaths. At the same time there was a decrease of 4,026 in the number of births.

In 18 deep south states in 1936 the excess of births was 61,455. This excepted Kentucky, Oklahoma and Tennessee, in which death superceded new life.

Outside the Deep South there were 3,105 more deaths during 1936 than births with the exception of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Michigan.

Final Rites for Helen Lloyd Smith Held

On April 11th final services for Mrs. Helen Lloyd Smith were solemnized at Zion Hill Baptist church of which she was a member and founder. A daughter of the late Dwight Lyman Lloyd of Lanesboro, Mass., who passed in this city about 25 years ago and Annie Roberts Lloyd of Moberly, Mo. she came to California about thirty-five years ago and a few years later married William A. Smith.

Mrs. Smith among the early Westside Baptist saw the need of a church of that denomination in the community and was one of the founders and ardent workers of Trinity church until she recently moved to the Zion Hill community and reinstated her membership there.

Beautiful services were conducted by the officers and choir, Rev. Grant Harris, the pastor, preached a very fitting and consoling sermon.

Rev. J. L. Caston on behalf of Trinity Baptist church, Minister's Alliance of County and Westside Benevolent society paid special tribute to the deceased as a mother. H. Mansfield Collins, a childhood friend, unable to be present sent a very consoling telegram.

Mrs. Smith, following in the foot steps of her mother who was one of the founders and second president of the Westside Benevolent Societyfi was at one time president of the organization. The usual impressive tribute of that body on such occasions added a gratifying note to the services.

She leaves her husband, Wm. A. Smith, eight children, six grand children her mother, two brothers, Ercel H. Lloyd of San Francisco, Harold Lloyd, two sisters, Mrs. B. Lloyd Hosmon and Mrs. Pauline Stokely as well as a host of friends to mourn her loss.

Chatter and . . . Some News

Maids day off! . . . Sun with a shivery breeze and cloud stuff to put more snap into Spring . . . to quicken pulses and tune the young to more serious thinking. Out at LAJC, Thursday morning, the James Weldon Johnson Club considered sending delegates to the 'Frisco Model Youth Legislature under prexy Vincent Williams . . . with vivacious Velma Marsh egging him on . . . and Howard Griffin lauding the coming peace mass meeting on the campus (over by now). Velma informed me Sunday that four delegates have been selected and they're all set to go; in fact, they're definitely ready with only one tiny item needed — MONEY!

The season has been unkind to basketeer "Drippy" Williams . . . reports have it that his heart-throb, Lillian Johnson, Tennessee State co-ed, is now wearing two rings . . . neither from "Drippy". Seems as though one of those "Athens of the South" instructors has taken Lillian for life . . . best wishes to Lillian . . . to "Drippy", who's standing right well on his two feet: Better luck next time. Guess some of these betrothed folks will be doing the "I Do" soon . . . A hunch (strictly so) has it that eyes are sorta riveting on the Thurston Lomax-Charlie Mae Crawford romance and no less on A. B. Williams and Vivienne Brown . . . Don't keep us in suspense . . . there'll be other Springs, but who wants to wait?

JUST ONE WOMAN:

Known from coast to coast . . . and in the isles of the sea; granted audiences before kings and potentates of every land, Mary McLeod Bethune beamed into L. A. Friday evening. Among those down to meet the train were Clarence Muse, Paul R. Williams, Mrs. Jessie Terry, Floyd Covington, who's handling the lady's itinerary, and a dozen other civic and professional leaders . . . Across town to the B. T. Mitchells' home where Mrs. Bethune is stopping . . . to interview her and technician, Charles T. Browne, assistant NYA director of Illinois. Watching the light flash through those fine black eyes and hearing the soft cultured voice rise with enthusiasm while she talked of her work, of the beauty of California . . . of the wealth of opportunity for growth and creation. Mrs. John R. Hope, widow of the late president of Atlanta University, is traveling with Mrs. Bethune.

Sunday afternoon saw more than two thousand packing the auditorium of the Second Baptist church and crowding in the vestibule to hear her . . . even through the rain they came . . . Two thousand stood as one when the renowned lady was introduced and sat an hour in rapt attention. Two thousand stood again at her final "God bless you" and filed out silently in tribute to the magnificence that is Mary McLeod Bethune.

Among surprises at the meet was the beautifully intoned word portrait of Mrs. Bethune by Mrs. Lillian Dinkins . . . and renditions by Gilbert Allen's a cappello choir of young men and women who have had only one month and a half of training and who make their radio debut Sunday.

Back to Friday: Enjoyed "sweating" a ride from the Mitchell home with Ethel Bell (Asbury) who was very chic in navy with a popular three-quarter length cape . . . and meeting Iva Washington, wearing a beige cape, deep-crowned green hat and green gloves . . . To the Book Club where the reviewers did some nice work . . . Saturday afternoon: Off to the USC-UCLA track meet with Jack McGraw and Almena Davis . . . the gent is from Chi and really is doing our sprawling town . . . maybe he'll stay. Saw Strode take two events . . . and other sepia stars keep the Westwood institution's banner out of the dust.

WE HAVE WITH US:

Miss Rosa Joyce Jupiter, daughter of Mrs. Lula Jupiter and relative of Dr. R. J. Vinning of New Orleans . . . Miss Jupiter has matriculated at Chapman College where she is majoring in physical education . . . and a member of the junior class . . . Mr. and Mrs. James Cobb of Detroit, Michigan, visiting L. A. for the first time as guests of Mrs. Priscilla C. Yancey and daughter, Edith, in East Twenty-first street.

The Cobbs were complimented with a surprise cocktail party Thursday afternoon from four to six by Mrs. Gertrude Williams in Wadsworth street . . . Following the cocktail hour, dinner and an informal party by Mrs. Yancey honored the visitors who returned to Detroit Tuesday.

Mrs. Margaret B. Prowl of Salt Lake City and her hostess, Mrs. Josephine Eastlin of East 25th St., were feted at dinner last Thursday by Mrs. Mary L. Kilt . . . Covers were laid for L. Hubbard, Mrs. Minnie Foster and Mrs. Savannah Williams, along with the honorees and hostess.

The Business and Professional Girls League turned out some delightful and delectable waffles at their annual breakfast Sunday . . . Understand that Millie Hampton had a spoon in it . . . After waiting an hour, I really appreciated mine . . . thanks to Mattie Laws, who worked ever so hard to satisfy all comers, and Mrs. Irene Freeman, the diners were kept in good spirits. Among breakfasters were A. B. Williams, Clarence Davis, Gladys Harris in a becoming golden beige suit, Thelma Scott of the Kohinoors in a print dress with zinnerian rust straw hat with flattering streamer veils on either side . . . and the Dulaney miss of the Adloyho Nurses (I think it's Edith) in print and a black off-face straw, patent bag and pumps .

By EDYTHE MEAUX

Comes the tale of five more girls who were unable to resume a sitting position comfortably over the week-end and who are uttering sighs of relief--but this time no horses were involved--It's just the story of five victims who went through the rigors of Hell week and became full fledged Alpha Kappa Alpha sorors last Saturday night.

Early for once to get in on all the details we grabbed paddle and other paraphernalia, rounded up Georgia Williams and Hortense Graham and dashed madly down to get in on the three ring circus.

Already there Manila Smith, dean of pledges, was giving a bit of sisterly advice to victims Lavalia Colter . . . Julia Taylor, who looked most quaint with five long pigtails tied in pink ribbon and Helen Owens.

Lois Rabb, who got her sorority induction at Wilberforce and knows initiation technique was seen throwing a scare into Pledge Earlene Chase who arrived late . . . while Ursula Adams and Bernice Barnum looked most amusedly on as Elizabeth Mills, another victim, was called to task by Sue Bowdoin to account for the five "frat" men who begged that she be let off easy.

Spied behind a huge apron in the kitchen helping out on the refreshment line was Jo Blodgett who was being bribed by Edith and Gwen Jones and Ann Franklin . . . Borrowing a roll from Adelaide Gladden's plate while she was inspecting one of the paddles we caught Inez Hamilton.

So interested was Ollie Hamilton in reminiscences of her own initiation until she didn't even miss the olives which Helen Hudson acquired with a sleight of hand trick.

Congratulating the neophytes were Caramelita White, Violet Aldridge, and Eleanor Coleman who being charter members of the chapter were doing a bit of jes' plain recollectin'

Getting a chance to bask in her radiant personality Mrs. Bethune's Delta sorors gathered for breakfast up at the Clark hotel to honor their distinguished member.

Sitting on the sidelines we saw Alma Covington . . . Consuela Bright and Marion McCard as they drove by on their way . . . Ida Bowman, who stopped to bid us a cheery good morning despite the awful earliness of the hour . . . Miriam Matthews who's been quite busy since Mrs. Bethune's arrival in town what with being on the reception committee and everything . . . Ida Mae Lovelady who was on the other side of the street stopped long enough to wave a greeting in our direction.

Unaccustomed as we are to keeping these early hours on Sunday we tried to get in a few winks as we watched for the rest of the arrvials . . . don't know how many winks we got in but awoke just in time to see Pearl Bratton Smith . . . Marie Brawley . . . Helen Wright . . . Edna Wright and Emily Thompson as they hurried by.

Thinking they recognized us as they passed we glimpsed Walthea Simms . . . Portia Griffith . . . Honore Carey . . . Anna Mae Morrow . . . and Esther Griffith.

Stoping to chat a bit with us was Anna Rosa Broyles, Grace Fisher and Eula Dean Ford who had to rush to make up for the time they had lost.

Toy Drive Enters Final Weeks

The campaign to collect toys for the Toy Loan Library, to be located at the Avalon Christian Church, 43rd Street and Avalon Blvd., is entering into its last weeks. Two hundred and fifty toys are still to be collected for the opening quota.

Anyone having practical, durable toys such as bicycles, tools, roller skates, furniture sets, dolls, baseball and football equipment, wagons, toy automobiles, kiddie cars, or metal games, which are cubering up the closets and yard, but are in need of repair will take this opportunity to 'rid-up' the place and also do a good deed for some unfortunate child, who otherwise would not have these toys for play-time.

The committee feels that the reading public of the "Eagle" will rally to the cause, and cooperate with them to establish this long needed leisure-time activity in this community. Call AD. 11605 or CE. 21479 for the pick-up car to call, also visit the location which the Toy Loan Library will be, and learn more of its functions first hand.

Thanks E. F. Broks, Chairman of Community Service Com.

By LUCILLE DYE

Hear Ye! See! Listen! I'm sitting here with the telephone off the hook trying to figure out why?? I've never in all my days received so many telephone calls, "sob" ones at that, so I guess that little noticed I put at the top of the column didn't do much good to many, while others took it very nicely, knowing that it was all in fun. But I did make a very bad mistake in misrepresenting Thelma Lee Wallace, last week in my column, and I want you to accept my sincerest apologies, Thelma as well as your parents, because she wasn't at the Majestic Corsairs dance. When I heard this I thought it was true, but later found out it was a mistake. So I really want you to accept my apologies . . . My deepest sympathy to Ella Mae Graves and her mother upon the passing of their husband and father . . . Congratulations to Reggie and Mary Arnaud upon the arrival of a 7lb. 5oz. baby girl. Mother and baby are doing well . . . . Just heard Janet Pearson is engaged to Tanoo.

Can you tell me what s'matter with Mr. E. Phelps why one apology isn't enough, that he should have special attention from yours truly, such importance, such importance, which is rather dumb . . . Florence Gagnet and Eugene Smith are definitely on the out and outs . . . Why does Melvin Nickerson grin get broader every time Patsy Brewer hits town. . . Veda Darby and Fred Robinson seem to be doing alright, wonder if this is news to Hattie Hopgood . . . We wonder if Lanky Price has made June Baker forget, Kirk, Hunt, Burris, Jeffries, etc. . . . Lawrence Farrel and Earline Edwards are seen quite a bit together my, my . . . Margie Osborne, Mouse Collins, Murlah Johnson and Tommy Long may be seen at most all the affairs together. . . What's this about the LA Hi Y beating the Rugcutters with a score of 25-24 and the rugcutters couldn't take it so they thought they'd riot, calm yourself boys.

The Girl Reserves of all over had a skating party at the Shrine last Saturday which proved very successful to all that attended . . . Melvin and Frances Carrol are doing very nicely and always was, it was just a little misunderstanding that made them take up with the first who came along to cool off their anger but now I wish to tell you they are just as true to each other as ever was . . . Just heard that Emily Mitchell and Joe Sheridan are married, in case its not true remember I just heard . . . Bill Gilbert is alright and is still continuing to be stealing all the girls' hearts . . . Well, folks the phone is buzzing again. I guess I'll answer it and see what "sad reab" is calling me to say, "what's your point, or I prefer you wouldn't" . . . Well so long dear, friends (I hope) until next week if you still wish to hear news which is always news to those who haven't heard it.

An Open Letter

To the Readers of the California Eagle

A CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

CITIZENS OF LOS ANGELES, arise and respond to this signal call to duty—

The California Eagle has just celebrated its 25th ANNIVERSARY SILVER JUBILEE under its present management with Mrs. C. A. Bass at the helm.

Arise, men and women, who dare to recognize 25 years of honest-to-goodness gratuitous service given to the Negro population of Los Angeles by this faithful race woman.

Hear ye, hear ye, ministers of the gospel, organization leaders, public officials, leading citizens, and ordinary citizens, like myself. If we really believe in living up to the Golden Rule, we must respond to this golden opportunity that is now before us.

For the past 25 years, we have stood by silently observing the dozens of instances where this good woman has fought the battles of the Negro race, both locally and nationally. Her's has been a hard fight, often criticized and very seldom has she received a word of praise from those whom she has helped. Her opponents have been many and she has grappled with strong and powerful interests and more than once her very life has been threatened. Had Mrs. Bass' ambition been for personal or financial gain, she positively would be a very wealthy woman today, but instead she chose the path of faithful service and honesty and hence her destiny today is that of a poor but honorable woman. The doors of the CALIFORNIA EAGLE would have long ago been closed had it not been for the courageous personal sacrifices of Mrs. Bass. True enough, the CALIFORNIA EAGLE and Mrs. Bass have sometimes made mistakes which no doubt have caused her to be criticized, but all of us know that we cannot please all of the people all of the time.

Now let us take a look at the record of her activities in the interest of her people and then admit this crying need for recognition and reward for unprecedented service:

1890—J. J. Neimore, founder of the CALIFORNIA EAGLE and its first editor, fought for and gained the passage of the Dribblier Bill, first legislation to render illegal exclusion of Negroes from places of amusement, hotels, restaurants, etc., in California.

1918—EAGLE begins fight to put Negro nurses in the General Hospital.

1932—Florence A. McGlumpy, white, caused the arrest of the present editor, Mrs. C. A. Bass, because the editor protested discrimination in food dispensation at a relief station.

1932—EAGLE fights with Newton street police on racketeers.

1932—EAGLE fights racial discrimination in Mexico.

1932—EAGLE demands employment of Negroes at Boulder Dam, fight results in eight being hired.

1932—EAGLE publishes first Blue Book, showing 22,526 Negro families in California and 8,283 home owners.

1933—EAGLE fight wins Negro nurses in General hospital.

1933—EAGLE fights for Pat Noble reprieve.

1936—EAGLE launches campaign to put Negroes in executive positions in Newton Street Police Station and among firemen.

1936—EAGLE fight for Negro teachers in high schools culminates in appointment of two teachers to Jefferson High faculty and one to Lafayette.

This outstanding record of accomplishments for the Negro citizens of Los Angeles demands our immediate public recognition. Let us give this matter our earnest consideration and roll up our sleeves and work collectively towards tendering her the same.

WHAT DO YOU SUGGEST WE DO ABOUT IT? . . . HERE IS MY SUGGESTION: Inasmuch as a large circulation is the life's blood of any newspaper and inasmuch as only a small percentage of our population are subscribers to the CALIFORNIA EAGLE, what greater tribute could the citizens of Los Angeles pay to this wonderful woman than by securing and placing in her lap 500 new subscriptions to the CALIFORNIA EAGLE during this, her 25th Anniversary Silver Jubilee!

CITIZENS, SHALL WE ACCEPT THIS CHALLENGE!

If so, come forward with your ideas and suggestions in the next issue of the CALIFORNIA EAGLE.

Respectfully,
GEORGE W. CALDWELL JR.
2090 West 31st Street,
Los Angeles, California.

REPLY TO MR. CALDWELL'S OPEN LETTER CITIZENS OF LOS ANGELES:

The management of the CALIFORNIA EAGLE is very appreciative of Mr. Caldwell's unsolicited expression of a desire to help. Years of acquaintance with him, leads us to believe in his sincerity because of the stand he has always taken in justice in civic matters.

Through the years, our only purpose has been to serve and to build an institution for employing and gaining employment for our young men and women. It is our aim to continue to fight discrimination in all fields and to raise higher the standards of Negro journalism. We have made sacrifices — certainly! — we have made them gladly and received large praise and assistance from many citizens such as Mr. Caldwell. Because we believe in the right, we shall continue to serve fearlessly and gladly.

We are very happy to receive Mr. Caldwell's kind words and plan for getting new EAGLE subscribers. Needless to say, an increased circulation will offer larger opportunities both for employment and expression of the people's will. Suggestions from our many friends and readers are always welcome and without their cooperation, our efforts mean very little.

Many thanks, Mr. Caldwell!

Eagle Editor Urges G.O.P. Solidarity at Fresno Meet

FRESNO, Auril 28.—Delegates to the Republican State Assembly, held here Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, heard Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, representative of Los Angeles' 62nd Assembly district, urge solidarity in Republican ranks.

Speakinf before a crowded assembly in the California Hotel on Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Bass, editor of the California Eagle, stated amidst applause that there neve rwas a time in the history of "the party" when Republicans should be more faithful to the "Ship of State", than the present.

Her remarks in the midst of heated debate on a resolution not to indorse a candidate for the coming gubernatorial primaries.

Continuing Mrs. Bass told the assemblage that she must follow the dictates of her County Central committee, and vote against indorsement of any candidate.

The resolution was carried, 63 opposing indorsement and 47 for it.

RAILROAD CLATTER

By: CHARLES L. UPTON

UPTON SAYS

That was sure a fine mess they had in New York the other day when a gang of American Legion veterans attempted to break up a dyed-in-the-wool Hitler-Nazi meeting. The police came after about half a dozen heads had been broken and threw some of the gang in jail. The next day in court before an Italian judge the case was tried, the defendant was a Nazi German and he had hired a Jew lawyer to defend him. The Jew lawyer pulled a Clarence Darrow and the Nazi was acquitted without a fine. Now ain't that sumpin'?

When you make up your mind, make up your mind that your mind is made up.

PORTERS CRITICIZE LOCAL CHAIRMAN'S HANDLEING Of P. P. B. A. Sick Claims

A mighty loud storm of protest and complaints has been coming from various porters who are members of the Pullman Porters Benefit Association on the slow method in which their sick claims are being handled by the Chairman, R. J. Murray. Porters state that they are well and working again before they can get consideration from the local chairman. I have been informed that the Chairman was taken to task by M. B. Brazley during the visit of the Grand Chairman, E. M. Graham to Los Angeles. We sincerely hope that the Chairman will be able to adjust these conditions for the good and welfare of the rank and file of the P. P. B. A. membership.

PICTURES OF NATIONAL OFFICIALS RECEIVED

Porters were greatly elated over the new pictures of their Nat'l officers, A. Philip Randolph and C. L. Dellums, which have been received and are hanging in the headquarters. The pictures are in colored tint and give the headquarters a nice send off.

30 FREED--

Bailey and Henry Brown, an employee of the Lincoln Theatre were tried first on charge of selling liquor without license and vag dissolute. A sentence of 90 days in jail was imposed upon the leader with appeal bail set at $1000.00.

Brown who, according to Judge Landreth, "has a record as long as crows feet", was given 180 days.

On complaint of neighbors that a lewd party was in process in the respectable southeast Hollywood residential section, Hudspeth's house was raided by officers from Central vice division early Easter Sunday morning.

Men of prominent and wealthy families, some German, Jews, American whites and about 10 Negroes, alleged to have been observed by police stationed on the premises, in various degrees of obscene conduct, were marched into court to enter a complete denial of all testimony previously entered against them.

While a few of the defendants admitted paying an entrance fee and purchasing liquor, others said that it was just an "Easter Egg Hunt". One handsome young blonde, who officers said had been seen dancing with another man and freely passing around powder puffs, threw a dirty look at the coper, sucked his teeth and exclaimed a haughty denial of any puffs about.

Another chap of full statue, pointed out by officers as having been fished out of a laundry box during the raid, drew the defense attorneys' attention to the fact that the policeman wore glasses and couldn't see straight.

Representing Hudspeth and the two co-defendants on the more serious charges was Attorney Posey. His conduct of the case drew such laughter that it was necessary for the bailiff to rap several times for order.

He was later dismissed at the request of the vag case defendants.

FARLEY MASS MEET--

serts that it occured after he had begged for further time to find money to retain his home.

Eagle reporters have since learned that he purchesed the home in 1923 for $2300 and completed payments on it in 1929. That same year a street assessment bond for $49.46 was levied against his home and Farley made payments on it until 1932 when he became unemployed.

At that time a balance of $29.66 was due on the bond and no payments were made on that amount. In 1935 Trompeter and Company, a concern specializing in bond purcheses, bought the bond and commenced foreclosure proceedings. The place was finally sold for $93.81 and about January 1, 1938, L. A. Troutman, real estate broker of 1516 East 58th street, bought the place and soon brought eviction proceedings claiming $67.50.

Frightened by the prospect of losing their home, the Farleys approached Troutman who offered to sell the home back to them for $1172.00. When they failed to raise that amount he took action to set them on the street.

"Records in the superior court show that Trompeter and company have secured more that 1200 such forclosures within the past six years." the Defense Committee asserted this week, "this record is eloquent of the fact that home owners were being evicted left and right whenever misfortune overtook them and they were unable to keep up payments on harsh bond assessments.

Occupancy Restriction is Contested

When, on March 30, 1937, Alonzo B. Heard and his wife, Pearl E. Heard purchased property at 463 East 48th street, they ran into a neighborhood agreement which sought to restrict that lot to white residents only.

In a law suit which followed, the white residents who had signed the restrictive agreement in the year 1926, won their point and the case was decided against Mr. and Mrs. Heard, and they were enjoined from occupying the premises.

However, Boyce Cowans and his wife, Willie Mae Cowans, were not satisfied with the judgment when, as the owners of a piece of property in the same block at 511 East 48th street, it was sought to prevent their occupying because of the Heard judgment, and they carried the matter to Court for a trial, involving several points not raised in the suit against Mr. and Mrs. Heard.

The Cowans are resisting upon the ground that the restrictive agreement was not property executed and was not executed by all of the white residents in the block, and upon the further ground that conditions in the neighborhood have changed since the restrictive agreement was entered into, more than 12 years ago, and that now the neighborhood is more colored than white.

Willis O. Tyler and Edwin L. Jefferson, Attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Cowans, are demanding that the court reconsider and reinterpret the restrictive agreement, in the light of the contention that East of Main Street, and between 6th street and Slauson avenue, about 65 per cent of the Negro population of L. A. reside, and that any attempt to limit their right of occupancy of property they own in that district, is against the principles laid down in the well established cases governing the right of members of the race to occupy residence property.

The case has not yet been given a place on the trial calendar. Attorney Marshall Stimson represents the signers of the restrictive agreement who seek to prevent Mr. and Mrs. Cowans from occupying their property.

2 Sentenced in San Diego Thefts

SAN DIEGO, April 28,—Theodore Lacey and Thomas Slaughter, each about 23 years old, were sentenced to San Quentin for a term of five years to life by the San Diego County Superior Court last week, for the hold-up of three San Diego business places.

A stay of execution was granted both youths, however, to Lacey, so that he might await the expected arrival of his wife's baby within the next week or two, and to Slaughter, in order that his mother may come from Arizona to see him before he begins his term.

erytime there's an interracial meeting, get there . . . send somebody who can represent you . . . who can represent you well".

Mrs. Bethune held that Negroes must be listed among people who are going places and doing things and that the time has come when he must broaden his shoulders to "carry his own load".

IN INTERVIEW FRIDAY

Upon her arrival here Friday evening from Oakland, Mrs. Bethune, interviewed by an EAGLE representative, said "California offers the greatest opportunity for cultural projects". She pointed out that nature and the fine museums afford an inspiring setting for creative work under the NYA, but she expressed concern over the general masses being trained in the technique of the work and opined that there is a very substantial need for larger participation, both in integration and administration, of the work.

In recalling her cross-country tour, Mrs. Bethune cited as highlights, talks before the white teachers of Des Moines, at the seminar of the University of Nebraska, and at International House in Berkeley.

WELCOMED BY MAYOR

Immediately following her arrival here, the NYA executive received the following telegram of welcome from Mayor Frank L. Shaw:

"Please accept the hearty congratulations of the City of Los Angeles. We extend to you a cordial welcome and trust that your visit will be pleasant and your mission will be successful. With warmest compliments and all good wishes. I am with sincere regards, Yours, Frank L. Shaw."

Mrs. Bethune is accompanied on her tour by Charles T. Browne, assistant director of the NYA for the State of Illinois, and Mrs. John R. Hope, widow of the late president of Atlanta university.

PLAYBOY'S BRIDE--

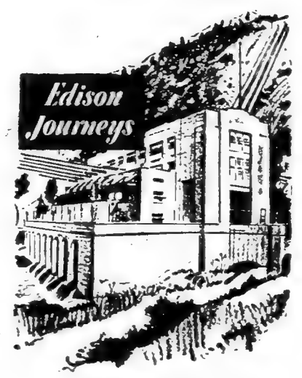
clergyman here, said he married the couple April 10 at St. Mark's Methodist Episcopal Church.

Although Stewart insisted that his bride was taken from him at the point of a gun, that she went unwillingly, and that she would return to him unless restrained, a letter in her handwriting left behind at the honeymoon flat indicated that he may face difficulty in winning her back.



According to her father, Leon Lazarus, New York lawyer and insurance man, the girl suffers from recurrent attacks of psychic maladjustment.

Never mailed, the letter said: "Dear Father: Had it not been for the terrible fear of being sent to an institution, I should have gladly returned home long ago. As it is, my desperation and inability to cope with life has led to many regrettable things, most shameful of all, under the influence of a deformed mind, marrying someone who has brought me to Chicago, and left me stranded."

FRIENDSHIP LOYALTY SERVICE CLUB FETE A BRILLIANT AFFAIR

With approximately 150 invited guests in formal attire responding to invitations to the second annual banquet of the Friendship Loyalty Service club, one of the city's most beautiful and brilliant social affairs was held in the banquet hall of the YMCA Tuesday evening.

This even paid special honor to the Mayor, the Police and Fire commission.

BIG CREEK POWER HOUSE NO. 3
CAPACITY 131,367 HORSEPOWER

Lowest in the chain of five hydro-electric plants in the Big Creek-San Joaquin River system, Edison power house No. 3 is also the largest. Through three penstocks clinging to the mountainside, rushing water drives the huge turbines with all the force of an 830-foot sheer drop. The combined generating capacity of all Edison Big Creek plants is 532,172 horsepower, while the total system generating capacity is 1,211,302 horsepower of electric energy for service to Southern and Central California.

down in front WITH THE STAFF

Psychologized by the white press and the pessimists within the race, we gazed with pop eyes, therefore, upon a story in an Eastern paper, stating that Satchell Paige, famous pitcher in National Negro League circles, was holding out on signing this season's contract for a salary raise to $3200!

Great Jumping Jehosepath--where on earth did the Negro National League, any Negro organization for that matter, get enough money to pay one individual $3200 . . . and him not even the boss?

It seems that Mr. Paige, who is said by many to be the greatest pitcher on the American scene today, not excepting Dizzy Dean, and his contemporaries, has been drawing the meagre sum of $350 a month this past years for his work on the mound for the Pittsburgh Crawfords. When contract signing time rolled around this year and Manager Gus Greenlee wanted him to affix his Johnny Hancock for the same "meagre" sum, Satchell balked. At first, the papers report, he held out for $2000 a month, then he so enjoyed learning the "boogie woogie" at a New York dancing school on this vacation, that he upped his price to $3200.

If the boys don't comply to all of this he will either sign over to the Newark Eagles, who presumably have the price, or sashay down to Argentina where there is no color prejudice and where he may play in the major leagues, naming his own compensation.

If all this was going on before, why didn't some one tell us about it. And if baseball, Negro baseball, is paying anyone enough to hand out even $350 a month to one of nine players, then why haven't we got some of it out here?

Why don't we get a team and join the National League and bring the National sport out west . . . and some of that kind of money that's being argued about back East?

We uttered a plaint for promotional sports in this column last week.

We've increased the plaint to a wail now . . . Come on boys, let's go!

Unique, if nothing else, is the contention that Dizzy Dean of Mrs. Dean's boys, is through in National League baseball, and a reason why, advanced in Randy Dixon's Sports Bugle in the Philly Tribune the other week. We'll let you have it—

"Take my word for it that Dizzy is through. I remember, all too well, the start of the decline of the Dean dynasty.

It happened about four years back when Dizzy and Brother twirl a double-header for an all-star team against an all-star Paul were monarchs of all they surveyed. They were drafted to Negro National League outfit. The scene was Shibe Park. The sepians had Ray Dandridge, Jud Wilson, Cool Papa Bell, Dick Seay, Josh Gibson, Slim Jones and Webster McDonald.

'Twas a sin and a shame what the sundown boys did to the Deans. There was Dizzy and Paul out there tossing 'em up and having their offerings smacked to all corners of the lot. The Dean boys bore down with everything they owned. Paul's wing developed a hitch around the sixth inning and he had to retire. He pitched himself out that day. And the records will testify that he never came back to pitch another real game. Dizzy also put undue strain in his valuable wing and has never since attained the heights he enjoyed prior to going up against that all-star combine of sepians. The conclusion is that the Dean boys pitched themselves right out of five extra years of baseball by overtaxing their wings in trying to stop those colored boys and protect their great reputations. I personally venture that Dizzy Dean is through, has been through a long time but has gotten by on his reputation."

NOTES ON A SCRATCH PAD

We could not help noticing the fine sportsmanship displayed by the much heralded Kenny Washington last Saturday when he appeared in track thinnies beside his pal, Woodrow Strode, at the shot put pit.

Kenny hasn't tossed the shot with any seriousness before this season. One day, however, he picked the thing up and heaved it 48 feet. Since then he has tinkered a bit with it.

Last Saturday in a futile attempt, we suppose, to stem the mad Trojan rush, he competed in the shot. It means something to an athlete who is tops in another sport, as Kenny is in football and baseball, to risk his prestige in another and unfamiliar event. But Kenny did it. Although he never shoved the iron ball beyond the 45ft mark, it was a commendable effort and our hat is off to him for it.

Braddock Says Louis Will Kayo Schmeling in Six

NEW YORK, April 28. (AN P.)—Take it from James J. Braddock, who lost his championship to Joe Louis, the Brown Bomber will knock out Max Schmeling in six rounds when they meet in June. The former titleholder went on record with this prediction in a copyrighted article released Tuesday through the United Press.

Braddock bases his opinion on Joe's added experience, ring sense, speed, wallop and gameness. Referring to their first bout, the Irishman said, "Schmeling can't possibly be as good as he was that night. He won because of Joe's mistakes. Joe knows where he miscued, and he will not be guilty of the same mistakes again.

"Louis will not rush in at the opening gong as many people believe. He is a counter-puncher much like Schmeling, only faster. He will keep circling to Schmeling's left, knowing Maxie's left hand isn't much of a weapon. He'll jab, jab, jab, jab, with that left instead of trying to hook his way into close range.

"I can't give Schmeling a prayer for his chances this time."

RACE TRACK

By JAY GOULD

Tanforan opens its 25 days' meet April 30.

Agua Caliente runs 2 days a week, Saturday and Sunday.

Seabiscuit and Jockey George Wolf are dynamite and will explode on all comers.

Clocker Louis Salures, Ollie Hudson, Harry Mann and Long Boy Ellison, left the Florida races for the East with a healthy sun tan.

Flo Washington, night spot owner, asked her hubby Tommy Glass to please take a rest . . . for the betterment of the business. Whatever happened has been kept a secret so far.

Frenchy Lewis, Big Boy Bray's ex-trainer, who wears a carnation in his lapel daily, says that the Jewish boycott won't hurt the big fight as the Jews will go to see Louis beat Schmeling.

Charley Johnson, ex-jockey, who is crippled from a fall, is at the races daily. Once rich, Charley supported many who deserted him when the breaks bunched.

Jack Thompson, one time champion of the world, who bought a home for his lovely mother in Los Angeles, can be seen dinin' nightly with his pretty wife in San Francisco wearing a snow white hat.

Mack Latham, globe trotter, is in San Francisco for the races, driving a quick pick-up car but was just set back ten bucks for trying to beat the lights.

Charley Hines of race track fame, well groomed for swell outfits, looks like the king of the universe when strolling down Broadway.

Jim Young now in Spokane, Washington was the first to use the modern grease to slick his hair back and plaster it down until it gained like patent leather.

Lovie Joe Roberson, who crashed Broadway in the early eighties, never had a job and always won a living.

Panie Meade, New York bookmaker has registered more big bets than any race man living. Panie takes thousands at the race track with a smile.

Jim Scott of Saratoga N. Y. has taken in from 10 to 15 thousand each season going the races for 33 years. Goes to Florida each winter, comes back in the red and has never seen California.

Bay Meadows folds its tent April 23rd, and Tanforan steps in April 30th.

After Johnny Adams won 6 races in a row at Bay Meadows, his wife was heard to say "I am sorry there's not 3 or 4 more."

Paul Lauderdale who is said to have dropped 75 grand on the races in three years is booking the horses in Los Angeles. Whether he is handling his own or not, I don't know.

Lucius Lomax who has his name on the books in Brad St., N. Y., spends his waking hours fishing, hunting and golfing, but never gambles.

It actually happened, Miss Otis and Norwood's pretty daughter of Detroit, are now taking their mail at the Clark hotel, Los Angeles. Both worth 50 G's they are betting on the races instead of talking love.

Jess Hubbard, ex-ball player is stopping at the Pythian hotel, Hot Springs with his charming missus. Jess is not playing ball, but nevertheless he is driving a new 1939 car with plenty of bananas.

Skaggs, of New York, a well groomed sport with plenty of swell outfits, with his wife who is a very pretty girl are regulars, at the races but is said to be deep in the red.

Ira Grant, a popular lad, is speeding east, after receiving the sad message of his mother's death. Keep your chin up, Ira.

COATES AGAIN 'KILLER' OF RING AS HE STOPS EASTERNER IN FOURTH

Baby Arizmendi Meets Wally Hally Next Week at Olympic

Charlie Coates, the lightheavyweight they call the "ex-killer", has returned apparently to knockout form. Tuesday night in one of the ten-rounders of a double main event, Coates blasted Johnny Rossi, stablemate of Gunnar Barlund and New England champ, into cuckoo land with a terrific right to the jaw.

Rossi was stretched out cold on the canvas, Coates helping Rossi's handlers carry him to his corner.

In the other ten, Little Dado knocked out Tony Ramirez in the second round. Filipino Dado was much too clever and effective for his Mexican opponent.

In the prelims, Jimmy McDaniels, trained by Sammy O'Dell, repeated a previous victory over Jimmy Casino in a close battle; Ernie Carter couldn't get inside Frankie Hernandez, taller and with a longer reach, and lost a four-round decision; Earl Nore, called the best boy of the prelims, stopped Johnny Verdusco, in the third, and Chuck Scott ended his tiff with Tony Batras in the same round.

Baby Arizmendi and Wally Hally trade wallops next Tuesday night in the Olympic topspot. It's the third meeting of the pair with each holding a win.

ON THE AIR

By SALLYE BELL

CHICAGO. — Last week we were going a bit into detail about our fan mail campaign, and we got so warmed up on the subject that the class lasted much longer than was my intention. I shall take great care that this does not happen this time, because for one thing I can't find the material I had compiled to use this week, and for another I haven't much time today.

Our attention now turns to the coast, where Negro radio programs have come into vogue just within the past two months. There are now three programs there sponsored by Negro firms. On various coast stations, the Golden State Insurance company, Benton's Manufacturing Drug company, and the California Eagle, are bringing favorable comment with their impressive Negro programs.

The California Eagle broadcasts nightly except Saturday over the 24-hour station, KGFJ, and gives news flashes which are not confined to Negro activities only, but embrace general news of interest to all races. The broadcasts are made by various members of the staff with John Kinloch announcing, and vary from day to day. On Sunday there are editorial comments by the editor, Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, on Monday a discussion and news of women's affairs by Helen Chappell, society editor; Tuesday, drama by Fay M. Jackson. Wednesday sees some notable guest speak on the program. Thursdays of Almena Davis, feature writer, interviews the newsworthy person of the week and Fridays sports are presented by J. Cullen Fentress.

Lawson, Compton Jaysee Ace, in Double Win Class

LONG BEACH, April 28—Into the double winner class stepped Jim Lawson, Compton Junior College half mile champion, last Saturday when he won the quarter mile from a fast field in the Metropolitan Division Junior college meet. The time was 49.6. Lawson came back later to take his speciality, the 880 yard run, in 1:58.2, a new meet record.

Almost better marks were hung up here Saturday than at the U. S. C.-U. C. L. A. match in Los Angeles the next day. In addition to Lawson's wins, Wilbur Miller, fastest sprinter on the West Coast, loafed to a 9.9 victory in the century and a 21.5 mark in the furlong, which wasn't such a loaf at all, being a new meet record.

Jack Robinson, little brother of Olympic champion, Mack, won the broadjump easily at 23.2. He had competition, however, in Chase, white of Glendale and one of the Bledsoe twins of Compton.

Lewis Retains Crown by Kayo

MINNEAPOLIS, April 28—Seldom has light heavyweight champion John Henry Lewis appeared at better advantage than he did here last Monday night as he retained his championship by a knockout in a battle with Emilio Martinez of Denver that went four rounds.

MONTANEZ HELD TO DRAW BY CROSS

PHILADELPHIA, April 28—Pedro Montanez, Puerto Rican Negro, was held to a draw by Tommy Cross, Philly sepia, in a ten round bout Monday night before 7000 persons.

BILL WATSON LEADS MICHIGAN TO WIN

BLOOMINGTON, April 28.—It was largely through the efforts of Big Bill Watson, Michigan State's one man track team, that Michigan won the track meet held last Saturday with Indiana University, Notre Dame and Ohio State. Watson won first place in the broadjump, the shot put and four second places in the relays.

WEST COAST RELAYS SET FOR MAY 14

FRESNO, April 28—The West Coast Relays, classic of Western track competition will be held May 14.

Anglers Prepare for Trout Season

Weather conditions between now and May 1 will determine if Southland anglers return home with good, fair or poor catches on the opening day of the 1938 trout season, reports the outing bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

The High Sierra country holds the spotlight for fishing this year, the club survey reveals, and opening day will see many eager anglers on the Owens Valley side. Although there is still a heavy snow pack in this section, the Owens river, Hot creek, June lake and Grant lake will be accessible. Unless continued warm weather causes heavy runoff, the prospects look good.

First reports indicated that fishing would be confined to the lakes but last-miqute inspection showed that a good number of sizable trout are still in Bear creek, Deep creek and the Upper Santa Ana although these streams are high.

California Fish and Game Commission officials have obtained 300,000 trout which will be planted in local waters.

Best local fishing will be in the lakes. Arrowhead looks good for the opening with the water high and fairly clear. Big Bear is very high, but conditions should be good for both bass and trout. Crystal lake is inaccessible by automobile and can be reached only by a long hike, the roads being washed out completely.

Little Rock reservoir suffered heavily during the flood, and work is under way clearing debris out of the lake. A large number of trout are supposed to have gone over the spillway, but it is believed that most of the fish are still in the lake. Boats are all reserved for opening day and many shore fishermen are expected.

Randy Carter is Star of Tri-Meet

SAN DIEGO, April 28—Although Randy Carter, sprint sensation from Whittier college did his best, winning the 100 and 220 yard dashes, Whittier finished third in the three way meet here last Saturday involving in addition San Diego State college and Redlands.

Carter demonstrated his superiority over Central California sprinters taking the century in 9.8s, and the 220 in 21.5s.

Berkeley's Low Hurdles Win UCLA-USC Feature

By ALMENA DAVIS

You had to be inside the Coliseum last Saturday to know that UCLA was participating in the track meet with the University of Southern California. If you had been standing outside the Coliseum walls and had heard the announcer's voice as he verified the results of each event, you surely would have thought that S. C. was staging the meet all by itself.

Of course, I exaggerate. The Bruins were not really as bad as that. They were only beaten by 61 points, their tally being almost a third of the score polled by Dean Cromwell's palefaces.

Speaking of palefaces, that seems to be what Harry Trotter, Westwood coach, has too much of. Now if he had a few more of the "fluttery-footed" Negroes from Los Angeles' "swing street", that the Los Angeles Times recently discovered are living the simple life amongst all this Hollywood sophistication, he might have a track team.

The Negroes on the Bruin squad were responsible for 23 points of the Bruins' total. One of them was the only double winner of the day. That was Woodrow Strode, who distinguishes himself on the gridiron in the Fall and tosses the discuss around and puts the shot when Spring comes to the land.

The other scorers were Tom Berkeley, who ran a beautiful low hurdles race to win it in meet-record time and ran third in the 100 yard dash; Bill Lacefield, who broadjumped 23 feet, 11 inches for first and ran third in the high hurdles, and Tom Bradley, who ran an erratic 880 yard race, nabbing third place.

Could Have Done Better

Even at that, these "simple colored boys", to quote the "Times' again, could have done better. There was a tenseness about them as they entered the first events that told they knew their Alma Mater was counting on their efforts. Lacefield should have won the high hurdles. But from the start he seemed tense and his stride over and between each hurdle, was jerky. On the last three barriers he "pooped out" and dropped from the lead to third place. In the century dash, which was won by Peyton Jordan in 9.9, Berkeley seemed to have the same trouble. He has done 9.8 this season and should have placed second, if not first, in that event.

Berkeley's victory in the hurdles was the high point of the day for the Bruins. It was a close race, the three place winners leaping over the sticks almost in unison when Berkeley pulled away at the last hurdle and lunged across the tape, winner by a foot.

When he crossed the finish line in front of Vickery of Southern California and McBain of UCLA, his team-mate threw his arms around Berkeley's neck and from the stands it looked like a kiss. This makes the tall youth's second win over the Trojan's Vickery as he did it in last year's duel meet. Berkeley, incidentally, is the only junior among the colored contingent of Westwood. The others are sophomores with two remaining seasons of competition.

Bradley Interesting

One of the most interesting races of the day was run by Tom Bradley, the big youngsters from Polytechnic high school. Bradley, as I said in a preceding paragraph, ran an erratic race. He took the lead at the start and lost and regained it again and again as the two lap event progressed.

He demostrated great improvement over early season form, but he is still a mass of undeveloped possibilities. In addition to the half mile, he ran third lap of the relay and maintained the lead, which was lost, however, in the final lap, when a Trojan by the name of Miller, put on an unexpected burst of speed and brought his baton home ahead of the Uclans.

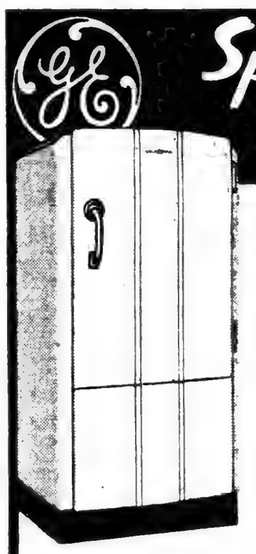
2 Negro Clubs in Northern Tennis Play

OAKLAND, April 28—Tennis play has started in the Northland, with two colored clubs entered in the Bay Counties Tennis league matches, which opened here the Sunday before Easter.

The tournament is now hitting its stride with the two race clubs, the Challengers and the Bay Cities, climbing steadily from the third and sixth places respectively in which they were bracketed after the first day's play.

Entered with 16 white clubs, it was a conincidence that the two race clubs should "draw" each other for the opening play. With both teams showing fine early season form, the Challangers came out on top, 6-3.

This was surprising as the Bay Cities club, man for man, has the better aggregation. The Bay Cities team is composed of Wildy, Paul Ford, Ted Allen, Stewart, French, Bryant, Richardson and Henderson. The Challengers' roster lists "Schoolboy" Mitchell, Richard Dempsey, Baranco, Longrus, L. Wilson, Bozorier, Rumford and K. Wilson.



Paul Ford is half of the doubles championship of the Pacific Coast, teaming with James Stocks top flight West Coast player, last summer. Ted Allen and Wildy are both in the upper bracket of Western tennis.

"Schoolboy" Mitchell is the best the North has to offer. Fans anticipate a "hot" match when he meets Stocks in Los Angeles in September.

"Is the Negro Youth More Unaggressive Than Other Youth?" was the subject discussed by a group of about twenty young people last Friday afternoon, April 22. at the Comfunity Center. In an informal discussion group, the young people, led by Miss Lorraine Van Lowe, examined their problems as they occur in school as well as in business and job seeking situations. Citing incidents from their own experiences the young people observed that many of the difficulties which arise in school and in other places are due to themselves. By broadening their attitudes and by putting on widespread individual campaigns to raise their own standards of conduct they felt that they could make a great step forward in ironing out some of the difficulties which confront the Negro youth.

The discussion lasted about one hour and a half and proved so interesting that the young people are contiuing it next Friday. The discussion is a part of the recreational activities sponsored by the federal government and supervised by Mrs. Lucille Brown and Gilbert Groff.

HOUSEKEEPING AID PROJECT RESULT

Typical of the housekeeping aid project, sponsored by the Works Progress Administration, are these scenes taken in a Harlem tenement home of a relief client.

The top picture shows the housekeeping aide tending the children while the mother is recovering from illness. In the lower picture is a view of the aide doing the family laundry in the home. She is also prepared to serve in other household duties. At regular meetings with physicians, visiting nurses and welfare workers, the aide is guided in the health phases of her work, thereby increasing her ability to be of greater service.

In thirty-nine states, 14,400 women have served 500,000 families as housekeeping aides.

A Remarkable Woman In A Remarkable Speech; Potent Parleys

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

WE WISH youth thruout the length and breadth of the land could have heard the Mary McLeod Bethune we heard Sunday afternoon. All youth, but especially Negro youth!

We sat enraptured as this great woman unfolded a formula of success that works, because it has worked for her — born of slave parents, of poorest of poor circumstances, and now one of the fifty great women of the land!

In clear and precise tones, without the usual dilly-dallying about "Jacob's Barn", she came straight to the point and worked such fundamentals in her speech as "prepare yourselves for the many opportunities to be found here"; "stand up in a manly and womanly way for the chance to be somebody and do something"; "get along with other people"; "hardships made me"; "don't depend upon others, shoulder your own burdens"; and many, many others.

One of 17 children, born of parents of "the royalty of Africa" (as she termed them) this remarkable woman impressed us with her total unconcern for her high attainments. As she says, "It's not the heights I have reached, but the depths from which I have come".

This woman poked fun at a generally admitted characteristic of the Negro race when she re-told a favorite story of the late Dr. Booker T. Washington which compares Negroes with crabs. If crabs are put in a bucket, the story goes, and one tries to clamber up the sides, another reaches up and drags him down, foiling any attempt made to reach safety and security.

Her unselfishness and broad spirit was emphasized as she said, "I am interdenominational, international, and interracial". In other words, not confined to the clannish attitudes that come from setting one's self apart.

In Washington, she referred to her work as that of a "reminder" — reminding governmental and departmental heads of the needs and rights of 12 million Negroes. And as results show, in this she has been very effective.

We liked particularly her explanation of this, bringing to the attention of the assemblage the fact that it isn't that these various heads of governmental agencies don't want to help all, but that minorities, as such, are just forgotten. "I'm there to remind them not to forget," says she.

A definite program for the race to follow was hinted when she cited instances of economic and social maladjustment in southern states and asked those of the West to take advantage of their own opportunities to the extent that they might reach down in those states and help the underprivileged.

Yes, it was a remarkable speech, from a remarkable woman. Her broad spirit and common-sense approach to problems, her knowledge of what youth and the race needs, could well be duplicated by others in various fields of endeavor, to the end that the Negro might take his place as an American citizen, enjoying all the rights and privileges of a free man.

Would that we had other Mary McLeod Bethunes. This active, very dark woman of indomitable will, now gray about the temples, a daughter of slaves, founder-president of a southern college, and director of the Division of Negro Affairs of the National Youth Administration, first colored woman to merit a Federal post, set up especially for her, has come up the hard way. As she says, "Hardships made me". And that, interpreted thru the eyes of youth, should mean, "If she can do it, so can I".

THIS WAS LOS ANGELES --

Even in the midst of the Great War, that was to make the world safe for Democracy, Negro citizens were battling tooth and nail to attain social equity in small corners of the world.

"The Broadway Department Store Must Let Us Know" captioned an article on the front page of the Eagle of April 27, 1918. The story was signed by Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor of the paper, and is told in her own inimitable fashion.

"For more than twenty years the California Eagle has been writing and publishing an advertisment once a year, at Christmas time, for this store. We have always unsparingly congratulated the management of this, as we considered it a broad guaged store, but this week our attention was called to what we consider a very serious matter and this is what it was and is:

On Wednesday two neatly dressed colored girls, who are employed downtown, went into the Broadway's Basement Tea Room, sat at a table to be served, not thinking that they would be refused because they had been served in the past. But the heads of the department had changed hands. A southern woman is now in charge. So after sitting out their time and seeing that they were not going to be served, the girls left and at the close of the day came down and told me the story. I told them to meet me at the store Thursday and I would see what could be done. Hence at noon Thursday I met the girls and with them went into the lunch room, took our seats at the table and waited some little time until a waiter finally took our orders and served us in the meanest fashion to meatless and butterless sandwiches and cocoa minus cream.

We paid no attention to this difference but feasted sumptuously and paid our bill and on the way out accosted the head waitress at the desk, the girls having already told me that she said they did not wish to serve colored. I quietly asked the young woman if this was true and she primped up her face and answered "Yes".

I said to her: "Well, why did you serve us today."

"Because we can't refuse YOU," came the answer. Again I asked "Where did you receive your orders to instruct Colored citizens that they were not wanted in this department of the Broadway?"

"From the head of the Department", was the ready answer.

I informed the young lady that I was an American citizen and that as long as they stayed open, I expected to be served.

Now while the world wide fight for Democracy is on, let us see about our rights as citizens of the Commonwealth. Unless the Broadway will, correct this insult to a large percentage of her best patronage, let's try the boycott proposition on her. C. A. B."

WHAT'S IN A MAN?

What's in a man? Well, to begin with, there's about a nickle's worth of iodine, forty quarts of water, and enough sulfur to kill the fleas on a small dog. There's phosphorus enough for a year's supply of matches, iron to make a small nail, and lime enough to whitewash a chicken-coop. Break a man down on the scrap-heap, and he's hardly worth a cent a pound.

But there's something more in a man, something that turns a chemical machine into a living being, something that makes that machine form the notes of a symphony, spell the words of a poem, and seek to unlock the doors of the treasures and mysteries of life.

What's in a man? There's love, hate, fear, revenge, lust, honor, hope, and despair. There's a force that makes him explore the unknown, and a fatality that sends him out to kill in the shot and shell of war.

In this day when the frontiers of the world dwindle under the push of knowledge, the frontiers of the human mind remain dim and distant, hidden secrets in the greatest drama of all.

What's in a man? Who knows! Kin of the gods and brother of the beasts, man remains the great unknown, the greatest of all mysteries.

THE LAUNDRYMAN . . .

HELLO, folks! A few weeks ago I promised to tell you-all what me and Dark Secret did with the TWO GRAND we cleared off the first Negro Dollar Day celebration, so here goes:

The next day after the Celebration, Secret come to my house about ten thirty that morning. I don't know where he stayed the night before, but anyhow Millie was with him, and also a white automobile salesman. They was riding in a brand new 1939 Buick sedan which they parked in the alley right up close to my little bachelor apartment.

I was busy wiping off my Dodge speed-wagon when they drove up. Secret jumped out of the big Buick in a hurry, and come over to me and says:

"Come on, Laundryman, and take a spin with us."

I told him no, that I was busy, and besides, I didn't care about riding around in that new car because I couldn't afford to buy one just now, and that it would just make me dissatisfied with my old Dodge.

"Don't let that worry you. You can ride in that Buick any old time you want to. You see, I'm closing a deal on it this morning," Secret says.

"Oh, Yeah! With what?", I says to him.

Secret spoke up quickly, "With the money I got coming to me off our laundry deal. That's what I come after. You never said nothing about giving it to me last night, so I just passed it up, figuring you was too tired to count it out."

Well, folks, I done some fast thinking while he was talking, because I seen that with him and Millie and that new Buick, I had plenty trouble on my hands.

"We've got one hundred and fifty bucks apiece coming to us as wages out of that money," I says. "The rest of it is going to be held in the bank for the expansion of the business."

Secret's eyebrows commenced jumping. "What you mean by expansion?" he says angrily. "I'm telling you in front, I don't want no stuff about my money."

I seen he was getting hot under the collar so I went on to explain to him about us needing to rent a store for a regular place of business, and that we couldn't expect to keep on using the Elks, sidewalk to carry on our Dollar Day business.

"And besides," I says to him: "We must keep at least $1500.00 cash on hand, to pay down on our laundry bill for the next Negro Dollar Day celebration. We can't keep on going down to that laundry showing that white man our teeth. You know he told us that his folks was getting tired of carrying us. We want to be in a position to bargain with him on a strictly business basis; One-half cash, on the line, and the balance in fifteen days. Then we won't have to plead with aybody to take our business. They'll be running us down trying to get it."

Well, Secret said he wasn't bothered about the next Negro Dollar Day. He said he wanted his money now, right now. I told him he had $150.00 bucks coming, and that was all he could draw. He commenced loud-talking me then, and Millie jumped out of the car and come over and hopped into the argument. She told Secret that he wasn't no man at all if he let me hold out all that money on him, and then Secret got bad sure enough, and shook his big fist in my face.

I seen that he was itching to stage a heavy-weight championship battle, and not being a lover of prize-fighting, I says to him:

"Oh, well, wait just a minute; I'll go get your money."

He backed off then, and I went on in the house. I was gone about five minutes, and when I come out I had a roll of bills in one hand, and my picnic razor, and the razor-strap in the other. I handed Secret the roll of bills, and while he and Millie was counting them, I hung my razor-strap on the door-knob of my old Dodge and started to strapping my razor. After a few moments Secret yells out:

Say, Laundryman! They ain't but $150.00 in this roll".

"Sure! That's right! I told you that was all you could draw," I says. Whilst I was talking to him I picked up a folded newspaper and drew the razor carelessly down the crease in its middle. The newspaper fluttered to the ground neatly sliced into two sections. Secret looked at me, the fallen paper, and the razor. Then he grabbed Millie by the arm and they went and got back in the car with the auto salesman and drove away. I drew a long breath of relief, and went on back in the house to get another cup of coffee to relax my nerves.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

Book Suggestions for Boys' Week

During one week in each year, usually the first week in May the city of Los Angeles concentrates on putting youth to the fore in all lines of community activity. Boy's Day in the church, Boy's Days in Citizenship. Boy's Day in the Library, and all the usual days will be observed this year from April 30th to May 7th but the rather broad topic of "Vocations and Advocations" has been selected as the theme for the week.

Interesting books on this theme being suggested through special displays at the Vernon and Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Libraries include: Dorr Yeager's "Bob Flame, Ranger", the stirring adventures of the rangers on duty in our National Parks; Carl Allen's "Wonder Book of the Air", a popular survey of the art of flight which explains how to build and fly model planes and includes replicas of many famous planes; "Pop Warner's Book for Boys", with fundamentals about baseball, basketball and general ball and football and general advice to boys wishing to become athletes; N. Norris' "Heroes and Hazards", presenting amazing chapters on the hazards of deep sea divers, riveters, iron workers, industrial chemists, sandhogs, firemen, lifesavers and other occupations requiring developed physical skill and mental control; Irving Crump's "Our G-Men," which follows our Federal agents as they track smugglers and desperados and smash opium rings, revealing the brain work which lies behind their arrests; Collin's "Fun With Electricity", a book of simple and startling experiments with electricity; Kent Stile's "Stamps" a complete book of information for boys collecting stamps; Albert Neely's "Craft Work and Playthings", which outlines a programme of balanced work and play through the use of simple tools; John Floherty's "On the Air", the story of radio told with excellent photographs; and Robert Disraeli's "Seeing the Unseen", a well illustrated manual with practical suggestions for boys interested in seeing the world about them through the microscope.

A host of other titles may be secured by visiting the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 So. Central Ave. and the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Library 2330 Naomi Avenue during the Boy's Week.

DISTRIBUTE WEIGHT

An important detail on long motor trips is proper distribution of passengers and baggage in the car so as to equalize the weight on all springs, suggests the Automobile Club of Southern California.

"JAYWALKING" LAWS

"Jaywalking" laws are celebrating their silver anniversary this year. It was just 25 years ago this Spring that Indianapolis adopted the first law that curbed the pedestrian's right to "walk where he pleased, when

FAST ACTION and romantic drama played against broad and colorful backgrounds will dominate the program of 58 feature pictures and 102 short subjects which Paramount will produce during the coming season.

Niel Agnew, vice president, in charge of distribution, declared that attendance at motion picture theatres would increase this year and Para has ambitious plans with which to meet this growing public interest.

ASSIGNED

BILL ROBINSON

Having arrived in Hollywood, in many senses of the word, Bill Bojangles Robinson, received his new assignment for the next pic at Fox with Shirley Temple. "Lucky Penny" is the title with accent on humor. Bert Lahr, Joan Davis, George Barbier and Amanda Duff aid and abet what promises to be a rollicking bit of screen fare for early release.

HALL OF FAME

Theresa Harris, featured sepiactress in "Jezebel", who has just finished a leading role in "Toy Wife" for MGM, was proclaimed this week the perfect type of Colonial beauty by artist Mirel Bercovici, daughter of the famous novelist, and graduate of the Paris Academy of Art.

Mirel is working on a canvas of the young actress which may go into the World Fair collection as a contribution from the Negro film colony of Hollywood.

HELPING HAND

CLARENCE MUSE

Clarence Muse was drawn into the Federal Theatres players group now working to establish an art theatre under Federal supervision to "preserve the sacred and honorable traditions of the race". Commendable is this gesture of sharing hard-earned experience with a group that is definitely trying to lift the cultural standard of the race, of the city.

SULLIVAN FILMED

Maxine Sullivan, who is currently creating SUCH a furore on the strip in Beverly Hills swankiest club, will be in the cast of "St. Louis Blues" for Paramount with Raoul Walsh directing. Jeff Lazarus producing. Muscial will also feature George Raft, Shirley Ross, Tito Guizar, Betty Grable and Elizabeth Patterson.

Frank Trombar and his Biltmore Bowl band and Maxine, will head the Saturday Night Swing Session from Columbia Square Playhouse as one of the many dedicatory shows arranged for the opening of the new home next week.

RUBY ELZY SALUTES

Also on this GREAT airing of Hollywood's advent as the second (?) Radio City, will be heard Ruby Elzy, that silver-voiced soprano you loved in "Porgy and Bess", backgrounded by symphonic arrangement of "My Man's Gone". So, hug your mike on May 30!

MAMMY!

Sponsors of Al Jolson's show are PLENTY worried over the Canadian reaction to Al lately, Variety reports this week. Repeated incidents by which the program was left off a station, cut on a network or something else left only CKCK, Regina, to air the stuff. Other stations chose the Canadian senior hockey playdowns. We'd choose hockey to Al (since that jim-crow petition) also, if we were brought up that way, otherwise our dial is switched to more sincere artists who better fit into the American scheme of things. Like Kate Smith, or the Brownies, or even Walter Lawson's efforts to bring out amateur talent.

JOBS FOR A DAY

Central Casting Bureau reported 189 racial groups cast in pictures for Saturday, April 23. Total registered extras amounted to 147.

ELEPHANT BOY

Sabu, the little Indian lad who won acclaim in "Elephant Boy", has been engaged by RKO for one of the principal roles in "Gunga Din" with Jack Oakie, and plans to leave London where he completed "Mutiny in Mountains". I met Sabu in Leicester Square last year for he had been brought to London from India to complete his education . . . a charming little gentleman who would be an inspiration to some of our boys and girls here. Would you like to have a party in his honor? Well, we'll look into it if you'll write in your request to the CALIFORNIA EAGLE, drama department. NOW!

civic leaders join actors fight here

Responding to a call for community interest in the proposed colored unit of Federal Theatres whereby more plays by Negroes and more employment in the actual production and administration of the unit is desired, approximately 200 leading citizens met with the Federal actors committee Friday evening in the auditorium of the Wadsworth street school.

Vernon McCalla acted as chairman of the unit committee. He reviewed successful productions done by the players, expressed the need at this time for the group to establish a theatre more directly concerned with the development of Negro art.

Jess Lee Brooks, star of many Federal productions here, told of problems of the theatre project employees which, mainly, have been the restriction of colored employees from positions in technical and supervisorial departments of the Federal Theatres project in the city.

LEADERS OKEY

Brooks introduced some of the citizens who came out to give their endorsements to the idea. They included: Edward Stickney, representative of Supervisor John Anson Ford; Attorney T. L. Griffith, president of the NAACP; Mrs. Mary Hardwick of the Federation of Colored Women's Clubs and Baxter Scruggs, executive secretary of the YMCA.

Miss May Donohoo, secretary of the unit extended an invitation to visit the new headquarters of FTP on Washington and Venice boulevards and spoke on the possibility of outside qualified persons getting on the project without impairing their present positions.

Miss Leona McGenty, supervisor of the colored group in studio work, advised a follow-up with telegrams, letters and phone calls to the plan to set up a Negro theatre unit. She is white.

Most significant, perhaps, of all was the statement of Sigard Russell, who urged: "Start your theatre. Start outside among your 50,000 Negroes!"

Clarence Muse, actor, suggested an advisory board of 100 and as many outside committees independent of FTP as an auxiliary to back up the actors' plan.

ALIAS NO USE

paul robesons flee europe as fascist spread is feared

Returns to New York in June; Plans Unknown

Paul Robeson, his wife, Essie, and their son, Paul jr., will flee Europe for good and return to New York in June, it was reliably reported by the Amsterdam News this week.

Paul jr., who is now in school in Moscow, and has been a source of propaganda for soviet reporters in stimulating interest of American Negroes in Communism, will leave Russia soon by way of the Baltic Sea for London with his grandmother, Mrs. Robeson's mother.

Robeson said that he was convinced that Germany will attack Czechoslovakia and thereby effect a Fascist ring around Russia.

Not only was Mr. Robeson said to be fearful of a major European war breaking out between Russia and Germany because of the aggression of the latter, but he is said to be indignant over the Fascist government that now exists in England. Because of general European conditions he will return to America for good, it was declared.

Mr. Robeson and his family have been living in London and on the continent for the last ten years. He left New York because of American prejudices and made frequent attacks upon this country from England.

What Mr. Robeson's plans are when he returns to New York are not yet known. It is expected, however, that he will give a concert soon after his return.

amazon giantess tells secrets of headhunters

ARRIVES HERE FROM AUSSIE

Topping the list of Clark Hotel guests this week is Princess Pontus, Amazon giantess, and party who arrived from Australia on the S. S. Monterey where she was a featured attraction of the Sidney Centennial and vaudeville performer for Greenhalgh booking agents in New Zealand and the Fiji Islands.

In an exclusive interview for the EAGLE today, Princess Pontus revealed a strange story of headhunting women in her native home, Para, Brazil, which dates back as far as the 14th century.

Born in Brazil, Princess Pontus is the child of an American Negro soldier and a native Brizilian Amazon said to be the last of decendents of headhunters. She was educated by Baptist missionaries in Nashville, Tennessee, and lived in Detroit until she entered show business 15 years ago. Aged 28, the Princess said she did not start growing until after she was 13 and, an examination of her glands by physicians revealed that the least excitement might start her towering even beyond the 8 feet in height which she has already attained.

In choice, polished English, the brown-skinned giantess gave me a bit of inside dope on the Maggie Jiggses of South America.

"Back in the 14th century", she said, there was a tribe of women who threw off the yoke of male supremacy by openly declaring war against them. Ruled by a woman called Pontus, none of the girls was under 6 feet. It seems that one or two of the giantesses became bored and stirred up a protest against the marriage ban and good Queen Ponty allowed them to marry provided their husbands visited only once a year. Signal for this visit was a hanging ladded on the dor of the hut. If any children were born the girls were kept on the island of South America's Lesbos and the boys sent back to the mainland with the men."

Asked if she had done a bit of head hunting herself, Princess Pontus blushingly denied that she had but her mother evidentally engaged in the native sport before the American doughboy softened her. Two shrunken heads of men slain in battle by the Amazons are in possession of the giantess.

"The tribe is almost extinct now" she continued, "and there aren't any full glooded Amazons anymore. Intermarriage among the tribes has reduced the giants to normal size and even to pigmies. But head hunting still goes on when the boys get too fly".

With Princess Pontus is Isom Thomas, a pigmy aged 32 and four feet tall, from the Belgian Congo. He proposed to Pontus, she said, but that was before Charley McCarthy became the rage and she had no idea where he'd fit in.

Isom was discovered by Frank Buck's expedition in Zululand and has been making the rounds of shows in this country and abroad ever since. His act is eating razor blades, light bulbs without batting an eye.

The couple are here on vacation and they may appear at the San Francisco Fair.

debonair william powell co-stars with annabella in her hollywood bow, 'the baroness and the butler'

Perfectly Delightful Together in Newest Darryl F. Zanuck Hit

Debonair William Powell . . . lovely Annabella!

He's the perfect butler and she's the perfect lady.

They're perfectly sensational, co-starred together in "The Baroness and the Butler," Darryl F. Zanuck's newest 20th Century-Fox hit production which opens Sunday at the Tivoli theatre.

It's Bill Powell at his best, and ovely Annabella . . . in her first American-made picture . . . the most glamorously exciting personality ever to grace the screen.

"The Baroness and the Butler" provides a gay situation within a few seconds of the opening of the picture and carries the light tempo through the entire story.

SECOND FEATURE

Many pictures have made people roll in the aisles, but last night at the Tivoli theatre "Everybody Swing" had them swinging in the aisles to the fast tempo of music and laughter in this gay madcap comedy.

Something new in the way of screen teams is presented by Allan Jones, as the singing chef, and little Judy Garland, as the girl who can't keep away from "swing" music. Billie Burke, Reginald Owen, Reginald Gardiner, and Fanny Brice complete the cast.

NEVER READS SCRIPT

Gracie Allen learned all her lines in "College Swing" orally from George Burns. She never reads a script for fear she might understand a scene and not be able to play dumb enough.

music lovers acclaim hall johnson choir

Singing a program of Negro folk music to a capacity audience which drew critics and music lovers from the city's highest art circles, the Hall Johnson choir won new plaudits Monday evening with its concert in Wilshire Ebell theatre.

Including some of the familiar spirituals revered by people of all races, Jonnsons arrangements and manner or conducting presented them with excellent musicianship without sacrificing any of their native beauty.

Prize collection of the evening, were the groups of protest songs and work songs reflecting the racial attitude toward contemporary incidents. Stark realism cahracterized their lyrics which told a powerful, moving story of the militant, present-day Negro rebelling against oppression, as in "I'm Goin' Down Dat Lonesome Road" and "Ain't Goin' be Whipped No More".

The "Scottsboro Song" in both words and music was offered as evidence that folk-songs are still being made every day.

Humor and pathos, blended with the poignant beauty and charm of elemental feeling and natural tonal quality were all expertly utilised by Hall Johnson.

Soloists William Gillespie and Bertha Powell were favorites in the rendition of "Prison Camp Song" and "St. Louis Blues".

community takes keen interest in pantry opening

If you are one of those individuals who take pride in contributing to efforts of race enterprises and have failed to visit the recently opened B. andH. Uique Pantry, 1484 West Jefferson Blvd., at Normandie Ave., you are neglecting to keep pace with your trend of thought.

Among those who have taken definite steps towards helping to keep this particular door of opportunity open for employment of our group we have seen Mrs. Charlotta Bass and several of her staff; Messrs. Paul Williams, Hugh Macbeth, Robert Garrott, Aubrey Gittens, Al Matthews, Harold Lloyd, Gerald Moore, Arthur Charleston, John Holt, W. H. Joyce, Edward Boyer, Rev. Duke, Dr. Towles, Dr. Ennis, and families.

Messrs. Ellsworth Saunders, Geo. Beavers, Leonard Hudson, Arthur Mitchell, and friends, Dr. Vada Somerville, Mesdames. Zora William, Pauline Stokely, Gertrude Chrisman, Frank Harvey, Alva Garrott, Margaret Head, Nora Holt, Madge Kelly, Juanita Henderson, Buelah Cole, Ida Hudson, Hannah Mitchell, B. Lloyd Hosman, and too many otheas to mention but you know whether you are among the nots if you have not tried their delicious chicken dinner, barbecued meat, hot biscuit, pies, cakes, and many othre good dishes served there or dilevered by telephone order.

Mrs. May McLeod Bethune as guest of our own Paul Williams prefaced her plea for our taking advantage of the open doors of opportunity by patronizing the pantry a few hours after her arrival in the city.

Mrs. Clara Owen, (better known to the neighbors as Mama Owen) bears the distinction of bearing the first patron served by the B. and H. culinary artist, as the doors were opened on April 9th.

The management appreciates the keen interest manifested by the public at large and wishes to thank you for your patronage, all who sent beautiful flowers and contributed in various other ways towards the success of our gala opening.

The enthusiastic reception accorded them has aroused a still stronger determination to be of greater service in the very near future.

The B. and H. Pantry is owned and operated exclusively by colored people with Lewis H. Bryant, and Ashby I. Harris, proprietors.

TEST PILOT

Adapted from the METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER Picture by GERTRUDE GELBIN

SYNOPSIS: Jim Lane, test-pilot for the Drake Aviation Company, is a hero to everyone who knows him—including himself. His mechanic, Gunner Sloane, is his best friend. Jim takes a Drake plane on a Transcontinental flight to break the speed record. He develops engine trouble and is forced to land in a Kansas wheat field. A girl watches him land.

NOW READ CHAPTER TWO — BELOW

"Did you go to college, Mr. Lane?"

"Joe and I are going to be married."

"You're a nutty dame."

"What's this Ann stuff?"

"This is my wife, Gunner."

As Jim (Clark Gable) crawls out of his plane, the girl runs up to him. He turns to flash her the old smile that gets 'em. "I broke the record so far," he grins, "but then I see you—and I can't get by. And goodbye record." He expects her to be bewildered and dazzled. Instead, she laughs outright, then murmurs, "Why have you been so long? I've been waiting for you." Jim frowns as he realizes the dame's a wisecracker.

Copyright 1938 Loew's Inc.

He thinks to put her in her place by telling her who he is; but she answers that he'd better come to the house and wash his face. She tells him she's Ann Barton (Myrna Loy), daughter of the farmer on whose field he's landed. Jim grins again—"a country girl, eh?" But, breakfasting with the family, he discovers Ann's been to college—that she's smart as a whistle—and that she has a sense of fun and humor as great as his own

Jim phones Gunner Sloane (Spencer Tracy) to rush out to fix the plane so he can continue the flight. He and Ann spend the day together. He likes her because she is more down-to-earth than anybody he's ever known, except Gunner. Ann realizes that given half a chance she could love Jim to distraction. However, that evening, she introduces Jim to Joe (Ted Pearson), as the man to whom she's engaged to be married.

Gunner arrives. "You saw a dame, so you landed," he jeers. He fixes the plane and departs. Jim sets out for New York. Ann watches him take off, her eyes filled with tears. She sees him fly a short distance, turn back and land. "I forgot something," he mutters. "You forgot me," she cries. He siezes her in his arms and kisses her. Together they set off in the plane. Don't miss the next chapter judge lindsay bill protects child actors

Superior Judge Ben B. Lindsay yesterday announced he has drafted a bill to bring about an end to court fights over earnings of a minor in the theatrical profession.

Proposed bill, drafted by Judge Lindsay for introduction into the legislature, would provide that earnings of minor be their separate property instead of their parents' as at present, with the child becoming a ward of the courts during the life of a contract.

Earnings of such minors would be administered by the probate court, until player reaches legal age. Parents would be allowed a reasonable sum for the care and rearing of a child but control of the earnings stays with the court.

Get Out Tape, Girls; Here's the Ideal Figure

Plans and specifications of a Hollywood charm girl were itemized today by LeRoy Prinz, Paramount dance director.

Prinz took the average figures of more than 200 dancing girls in Paramount's "College Swing" as the basis of his statistics. According to Prinz, the ideal measurements are as follows:

Height, not over 5 feet, 6in; weight according to height but not to exceed 115 pounds; ankle, 8 inches; calf, 13½ in.; knee, 13½ inches; thigh, 19½ inches; hips, 36 inches; waist, 24 inches, and bust, 34 inches.

Such a form gives artistic symmetry, Mr. Prinz said.

actors guild launches membership drive; asks profession and laity in

NEW YORK. (By Noble Sissle for ANP)—The Negro Actors Guild of America, Inc., has just launched its first open drive for membership throughout the world, for both the Negro members of the profession and those of the laity who are desirous of joining. As is true of the Associated Jewish, Catholic and Episcopal Actors guilds, so with the Negro Actors guild, both the profession and the laity of the Negro race can become active members and vote and hold office.

FREDI WASHINGTON
Guild Secretary

There having been so many organizations of the theatre using the title of guild in one way or the other, the question naturally arises just what is the Negro Actors Guild of America, and what are its aims? Well, those questions can best be answered by first stating what the guild is not.

It is not a union. It is not a little theatre movement. It does not produce or perform plays. There are no salaries paid, not even expenses allowed to any elected officer of the organization. The only paid person is the executive secretary and the stenographer. Both of these are hired by the executive board, and their salaries and expenses governed by the finance board.

LIKE OTHERS

The Negro Actors Guild of America functions under identical New York State charters as the Jewish Actors guild of which Eddie Cantor is president, and the Catholic Actors guild of which Dan Healy is president. The Negro Actors guild is recognized by these guilds and has just been accepted by the theatre authority as a member of that group and so recognized by that distinguished organization which also numbers among its members as official racial and theatrical organizations not only the Jewish and Catholic Actors guild, but the Episcopal guild, the Actors Fund of America of which dean of the American stage, Daniel Froham, is president; the Stage Relief Fund, and the Authors' League Fund, of which Marc Connolly is president.

WELFARE

The Negro Actors guild, as the above associated guilds, is in plain words a welfare organization; a clearing house, so to speak, for all the troubles of the members of the profession that belong to it. The guild is to render genuine services throughout the country to its members of the profession in time of distress and whenever possible to render limited financial assistance. However, it is not a relief bureau.

Like the Jewish, Catholic, and Episcopalian guilds, we have at last found out how important the theatre, radio, and screen are to the forming of public opinion. We, like them, have found how far reaching the effect and lessons learned from these vast mediums of propaganda are. In many instances, they are more far reaching than the pulpit or the lecture platform and more convincing than the schoolroom.

The Jewish guild has for its members the headline actors of all the branches of the entertaining world in its organization, along with the finest of its laity. The most powerful Jewish forces in the country are active members of the Jewish guild, and their aim is to teach Judism in the theatre. To keep the stands of the Jewish race on a high elevation, and to eliminate from the theatre, radio, and screen those things not elevating to the Jewish race.

Likewise the Episcopal Actors guild sets forth to champion and uphold the high standards of decency on the stage and in the other theatrical fields, and to appear and support those who adhere to its standards.

And so with the Negro Actors Guild of America, following the same formula of organization of its white brother and sisters of the profession. We want to bring honor to the profession of which we are members. To the laity throughout the world who are desirous of helping us perpetuate the ideals which brought this Negro Actors guild into being, we ask you to join and pool your influence and interest in this organization. Help us in our most important position before the eyes of the world as your ambassadors of good will to uphold the honorable and sacred traditions of the race and to elevate, foster and promote good fellowship and the spiritual welfare of the Negro actor and actress and those connected with all branches of the entertaining profession.

The stage is admitted to be one of the world's most powerful social institutions and despite the great part the Negro has played in the theatrical field there has been no national organization sincerely and solely devoted to his well-being or pledged to promote the best interest of the stage and those upon it.

It is the aim of the organization to have branch offices with same set-up in all key cities throughout the country. For full details of membership, just drop a postal card to Negro Actors Guild of America, Inc., 1674 Broadway, New York.

MARIAN ANDERSON LEAVES HOMELAND ON YEAR'S TOUR

GIFTED MARIAN ANDERSON will give her farewell concert at the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, on May 26. This "farewell" means that the recital is the singer's last appearance in America until the fall of 1939.

A world-wide tour that is scheduled to end in South America will keep her away that long.

Nothing like the success of Miss Anderson on her return to her native land this year has been seen in concert circles in many years. She has had extreme success abroad in the last five years, although it is no longer customary for American artists to seek European reputations to stimulate recognition from their own compatriots.

miss harvey dangerously ill in new york had tested for 'gone with wind'

NEW YORK — Late reports this week indicated little improvement in the condition of Georgette Harvey, one of the best known veteran thespians, who is gravely ill in Mt. Sinai hospital.

Miss Harvey was taken ill suddenly from an old malady immediately upon her arrival here from Hollywood and the west coast where she had played a leading role in "Porgy and Bess". At the insistence of Rouben Mamoulian, who attributes much of his success in films and stage production to the inspiration of Miss Harvey, she made tests for the Selznick picture, "Gone With the Wind".

Georgette Harvey

She is one of the first Negro performers to visit Russia, where she lived for 16 years, acquired fabulous amounts of money and jewels before the revolution; and returned to America as a feature when she was also first to sing, "Eli, Eli", on a Broadway stage.

workers busy as paramount starts epics

Several hundred carpenters and other construction employees today were at work building a dozen huge sets at Paramount studio for forthcoming pictures in the biggest construction boom in more than two years.

An area of three blocks is being cleared for the Ronald Coleman starring picture. "If I were King", which Frank Lloyd will produce and direct. The construction and art departments are peeding plans to build a medieval French city after the photographs of the ancient city of Carassone.

ELABORATE

One of the most elaborate indoor settings of the past 12 months is being used in "Tropic Holiday," featuring Bob Burns, Martha Raye, Dorothy Lamour and Ray Milland on Stage 8 at the Studio. This is a Southern Mexico village plaza. A huge bull ring was built for this picture at a Calabasas location.

For "The Texans". Director James Hogan is supervising construction of a replica of the Indianola, Texas of the post-Civil War period. Against this setting at Paramount Ranch, 36 miles from Hollywood, will be filmed scenes with Joan Bennett, Randolph Scott, May Robeson, Walter Brennan, and a large supporting cast.

Plans are now being drawn of a futuristic airport hanger for the climax of "Men With Wings", William A. Wellman's history of aviation in America is being filmed in Technicolor.

Several interior sets are being built to match the exteriors in Pomona, California, for "Sing You Sinners," the Bing Crosby-Fred MacMurray musical.

EXOTIC 'PROPS'

Some of the furniture and other properties being used in the new Bob Burns-Martha Raye musical "Tropic Holiday", at Paramount were brought from Southern Mexico and had to be transported 100 miles by burro to the nearest railroad.

STAR KEEPS PET

Olympe (O-lamp) Bradna has a fox terrier, "Bobbie", which an admirer gave her 10 years ago when she made her debut in Paris at the age of 7 as a dancer. Miss Bradna is being introduced as a star in Paramount's "Stolen Heaven", continental music drama.

"Frankie" Sues Picture Company for $200,000

ST. LOUIS, April 28. (ANP)—Suit for $200,000 damages was filed by Atty. Joseph L. McLemore in circuit court Thursday for Frankie Baker, of Portland, Ore., who says she is the original "Frankie" of "Srankie and Johnnie", against a Hollywood film compan yand several stars who appeared in the picture of that name.

Defendants listed were Helen Morgan, Lilyan Tashman (now deceased), and Chester Morris, actors; Jack Kirkland, author; Chester Erskine, director! Republic Pictures, Inc., and two of its distribution companies.

McLemore said the suit was filed in St. Louis because the story made famous in song occurred there. It charges the picture is a portrayal of incidents in Frankie's life and "was wrongful, wanton, willful and malicious." The film showed a barroom scene for the 1899 shooting in which Frankie "pulled out her little 44" in her home, then in St. Louis.

According to the attorney, Frankie was subsequently acquitted on grounds of self defense. In the petition, Frankie said she did not take the life "of said Johnnie because of any enragement concerning Nellie Bly".

Editorial Comment

AID TO NEGRO EDUCATION

The bulk of our group reside on farms in the South and school finances in rural areas are especially inadequate. Moreso, however, because the small sum allotted these schools is "cut" to bolster up the amount used for the education of whites. The farm population, however, must educate 31 per cent of the nation's children. The educational advantages of rural America have been greatly strengthened through Federal assistance and colored people in Dixie will, for the first time, receive a just and equitable amount of funds allotted for the purpose.

Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, noted educator and also founder-president of Bethune-Cookman College, Daytona Beach, Florida, has been selected by President Roosevelt to look after the interest of the group in the distribution of funds.

Commenting on such facts in a recent bulletin, the National Education Association remarks:

"State lines and even distinctions between regions are rapidly disappearing as migration is accelerated. The citizen of a state, more than ever before, is a citizen of the nation and with this tendency toward national citizenship goes increased national responsibility for the welfare and education of every individual citizen wherever he may be located."

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK

When we see today's youth in foreign lands stumbling blindly after the heels of demagogues, heedless as the mice that scampered to their doom after the Pied Piper, the words of H. G. Wells strike with telling force.

That great historian, after surveying the tumult and the shouting, the selfishness and the war-making, of our present world was led to declare civilization was running a close race between catastrophe — and education!

In education alone, in the development of youth's rich stores of skill and talent, in the broadening of their intellectual horizons, in the deepening of their human sympathies, in the growth of their tolerance and a wholesome skepticism, lies the hope of today's world and the promise of civilization's ultimate triumph over catastrophe.

California recognizes that fact. She has set aside the week beginning April 25 as Public Schools Week to bring the importance of that truth home to every parent, to every person, who believes he has a stake in tomorrow's world. California, whose teachers and schools rank among the finest in the nation, set the example for the rest of America when she, first of all her sister states, inaugurated a Public Schools Week eighteen years ago.

Visit your children's school on this occasion. You owe it to your youngsters. You owe it to yourself.

THAT CERTAIN FEELING

Now, if ever, comes the time when you'll be smitten with the authentic variety of that feeling known as "Spring fever".

With the full flush of Spring spreading over California's hillsides, and the warm tides of Summer but a few weeks distant, this mid-season spell may bring in its wake that certain tired feeling.

However, the chances are excellent that the decided drop in vitality, which used to characterize Spring fever, won't be assailing your bones and marrow. If it does, watch your diet! This is the Spring-seasoned advice of Dr. R. Adams Dutcher, head of the agricultural and biological chemistry department at Pennsylvania State College.

"Eat plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables," he urges, "to supply the body with much-needed vitamins and to attack the toxins left by colds."

AN INSPIRING MESSAGE

Los Angeles was honored Sunday with the presence of Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, one of the heads of the National Youth movement, and also first woman of her race to hold a place in the set-up of the Federal government.

The distinguished educator delivered an address to over 2,500 people at the Second Baptist church at 3 p. m. An eloquent speaker who really says things, Mrs. Bethune electrified the great audience, made up of folk of all races, and filled the hearts of old and young with a new hope and confidence in the future.

Weaving in incidents of her own rise from a southern cabin to a place in the ranks of leaders in world affairs, Mrs. Bethune drove home a message that will live long in the hearts and minds of her hearers. Her visit has generated a spirit of helpfulness, one to the other, that will prove fruitful and a blessing.

We are glad she came and will be happy to again welcome her to Los Angeles.

NEGRO SEEKS JIM CROW

The strongest defense of Jim Crow comes from the Negro himself. In this, Negro churches, lodges and social organizations take the lead.

Comes now the great CME Conference which will bask in the spotlight of Jim Crow by invading Hot Springs, Ark., to hold their quadrennial meet during the coming month. Ministers, laymen, heads of schools and colleges will sit in Jim Crow cubby holes of railway stations, ride sections of street cars labeled "For Negroes", lift hats when entering public places and when it's all over, return to their several homes telling in glowing terms of the wonderful time enjoyed in one of the worst hellholes in all Dixie — Hot Springs.

The coming General Conference follows close on the heels of an incident involving a minor traffic accident by a Kansas City white man and his wife who had to leave Hot Springs under the cover of darkness in order to save life, limb and their automobile. This created a fear among the churchmen and an agitation by Bishop James Arthur Hamlett and other militant leaders to choose another meeting place, but it seems that the lovers of humiliation were too strong and the fight was lost. Opposition to meeting in the Springs asked, "If a white man was thus treated, what would happen to a Negro preacher should he happen to jostle a white person on a crowded street or scrape fenders with his automobile? Yes, just what would be the price?"

If Negroes hold big meetings in states where they are denied their constitutional rights and use of public-owned and operated conveniences and declare they had an enjoyable time, it clamps down the screws upon our freedom in liberal states. A California or Massachusetts white man is just in claiming if Rev. Sawemgood and his people are happy over segregation in Arkansas, why can't we give him his likes up here without a big howl? No race organization should hold a meeting in a state where our civil rights are abridged and when an end is put to this sort of thing the road will be much smoother.

THE WORLD THIS WEEK

By ROBERT PATTERSON

HOW MUCH RELIEF?

Now that President Roosevelt has announced his plan to get a multi-billion dollar pump-priming program in full swing by midsummer, another question arises in the thoughts of citizens as Congress hustles to ring down the curtain by May 14. Two billions is the estimated total relief budget for the coming fiscal year, 1938-39, and one of the most important questions it provokes is a moral and social problem, not a political or economic one. It is simply, "How much relief can the 'reliefers' themselves stand?" Will the two and one-half millions now on relief ever want to seek a better job, and set the spurs to their initiative and energies, when checks fall benevolently "as the gentle rain from heaven"? The potential demoralization of such a vast army, through the habit-forming drug of relief, is not a wholesome prospect. Though Congress may agree on pump-priming, the question remains, "How much relief can 'reliefers' safely stand?"

"STICK TO ONE MODEL!"

The Michigan farm boy and former $2.50 a week machinist's helper who rose to the pinnacles of wealth and world fame, celebrated his golden wedding anniversary last week in a sumptuous Detroit drawing room banked with roses and orchids. A far cry that was from the kerosene-lighted farmhouse parlor in which Henry Ford, severely jacketed in a Prince Albert coat, was married to Clara Bryant in 1888. But the billionaire automobile builder has lost little of his homespun wisdom or down-to-earth humor while traversing the long highroad to success. To young men, desirous of a happy marriage, he urged, "Stick to one model!" That ideal, everyone knows, has been severely battered during the past 20 years, with tempers and temperaments riding high at the expense of compromise and tolerance. Of course, those are old-fashioned virtues. But old-fashioned virtues like those seem to weather the changing seasons with ease. They're always new as tomorrow!

HIPPOCRATES WAS RIGHT

When he saw his friends sniffling from colds, and their brows weighted down by leaden headaches, wise old Hippocrates, father of medicine, advised one simple cure — rest. Today a study of the 1,667 Harvard students who spent a total of 70 years in Harvard's Stillman Infirmary during the past 31 months, suffering from colds and respiratory infections, has just been published. Physicians subjected all those ailing students to every recognized cure for colds, from drugs to vaccines. The results of the study indicated that, after 2,400 years, old Hippocrates still has the right answer. The only reliable, thoroughly beneficial cure was found to be — rest.

RETRIBUTION IN SING-SING

The man who once could borrow a million dollars on Wall St. is today just a number in New York's Sing Sing Prison. The man who was once a powerful force among the world of financiers is today digging ditches and raking the soil in the prison yard for five cents a day. For at least three years and four months his bedroom will be a four-by-seven-foot cell. Such is the fate of Richard Whitney, ex-governor and former president of New York's Stock Exchange, and such is the punishment exacted by the law for the securities he stole from his friends and associates. Should Whitney prove an exemplary prisoner, he may walk out of Sing Sing Prison a free man in 40 months. But never again will he be permitted to return to Wall St., the seat of his now shattered power. And never again will the runners, the clerks, the officials in the Exchange and brokerage houses, look up in awe and admiration if Richard Whitney passes by. He has lost his kingdom.

Let's Help the Law

What sense does not teach, fear must! This thing of one man killing another over a small gambling debt or some other triviality has got to stop! Murder is no misdemeanor to be treated lightly, with bloody-minded killers walking the streets to kill again!

It is a fact that the courts do not convict Negroes for killing Negroes like they do when Negroes kill whites. For that reason there are few murders of the latter kind, though the others are many. Even killings of whites in self defense are rare. But every Negro with a temper feels no constraint where the object of his wrath is a member of his own race.

The conditions are known. The problem is what to do. The police and the prosecutors say they cannot get convictions of Negro murderers who kill Negroes because the eye witnesses refuse to testify. There is something to that charge, if true. The presumption of innocence which every accused person has makes it necessary to prove guilt. If the witnesses hide out, no amount of zeal on the part of the law can punish murderers.

We spend our time berating the prosecutors and charge them with not trying to convict. The regularity with which Negro women go free for killing Negro men offers a basis for the opinion. But since one part of the responsibility for convictions rests upon the public, that of furnishing testimony, the practical things is for Negroes to take the mote out of their eye first, so that they can better see the beam in the prosecution's eye.

The killings in the underworld illustrate what happens among Negroes. The gangster has a code which keeps him from telling who brought about his death. His pals take up the trail and mete out punishment. But the law is powerless. It has no witnesses.

If we insist that the state is not as diligent as it could be in trying to convict Negro slayers of Negroes, still it is up to us to set our own house in order first, before we demand that the prosecution do its duty. (From the Kansas City Call).

FROM "KEN"

Dear Editor:

We were very sorry that you were offended by the use of the word "Darky" in "Borah, the Lynch Bill Buster." (Ken, April).

We can assure you that no offense was intended against the colored race. As a matter of fact it is a rule of our publications that the word Nego be capitalized whenever it occurs. And we number many Negros among our contributors—Chester B Himes, E. Simms Campbell and Langston Hughes, for example.

Cordially yours,
ARNOLD GINGRICH,
Editor Ken Magazine

Ed's note: The spelling of the words Negro and Negroes, is printed herein exactly as it appeared in the above letter, written to C. A. Bass, Eagle editor, by Mr. Gingrich.

RELIGION'S BUSINESS

Dear Editor:

If it is possible, please accept and find space for this invaluable editorial.

GOD'S warning and criticism of Religion, through His well tried Servant.

Religion—your job is to purify and resurrect the soul from the cradle to maturity:—which is of a triune importance to GOD; known as the physical, mental, and Spiritual.

I warn that it is not your business to meddle with the affairs of the state.

The Moral Laws are yours to adhere to and teach; whereas the ABSOLUTE is for the Secret Service Branch of the Church.

If you are sworn in as a religionist, do your part in raising purer and more instrumental Souls, there will not be much danger of the morale in Government running adverse to the Principles and Fundementals of Righteousness.

Yours truly,
GEO. W. PHILLIPS

JOLSON-ENCINO AFFAIR

Editor:

Your commendable handling of the Jolson-Encino affair was fine work. In my judgement, it marks out the advanced technique which we would do well to adopt in such sociological matters. In putting the parties concerned definitely on the defensive, you have shown that an ounce of aggression is better than a pound of racial defense. Those who sign such covenants, in the first instance, are conspirators against definite provisions of the Federal Constitution and I have long wondered if they could not be prosecuted in Federal Courts, when racial discrimination is clearly expressed. We have no quarrel with the principle of property restrictions in the interest of health, cultural objectives and high economic standards, but where racial distinction is made the standard among American citizens it amounts to defiance of the Constitution. I wonder if I am right in that viewpoint and would appreciate your Attorney's opinion on it, if permissible, in your columns.

Very sincerely yours,
S. W. BRISTER

P. S. I was deeply moved by the above idea, when the account of punitive action was reported against Mr. Harry Pace, in the courts of Chicago, about a year ago for purchasing property in a racially restricted zone. I wondered if counter-action could not be affected by Mr. Pace against those who went into Court confessing themselves signers of the original Covenant. I wrote to my fellow Presbyterian minister and friend, Dr. Wm. Lloyd Imes, (who is a member of the National NAACP Board) at the time and he promised to look into the status of it, but did not write me again. Under the stalwart leadership of Attorney Thos. L. Griffith, Jr. maybe Los Angeles can be first again, if he finds we "have something there".

AN OPEN LETTER TO MR. GORDON B. HANCOCK

Dear Sir:

It is with profound sincerity that I take this privilege to call to your attention some of the absurdities of your article under the caption: "Great Britain in the Rumble Seat with Hitler, Mussolini Driving, Not Assuring", in the California Eagle of April 21, 1938.

I beg to remind you that it has been my desire to write you before now, but the element of time prevented my doing so. It is indeed regrettable that a man of this 20th Century could write such trivial matter in a paper, especially is this true when Literature of even conservative writers is deserving.

In your article you speak of the inevitability of a dictatorship in America. Now of course this needs some clarifying, because if by dictatorship of the Proletariat--the working people—is inevitable, then I agree with you. Of course I don't think this was your meaning.

Mr. Hancock, the working people in America are not as stupid as you might think—at least not so stupid as to say that, "Our present recession could be curtailed at once under a dictatorship." To quote another statement of yours that no working man in America would say, is that "Dictatorship is more human, meaning that it is especially adapted to the foibles of human nature." The working people of the world have always wanted freedom to live without persecution, poverty, starvation, war and the attributes of barbarism. Really, you must not have given any attention to the study of dictatorships such as Mussolini and Hitler. I suggest that you read the papers more, they even give you some idea of what a dictatorship is like, not to mention any references. I will gladly give you some material on this subject if you are interested in learning something about it. Perhaps you don't know it, but I might tell you that I am a very busy person. I would however take time out to coach you in the methods of research and interpreting books and newspapers on subjects that a writer should be acquainted with, and also to set you right.

My sympathies are indeed with you. And I feel there is hope for you, providing you read just a little, little more on how minorities are treated under dictatorships.

Mr. Hancock, you speak of Democracy as having broken down--to the contrary, Democracy breaks down the morale America--Capitalism has broken down. There is a great distinction between Democracy and Capitalism. When Democracy break sdown the morale of the country breaks down and all liberties fade away into oblivion. Now when Capitalism breaks down we have a strong aberration and determined efforts by the rich and powerful to resort to the most brutal practices to regain their stronghold; this bringing about a system of Fascism. For peace and Democracy I am,

Very truly yours,
ALLEN C. WOODARD

NOT GUILTY

Dear Editor:

In the issue of your newspaper published April 21, 1938, on page one there is an article under the caption "Goes to Hall of Jusice to See a Man; Cops See Him First, He is Nabbed", in which it is stated that one Felton Higgins was arrested by Newton Street police officers and charged with the robbery of one Clifford Farrar. Although it is true that I was arrested, I was not guilty of the offense alleged and after investigation the officers released me without even filing a complaint.

So that the public will not have the impression that there was any evidence at all against me in this matter, may I request that you publish this letter in the next issue of your newspaper.

Yours truly,
FELTON HIGGINS.

FOR A long time I have been wondering what effect the present labor struggle is having upon the status of American democracy.

After looking into the situation, I find a few things which, to my mind, are particularly alarming. Although there may be a hint at such in the theory of our government, I do not believe the founding fathers visualized America as a class-less society. Differing classes — of laborers, of thinkers, of people, of society — are as natural as differing IQ QUOTIENTS. Even Communist Russia has not reached nearly this professed goal. Hence, I believe that the American philosophy in connection with this vital problem is this: friendship, cooperation, and mutual respect BETWEEN classes.

In the present labor movement there is a noticeable lack of any such feelings of democratic generosity. And we do not mean to say that capital itself has not been, at times, selfish and unmindful of OTHERS' RIGHTS, but we KNOW there have been hundreds of sincere, honest business men whose transactions always have have been beneficial to their employes. However, there has sprung up in the laborer's mind recently a conception of the property owner or awful capitalist" as a depraved and unscrupulous being — living contentedly on the sweat of a thousand brows. To have worked, planned, and builded, business, a factory — any sort of commercial institution — is seemingly a crime. In short, the question has changed from "higher wages, and shorter working hours", "a more equal distribution of wealth", into something alien and un-American — a determined campaign of class-hatred and suspicion.

Again, the present worker's movement is opposed to democratic principles when it assumes a self-righteous, holier-than-thou attitude. Often labor has refused point-blank to recognize any problem of capital — has demanded, and demanded, and demanded, never taking into account the other fellow's financial difficulties. This development of arbitrary and unsportsmanlike attitudes in the American mind is a dire one indeed, for once the ability to view both sides of a given question is lost to our people, we might just as well bid democracy farewell.

So frequently we find the labor leader — model 1938 — incapable of quiet discussion and unreasonable in the face of differing opinions. He seemingly deems himself a sort of holy messenger, especially ordained, and unable to err. In one case I remember, an exponent of collective ownership pointed to the discharge of ten thousand workers by the Ford Motorcar company. He stated that under a system of joint ownership, laborers would not be forced to lose jobs in this fashion — they could simply decide to continue hiring themselves, and thus solve the entire problem. The fact that the dismissals were due to a tremendous sales drop never entered into the discussion. What would be done with the market-less machines manufactured by the workers was likewise unmentioned.

Union spokesmen have been quick to condemn the whole by the mal-practice of a few, and instantly label the slightest opposition reactionary — picture the opposer as a sort of fiend, specifically given to snatching food from babies' mouths. In short, present-day labor has confused the irregularities and injustices of the system, which certainly need remedying, with the system as a whole; that is, they have mistaken the abuses of democracy for democracy itself.

ON this Sunday when our minds have turned with loving reverence to thoughts of Mother, it is fitting that we remember also those other mothers whose children — greater than mere flesh and blood — have been ideas which have helped illuminate the dark passages and winding paths of human thought—have served as mighty cudgels against hatred, intolerance, and oppression.

As we turn back the pages of our nation's history, we find late in the eighteenth century a quiet, cultured, little woman whose gentle rhymes made her, (an ex-slave) the mother of American lyric poetry. That woman — Phyllis Wheatley, acclaimed, even then, on two continents.

In England, during the 1850's courageous Florence Nightingale forced a bigoted military regime to recognize woman as a nurse, and founded the Red Cross. Later, in America, Sara Barton carried on her illustrious work.

During the Civil and pre-Civil War period there arose three great enemies of slavery — Harriet Beecher Stowe, Sojourner Truth, and Harriet Tubman. As long as there is American literature, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be one of its greatest prides and finest landmarks. And as long as there is "Uncle Tom's Cabin" we will remember the great humanitarian, Harriet Beecher Stowe.

The magnificent energy and undaunted determination of

DEMAND MADE AT SESSION OF MODEL YOUTH IN 'FRISCO

Measure Gets One Opposing Vote; Act On Civil Rights Violators

The youth of California rallied to oust discrimination in the state with deliberation and intensity unheard of in regular legislatures in the Youth Model Legislature held in San Francisco's Civic auditorium, May 6, 7, and 8, with the passage of history-making bills to be submitted to the Sacramento body.

Preeminent among the legislation was the second bill to reach the floor of the final joint session of the assembly and senate that demanded the use of history texts in the schools of California that give adequate treatment to Negroes and other minority groups. The bill passed over one opposing vote. In order to assure fairness the bill also demanded that minority groups be represented on the board of censors of the State Board of Education.

Teeth In Civil Rights Bill

Teeth were demanded in the present state civil rights bill in a measure that asked that violation of the law be made a felony punishable by fine and at least six months imprisonment instead of the present penalty of a fine levied by the court. Other legislation directly affecting the status of the Negro include the Domestic Workers Bill passed by both houses that stipulated a nine-hour day and six day week for domestic workers living in the home of employers and an eight hour day, six day week for those residing elsewhere. It was further provided that the off-day be agreed upon between employer and employee and that the employee's time after hours be strictly her own.

In Committee

Although there was little opposition on the floor of either house to the foregoing measures,

Rev. Griffith Praised By Second Baptist Trustees

REV. T. L. GRIFFITH

The Rev. Thomas L. Griffith was highly commended at the business meeting of the trustees of the Second Baptist church, largest Negro Baptist church on the West Coast, for leadership of the church and for the reduction of the building indebtedness to $52,000 with all interest paid.

The sale of the former site of the Second Baptist Chuurch on Maple avenue between Seventh and Eighth streets was concluded last week, and the entire amount of the purchase price has been paid and applied to the mortgage indebtedness of the present structure.

The payment mentioned above together with sums raised by the church and applied to the debt during the past four years has brought a reduction approaching the of twenty-five thousand dollars. It is interesting to note that in all the years in which the Church has had dealing with its Bank there has never been any hint of threat or unpleasantness from the business institution.

B. B. Bratton Gets Sale Tax Division Promotion

Mr. Bratton, who has been with the state board for the past five years, has long been recognized as one of the most efficient workers in the sales tax division.

In announcing his promotion Mr. Bonelli said:

"It has always been my policy in connection with public office, to recognize and reward merit regardless of race, creed or color and I have been happy in the past to appoint Negro citizens to several positions of trust and responsibility.

"I am particularly glad to be able to advance Mr. Bratton to a supervisorial capacity as his work with the board has been of the highest order and has won him the approbation of his immediate superiors.

"I am certain the important responsibilities of his new position in supervising the work of others, will be fulfilled in an efficient and satisfactory manner.

"Several other Negro citizens hold important positions in the fourth district and rate very highly in our personnel."

Mr. Bratton, a certified public accountant, will enter on his new duties immediately, Mr. Bonelli said.

CONGRESSMAN LOSES PRELIMINARY FIGHT IN RAILROAD SUIT

Examiner Rules Present Coach Meets Requirements of Law

CHICAGO, May 12. (By Albert G. Barnett for ANP)—Arthur W. Mitchell, Representative in Congress from Chicago's first district, lost the preliminary skirmish in his battle against the Jim Crow railroad cars of the South here Thursday, when William A. Disque, Interstate Commerce Commission examiner, ruled that the "present Negro (Jim Crow) coach meets requirements of the law".

On April 20, 1937, enroute Chicago to Hot Springs, Ark., Congressman Mitchell was denied Pullman accommodations which his first-class ticket called for, and was compelled to ride in the Jim Crow car, second-class accommodations. Mitchell, through his counsel, Atty. Richard E. Westbrooks of Chicago, filed suit in Circuit Court here against the Pullman company, the Rock Island railway, and the Illinois Central. The suit has jurisdiction in Illinois because all the companies involved have general offices in Chicago.

Supplementing the Illinois suit, the Congressman and Atty. Westbrooks took the case to the Interstate Commerce Commission, filing affidavits detailing the discrimination involved and basing the complaint on the railroad's refusal to give Mitchell the first-class accommodation his ticket called for. Mitchell retained the stub of his first-class ticket which Atty. Westbrooks considers one of the main exhibits in the case.

EXAMINER'S DECISION

Examiner Disque, after handing down his ruling at Chicago's Morrison hotel, recommended that Mitchell's complaint be dismissed. Disque's ruling was "As there is comparatively little Negro traffic and not likely to be much demand for Pullman, dining and observation-parlor car accommodations for Negro passengers as to warrant the running of any extra cars, the discrimination and prejudice is plainly not unjust and undue".

Interviewed in Chicago, shortly after the examiner handed down his decision, Atty. Westbrooks said he was not discouraged by the recommendation, as it was far from being final, was in reality only one man's opinion and that the entire matter would be thrashed out before the Interstate Commerce body in Washington. The next move, he said, was to file exceptions to the examiner's ruling (within 20 days), and then argue the case orally before the Interstate Commerce body.

Congressman Mitchell, in Washington when informed of the examiner's adverse ruling, declared he would continue unabated his fight against the vicious inequalities of the South's Jim Crow law and that, if necessary, he would carry the case to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Dean Pickens Endorses Geo. J. Hatfield

NEW YORK CITY, May 12 (ANP)—Informed this week that Lieutenant Governor George J. Hatfield of California is a candidate for the nomination for the governorship at the coming August primary election, Dean William Pickens, NAACP director of branches, voiced his endorsement of the Hatfield candidacy.

In a letter to Wm. Glenn of San Francisco, Dean Pickens wrote: "George J. Hatfield has come to the rescue every time the rights of colored citizens were being denied and every time injustice threatened them as a minority people. He has even gone out of his official way to aid individuals who were about to be sacrificed on the evil altar of interracial ignorance and animosity . . . We must do all in our power to make his election a fact."

NO SUMMONS SERVED ON FARLEY, SAYS DEFENSE; STATE ASKS DEATH

After five days of questioning prospective jurors, final selections were made Monday morning of the men and women who are to decide the fate of the aged Farley.

Division is equal. There are six men and six women, all white.

In an opening statement made before the jury Monday afternoon, surly, red-faced prosecutor Stoll shouted that he would ask for a verdict of first degree murder. He promised to show beyond a reasonable doubt that Farley "toke his rifle and with malice aforethought, willfuly and maliciously murdered" the two men.

Dramatizing all the gruesome details of the tragedy, Stoll declared that one of the shots "literally tore the heart from the body of Crittenden." Both of the men were shot while their backs were turned, Stoll declared.

In another emphasis on the morbid, Stoll passed photographs of the dead men back and forth among the jurors for the purpose of fixing a horror scene in their minds and, placing the widows upon the stand, showed the old legalistic trick of creating sympathy.

Both Mrs. Crittenden and Mrs. Roman merely identified the pictures of their husbands.

On a huge easel facing the jury stands a diagram of the Farley home with arrows pointing to the bullet holes in the walls. Other points indicate the places where the two slain men fell mortally wounded.

THREE WIDOWS MEET!

Three women stood face to face in the court of Judge Ingull Bull Monday morning where the trial of George Farley, accused of the double murder of two deputy sheriffs who sought to evict him from his home, is now in progress.

Two of the women are white, the other one is brown.

Spectators, seeing them meet, possibly for the first time since the tragic hand of fate fell heavily upon their lives, kept at a respectful distance, wondered what would happen.

The pudgy, brown hands of Mrs. George Farley shot out towards the white women from across her waist where they have been clasped in fear and grief since that tragic morning of February 17.

Two smartly gloved white hands — just as quickly — fell upon those of the sorrowing brown woman. And in that flash of a second, race and creed and color were forgotten. Something of the noble spirit of womanhood that speaks of human love and understanding; something of the nature of the force that has stood in back of the manhood in this country when it was weak and faltering; something of the abundant heart and soul of women the world over, no matter what their color may be, was told in that impulsive gesture made among these three grief-stricken women.

Mrs. Farley was first to speak:

"I'm sorry, so sorry it all happened. I'll pray for you."

Mrs. Crittenden and Mrs. Roma spoke:

"We're sorry, too. We'll pray for you!"

Opportunity is the SLOGAN of the GOLDEN WEST LODGE, NO. 86, I. B. P. O. E. of W. OPPORTUNITY in its true sense. Not only for those who have many chances to choose from, but THOSE who have probably one OPPORTUNITY in a life time. When word came from the GRAND EXALTED RULER, FINLEY WILSON, that your humble servant should be invited to help BUILD PUBLIC interest and goodwill for the NATIONAL CONVENTION that is being groomed for our great City of LOS ANGELES for the summer of 1939, they immediately decided to GIVE OPPORTUNITY in a very unique way. They have contracted for thirteen weeks over a west coast hook-up an EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM that should be of great CIVIC INTEREST to all colored citizens. A foreword that reads: "RACE PREJUDICE MUST DIE; Manhood above nationality: The deeds that hold the world UP are not of any one blood; any BLOOD is an accident; BUT TO BE HEROES we must grow by DEEDS that are not ACCIDENTS; BUT the glory and birthright of humanity." With this slogan your humble servant will dramatize each TUESDAY EVENING from EIGHT-THIRTY to NINE the struggles and achievements of the FIRST ELEVEN NEGRO FAMILIES that started with some fifty others to BUILD THE GREAT CITY OF LOS ANGELES. Authentic material has been secured thru the able assistance of TITUS ALEXANDER, who loves California and knows its history. That outstanding star of "PORGY AND BESS", Miss Ruby Elzy, will share honors with your humble servant TRYING TO GLORIFY NEGROES who took hold of OPPORTUNITY and lived HEROIC LIVES that we may today enjoy peace and happiness in this land of SUNSHINE AND FLOWERS. These programs are a fascinating contribution by the ELKS, not only to colored AMERICA, but all and I feel highly honored in being selected to direct and act in them. There is no use URGING you to listen, I know you will, BUT ASK YOUR WHITE friends to listen that they may LEARN THAT YOU, TOO, were pioneers. I know this paper is one hundred per cent behind such CIVIC PRIDE and I feel that we all owe the ELKS a hand of THANKS at this time when NEGROES EVERYWHERE are fighting for opportunity. IT KNOCKS BUT ONCE A WEEK over STATION KFWB from HOLLYWOOD, TUESDAY NIGHTS at EIGHT-thirty for one half hour. THANKS. (Copyrighted by Clarence Muse - 1938.)

LIVING COSTS FOR LOW-WAGE EARNERS FOUND HIGHEST IN MOTOR CITY

Living Costs Lowest in Mobile, 31-City Report Shows

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 12.—High and low for living costs among low-salaried folk in 31 cities are detailed in a report made jointly by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Department of Labor, and the Division of Social Research of the WPA, and released today.

A four person manual worker's family was used as a basis for the study.

Altogether, it costs more to live in Detroit, Michigan, than in any other city in the country. Food, clothing, housing, fuel and light, furniture, furnishings and household equipment, plus miscellaneous items including personal care, cost about $1,486.50 a year in the Motor City.

Next highest living expenses are found in Washington at $1,467.74; Minneapolis, $1,465.91; San Francisco, $1,454.73; Cleveland, $1,446.54; Chicago, $1,438.46, and, New York City $1,420.86.

Mobile and Birmingham, Alabama have the lowest totals. They are $1,154.50 and $1,264.08 respectively. Since millions of workers do not earn the minimum in these cities it is obvious that they live on a sub-standard level.

Food costs at $506.74 a year places New York at the top of the list in this respect. Jacksonville, Fla., stands next at $492.05. Six other cities with upper bracket costs are Washington, $481.96; Boston, $481.40; Baltimore, $476.12; Chicago, $475.69; Portland, Maine, $474.30 and Philadelphia, $467.63. Memphis presents a more encouraging picture, its $432.24 being the lowest figure. The next lowest cost for this item is found in Los Angeles, with $432.56 as the figure.

Clothing at $199.17 a year finds Cleveland in the lead. Then follows San Francisco with $199.15; Los Angeles, $194.62; Portland, Oregon, $191.77; Detroit, $187.18; Seattle, Washington $187.19 and Minneapolis with $186.99. Mobile looms again as a delight to low-income families with its clothing cost set at the lowest figure—$148.61. Baltimore, Maryland, next up that scale with $156.10.

The Nation's Captial leads in housing with an annual cost of $357.68. Detroit places next highest with $325.99. Other cities in order stand: New York, $306.19; Minneapolis, $299.85; Atlanta, $288.70; Cleveland, $288.62; St. Louis, $286.34 and San Francisco at $281.71. Housing for wage earners is cheapest in Mobile with cost at $173.26. Portland, Oregon, is second lowest with $193.59 as its figure.

Fuel and light find Minneapolis low-wage folk paying $124.44 annually for these items. Portland, Maine, places second highest with $97.44. Chicago, Boston, Detroit, New York City and Seattle fall next in line in order named. There respective figures are $94.99, $86.52, $85.28, 83.01 and $77.52. Warm rays from a Texas sun and deep coal mines in Pennsylvania probably account for Houston and Pittsburgh placing lowest in the fuel and light bracket Figures for Houston are $45.30 with Pittsburgh estimated next at $56.56.

San Francisco with costs up to $28.18 a year takes highest place in the furniture, furnishings and household equipment bracket. Buffalo, N. Y. wage earners find these necessities only 18 cents cheaper. Figures for five other cities are: $37.97 for Richmond, Virginia; $37.83, for Houston; $37.29 Cincinnati; $37.03 for Los Angeles and $36.90 for Minneapolis. Furniture and related household goods and equipment are found cheapest in New York with the figure set at $30.95. Birmingham places next up the scale with $31.90.

Manual workers with their family of four persons, find miscellaneous items, including personal care, highest in San Francisco. There, $405.67 is listed as the estimated cost per year. Mobile shows up again with lowest cost. For miscellaneous items $299 is required by low paid folk to look after their personal needs in the Alabama city.

Louisiana Lily Growers Demand Increase in Prices for Their Bulbs

BOOTHSVILLE, La., May 12 (ANP)—Eighty-five miles below New Orleans the most unique industry in the United States, Easter Lily Bulb Growing, has become union conscious to demand better prices for lily bulbs.

Because these are the only lily growing fields in America, all others being imported from Japan and Bermuda, and because the durability of the bulbs and fine texture of the flowers produced from these bulbs are far superior to those imported into this country, Earl Denet, colored, and Charles Gillie, white, formed a Lily Committee of Boothsville and Venice and have affiliated themselves with the Farmers' Union.

Last year bulbs were graded and the growers were paid from three to five cents per bulb. This year they are demanding eight cents per bulb for they say every bulb is a bulb. Federal, state and county cooperation is being sought so that the bulbs can get a stamp of approval on each crate.

FHA Doesn't Help Negro Says Gordon

Pertinent facts relating to the housing situation on the Eastside were told by Walter Gordon, Sr., prominent realtor, on the California Eagle News Broadcast last Thursday night.

Mr. Gordon, who has dealt in Los Angeles real estate fifteen years was interviewed by Almena Davis, reporter on the Eagle staff over station KGFJ from 8:15 to 8:30.

Among the statements made by Mr. Gordon were: Nine years of little or no building on the Eastside and population increases during that time, makes it difficult to house Negroes. There is no need for slum clearance in Los Angeles, but there is need for moderately-priced rent houses. Various restrictive clauses in deeds and community covenants such as the occupancy clause, wherein Negroes may own, but not occupy houses, adds to the congestion in the city. The FHA does not help Negroes to any great extent because conditions in "Negro districts" are contrary to requirements as outlined for governing loans. The Negro does not suffer from a lack of Home financing, however, as the lending agencies and private individuals consider them a good risk.

Mr. Gordon commended the colored realty dealers organization which he says has done much to hold down rents. Negro realty dealers have been organized into the Central Avenue Realty Board since 1934, with Mr. Gordon president, George W. City, Elijah Cooper, and Seth B. Ray, vice president, treasurer and secretary, respectively.

YWCA OPENS CLASS IN WORLD AFFAIRS

CHICAGO, May 12 —(ANP)—Through efforts of Mrs. Roscoe C. Giles, chairman public affairs committee, South Parkway Branch YWCA, a class in current national and international affairs has been started with Mrs. William G. Barry as instructor. Widely traveled and a noted lecturer, Mrs. Barry is a former president of Federated Womens' Clubs, a member of the League of Women Voters and of the Chicago Council on Foriegn Relations. She is a graduate of the University of Chicago.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT "AMAZED"

"The President was amazed when he learned from factual information gathered by the "Courier" of the true status of black soldiers. He was further amazed to discover the vast amount of sentiment throughout the Nation, North and South, in favor of simple justice for the black citizens of the United States Army".

So stated Robert L. Vann, editor of the Pittsburgh Courier, after a conference with President Roosevelt on the creation of a separate division of Negroes in the army, a plan proposed by Vann.

Vann said he found the President "very sympathetic" to the plan and that he felt no new legislation would be required. He declared that the President proposed that the present four Negro regiments—Ninth Cavalry, the Tenth Cavalry, the 24th and 25th Infantry, be used to serve as the nucleus of a complete Negro division.

According to Vann, the President is in favor of creating a Negro division by executive order but will first explore the constitutionality of the move.

This proposal and the asserted Presidental acquiesence to it has been praised and commended, the opposition to it, numbering some of the foremost leaders of the race, arguing that such a division will defeat the aims of race leaders to integrate the Negro into the life of the Nation.

Youths Get Opportunity in CMT Camp

Unusual opportunity for training and participation in a large Government project will be given Colored boys through the Citizens' Military Training Camp at Fort MacArthur opening August 9, it was claimed this week by Baxter S. Scruggs, executive secretary of the Eastide Branch of the YMCA, head of a Veterans organization.

Mr. Scruggs is leader of a group which proposed the training camp for Negro boys.

The Citizens' Military Training Camps were organized in 1921 and are administered by the War Department.

Main object of CMT is set forth as to develop citizen leadership under expert military training.

The Camps are open to boys from 17 to 24 years of age and training is given at the expense of the Government, which includes board, lodging, medical attention, uniforms, ecquipment, laundry, and transportation.

Prior to this year, Colored boys were not given an opportunity to engage in the activities of Camps in the Ninth Corps Area, which includes California.

From August 9 to September 7, more than 100 Colored boys will be assembled at Fort MacArthur for Camp training. The courses offered in clude: basis, red, white and blue. The plan, according to Mr. Scruggs, is eventually to have the present time, there is no Colored officer in this branch of service in the Army.

Applications for enrollment can be secured by writing: The Commanding Officer, Fort MacArthur, San Pedro, California.

New Spirit in Negroes, Declares Walter White

NEW ORLEANS, May 12 (By Richard H. Thomas for ANP)—Walter White, militant secretary of the NAACP, delivered a long to be remembered address to a large and appreciative audience in a mass meeting held at Xavier university Tuesday.

The keynote of Mr. White's speech was that there are evidences of a new spirit in Negroes in the South. He pictured his arrival in Dallas, even though it was rumored that he would not speak there. The Negroes met him at the station and the populace turned out in mass to hear him. The old adage, "this is a white man's country and will always remain so", is passing declared Mr. White.

In referring to the anti-lynch bill, the secretary-lobbyist told how he was approached by Southern senators in an effort to affect a compromise. "If we let the anti-lynch bill through will you not seek any other legislation?" they asked. Mr. White said, "I refused because I thought I would have been doing you an injustice. I preferred to let the bill take its own course." He said the bill is not defeated. It is still on the senate calendar. If the bill is not passed in this session of congress, he declared that his organization would keep up the fight.

"The South has fertile soil, good rivers and fine harbors but because it tries to keep a race down, it is the most backward section," he said. He went on to disqualify Senator William E. Borah as a constitutionalist. In mentioning Bilbo of Mississippi he said, he would be willing to go back to Africa if he could be assured that Bilbo would not be there.

He told of the program the NAACP is using to get equal and better salaries for teachers. He said that, $61.000 had been added to teachers' salaries in Maryland as a result of five suits filed by his organization.

WALTER WHITE. He would be willing to go back to Africa if he could be assured Bilbo wouldn't be there.

Jealous S. C. Woman Battles Four But She is Whipped

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 12. (ANP)—That the odds were against her meant nothing to Lillie Pringle when it came to a question of fighting for what she considered seniority rights in "her man." Friday, she not only took on him, but also battled three women companions with whom he was fishing.

Eddie Cannon, the man in the case, was contentedly fishing with Myrtle Jones, Alice Johnson and Cleo Hudson around 2 o'clock in the afternoon when Miss Pringle, apparently driven by jealousy, accosted the quartet whom she had followed. A fight with Cannon began hostilities, and then his companions joined the battle royal. Miss Pringle, however, was doing quite nicely until somebody introduced a knife. The lovesick woman was cut badly but not seriously, and after treatment at Columbia hospital, was released. Her four sparring partners were locked up.

A. A. C. P. held at Muskogee last Saturday night.

An interested audience of white and colored youth heard the minister urge the Negro to make use of the ballot in fighting oppression and social injustice. "Only by organization and aggressiveness can you successfully meet the situation that confronts you," Rev Hyde said.

CHALLENGES CHURCH

BISHOP JAMES A. BRAY of Chicago, who delivered the Episcopal Address to the Colored Methodist Episcopal church at its Quadrennial Session in Hot Springs this week. The message, the official pronouncement of the denomination on affairs of the day; as they affect the life of the race, demanded justice in the distribution of government funds and relief, urged fairer distribution of employment, blasted lynching and endorsed efforts to secure fairer treatment in the U. S. Army and Navy.

The report scored the inequality of educational opportunities in the south, especially the distribution of government funds, urged a continuance of relationships with the M. E. church, South, and advised against the election of more bishops at this time, declaring them an unnecessary expense. The church was challenged to do its share in bringing those desired reforms and to crusade for great spirituality. (ANP)

Bethune Blessing Excites San Diego

SAN DIEGO, May 12—A table blessing recited by Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, while on an inspection tour of NYA projects here, caught the fancy of club women feting her at a breakfast during her West Coast tour and started the group memorizing it.

"God bless this food to our bodies.
God bless our bodies to our service
God bless our service to all mankind."

The story is taken from the New Testament and portrays the high priest Caiaphas and his household following the crucifixion of Jesus. Dorothy Clark Wilson has dramatized this story into a strong and beautiful theme. Dr. Bunnell is supported by a brilliant cast of Christian players. The play is open to the public.

Science Subject is 'Mortals and Immortals'

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text is from Paul's first letter to the Corinthians: "As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy: and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly."

Among the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon are these words of Paul to the Ephesians: "This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind. . . . That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind: And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousnes and true holiness."

A correlative passage from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Morals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual,—they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite,—in order that sin and mortality may be put off."

Miss Ernestine Taylor, the winner of the title "Miss Wesley" in the popularity contest conducted prior to the Semi-Centennial, was born in Bay City, Texas. She came to Los Angeles at an early age, graduated from the commercial course at Thomas Jefferson High School and pursued a business course in the Los Angeles Junior College. She is not only popular in Wesley, but also a popular young lady of the city, and a member of the Bridgadettes Social Club.

WESLEY CHURCH

Wesley Church has had a very interesting and colorful history. It was organized in 1888. It had its birth in the home of Mr. E. G. Hill, the only surviving charter member of the church. The first pastor was the Rev. F. H. Tubbs, capable and respected white minister, who served from 1888 to 1890; he was succeeded by Rev. David Mucca, who was pastor from 1890 to 1893. Rev. S. W. Hawkins was the next pastor, whose pastorate was from 1893 to 1899. Rev. F. L. Donahoo served from 1897 to 1902. Rev. G. R. Bryant followed Rev. Donahoo. Rev. Bryant sold the old church at Sixth and Maple Streets and built the present edifice. Rev. Bryant remained from 1902 to 1909; Rev. L. M. Haygood followed Rev. Bryant and remained two years, 1909-1911. Rev. Haygood was succeeded by Rev. E. W. Kinchen, who served from 1911 to 1916. Rev. Shaw became pastor after the removal of Rev. Kinchen. Rev. Shaw remained for almost fourteen years, 1917-1930, and under his leadership Wesley took her place among the leading churches of the city. Rev. Shaw was succeeded by Rev. L. E. Jordan, whose pastorate extended from 1930 to 1936. Rev. E. W. Rakestraw succeeded Rev. Jordan in January, 1937, and under his leadership Wesley is experiencing marvelous growth.

Churches that Grew out of Wesley

Wesley has given birth to three churches: Hamilton M. E. Church, located at 18th and Naomi Avenue, of which the Rev. S. M. Beane is pastor, was organized by the late Rev. G. R. Bryant during his pastorate of Wesley. W. Scott M. E. Church in Pasadena, was also organized by the Rev. Bryant. Shaw Chapel M. E. Church, located at 114th Street and Compton Avenue, in South Los Angeles, was organized by Rev. A. P. Shaw in 1923, during his pastorate of Wesley.

Dr. Rakestraw found Wesley at a low ebb, but under his leadership Wesley has been revived and has reclaimed her power and prestige. Dr. Rakestraw is an eloquent preacher, great organizer and builder. At the close of his first year $11.000 had been raised and over one hundred members had been added to the church. Dr. Rakestraw's entire ministry has been marked with a notable success. Ponder Receives A Letter From Home

Macon, Georgia
May 7, 1938

Dear Uncle Ponder:

Sure was glad to hear you are a daddy for the second time. You have my sympathy. But let me tell you the news. We got a house. It has six rooms. One room we eat in; another we just kind of set in; then there is a room where Ma does nothin but cook-in. But the wash room is the one we all like best. There is a lookin glass on the wall where you can see yourself; under the glass is a big bowl where you can wash your hands and face. When you get real dirty there is a big tub against the other wall where we wash ourselves all over. Then there is another bowl with a handle on it that sits on the floor. This had us all fooled for a while, but got it figured out now. It is to wash your feet in. It had two lids on it when we moved in here, but I took them off as they kept falling on my feet. The top lid Ma is using for a dough board and we framed Pa's picture with the other. The hogs are coming along fine and we got a good crop of cotton comin up. Your favorite mule, Jen, is eaten his head off. If you ever come here on one of them Pullman trains, please let us no and I'll hitch old Jen to the wagon and drive down and meet you. Be sure and write me what you are going to name the baby.

Your Nephew,
Nathaniel Abraham
Josephus Lee.

Go after things, and things will come your way.

Birthday Greetings

Old Time Santa Fe Patrons Force Road to Place Calif. Limited Back in Service

When the Santa Fe Railroad officials discontinued operating their pioneer train, the California Limited and replaced it with a modern fast streamliner, little did they think that a great storm of protest from the traveling public would be their lot, but that is just what happened. The veteran travelers, who made their first trip to California on the famous old limited, felt a sentimental attachment to the train and filed hundreds of letters, requesting that the old war horse be put back on. The Santa Fe officials were some what non-plussed but keen to meet a costly problem and the California Limited was again placed in service not only to the joy and great satisfaction of the old travelers, but also to the pleasure of the many Pullman Porters and maids who were without a run. It's an ill wind that blows nobody good.

Lines Scarce as Hens Teeth in Los Angeles Ten and Fifteen Year Porters Buck Extra Board

The shortage of lines in the Los Angeles Disctrict is causing much disrest among the porters, the district is gradually becoming more and more like an agency every day and porters, ten and fifteen years in the service, are finding it a hard proposition to get located. Hardly any improvement over the present situation is in sight. Most of the big movements of convention specials are headed this way this year instead of leaving here, all of which does not help matters one bit. Many porters seem to think that this district can command several of the new streamline line trains due to the district's seniority. After careful investigation this was found to be impossible. Brotherhood officials were in conference with the Superintendent on the matter some time ago when the lines first were put on and were advised that the lines were still carrying their old line numbers and no changes could be made. However, they were assured by the Superintendent that if any trains or lines were placed in service in which the Los Angeles porters outranked Chicago men, he would go to the bat for them. While the picture looks rather gloomy at the present time, a turn for the better may develop later on.

J. W. Logan's Alibi

I ran into J. W. Logan down in the yards the other day and he was wearing his iron hat and started the old alibi right away. He said the reason he has not been around the Brotherhood for the last four or five months is he got bit by a snake down in that neighborhod the last time he was down there. I am now wondering whether the same snake bit the following porters: Pete Constant, G. D. Smock, V. Lawrence, Cliff La- Glassco, Andy Anderson, T. S. Taft, oh well, that's enough for this week. I will name some more next week.

Board Accepts Hooper Project

A major improvement project in Mayor Frank L. Shaw's public works program under joint sponsorship of the WPA and the City was officially accepted this week by the Board of Public Works, according to a report filed yesterday with the Mayor and the City Council.

The project, a Hooper avenue storm drain, is an important unit in the city's flood control program and will provide needed service and protection to the Eastside families. Heads of several hundred Eastside families were given steady employment during the entire period of construction.

Work was started on the Hooper avenue drain April 22, 1937. Total cost of this project, with $28,990 being contributed by the city and $600.012 by the WPA, was $629,002.

This new system provides drainage for water which formerly flowed south on the several streets intersecting Slauson avenue, between Hooper avenue and Alameda Street, thereby eliminating the flood conditions on that artery.

Boy Scout News

By LOVELL ESTELL, JR.

Troop 180 expects to send all four patrols to the Camporal Saturday and Sunday. The patrols are as follows: Wolf, Carl Peterson leader, Cobra, Lovell Estell leader, Fox, Bill Taylor leader and Bycycle patrol, Harold Odum, leader.

Troop editor, Sam Armstrong told us of new things in scouting on April 22 when Boy scouts of 180 and boy scouts of troop 636, held a joint meeting at 37th street school. 636 is a white troop. The evening was spent in passing first aid tests, pyramid building and skits. Both troops were outstanding in special events. Future meetings and contests were discussed, and it was decided that troop 180 would establish a permanent baseball team. The skipper of the Sea Scouts spoke and asked all of the boys who could play instruments to come to the Wilshire police station as the University district is forming a band.

We wish to thank all friends who bought tickets on the coffee table. It was won by Mrs. B. Jones. William Holland sold the lucky ticket. Bill also sold the ticket that won a delicious cake. It was the 2nd prize won by Mrs. Hudnell.

Frank Strange, Wilbur Hall, George Houston, Bill Holland, Roy Hill, and Joseph Blue are to be congratulated for the way they can sell tickets. Also Wesley Russell is an active worker of the Cobra patrol. We want to thank Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Hall for their kindness.

Negro Press Progresses, Figures Show

Progress was made by the Negro press from 1936 to 1937, it was revealed this week, following release of the Department of Commerce figures on Negro Newspapers and Periodicals in the United States for 1937.

Reports received from 81 publications in 1936 and the same number in 1937 show an increase in total circulation of 11,499.

Listed in the bulletin released by the Department through William L. Austin, director, are the names and addresses of 315 newspapers and magazines.

One hundred eighty-three of these publications reported, for the 12 month period beginning November 1, 1936 and ending October 31, 1937, a combined average net circulation per issue of 1,411,087. During the period indicated, 124 newspapers reported a total circulation of 1,206,787 or 86.589 more than was reported in 1936 by 106 newspapers.

The fact that 99 newspapers reported 57.5 per cent (491,246) of their total circulation (854,007) as local seems to indicate that Negro newspapers are well supported by citizens living in the various cities in which these papers are published. However, it should not be concluded that Negro newspapers are not valued in other urban communities for 30.4 per cent (208,994) of the combined circulation (686,778) of 79 newspapers was reported as being in urban communities other than the cities of publication. Confidence in their market has caused 49 enterprises to invest $1,523,960 in equipment. These investments ranged from $300 to $500,000 and 34 concerns owned equipment valued at more than $5,000, among them the California Eagle.

Ninety-eight newspapers employed 1,064 persons and 70 papers had a combined average monthly pay roll of $72,349.95.

NATIONAL • POLITICS • STATE—CITY

POLITICAL POT-PIE
By IRA

We have a good, rich crust but filling for the pie is as short as a freshly cut lawn. Republicans, holding back from making a spread as Democrats battle among themselves and rest between rounds by beating the brush for support.

Lieut. Gov. Hatfield has started a battle for the Governor on the G. O. P. ticket and if reports from the north are true he's making hay. Many of our group are said to be waging an active campaign in his behalf.

Gov. Merriam, candidate to succeed himself is making an active campaign in defense of his administration. Speaking before 500 Republican leaders at the Union League club in San Francisco. He voiced opposition to the restoration of the 3 per cent sales tax on foodstuffs and declared "That'll never happen while I'm governor." He blamed the extravagance in state government on members of the legislature. However he didn't say why Negroes and Democratic lawyers had been excluded from his official family.

Gus Hawkins, Assemblyman, 62nd District seems to be sailing smoothly in the Democratic scramble for office. Up-to-date he has no opposition for the nomination. He made an outstanding record.

It looks as though the only way Hartley Jones can evade the Republican nomination in the 62nd is to withdraw from the race. Everybody knows Hartley and everybody likes him.

Superior Judge Henry M. Willis, appointed to membership on Boy Scout committee.

Mushroom newspapers are popping up on all sides. They're not confined to any particular group and have no scruples as to what they publish or whom they slander. Since there's no law to prohibit these scandal mongers from playing their nefarious vocation, it is up to those who publish papers regularly year in and year out to take the job in hand. They should call a meeting and get together on the only logical program. Serve notice on all candidates who patronize such sheets and use every inch of space and every ounce of energy in a fight to defeat those who seek to gain political favor thru the columns of such rags. Let's go boys and once and for all rid the field of such highbinders.

A $30 per week pension plan for all 50 years old and over is fighting for a place on the ballot. Many of these old gents who cover the accordian pleats to admit faces and are reluctant to admit being 30 would come forth and confess their sins if such a thing would become a law.

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass editor-owner of the California Eagle didn't mince words when she addressed a meeting of Republican leaders in Fresno last week. She laid before them what the Negro expected of the party. No more or no less. Gov. Merriam got an ear full. The sentiment expressed is that of the entire group.

A glance at a few of the Republican candidates at the August primaries:

Senator Jerrold Seawell, Senator Roy J. Nielson are avowed candidates for Lieutenant Governor. Dr. Walter S. Franklin, Senator Ralph Swing and Senator John R. Phillips have also been mentioned for this post.

Ray Riley and Louise Ward Watkins are avowed candidates for U. S. Senator. Robert Gordon Sproul has also been mentioned for this post.

Earl Warren is an avowed candidate for Attorney General. Buron Fitts has also been mentioned for this post.

Frank C. Jordan, the incumbent, is an avowed candidate for Secretary of State.

Harry B. Riley, the incumbent, is an avowed candidate for Comptroller.

Walter B. Dexter, the incumbent, is an avowed candidate for Superintendent of Schools.

Chas. C. Johnson, incumbent, is an avowed candidate for State Treasurer.

From all quarters questions are piling in asking William D. Campbell to run for Congress in the 14th Congressional District. The pie maker can give no information on this score—Speak out Campbell say something.

Headquarters for the campaign of Senator J. L. Seawell for Lt. Governor were opened this week at 419 Associated Realty Building at 510 West Sixth Street, in Los Angeles.

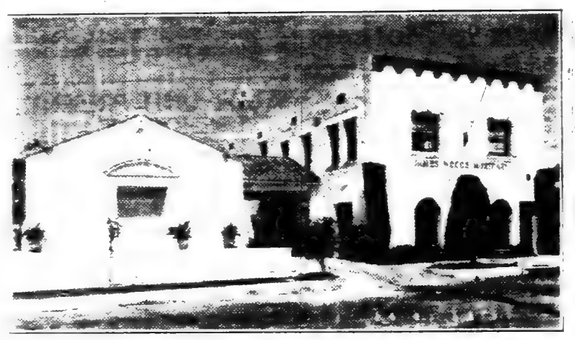
SOLON VOORHIS TO SPEAK TOMORROW

Tomorrow at 12:45 Pacific Coast Standard Time, Congressman Jerry Voorhis from California's Twelfth District will speak over the national network of the Columbia Broadcasting system. His subject will be "World Economic Cooperation."

Mr. Voorhis is one of the leaders of the liberal bloc in Congress.

SPURGEON JONES, sales manager at the Eastside branch of the Eastern Store, who has thrown his hat in the ring, seeking the Republican nomination for Assemblyman from the 62nd District.

BALLOU TO ASSIST IN OLSON'S CAMPAIGN



The appointment of Walter T. Ballou as assistant manager of the Olson-for-Governor campaign in Southern California was announced Monday by J. Frank Burke, campaign manager.

CANDIDATE

As one who has, all his life, been a close student of public affairs, I am presenting myself to my fellow citizens of California as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor of this great State. I am filing on both the Republican and Democratic tickets because I have many friends in both parties, and after all, we are all Californians.

A native of California, I have been blessed with a heritage and life-long training in good government, in human understanding of the real needs of our people, and in administration for the best interests of all those who go to make up our splendid Commonwealth. I believe, with many others who have urged my candidacy, that government should have a reasonable admixture of qualified youth.

The New Woods Chapel to be dedicated Sunday, May 15th, 1938. From 3:00 to 7:30 P. M. PASADENA, CALIFORNIA

Morticians of Pasadena are Grateful

JAMES WOODS
Manager, Woods' Mortuary

MRS. ANNA MAE WOODS, assistant manager, Woods' Mortuary, who has worked arduously, side by side with her husband, these past ten years, surmounting all obstacles, that Pasadena might have one of the outstanding institutions of which the Race would be proud.

The Woodses are very grateful to the many friends in and around Pasadena for the measure of success which has been theirs to enjoy during the period they have been in business.

Were it not for the constant cooperation that has been given them, it would not have been their lot to have erected on the adjoining lot, which has been purchased by them, such an imposing edifice to be called the Woods' Mortuary Chapel. The dedication and opening of this new and modern structure will take place Sunday, May 15, from 3 'til 7 p. m., to which the entire public is asked. An elaborate program has been arranged for the occasion in the form of a tea in the upstairs parlors of the Woods' home.

HISTORY

The stupendous growth of the Woods' Funeral Home is a striking example of what may be accomplished with a vision and some scientific research and close attention to business.

Mr. Woods, born in the little town of Gongalez, Texas, Feb. 18, 1891, came to Pasadena, November, 1922, where he worked at the shoe-shining business, there conceiving the idea of his present calling—giving Pasadena something she needed most — an undertaking establishment; whereupon he entered the Los Angeles School of Embalming.

After having completed the course of two years, attending school at night, he opened business in December, 1928, having been granted a license. Much credit for Jimmie's efforts is given Reynolds-Eberlee, Pasadena morticians, who encouraged Woods in his efforts and offered every assistance possible in getting started; also other morticians in the city were right behind him to the end that his growth has been phenomenal.

Woods also was employed with the Angelus Funeral Home as head embalmer for more than a year before entering business for himself.

McDonough Asks Economy

Determined to prevent alleged extravagance by the Board of Supervisors and to keep the 1938-39 County tax-rate as close as possible to this year's note, Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough today (Monday, May 9th) presented a resolution to the Board, demanding that the economy axe be wielded heavily to eliminate entirely all non-essential items in the preliminary budget, which may be requested by any department and approved by a majority of the more extravagant members of the Board.

OPPOSES INCREASE IN BUDGET REQUESTS

Voicing his opposition to what he labeled "unnecessary and extravagant requests," Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough today came to the front in declaring he would oppose increases in budget requests of county departments and would demand economy down the entire line of county government.

Board Denies Application for Beer License

On recommendation of William G. Bonelli, member of the State Board of Equalization from the fourth district, application for a beer license filed by Lessie Hill, doing business at "The Shed", 934 E. Jefferson, has been denied by the board.

Denial is based on evidence presented to the board as the premises are located in a residential area.

Application of Mrs. Grace E. Holdridge, doing business as Ball Park Lunch Stand, 481 E. 42nd Place, for an on sale beer and wine license, has also been denied on the grounds the premises are not suitable and do not comply with provisions of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act.

McDONOUGH OPPOSES GUARD PROPOSAL

Opposition was voiced yesterday by Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough against any proposal calling for the use of school crossing guards under the age of 21 years. His statement followed a discussion before the Board of Supervisors earlier in the week, relative to the plan that children in school be selected to direct traffic at school crossings.

At the present time adults certified from State Relife Rools are being used as as crossing guards; a plan has been advanced modeled after a safety program at Berkeley, under which children selected by individual schools are in charge of crossings.

USC FACULTY HOSTS DR. BETHUNE AT BRILLIANT LUNCHEON ON CAMPUS

George Garner Presides at Notable Southland Event

By Stanford Williamson

Making for an event whose cultural brilliance and importance has been never before equalled in all of Southern California, more than five hundred persons gathered in beautiful Town and Gown Foyer, the University of Southern California, the afternoon of Wednesday, May 4, to hear an address delivered by Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, famed leader, NYA official, educator and orator, appearing as honor guest of the University's Men's Faculty club.

Sponsored by George Garner, who presided throughout the notable event, Dr. Bethune's coming to the Southern California campus attracted famous European and local professors--the outstanding educators of both racial groups, students and friends of the University.

Motor cars that began to queue up long before the appointed luncheon hour, dislodged most of the fashionably gowned women and sartorially correct gentlemen —comprising the two hundred and fifty members of the race, leading citizens of Los Angeles and Pasadena who were attending the luncheon to honor Dr. Bethune.

These had been especially requested to attend by Mr. Garner. Miss Pauline L. Slater, Mrs. Paul R. Williams and Mrs. J. L. Hill, Executives of the Men's Faculty club. Drs. Tanquerry and D. Welty Lefever were aided by Mr. Garner and the members of the committee, in promoting the outstanding affair.

Introduced by Dr. Lefever as an artist of international concert repute, a foremost member of his race and an highly respected student of the University, George Garner, presiding with his inimitable savoir faire and geniality, prefaced his introduction of Dr. Bethune with a presentation of Mrs. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid, wife of the president of the University. Dean Marvel Sinclair Crawford, and the many leading citizens of the race who were gathered.

Mrs. Van KleinSmid said:

"I look forward to greeting this great and noble woman, whose skin is a shade darker than my own and whose heart is a great many shades lighter because of the splendid service she is giving to mankind."

Elijah Hodges, young baritone sang two spirituals: "You May Bury Me in the East" and "City Called Heaven". Mrs. Netta Paul-lyn Garner was at the piano.

Dr. Bethune held the entire group at rapt attention as she told of her early struggles, of the final realization of her dreams and of her appointment to her present post by the President of the United States.

She told also of the great necessity to "keep open the door of opportunity" to the Negro youth.

"This great, beautiful world of ours, these United States, can be no stronger in its chain of union than the weakest link—A Negro citizen makes up every tenth link in that chain. It is up to you, university professors, to help strengthen that tenth link."

Great applause greeted the close of the stirring address; and as the great woman leader retired to the stage she was literally besieged by the entire group of enthusiastic admirers as she received in line with the members of the University faculty.

Accompanied by an NYA group and several young people representing the Pasadena Community Sing Association, Dr. Bethune journeyed later to the Jefferson High School where she addressed the student body.

Chatter and . . . Some News

This week it is mostly news with chit chat thrown in to keep you from believing too much about a week-end that was really much too much . . . . for more than one person. Getting off on the right foot: I am donning sack cloth and ashes to tender recognition of D. L. Banks' correction of initials . . . he was called W. C. a fortnight back . . . and more than that shouldered with the fatherhood of a second child when Avril Jean, born April 8, is really the first . . . The kind note from Mrs. Banks (Bessie Hosmon) explains that it was probably confusion with her sister that caused the slip . . . And stooges just will get one on the carpet. So sorry . . . Forgive?

To what you were promised to be burdened with in the first sentence: It began Friday morning two hours after midnight—two hours late—loading up and hitting the highway to the North where youth got down to the business of quasi-law making that had more significance than the real thing. . . That's a little ahead of my story . . . To the point, chronologically scribbling, through the ridge with its overgrown hills and winding valleys . . . into a dawn that streaked light boldly across slate heavens to lift dark daubs the night left hovering above the mountains . . . and then the sun. Its rays being cooled intermittently by a stiff breeze through Fresno Valley and miles of grapes . . . on to Oakland, sprawling child of the bay . . . and across the wonder of the North, the seven mile bridge supported by steel cables that spans the bay . . . into San Francisco, hybrid offspring of restlessness and a restraining culture that rivals that of Quaker bluebloods.

IT AIN'T NECESSARILY SO:

That the aim was strictly the passing of bills to be passed on . . . to Sacramento. F'r instance there was the dance on the roof of the Whitcmb Hotel . . . called off because there was too much pepper in the mixed crwd. Patrons of said hotel . . . no could take. There was the party in the Dawson home on Ashby St. in Berkeley to which a few of us lucky ones were bidden by Alberta Dawson who lives in L. A. and went up to spend the week-end with her pater. Quite the leader of all the house parties ye scribe has attended in the West—no aspersions meant—with that Northern hospitality reaching straight from the shoulder in a warmth of welcome from hosts and guests. Grace Morgan was the honoree. . . Met in the kitchen near the punch Zack Williams, tall, tan and handsome . . . and later his bride of two weeks, Dorothy Gray, who used to live in the Angel City . . . and is one of those winsome persons that no one forgets . . . Renewed acquaintance with Irene Crawford who visited here last summer . . . and hubby, Charlie, . . . in the best of "spirits" . . . suavely; . . . Irene Davis striking in a candy silk dress that did things to her clear complexion and black tresses . . . and many others . . . all of them grand.

There was dinner in Chinatown with the kind of music that goes with dinner at eight and Oriental chandeliers . . . and Saturday a pleasant two hour soiree in the home of Ruth Martin, pretty Berkeley co-ed, who will join the alumni soon . . . who has plans for a social service career 'neath her sleekly groomed locks. There's breakfast Saturday with Vivian Oshsine Marsh, Delta grand president; the tour of International House and Berkeley campus with Carlton Goodlet, Howardite, who gets his Ph. D. in two weeks; . . . the ride across the bay that ended too soon . . . for a good sailor (whisper: twenty minutes) . . . and after midnight at Fisherman's Wharf in 'Frisco . . . where it was less wear and tear on the mind to watch fishermen come in than some of the "grandstanding" . . . inside.

IN THE KNOW:

And most active were our dear sepia delegates: Ira Lipscomb in his history-making speech for the education bill that built to and ended in . . . a vehement, "no, no, no!" Wendell Green in frequent trips to the platform to call the speakers attention to things . . . I suppose. Beulah Terry taking copious notes and preserving the peace; Velma Marsh saying the very right thing at the most unusual time and keeping gales of laughter around . . . plus one earache; Joffre Roberts, senator, in evidence in discussions from the floor; Carl Johnson convincing committees of the worth of the Negro history bill . . . Mercier Reese, who got lost enroute but never missed a session; Elizabeth Hampton doing us proud with capable heading of a major committee; Howard Griffin rising to a "point of order".

And through it all they did some mixing business with pleasure . . . Morris Hampton, borrowing sister Elizabeth's car for reasons sundry; apparently all of them an LAJC brownskin lass, Gaynell Cole; Vincent Williams doing some tall pseudo-mooching of a boatride and showing up for it in a taxi . . . 'Cause I didn't want to be late" . . . with another girl, too! Son, you're learning young; Mel Faun Pinckney of 'Frisco getting the gang together for a party at Booker T. Washington Center that the phonograph played for . . . Percy Williams squiring three women when he wasn't elbowing two or in a committee . . . and reminding me to quit calling the wrong people "dear" or "darling" in what he termed a patronizing tone . . . Doggonit!

I make reference to the Monday luncheon party, given to honor Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, by Mrs. J. L. Hill, wife of the Angelus executive . . . for background there was the utter neo-classic charm of the new Hill home in Westside . . . so perfectly proportioned to large scale entertainment . . . and yet, for all its spaciousness, it exudes a friendly intimacy . . . perfection again . . . for Mrs. Hill's luncheon attracted six of our ultra-fashionables . . there was Dr. Bethune, dominating the scene from her honored place, Mrs. John Hope, widow of the great Atlanta University educator and travelling companion of Mrs. Bethune; Mrs. Paul R. Williams, Mrs. Frank Harvey and Mrs. Netta Paullyn Garner . . . luncheon over, the sixsome took their places in the line for the reception which followed and for which Mrs. Hill had asked in some two hundred or more socialites.

'TWEEN TROY & WESTWOOD

By EDITH MEAUX

Comes the Maytime and the eds and coeds from "collitch" just refuse to let assignments take anything but a minimum of time as they fulfill dates which have been marked on their calendars for some weeks.

And were we, over in the Trojan neck of the woods, proud the other Wednesday when we had the honor of lunching with that dynamic person, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune in the foyer of Town and Gown on the campus.

Glimpsed in the luncheon crowd were Mrs. Jerome Hatcher . . Rev. and Mrs. Carter of Pasadena . . . Mrs. Bessie Burke . . . Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew . . . Mrs. Helen Johnson who was there with Niece Trojanite Helen Owens . . . Mrs. Pauline Bruce . . Sarah Collins, who with Earlene Chase, was finding it difficult to get a seat . . . Rev. Clayton Russell . . . Dillard Brown, writing a testimonial which we all promised to support most wholeheartedly . . . Alva Shaw, without whom we probably wouldn't even have been fed . . . Adelaide Gladden . . . Johnny Simmons, who rated a bit personal mentioning in Mrs. Bethune's speech . . . Netta and George Garner, who did a nice bit of master of ceremonying.

DID YOU SEE . . .

Ida Bowman, looking all chic in white, as she raved over her distinguished sorror . . Ethel Carter, offering to invent a mechanical hand for Mrs. Bethune to use . . . Hortense Graham and Simietta LaVigne, being taken over Ivey, very much impressed by the speech . . . Mrs. Emily Portwig renewing old acquaintances at her alma mater.

Dragging the formals out of hiding and joining in the "acll of spring" the Chapmanites whipped out to the Riviera beach club, Wednesday night for the "Men's Return formal."

Tycine Randolph was escorted to the affair by Melvin Webb . . Mabel Hawes zoomed down to the beach club with Bennie Shaw in tow . . . Elizabeth Mills, all bedecked in blue moire taffeta, enjoyed the evening with Orvis Knowles . . Rosa Jupiter, in ecstatasies over the iris corsage which each co-ed received, was squired by Victor Bostic . . . Dolly Maddux and Carl Smith, duped it for the night . . and Helen Mills with Wesley Hawes had the time of her life.

Doing a bit of peckin', suzy-q-ing, and rug cutting while the cameras grinded recording it for posterity were "Six" Sharpe and Bernice Eblon, who looked so cute until they had Goldine Beasley and John Merrill . . . Cleo Kinsie and Frank Williams all joining in only to be followed bay all the dancers who made a staba stab at the intricate steps.

Maybe Lois Evans and her speech were the attraction or it it might have been Hostesses Inez Hamilton and Georgia Williams, but at any rate the Trojan club drew out one of the largest crowds of the season, Saturday night.

Draped around the room were Archie Leonard, Jimmy Akers, dropped in to look at the present crop which now atteids his one time alma mater, Norma Owens, had been persuaded by Lewis Berry of Troy's law school to attend, Bill Williams keeping up his contact with the old S. C. gang, was there.

Where there are Carolinians there are bull sessions and so it was with the Charles Ray, Thebaud Jeffers combination leading and inciting William Perry and Nellie Turner, Ike Lewis, T. J. Jackson, Chris Wright and Nolan Payton to open rebellion for some good cause or other.

A group of young people from Calexico modeled a number of styles from the shops of that city. Vocal and instrumental numbers added to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The Senior Class of Douglass high school gave its annual carnival last Friday evening. The young people went about the show in a very business-like way and prepared entertainment for young and old. Beginning in the afternoon gaiety reigned until midnight. Concessionaires barked their wares; games of skill were on all sides. A ten-act vaudeville show was presented during the evening. The feature of this part of the program was a children's wedding. The precision of the little folk would have done credit to their elders. The entertainment closed with dancing, music being furnished by school musicians.

Douglass auditorium was the scene of the celebration of the Fifth of May by the Mexican colony. Music was furnished by an orchestra from Brawley. An interesting program of skits, music, and addresses was presented.

The sophomore class in its assembly last Friday morning presented Mr. George Venable in a nature study address. Mr. Venable has made the study of animal and plant life a hobby and has a museum of interesting specimens. Some of these were exhibited.

Hanford

By WILLIE BELL WATTS

The Twelfth Home Coming and Pioneers' Day celebration, held last Friday in Hanford, will long be remembered. Governor Merrian was present and participated in the pageant parade. The A. M. E. Z. church entered a float, "The Country Church", which won a blue ribbon. The float presented the pastor seated behind the pulpit, upon which was the church Bible, and seated behind him was the choir, Mrs. C. Blakeney, Mrs. Mary Anderson, Aldine Myers, Helen Thaxton, Mrs. W. B. Watts, Kathleen and Marian Watts, Kenneth Blakeney and William Vincent. The organ stod in the center background and was played by Mrs. Lillian Myers. All were dressed in pioneer costume. The annual home coming day party was held that evening in Dewey Hall, where a fine time was spent among the young people.

Mother's Day was fittingly celebrated here in the churches. At the AMEZ church, Rev. George H. Maunder, gave the theme, "Mother and the Home", to a large attendance. Out of the congregation, the following visitors, Mr. and Mrs. William Blakeney of Modesto, Mr. Carl Moulden, and Fred Fields of Los Angeles grouped together and sang, which gave an impressive memory of old times. White and red roses were given to all who attended the service.

The annual Thanksgiving service of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows in America, San Joaquin Lodge No. 8337, and Household of Ruth, Sunny West Lodge No. 4948, was held in Howard Chapel, AME Zion church, Sunday afternoon. Lloyd Welcher, Sr. was master of ceremonies. Mrs. Lillian Myers read a paper, Mrs. Marie Lewis sang a solo, the sermonette was delivered by Rev. G. H. Maunder, an address was given by Lloyd Welcher, Sr., Mrs. Willie Bell Watts led a spiritual and remarks were given by Rev. A. W. Hubbard of Fresno.

Over the week end many out of town visitors were seen in Hanford, because of the festivities which made it a busy, colorful city. Among those not mentioned above we recall seeing; Will Hall of Madera, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cunningham and son, Richard and Walter Fields of Los Angeles; from Fresno, Kenneth Crawford and daughters, Mrs. Tubbs Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Watts; from Tulare, Ed. King, Arthur King, Walter Pointer, and Norvin Powell; from Laton, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Fourney, Mr. and Mrs. John Abernathy, Jr., and Mr. Sam Turner; from Monmath, Mrs. John Abernathy, Sr. with daughter, Mary and son, William; from Fowler, Mrs. Minnie Green, and daughter Bessie, Mary Lou and Robert Felder, Lois Marshall.

GAS TAX DIVERSION MAY FURTHER REDUCE FEDERAL ROAD AID

The Federal government will bear down twice as hard on States that dip into highway funds for general expenditures, thus neglecting needed road development, if a new amendment to the Federal-Aid highway act now before Congress is passed.

This will double the penalty on States diverting these funds by curtailing up to two-thirds instead of one-third of the Federal aid money apportioned to them. Under the existing at, states misusing highway funds, lose not more than one-third of the Federal-aid allotments in any one fiscal year.

California's apportionment for the fiscal year 1938-1939 is estimated at $9,500,000 in an analysis of the situation received yesterday from the Automobile Club of Southern California law department. If any highway funds are diverted, the penalty under the proposed amendment, cutting down Federal aid by two-thirds or $6.333,333.34, would shrink this State's appropriation to a mere $3,166,666.67.

How well you look
Depends so much on taking care of your health

FOR a woman to look well, to enjoy the work she has undertaken to do and to carry on her favorite activities among her friends, she must first feel WELL. Her body must be kept properly nourished and she must be free from severe nerve-wrecking pains.

For younger women especially, employment of any kind turns to dreadful toil when health begins to run down. Behind that tired look—back of that giving up of so many things she used to enjoy—may be monthly suffering that pulls down her strength and darkens her view of life.

Often because of a run-down system from poor nourishment there is a painful, worrisome condition every month, depressing the nerves, causing sleeplessness, loss of appetite, and wearing out resistance. This is called "dysmenorrhea." If the pain is not due to any actual defects of the body or improper formation of the organs or to any disease found in the womanly organs, it is called "functional dysmenorrhea." This is the most common type of painful menstruation and is the kind which can be helped by CARDUI.

CARDUI aids in relieving the functional pains of menstruation, and it helps to quiet nervousness at such times. It is therefore a medicine which helps women to take better care of their health.

CARDUI has been helping women in this way for over fifty years and thousands of them have told of its great benefit in their cases. It is a tried and tested medicine, widely and favorably known.

If you need a bitter tonic to help you to obtain more energy and strength from the food you eat, or a purely vegetable medicine to ease functional pains of menstruation, try CARDUI. (If not benefited as so many women have described, it may be that your physician should advise special treatment in your case.)

Bonded Salesman

WM. H. POLLARD

Friends, all I ask of you is your support. Remember this, that I am the one and only bonded and authorized Ford salesman in Los Angeles County. I am doing business by the reputation I have established in dealing fair with my fellowman. Ask your friends, to whom I have sold, about me. You will find that my business dealings are not questionable. I am also working for a reputable firm. Having been in business for 26 years I'm sure there is a background for a square deal through me. I couldn't do otherwise if I so desired. I sell all makes in used cars; late models with guarantees. Also new Fords and Lincoln Zephyr automobiles.

If you are in the market for any merchandise mentioned above come in on the floor and ask at the window for me. Leave a message if I am out. I will then call at your home to see you. Your patronage will be highly appreciated.

My location: J. A. NADEAU, Ford Dealers, Slauson street at Central avenue. Phone AD. 7141. Residence, RE. 5077.

I remain yours respectfully,
WM. H. POLLARD.

STYLE NOTES

WHITE IS THE NOTE in styles this week . . . though you wouldn't believe it if you're looking at the weather. Allure will know no bounds if you don one of the fragile mousseline de soie evening dresses with insertions of lace in the full skirt . . . or sweeping white organza with rhinestones trimming the close fitting bodice. For street wear, white on black or navy vies with white notes in prints whether they be of cotton or finest silk . . . White accessories are the answer to more than one wardrobe that needs a fresh verve . . . White coats in sheer wool, in light weight angora and mixtures of cotton and wool are featured in casual and topper styles . . . White gloves in net and fine cloth are favorites over kid while white silk--with the jersey finish--is definitely out. However, in slacks and street clothes jersey with a sturdy strain still holds its own. Sharkskin is in again; pastel shades in slack suits with action backs and pearl buttons are leaders for the lithe and slender. Stripes of white on navy, and gray are lending themselves to all sizes with huge corsages and bright sashes to give feminine touches.

For smart and appropiate dress this week, we choose Miss Gladys Harris of East 41st street who attended the Business and Professional Girls Annual Breakfast Sunday morning in the Twelfth Street Branch YWCA . . . Miss Harris wore a three piece golden beige suit in semi-tailored style with it a powder blue silk blouse with flat pearl buttons . . . a hat of the same color boasted a navy grosgrain band that diagonally circles the deep crown and ended without precision in a streamer that came just to the edge of the brim. A leather navy bag and heelless pumps of matching texture completed the ensemble.

A magnetic device to be worn on a wrist like a watch has been invented for holding nails and other metal fasners withing easy

1. When is a five No-Trump not a grand slam force?
2. When should one make a Asking bid?
3. With a part-score of sixty is an opening bid of two in a suit forcing.

5. To open a bid of four, what are the honor-trick and distributional requirement?
6. What is a minimum suit?
7. When should one make a slam try?

let you know just how much or Bridgers these questions will how little you know about scientific bridge, and if you follow this column I am sure you can improve your game, it is for your pleasure. So why not send in more problem hands and questions?

A 'New South' On Its Way, Says Hancock

(By GORDON H. HANCOCK for ANP)

The New South is on its way. The signs are propitious and even "Gloomy Deans" might have some surcease from their doleful forebodings. The South of Ben Tillman and Tom Watson is rapidly pasing and another south is rising, a new and better South. It is true Negroes are still hard pressed throughout the world White on the same levels are likewise hardpressed.

Much of what we call race pressure is economic pressure. This fact lends encouragement to the situation. One of the most significant things of recent years was the attitude of the students in the University of Virginia when a young Negro woman was seeking to enter. A large body of students found no objection. It was even so when it was proposed to enter a Negro in the University of Maryland. Young white men and women of the South are ready for a movement designed to give the Negro a larger measure of opportunity. The question pressing upon the young Negroes of the South is whether they are ready to give the intelligent cooperation the situation demands. The time for bluster has passed, and the time for cooperation is at hand.

If the young Congress recently convened in Chattanooga, Tenn., could address itself to a program of intelligent cooperation, it would serve a noble purpose. Cooperation is the lever and the advancing sentiment of the young white south is the fulcrum by which may be lifted the fortunes of a stricken race. Herein lies the only remaining hope for Negro advancement. When Negro boys charged with rape, could be imprisoned for years in the Alabama prison without mob action; and when some of those boys could be set free—with safety— and the others blessed with the sympathy of a world including a large number of white southerners, a new hour has struck in 20th Century race relations.

The South is on its way. When the anti-lynch bill was so strong, even at the South that a filibuster had to be resorted to to defeat it, we may glean some measure of the change that is taking place in the South. Negroes must address themselves and some of their planning to this new situation rather than dwell too long on a program addressed to the South of Tillman and Watson. Just which South we address in our thinking is a matter of profound concern for such address seriously affects our fortunes.

A few days ago, in the great Methodist Episcopal conference in Birmingham, the new South again asserted itself and voted for unification. In that vote, the South made one of the boldest gestures in history. After the Negro question had unfortunately and maliciously been injected, the South refused to be stampeded and cast almost a solid unification vote. That vote showed the healing of the ugly and painful wounds incurrd by the tragic War of Secession. It is encouraging to note that this boldest of moral strokes was made by the Christian Church against which so many un-Christian allegations are made by the malicious and unthinking. That the Methodist church took the lead is not surprising, for this branch of Protestantism is the farthest advanced in matters pertaining to race relations. It is safe to say that the M. E. Church, South, is leading the way for the New South.

The interracial movement which has been of such great help in interracial adjustment and which promises greater things in the near future, is almost entirely a Methodist Episcopal conception. That it operates out of Atlanta, Ga., is significant. Judgment it is said should begin at the house of God; so the battle for righteousness and for justice in race relations should begin at the house of God, and the Methodist Church, South, is girding for that battle. We must not forget that this changing sentiment must somehow be translated into economic opportunities, otherwise we shall all perish.

Night is the Time. KGFJ is the Station. The Eagle Newspaper of the Air is the thing. Tune in now.

The LAUNDRYMAN

Howdy, Everybody! Don't miss buying a copy of the May 7th issue of the Pittsburgh Courier, and giving the cartoon on the editorial page the Once-over. It is entitled "A modern Gulliver", and was sketched by an artist named Holloway. And, is it good? Well believe it or not, when I seen it, I seen myself, and when you lok it over, mebbe you'll see some of your kin-folks.

It pictures a colored gentleman prone on the ground chained to the stakes of CREDIT PAYMENTS on an automobile, radio, rent, and furniture. I don't know who this fellow Holloway is, but some Snooper who has a grudge against The Laundryman, must have told Holloway all about my private business, because the picture's a dead-ringer for me. I do thnik though, that he might have been courteous enough to have written me and asked me for my real picture; because the one he sketched has the hair Slicked Down, while mine stands up most of the time. However, he is surely one talented hombre. Spend a dime for the paper and get a hundred dollar lesson. That's regular Chinese Lot'try percentage, so I know you won't hesitate to take a chance.

NEGRO HUSBANDS, OR CHAUFFEURS?

Two Negroes were hanged in effigy by the students of an exclusive schol for white girls in Nashville, Tennessee the other day. It is supposed that this step was taken to discourage any other graduate of this particular school who--like Polly Dawes--may contemplate taking on a Negro husband. On the same page of this newspaper which carried this item, I saw an article wherein the relatives of a wealthy, aristocratic white woman of Augusta, Georgia are trying to break a will in which the lady left $20,000.00 to her Negro chauffeur. The relatives seem to think that $20,000.00 is too large a sum for one to leave a mere servant. Mebbe it is kinder large to leave to a MERE servant.

Placing the two articles together, and studying them over made me think that perhaps the debutantes of the exclusive white school are more a'gin the name, "husband" than they are the Negro men. Paxvobiscum requiescat.

METHODISTS CUT OUT JIM CROW COACH

By a vote of 434 to 26, the General conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, voted in favor of Unification of all bodies in the connection, regardless of color or race. Whether you think so or not, this is news. It means that after all these belated years, the white Methodists have finally decided to take the Jim-crow coach off the Gospel train, and that we will doubtless be allowed to try out our wings at the same Air-field in Heaven that the white folks use. Now ain't that something. I have often wondered what the Southern white Christian would do, if and when he arrived in Heaven, and found there were no separate accomodations.

Speaking seriously however, this move is an unmistakable indication of progress, an indisputable sign that slowly, but surely we are making headway in our ceaseless struggle for equal rights, and equal opportunity. We do not know the reason for this change of heart on their part, whether Spiritual, or Financial--it could be the latter. But anyway, the whims of men are often but the tools with which the Divine Intelligence shapes the destinies of the world.

Bad Blood Plea Gets Defendant Out

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 12. (ANP)—His defense that he had "bad blood" and the doctor told him to "drink plenty of whisky with herbs on the top" brought Hill Willis his freedom last week on a charge of violating the Internal Revenue act. Willis was arrested June 18, 1937, when he went to a distillery for whisky to be used as "medicine."

Federal Judge George C. Taylor said, "If Hill told the truth, he isn't guilty" and thereby sustained the defense attorney's motion for a directed verdict in favor of his client.

Comments On World Events

"This means that there is only one physician to every 5,500 of the Negro population; and one Negro dentist to every 18,000 of the Negro population. In Alabama the Negro population is almost one million, but there are only 116 physicians, or approximately one to every 8,000 of the Negro population; there are only 45 dentists, or about one to every 20,000 of the Negro population. Thus we can readily see why there is such a high mortality rate among our rural people . . ." Dr. Lyndon M. Hill, president of the National Medical Association.

"It is absolutely true that Africa is our home, but let us know that many people have homes and that some of their homes are mortgaged. So when we are talking about Africa being our home, let us observe that there, except in the republic of Liberia, our authority is limited" . . Theodore H. Mukudi.

"First of all, may I say that everywhere colored people reflect in any city the attitude of white people. In Philadelphia there is a smug satisfaction about the fact that Philadelphia has had a glorious past and a complacency to let things remain as they have been. Like Lot's wife, Negro and white Philadelphia is always looking backward" . . . Robert W. Bagnall.

"I am wondering if we can't make our mass reactions a model for other groups to follow. Just because tobacco stained crackers riot and string up a suspect, there is no reason why we must try to do the same in Harlem" . . . Rev. Adam Powell.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

By Miriam Matthews

The following books which include politics, science, mystery and adventure will probably appeal largely to a masculine audience. Adventure heads the list with "Danger is My Business," the autobiography of Capt. John D. Craig, big game hunter, deep-sea diver and adventure photographer, whose life story furnishes enough breath-taking incidents to delight the most adventurous soul. Leading motion picture companies have vied with each other for his film sequences obtained in thirty-five different countries under the most hazardous conditions. Imagine if you can, a twenty foot devil fish hovering over you in the water like a great cloud, or the life line to your diving suit being cut when you are hundreds of feet below the surface and you will have a slight idea of the excitement to be found in "Danger is My Business."

Politics also can be very exciting especially when two of the world's danger zones are involved. A university professor from Aunstralia, Stephen Roberts, has succeeded in writing a very impartial account of four years of Nazi rule in Germany which he has called "The House That Hitler Built." It is the author's opinion that Hitlerism cannot achieve its aims without war and that this course will only lead the nation to ultimate ruin and disillusionment. Two United Press correspondents, H. R. Ekins and Theon Wright are responsible for "China Fights For Her Life", a book on China's struggle for independence which explains what goal Chiang Kai-shek has been aiming toward and how his apparently inconsistent policies may be reconciled. Both books will give the newspaper reader an increased understanding of the active forces now at work in these two important countries.

Paul de Kruif adds to his long list of important books on scientific pioneers, "The Fight For Life," which tells of the most recent achievements in the field of medical research and takes the reader to the new battlefronts of science which challenge society to cut down four great scourges--maternal mortality, tuberculosis, infantile paralysis and syphilis.

"If I Die Before I Wake", by Sherwood King is a startling mystery story in which death strikes suddenly three times in succession in such a manner that even the most ardent mystery fan will be baffled. The author worked on this book for more than a year, doing his writing in a five dollar room in a Chicago boarding house--the sort of place where the landlady gave literary teas each week. Unable to pay the rent, Mr. King was permitted to read a chapter of his book each week to earn his rom and board. You'll agree it was worth it! Borrow these books from the Vernon and Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Libraries.

We're On Our Way to Gotham for "Big Doings" That Happen Once in A Lifetime.

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

WE ARE the guy who is getting ready to go to the Big Town this month. We like big sports spectacles and it so happens that Noo Yawk has two coming up that we CAN'T miss. It also so happens that they take place close enough together as to make our trip economical. We won't have to spend too much money for room rent and food and carfare and incidentals. Yes, we will undoubtedly have a little chicken feed when we return.

You see, on the 26th of this month, we are going to see Henry Armstrong, the mighty mite, take the measure of one Barney Ross. And while we are in the Big Town we will stay over and see Joe Louis reverse the tables on Max Schmeling.

Those are big spectacles and we don't want to miss them. And although we are on this coast at the present time and the fights will take place on the other coast, a few thousand miles are just like so many walking blocks in this day of speed.

We have a feeling that no two events in a lifetime will be as thrilling as these two. And, as we won't live forever in this form, we thought it would be a good idea to take them in.

We have a friend, Clarence Johnson, who is identified with the railroad industry, and we have planned to contact him about our trip. You see, Mr. Johnson does a lot of traveling and we know he could advise us as to the best way to route our trip so that we might see all that is to be seen and yet do it with an eye on the pocketbook. Which reminds us that we had better contact Mr. Johnson before he does some more traveling; he doesn't stay in one place long.

We plan to get in the Big Town the morning of the Armstrong-Ross fight. Immediately, we'll put on the feed-bag and then look up Hank, giving him a few words of encouragement because it's going to be a big night for him.

After that, we'll go out to Mike Jacob's swatatorium and secure a good seat. We don't know about the ringside seats. They will probably be gone by the time we get there. Of course, the fight itself will be worth paying a scalper's price for a seat. We might do that.

But then, on the other hand, heck, we don't have to BUY a seat! After all, we represent the West's Greatest Weekly and our seat at ringside will be awaiting our arrival on the night of the big battle.

After the fight of course we'll take in the clubs and the famous spots, may run into some of the old gang. And between the night of May 26 and June 22 we will be making trips from the Big Town out to Pompton Lakes to see how our other hero, Joe Louis, is getting along.

The papers will be full of thoughts about the outcome of that battle and we will be in a position to give our version of why Louis will kayo Schmeling.

And, after the last big fight we'll route our return trip so as to take in a section of the country that we didn't see on the way to the Big Town.

Yes, it shapes up into a very attractive dish, one that any sports-conscious individual would go for in a minute, and because we are sports-conscious we are GOING for it, but--IT'S ALL IN THE MIND!

WPA's 'Haiti' Recalls Famed Speech By Wendell Philips

With the unusual success achieved by "Haiti" at the Lafayette Theatre in order is a review of the illustrious career of that great leader, Toussaint L'Ouverture.

Neglected by school books and heretofore ignored as material for the drama, Toussaint for too many years has been only a name associated with dates in Haitian history. Now that he has been immortalized in the stirring drama by William DuBois, people everywhere are clamoring for more information about L'Ouverture.

In newspaper reviews of "Haiti" and in the columns of many newspapers are found references to the famous speech by Wendell Philips, in which he defended the importance of Toussaint L'Ouverture in the world's history. Philips, who was one of the greatest orators of his day, identified himself with the abolitionist cause and succeeded William Lloyd Garrison as president of the Anti-Slavery Society in 1865.

Following is the lecture, extolling Toussaint L'Ouverture as incontrovertible proof that the Negro is one of the most heroic of races.

"If I were to tell you the story of Napoleon, I should take it from the lips of Frenchmen, who find no language rich enough to paint the great captain of the nineteenth century. Were I to tell you the story of Washington, I should take it from your hearts-- you who think no marble white enough on which to carve the name of the Father of his country. But I am to tell you the story of a Negro, Toussaint L'Ouverture, who has left hardly one written line. I am to glean it from the reluctant testimony of his enemies, men who despised him because he was a Negro and a slave, hated him because he had beaten them in battle.

"Cromwell manufactured his own army. Napoleon, at the age of twenty-seven, was placed at the head of the best troops Europe ever saw. Cromwell never saw an army till he was forty; this man never saw a soldier till he was fifty. Cromwell manufactured his own army--out of what? Englishmen--the best blood in Europe. Out of the middle class of Englishmen--the best blood of the island. And with it he conquered what? Englishmen--their equals. This man manufactured his army out of what? Out of what you call the despicable race of Negroes, debased, demoralized by two thousand years of slavery, one hundred thousand of them imported into the island within four years, unable to speak a dialect intelligible to each other. Yet out of this mixed, and, as you say, despicable mass he forged a thunderbolt and hurled it at what? At the proudest blood in Europe, the Spaniard, and sent him home conquered; at the most warlike blood in Europe, the French and put them under his feet; at the pluckiest blood in Europe, the English, and then skulked home to Jamaica. Now, if Cromwell was a general, at least this man was a soldier.

"Now, blue-eyed Saxon, proud of your race, go back with me to commencement of the century and select what statesman you please. Let him be either American or European; let him have a brain the result of six generations of culture; let him have the ripest training of university routine; let him add to it the better education of practical life; crown his temples with the silver of seventy years, and show me the man of Saxon lineage for whom his most sanguine admirer will wreathe a laurel, rich as embittered foes, have placed on the brow of this Negro,—rare military skill, profound knowledge of human nature, content to blot out all party distinctions, and trust a state to the blood of its sons, —anticipating Sir Robert Peel fifty years, and taking his station by the side of Roger Williams before any Englishman or American had won the right; and yet this is the record which the history of rival states makes up for this inspired black St. Domingo.

"Some doubt the courage of the Negro. Go to Haiti and stand on those fifty thousand graves of the best soldiers France ever had, and ask them what they think of the Negro's sword.

"I would call him Napoleon, but Napoleon made his way to empire over broken oaths and through a sea of blood. This man never broke his word. I

louis sharp triumphs in haitian play in harlem

ANGELENO IS ACCLAIMED FOR BRILLIANT PERFORMANCE

The name of Louis Sharp, unfortunately, will not be found in lights over the marquee of the Lafayette theatre in Harlem, because the Federal Theatre in Harlem does not feature individual actors. However, critics and laymen are equally enthusiastic about Sharp's brilliant performance as Toussaint L'Ouverture, in "Haiti."

Not much was known or heard of Sharp in New York until he played the role of Cain in "The Green Pastures" a few seasons back. Since joining the Negro unit of the Federal Theatre, he appeared as Undertaker Crouch and Easley Jones in the "Conjure Man Dies", and as Shine in "Turpentine."

In his dressing room backstage at the Lafayette Theatre, where "Haiti" seems to be entrenched for a long time to come, Louis Sharp explains how he came to be an actor.

STUDIED HERE

"While I was in my third year at the University of Kansas," he says, "I was given a chance to prove my ability as a singer with the college glee club. Bitten by the singing bug, I enrolled in a dramatic and singing course at the Beaux Arts School of Dramatics in Los Angeles, under the tutorship of Theodore Ricardo, who prepared me especially for the concert field.

WESTERNER

"I spent more than eight years on the West Coast, where I also made personal appearances as a concert artists. It was at one of these appearances that I had the honor of meeting Roland Hayes, well-known Negro tenor. He assisted me in my work and advised me to come East."

Since going East Sharp has appeared as a concert tenor at Mecca Temple, Columbia University an dseveral Harlem churches He was solists at St. Phillips Church for a number of seasons. As a radio artist he gave an 18-week program of solo work over radio station WMCA.

Sharp intends to resume concert work after "Haiti" completes its run.

denial of factions in screen guild is made by leaders

Condemning an article appearing in a local throaway paper, the NEWS GUARDIAN, which asserted that factions within the junior screen actors guild membership had developed among colored players as an outgrowth of an election campaign of two members, Jesse Graves and Edward Boyd, scores of citizens here denounced an attack made upon Clarence Muse, distinguished actor and one of the first members of the guild, senior division, whose interest in the progress of Negroes in films and its organization to protect them as workers, they say, should be beyond the pale of petty attacks.

The original article accusing Muse of "interfering" with junior guild affairs is reported to have been inspired by Wm. Powell, written by Billy Smith for the Guardian.

It is also released this week to all Negro weeklies through the Associated Negro Press by Harry Levette.

Smith, a transient newspaperman, recently arrived here from Kansas City is the same man named in the committee that met with Al Jolson to "square with the Negroes" the petition signed by the comedian to prevent their residence in San Fernando property.

At that time, he represented himself as a correspondent of the ANP. This was denied by C. A. Barnett, the syndicate's director. Stript publicity of this news connection, Smith is reported to have used the facilities of the ANP, with an ulterior motive, by handing the current story to Levette who, in turn, sent it in to the Associated Negro Press under his name.

Under a ruling of the Screen Actors Guild, any member of the senior guild is priveleged to attend any meetings where guild interests are involved. Muse attended a meeting of a group sponsoring Graves, campaign held in the YMCA and it was this attendance that started the agitation by disgruntled juniors whose alleged efforts to emphasize "racial" angles in the guild which itself makes no such distinction, that drew the criticism.

However, to date, the existence of a petition to the guild to restrict Muse in his rights as a senior guild member has not been brought to the attention of the writer except in the imagination of Smith's malicious story.

stage door starts play for season

Already well upon its schedule of classes in dramatic training and little theatre technique, Lew Payton's Stage Door school of the theatre at 1115 East 41st St. began rehearsals for its first production, "Some Sweet Day", with a July date set for its opening.

Payton sees a great need in Los Angeles for such a school and has fitted up an interesting workshop that includes stage, scenery and a seating capacity of 95.

Moral support is asked of Angelenos interested in the development of a community theatre.

BUILD VOLCANO

Hollywood technicians who boast that they can build anything were given one of their severest tests in Paramount's "Her Jungle Love," but came through with flying colors. They built a volcano.

'porgy-bess' weds medic

Close upon the heels of her Baltimore divorce from Dr. F. H. Howard, Anne Brown, talented soprano who sang the role of "Bess" in George Gerswin's folk opera, "Porgy and Bess", and Dr. Claudius C. Pettit of New York took out a wedding license last week.

Friends of the couple said they had already been married for some time, but Dr. Pettit denied the report.

Reporters, unable to get a statement from Miss Brown, were told by Dr. Pettit that "he did not know when the wedding would take place.

Miss Brown is continuing her study of the voice under the Lucretia Dunhan and will not give up her career after marriage, he stated.

THERESA HARRIS LOOKS AT HER FUTURE IN FILMS; TO EXPERIMENT screen versatility

STRAIGHT—Theresa Harris surveys the hazards of sepia film players and looks into the future which she thinks promises a greater variety of parts for them.

SOUTHERN—A scene from M-G-M's "Toy Wife," story of Louisiana in the 1850's, with Luise Rainer, shows Theresa's reaction to a New Orleans duelling match as she hears the fatal shots fired. Her work is subtle and restrained.

PIXIE—As the mischievous pickaninny with glaring eyes and shiny teeth, hair wrapped in strings, Harris turns in a fine performance of the unruly slave child.

COLONIAL—Suggestive of the quiet, modest West Indian type of young matron, she is thought highly suitable in the role depicted here.

SEPIA FILM STAR BELIEVES CHANGE IN TYPE HELPS

WILL TRY FOREIGN ROLES DEPICTING COLONIALS

Taking stock of a long period in Hollywood motion pictures during which time she has essayed some of the most coveted roles given to sepia actresses, Theresa Harris, youthful screen actress revealed in an exclusive interview today that she has an interesting experiment up her sleeves for her career in films from now on.

Broad features, large mouths and an exaggerated southern accent no longer are the stock in trade of the Negro film actor.

More and more, casting directors are recognizing genuine dramatic ability among Negro players, rather than casting for "types", and as a result, more and more opportunities are opening for members of the race in Hollywood.

In casting Miss Harris for the role of "Pix" as Luise Rainer's maid in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Toy Wife", producer Merriam C. Cooper made the selection largely out of recognition of her dramatic talent.

"Pix is a character so flexible that it calls for straight drama, comedy, tragedy—every type of emotion", he said. "She is a real person, not somebody just to do "double takes". Every action of hers means something".

Theresa attracted Cooper's attention for her brief role and a bit of a part that called for her to run up and down stairs. "She performed this business with the rhythmic grace of la Argentine", in the opinion of reviewers of the southern epic, "Jezebel".

No newcomer to the screen, however, long before "Jezebel" of "Toy Wife", Theresa Harris did a part in "Thunderbolt", starring George Bancroft, but her best work began to show in "Baby Face", with Barbara Stanwyk. Appearances with the Lafayette Players followed, then roles in such pictures as Clark Gable-Jean Harlow, "Hold Your Man", and Ginger Rogers' "Professional Sweetheart."

"Working with Miss Rainer and trying to absorb her lessons in technique has been the grandest experience I have ever enjoyed, better than any formal schooling. And all around me in the picture I saw evidence of the fact that intelligent Negro talent is appreciated. If as a group, we take up film work as a serious study, I'm sure we could accomplish wonders", the actress stated.

"At the moment I am experimenting with myself in photographic tests of different types of orientals, and colonial types. I have just completed a Tahitian series, one depicting African types and next will follow Egyptian and Sudanese. We really have such a broad field in which to test ourselves that it could well occupy most of one's time between waits for other picture work," she revealed.

"One of my greatest abitions is to make some pictures in Great Britian for there have emanated some beautiful stories about Africa and other dark countries and their people with such fine talent as Paul Robeson and Elizabeth Welch and Princess Kouka in starring roles", she confined.

Because her features are slightly oriental and the use of make-up easily changes her type from strictly southern Negro to, say, olive-skinned Tahitian, a famed Hollywood artist recently acclaimed her the "perfect type of colonial beauty".

And so we agree, that Theresa may have hit upon quite an advanced idea to round out a career on the silver screen which should have great appeal for world-wide audiences.

FLASH!

As a part of its goodwill campaign for the national Elks convention scheduled to meet here soon, a series of radio broadcasts (13 weeks) over station KFWB will begin May 16 under title, "Opportunity Hour" dramatising the Negro's part in the history of Los Angeles with Clarence Muse and Ruby Elzy featured artists.

evelyn burwell returns home with mae west

Having completed a successful ten-weeks tour with Mae West that broke most of the box office records in theatres from Hollywood to Boston, Evelyn Pope Burwell returned here early Sunday morning on a streamlined limited.

Miss Burwell makes her present home in Hollywood where her first notice as an entertainer was gained in King Vidor's "Hallelujah". While in the East she paid a visit to her family in Richmond, Virginia. It was in the public schools of Richmond and at Virginia Union that Miss Burwell was educated and, a long with Bill Robinson, white Virginians claim her as one of their choicest celebrities. The daily Richmond NEWS LEADER sent news cameramen to meet her upon arrival and carried a full length picture with feature story interview of the colored girl in its columns.

In return, Burwell gave a special radio broadcast for the home folks that was enthusiastically received.

"Being with Miss West was one of the grandest experiences I have ever had. She is a fine person to work for, as everybody knows and I was glad of the opportunity", Burwell told an Eagle reporter today.

All along the road scores of colored fans of the streamlined siren of the screen were introduced to the star by Miss Burwell and she posed for news pictures with W. C. Handy and other noted Negroes. In New York, when most of Harlem turned out to Lowe's state theatre, West took her ovation then, turning to Miss Burwell, said: "This must be for you. Hotshot, take it".

An engagement in London may follow a brief vacation this summer.

"nothing can be done to stop it"--commissioner

Negroes and whites mingled in a monster mass street corner meeting and demonstration at 95th and Broadway, New York, protesting the showing of "Birth of a Nation", at a neighborhood theatre Monday night.

A crowd of more than 1000 heard speakers of both races savagely assail the film as an instrument of vicious propaganda and a breeder of racial animosity.

The meeting lasted two hours with a picket line marching in front of the Thalia theatre bearing placards denouncing the film

Commissioner of Licenses Paul Moss told a newsreporter that nothing could be done to stop showing of the film.

TEST PILOT

Adapted from the METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER Picture by GERTRUDE GELBIN

SYNOPSIS: Jim Lane, ace test-pilot, loses his job at the Drake Aviation Company when he interrupts a Transcontinental flight to marry Ann Barton. They celebrate their marriage with Gunner, Jim's mechanic and best friend. Drake has Jim black-listed at all aviation companies. Jim decides to fly a freak plane in a Trophy Race in order to win $10,000.

NOW READ CHAPTER FOUR — BELOW

"Give me a Scotch." "You'll take a coke."

Jim (Clark Gable), Ann (Myrna Loy) and Gunner (Spencer Tracy) ride to the flying field for the Thompson Trophy Race. Gunner still pleads with Ann to dissuade Jim from taking up Grant's freak plane; but Ann, who has never before witnessed a race and who knows none of the hazards of flying, feels safe in Jim's confidence in himself. At the field, they learn that Benson (Louis Jean Haydt) is flying the Drake plane.

"And I left Kansas for this! Oh, darling!"

Jim and Benson are old friends and greet each other warmly. They jibe each other as to which one will win, each assuring the other he hasn't a chance. Benson tells Jim he's going to win because he's promised to take his wife and three children to Europe on the $10,000 prize. Jim laughs back that he's going to win because he and Ann are going to fly to the moon on the prize-money.

"He's on fire! Jim! Jim!"

Ann and Gunner watch the race, with Jim taking the lead, Benson second. The crowd is cheering Jim. Ann chides Gunner joyously for his fears. A sudden cry of "Lane's plane is on fire!" brings her to her feet. She turns upon Gunner hysterically, but Gunner, needing every bit of courage to control himself, throws her off savagely. For the first time Ann realizes what it means to be a test-pilot.

"I don't know what fear is, baby."

Silent and tense, she and Gunner watch Jim take the last lap. By some miracle Jim has managed to put out the fire. He finishes the race in record time and lands amid the shouts and cheers of the crowd. Ann and Gunner rush over to him. A sharp cry rises from the stands. Ann looks up to see the plane Benson is piloting take a sudden nosedive, and crash to the ground. Read the next thrilling chapter.

TO DANCE FOR HAITIAN MINISTER

KATHERINE DUNHAM, famous dancer, gave a recital Saturday, April 30, in Washington, D. C., for the Haitian Coffee Fest which was given by the wives of the faculty and officials of Howard uni-versity. The Coffee Fest had as its guest of honor the Minister of Haiti and Madame Lescot. The appearance of Katherine Dunham as guest artist at this fest was especially interesting in view of the fact that Miss Dunham has spent a long time in Haiti as a fellow of the Rosenwald Foundation, studying primitive dance.

Miss Dunham went from Washington to give a concert with her group at Grinnell college, Grinnell, Iowa. (ANP).

By FAY M. JACKSON

HOLLYWOOD'S PIONEER days seem to be gone.

The little Southern California bonanza of make-believe, where it used to be that anyone with a pretty face or pleasing personality or distinctive type might be singled out of a crowd and made famous overnight, has grown into a sprawling industrial town where talent is backed strictly according to performance. And thus passes the "golden era" of the extra line.

It's a rare thing nowadays when an extra is given a chance, even for a bit role. Yet in the old days, the ranks of the extra players provided Hollywood with some of its biggest stars.

But those days are gone forever. Now acting experience is — in all but exceptional cases — the first requirement for a chance at a real part.

And the best place for a novice to serve an apprenticeship, according to producers, is the stage!

IN THE GROOVE

Exclusive Publications, Inc., is turning out a "swingtette" series of orchestrations for seven-piece bands. Scorings taken from phonograph records made by Fats Waller, Duke Ellington, Buster Bailey, Rex Stewart, Benny (London) Carter and others.

Tin Pan Alley scriveners have seized on the latest dance import from Cuba, the Conga, for what gives indication of developing into a new song cycle. Two numbers with the word, Conga, in the title have already been released, while other publishers with MMS containing like themes are holding up printing until title clears.

It is awfully strange how dark people furnish most of the themes and originality of ideas for these new cycles and others gain all the profit therefrom, with VERY few exceptions.

It is probably due to our premature "enthusiasm" that "we've got something" before we make a move to protect it against plagiarism. Probably an old inferiority feeling hanging over. More investigation of COPYRIGHTS would make many a poor chap rich if he only knew how to protect his product before he released it to "readers" and "pluggers".

HOLLYWOOD HAS AN IDEA

Metro's $15,000 story buy of an original, "Old Man River", by Oscar Hammerstein II, and H. S. Kraft, may be tied in with "Show Boat" by Hammerstein and Jerome Kern which rights Metro also has acquired. While the "Show Boat" operetta (based on the Edna Ferber novel) was made and re-made by Universal, the tie-in with "Old Man River", its new screen original, makes possible a blending of certain elements from the two stories.

Our young poet laureate, Langston Hughes, has hit upon an idea for a little theatre that seems interesting. He calls it a "suitcase" theatre. Examination of its prospectus makes it clear that no "angel" backing or other subsidy influences the venture.

Two bare half-moon stages, connected by a sort of cat-walk, a group of 20 players, including stenographers, laundry workers, clerks, dressmakers, and WPA workers just about complete the set-up for the first play, "Don't You Want to be Free?"

Damning Broadway for what it has NOT done for the Negro as an actor, promoter Hughes described his effort as an attempt to raise the status of the sepia player:

"Except for rare occasions," he went on, "Broadway has generally given the Negro a comic or servile role that does not truly represent the Negro. We are just shut out of roles which would give our people a chance to show the world that we can act well in plays that are not necessarily comic, but have plenty of real life in them.

"I believe that we have only begun to scratch the surface in the theatre of our people. There is a rich mine in the life of the Negro in America and it is crying to be expressed. I believe it is going to be up to the Negro to express it. I believe this will show Broadway and the rest of the country the real story of the Negro in America, and I believe our people will like it.

"It is not our aim to be morbid or tragic, but to write and produce plays about the Negro that the masses of the people will enjoy, because they will treat of the Negro as a human being. We'll have comedy, tragedy, humor, pathos, or what have you, but we hope above all to show the significant phases of the life of the Negro in America, and to do it in a way that will please our people."

RADIO'S APPEAL

Down in Longview, Texas, radio station KFRU has fallen in line with a growing trend among southern stations to build programs aimed at Negro audiences. The Dixie broadcaster has a weekly "Harlem Revue", using all-Negro talent, and circulates heralds in colored residential areas to attract attention to the show.

JOINS MODELS

CHICAGO, (ANP)—Tanya, acrobatic dancer known as the "boneless brown beauty," left Chicago Friday for Union City, N. J., where she is to appear with Irvin C. Miller's "Brown Skin Models" for a limited engagement.

Described by some critics as the foremost colored contortionist, Tanya, appeared for several months with the Models last year. She intends to study advanced ballet dancing in a New York school next fall.

DODGES AUTOGRAPHS

Autographing pictures for personal friends and co-workers is the bane of Harold Lloyd's existence. The comedian, now shooting "Professor, Beware" for Paramount, insists on an appropriate thought for each sentiment

HANDS ACROSS THE KEYS

(Music Features & Photo Syndicate)

THE challenge, "discover whose hands are portrayed in the above montage of composers," would be difficult to take up. In the fingers of these famous musicians and composers lies a wide divergence of size, shape, thickness and flexibility. These are the hands of men and women who are among the leading composers of America, members of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, which protects their works against infringement and which licenses the legitimate use of their creations in public performance for profit.

The hands above are the hands of Fritz Kreisler, Sergei Rachmaninoff, Walter Damrosch, Gena Branscombe, Daniel Gregory Mason, Leopold Godowsky, Edwin Franko Goldman, Deems Taylor, Albert Stoessel, Vee Lawnhurst, David Guion, Eubie Blake, Sigmund Spaeth, Frank Black and Pietro A. Yon.

See if you can identify the owners without consulting the answer key. Fritz Kreisler should be easy. His are, of course, the hands at the violin. Can you identify the others?

college life is source of picture fare

The college campus today is providing motion pictures with one of their greatest sources of stories.

Every studio in Hollywood is busy with plans to make from two to as high as six pictures built around college life during the coming year. The only other single locale to provide more

The first of the new college picture to be released will be "College Swing", a musical farce featuring Burns and Allen, Edward Everett Horton, Bob Hope, Martha Raye, Florence Gorge and Ben Blue.

In addition to this one, Paramount has in preparation a football story and several other campus yarns. Twentieth Century-Fox has two football stories and other campus stories in preparation.

held over for cantor show

NEW YORK CITY, (ANP)—Hattie Noel, portraying the character of the $150,000 sweepstakes winner on the Eddie Cantor radio show, has been held over for ten weeks and will be heard again Monday night over the coast-to-coast network of the Columbia Broadcasting System at seven-thirty Eastern Daylight Savings Time.

One of the foremost comediennes on the American stage, Miss Noel, was chosen from more than a dozen applicants for the role of the sweepstakes winner.

She has played practically every vaudville circuit in the United States over a period of 15 years, and more recently she has been identified with night clubs in the East.

For color separation work a photographic camera has been installed in an Ohio factory that uses plates five feet square and has bellows that can be extended 20 feet.

'father' may dipsey doodle for recording

Father Divine may do a little dipsey doodling, scronching, pecking, shagging and big appling for a recording company, which is hot after the brown messiah to make records, according to a report made this week in the N. Y. Amsterdam News.

A. Sturtz, of the Rainbow Music Shop in West 125th street, was non-committal when asked about it.

Nevertheless, it was learned that he had an appointment to take up the matter with Father this week. He was worried about how the evangelist would receive him and whether he could get Father to do a little dipsy doodling for his company to record.

Questioned about the matter, one of Father's bigwig advisers said: "You can bet that Father has been advised plenty about this scronching business.

new film to reveal sound innovations

The old innovator, Fritz Lang, is at it again.

The thing he's come up with this time he terms "subjective sound" and he is springing it on the public in the current Sylvia Sidney-George Raft picture, "You and Me", which marks Lang's debut as a producer-director for Paramount.

First Lang called it "dimensional sound", but he gave that up when he concluded that "no matter how you hear it, sound is still sound." "Subjective," he feels, ought to satisfy even the most fastidious.

To understand the bemonacled Austrian's new method of recording sound you must first appreciate his "subjective camera." For instance, when there are two players in a scene Lang hates to photograph them from an objective point of view. He prefers to photograph one from the viewpoint of the other, and vice versa—in other words, "subjectively."

Reverse System

He got good results with this in "Fury" and "You Only Live Once", but recently he decided that he wasn't carving the idea far enough. If you see something from a certain standpoint, you should also hear it from there, he thought. Hence, "subjective sound."

To accomplish it he reverses the system of having the microphone held just above the player who is talking, and hangs it over the listener instead. Being careful, of course, that the 'mike' is sufficiently amplied when necessary for the sake of clarity.

Lang says the result is very effective in heightening realism and helping put the audience into sympathetic contact with the actors. "Personalization," he calls it.

struggle plays best for race, says johnson

James Weldon Johnson, lecturer, novelist and poet, spoke at the YMCA to the Negro Peoples Theatre Group in Chicago this week on "The Art Approach" as a means of solving some of the problems of the Negro race.

"Negro stereotypes began and have been perpetuated thru that media", Johnson said, "and they can be fought most effectively through the same media.

He advised the group to shy away from plays about Negro intellectuals and the middle class (which usually set out to prove that the Negro is a human being) since they are dully respected and severed from the land and vital struggle.

The author voiced the opinion that the best in the Negro can be shown in his struggle with the land and his environment. He touched briefly on the class basis of the Negro's struggle and the necessity of breaking down the "stereotypes" before class unity can be achieved.

fletcher faces damage suit

DES MOINES, Ia., (ANP)—A writ of attachment against Fletcher Henderson, orchestra leader, was granted Thursday by District Judge Russell Jordan to J. Nelson Thompson for $2,995 damages.

Thompson's petition said Henderson had failed to keep an agreement to play for him at a dance in the Armory ballroom on Nov. 25, 1936. Thompson set forth $395 expenses in arranging this dance, $1,110 damages to his reputation as an arranger and other damages.

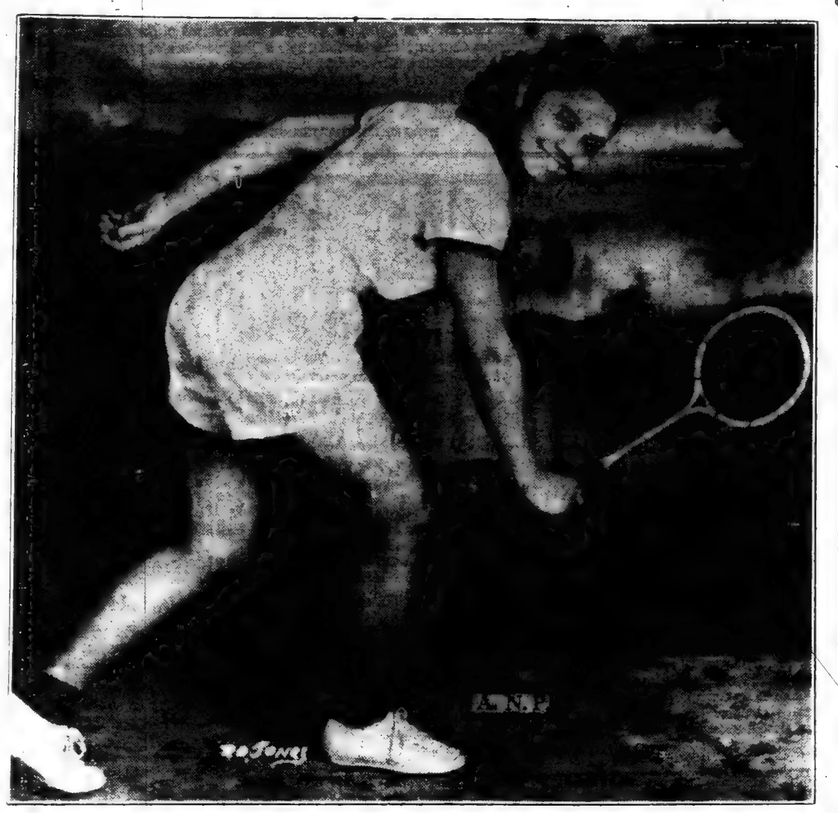
WITH THE STAFF

Echoes and reverberations from the Penn Relay Carnival have not yet died down and we predict they won't subside until the glamour of the West Coast Relays at Fresno on Saturday shuts out all else.

Reporters and columnists are still writing about the iron man performance of Long John Woodruff, Pittsburgh U. junior. We have selected the best of the descriptions from a batch of clippings, this one from the Christian Science Monitor.

"NEW YORK, May 3.—The controlling part in relays was never better illustrated than in the various outstanding championships in the Penn Relays at Franklin Field on Friday ad Saturday. John Y. Woodruff, of Pittsburgh, the Rideout twins, Blaine and Wayne, of North Texas Teachers, Edgar H. Borck of Manhattan, Thomas Deckard, of Indiana, and a new development, Frank Fuller, University of Virginia, were directly responsible for the victories their teams scored. In two cases at least, the ultimate winner started his part of the race behind the leader, while even though his teammates had given him an advantage, it was always considerably increased in the course of his task.



"Woodruff, the anchor man of the Pittsburgh team, furnished the most sensations, varying his pace and style as he ran, according to the distance required of him. In the sprint-medley, on the first day, his distance was half-a-mile, and he started in fourth place with Edgar Stripling of New York University and James B. Bradley, of Princeton, both leading him. But he galloped away from them, with his clumsy, giraffe-like stride, and when the final figures were announced, he had done the distance in 1m. 49.9s. This was the best performance ever staged in the event anywhere, any time, and it brought a new record of 3m. 24.5s., almost two seconds faster than the performance of the team last year, which then established a new carnival record.

"Then he shifted to a furlong as fourth man in the half-mile relay Saturday morning, and again ran away from his field, though he had a slight lead this time, to equal the Carnival record of 1m. 26.6s made by the University of Texas in 1936.

"His final effort was a quarter-mile to capture the mile-championship relay, the first of the great historic relays which the University of Pennsylvania started with. Rain had ended all chances for further records, and the field against him included some of the best quarter-miler in the world, including James B. Herbert, New York University; Harley Howells of Ohio State, and Edgar H. Brock, of Manhattan, who were at his heels as he made his start.

"But John did not care. He was set for victory and, though, near the end, a wild dash from the rear by Herbert might have caught him, Woodruff simply let out a link in the length of his stride, and crashing past the judges in 47.4s, to lead Herbert by a couple of yards and end the most remarkable feat even he had ever accomplished. Herbert according to unofficial timers, did the distance in 47s.

"Benjamin W. Johnson, as might have been expected, had little trouble in annexing for Columbia the 440-yard relay on the first day, with some assistance from Herbert Weast, and the pair also took first and second in the special 100 the next day, though the wet track made fast time impossible.

With only six months of badminton playing, Mary Lou Ford of the Wabash Avenue YMCA, Chicago, has won three medals. Third place in the Chicago YMCA Badminton Tournament, she won the Illinois YMCA badminton championship and was second place winner in the National Badminton Tournament, held in connection with the international Y Championships and Physical Education Congress held in Detroit, Michigan, April 27-30. This was the first time that women have ever been invited to participate in a National YMCA meet and Mrs. Ford was the only Negro entrant in the Badminton Tournament.

She was accompanied by her competent coach who is also her husband, Joseph Ford, badminton ninstructor at Wabash YMCA.

Badminton is a game played similarly to tennis, using a racquet and a bird or shuttlecock made of cork and feathers. It is regarded as the fastest racquet game known and is increasing in popularity among both young and old. (ANP)

Henry Starts Training for Ross Fight; Weighs 142!

NEW YORK, May 12 (ANP)—Homicide Henry Armstrong arrived here Tuesday to start training for his welterweight title fight with Barney Ross on May 26, and carried a total of 142 pounds, six more than he plans to have when he enters the Madison Square Garden bowl. Barney is expected to scale around 142.

Armstrong does not believe this extra weight will hurt him. "It'll probably make me faster, he said. "No dieting out or anything like that to weaken me. I'll be stronger than ever and hitting harder than ever."

The featherweight titlist said he "felt fine" and declared "the test was just what I needed. My hands are in fine shape again. I'm eager to get back into the ring. And I've put on enough poundage so that Ross won't have much of a weight advantage over me."

HENRY ARMSTRONG

Asked whether he felt his new poundage would prevent his fighting again in defense of his featherweight crown, Armstrong answered, "Later on I might accept a featherweight title match, with the provision that if I couldn't make 126 pounds we would fight at catch weights and I would give up the title. I might try to come down to 126, but if I found the weight-making was weakening me, I'd stop paring down immediately.

Crouch On Gilmore Card Tomorrow

Georgie Crouch, classy sepia boxer, meets Paul DeBello of New York, tomorrow night at Gilmore stadium, in one of the three feature ten-round bouts carded by Matchmaker Charley McDonald.

The other bouths feature Patsy Perroni, hard-hitting Cleveland Italian, against Jack Roper, and Hoyt Jones versus Jackie Burke. The attractive main events will be backed up with a stellar preliminary card.

Crouch is one of the most promising lightweights on the coast and the coming test will give the railbirds an insight into his future prospects.

Seeks Taxation of Grid Gates

(ACP) — The U. S. Supreme Court, top judicial arbiter of differences of opinion, has been called upon to rule as to whether or not intercollegiate football is an educational activity.

Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson has asked the court to rule that the University of Georgia and Georgia School of Technology must pay taxes on football game admissions— a ruling that would affect gate receipts at stadiums throughout the U.S.

Government Lawyers hold that "at neither school is participation in football a prerequisite to graduation, and no credit is given therefor toward a degree.

Lawyers for the colleges maintain that in staging the games their clients were "engaged in the performance of an essential governmental function."— The Hilltop.

Pastor TKO's Lee Ramage

Bob Pastor, New York heavyweight, won on a technical kayo over Lee Ramage, San Diego, Tuesday night at the Olympic, when Lee's handlers tossed in the towel in the ninth round.

Ramage was absorbing plenty of punishment from Pastor and was unable to defend himself. Charley Randolph was referee.

Mickey Farber of New York won a fast six-round decision over Babe Brandelli, claiming the honor of the best looking preliminary boy on the night's card.

Bud Sloan kayoed Lee Tyrell in the first. Jimmy McDaniels was too much for Al Grayson who lost in four; Tommy Tucker stopped Gene Broks in the third, and Chuck Scott kayoed Tony Batres in the second canto of the opener.

Million Dollar Fight--Jacobs

NEW YORK, May 12—A predepression figure of $1,500,000 and no less, is what big time fight impressario Mike Jacobs expects the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling gate to total when the bout comes off in New York on June 22.

Chicago's hopes for the heavyweight championship match were blasted last week when Jacobs announced that dispite Anti-Nazi boycotts the match will be held at the Yankee Stadium.

New York is the only town that will lay out that kind of money for a feature attraction, Jacobs told the press.

Louis is due to arrive in New York May 15, and to start training two weeks later at Pompton Lakes, N. J.

Schmeling arrives from Germany May 9 and will train at Speculator, N. Y.

STATE COMMISSION REINSTATES BRAY

Reinstatement of Big Boy Bray, protege of Eugene Sorral, Central avenue businessman, was announced last week by the State Athletic commission.

4 Groom for Simon Pure Bouts in Chi

CHICAGO, May 12 (ANP)—Four dusky amateur boxers are members of the Chicago Tribune Golden Gloves team now training for the international bouts with Europe's best at the Chicago Stadium on May 18.

These four, gunning for the greatest amateur boxing prize in the world, an international title, have already won championships ranging from sectional to national. Milton Bess was the Indianapolis sectional welterweight king, but has reduced to lightweight status. Booker Beckwith, Gary champion who last February fought as a light heavyweight, is now a 160 pounder and in the Intercity bouts with New York won his match as a middleweight.

The other two boxers are from Cleveland. William Mouldune, Golden Gloves light heavyweight runner-up, also won his fight with New York and more recently the National AAU champidnship. Dan Merritt, heavyweight, is the only colored Chicago Golden Gloves champion, but lost at New York on a questionable decision. He came back, however, to win the National AAU title.

Two others who might have been on the squad are not available. Clayton Johnson, 118 pound runner-up, could not absent himself from his job in Sioux City, Ia., and Jackie Simmons, featherweight runner-up, is about to turn professional in Kansas City, Mo., his home town.

Tucson Athlete Promising

TUCSON, May 12 Batiste, brilliant young track star at Tucson High school is winning honors here for his alma mater.

The youth's feats have enabled Tucson to tie with the powerful Phoenix High. A one man track team, Batiste regularly wins the 120 high hurdles, breaking the tape in 15.5, the low hurdles in 13.1, the 440 yard low hurdles and is key man on the relay team.

Coach Van Horne believes that in another year, he will have one of the strongest teams that Tucson has ever produced. He has three other young track stars in the making. Foley and Milfred and Winfred Johnson, the latter two dash men.

Foley shows great promise of a fine shot putter even though he is yet in Class B competition.

Arizmendi Fights Hally Tuesday

Next Tuesday's card at the Olympic auditorium pits Baby Arizmendi against Wally Hally in the ten-round main event, the winner to get a crack at world champion Lou Ambers. Arizmendi and Hally have met twice before, each winning once.

HOOK . . . LINE . . . 'N' SINKER

Local trout fishing got off to a doubtful start with water conditions and many washed-out roads making limits harder to get this year, reports the outing bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Although many of Southern California's streams have been denuded of fish life by recent storms, a few of the upper reaches of some of the larger streams were not seriously damaged. Upper Deek creek, Hooks creek and the Upper Santa Ana river in San Bernardino county offer good possibilities to the angler.

San Gabriel river between the two dams, upper East Fork San Gabriel as well as Iron and Fish forks should produce some limits but all persons planning trips into this area should make local inquiries to road conditions as hikes will be necessary in some instances.

Lake Arrowhead, Big Bear, Arrowbear, Jenks, Hemet and Little Rock Lakes should reward fishermen with some limits.

Recent reports from Owens Valley indicate that Topaz, Twin Lakes, Grant, Silver, June Convict, North and Sabrina lakes will be free of ice and open. There is still much snow at greater elevations and the lakes are high. Clear streams include East Walker below the dam, Robinson, Mill, Lundy, Lee vening, Rush, Convict, Birch, Bishop and Hot creeks, Owens river and the West Walker are very high and muddy.

Bass perch, and crappie prospects look fairly good for all the San Diego county lakes. Sportsmen are advised to make reservations in advance for boats.

Max Positive He Can Whip Joe; Says He's "Full of Pep and Ginger"

NEW YORK, May 12. (ANP) Max Schmeling is absolutely positive he can whip Champion Joe Louis and thereby become the first heavyweight in history to regain the title when they fight in New York next month.

The German, who was exceedingly impressive when he knocked out Steve Dudas last month in the last of his tune-up bouts, said:

"I believe I can lick Joe Louis again and there are two reasons why I think so.

In the first place, I'm in the best form of my life. I'm in much better form than I was when I beat him the first time.

"That time I had only one fight in a year. This time I've had a couple of tough ones. I'm full of pep and ginger.

"In the second place, you musn't forget how it's going to feel for me to climb through the ropes and meet a guy I've beaten before. That sort of thing gives you confidence. Don't forget that when I beat him before Joe was regarded as unbeatable and I was just the 'sure next victim.' That's something you've got to take into consideration.

GREAT SPRINT FIELD TO TOE MARK IN WEST COAST RELAYS

Meet Century Mark May Fall as Mack Robinson Races Speedsters

FRESNO, May 12.—The greatest field of sprinters ever assembled in a west coast track meet will center interest around the short and thrilling 100-yard dash on Saturday as the Far Western Relays, the Olympic Games of the Pacific Coast, get underway.

Rated as one of the most keenly competitive of the country's many spring relay carnivals, the Fresno meet will feature college, junior college, high school and unattached athletes.

The century dash, has about stolen the show from the four man two mile, usually feature race of the day. That event will feature a grudge race between the University of Southern California and California at Berkeley, the former school having the invincible Louis Zamperini as anchor man. A world record is likely to be broken.

The meet may or the century will doubtless be shattered. Certainly the field is the classiest assembled almost anywhere outside of the Olympic Games.

There will be Mack Robinson, whom many rate the outstanding dash man in the amatuer ranks. Mack, now running for Oregon State, did 9.6 in a dual meet two weeks ago. Pushed by Randolph Carter, Whittier college sprint champion, Tommy Nelson of Fresno State College, who ran fourth in the Drake Relays finals last week, Bryant Allen of Riverside, Wilbur Miller of Compton and Clyde Jeffries of Riverside, the West's one white hope, Mack should hit 9.5. All the boys mentioned with the exception of Jeffries are colored.

Junior College sprint relays are apt to be of greater interest to fans than the college division. Riverside Jaysee, with Jeffries, Allen, Culpepper, and Bess, will be pointing for a new world record in the jaysee classification. They will be paced by Compton, Pasadena, Los Angeles, Santa Monica, Bakersfield, and San Francisco, no mean field.

A new meet broadjump record looms with Mack Robinson being pushed by his little brother, Jack of Pasadena, and Bill Lacefield of U. C. L. A.. Meet records will doubtless be lowered in the discus and shot put if the day is warm enough, as Woodrow Strode, U. C. L. A. weight champion is reportedly in the best condition of the season.

Sprint finals will be run in the evening.

Jefferson Hi Spikesters Defeat Manual Squad

By PAUL C. GREEN

Before a crowd of 3,000 fans Jefferson spikester's defeated Manuel Arts high school by a score of 67½-36½ last Friday afternoon at Jefferson. Proving themselves worthy of their three titles, the League, City and State, the Democratis held the Toilers to only four first places.

History repeated itself when Jeff was disqualified in the eight man mile relay. Disqualification came when McCoy stepped out of the boundary line before he had received the baton from Manley. This race held the crowd to its feet during the entire exchanging process. The Manuel boys had the green and gold trailing them until Roland Denton brought the race to a dead heat as he exchanged the "mail" with Saul Langford. From that point on the Democrats lead the procession with Sam Langford anchoring.

Sam was the high point man of the day, totaling 14 points. He won both the century and furlong in the fine time of 9.8s and 22.2s, tied for first place honors with Levine of Manuel in the broad jump at 21'11".

Manuel showed power over Jefferson's pole vaulters when the Manuel quartet of Robbins, Taft, Hoshi and Patterson all tied for first place honors at 10'. Vernon Small proved that he means to stay undefeated this season when he won the quarter-mile with Smith of Manuel, second, and Seagraves of Jefferson third, time 51s. George Allen was a double winner in the hurdles. Earl Floyd turned in another win, defeating Manuel's duet of Gomez and Yeakel in the mile in far from his best time of 4:50.

Tom Direux put the shot 53'11" as Miller and Chatman of Manuel and Jefferson respectively followed. Pollard and Matlock both of Jeff won the high jump, the height was 6'2".

Kern of Manuel Arts, promising half-miler defeated the favorite, Jefferson's Spicer when he breasted the tape and was clocked in 2:05, with Van Vactor of Jeff third.

Both B and C divisions of Jefferson are as yet undefeated. The babes took Manuel by a score of 54-41 and 44-33 respectively. The individual best performers of the day were McGee, Hanson, Baisstol and Shirahama all of Manuel and Robert Clark, Bobby Cobb, Thermon Lewis and Chester Denton of Jeff.

Fremont Travels to Jefferson Tomorrow

Feeling pretty well satisfied with last week's prediction, I figure when the Fremont Pathfinders travel to Fulton Field tomorrow they will meet the same defeat that four other schools have met. Because Manuel defeated the Pathfinders and Jeff defeated the Toilers the home team should double the points Fremont will get. The dope sheet of last week predicted the score to be 72-32. If the relay had not been disqualified it would have missed by only one point. For the Pathfinders and Democrats encounter, the score should be around 81-23. The Pathfinders will have to make themselves satisfied with only one first place, the pole vault.

Fremont's squad will be lead by Aaron, Simon, Ranford and Bleeker.

Woman, 104, Dies of Heart Ailment

The death of one of Los Angeles' oldest residents was recorded this week with the belated filing of a death certificate in the county Vital Statistics office.

A centurian, Mrs. Mildred Bailey, resident of the County Poor Farm at Rivera, succumbed to heart disease at the Dunbar Hospital April 24. A death certificate, signed by Dr. W. Scarborough, was filed this week, following cremation May 4 at the County Crematory.

The woman's exact age was given on the record as 104 years 8 months and 4 months.

Born in Stanton, Virginia, August 20, 1833, Mrs. Bailey had spent the greater part of her youth in slavery. She had lived in California 22 years and had outlived all of her relatives, none of whose names were given on the death certificate, except her husband, Louis Berry, who is believed to be deceased.

ttee were both interested in both the general and legislative committees. This was especially true of the bill for recognition of the Negro in American history which was one of the seven bills which reached the legislative education committee where only two were to be considered for presentation on the floor.

The first and hardest battle was for incorporation of such education into the regular history courses instead of setting up a separate elective course in Negro history. Among the bills killed in committee in order that the significant measure might reach the senate and assembly were one for state help for needy students and free discussion of political platforms; the latter bill originated from the argument that the Communist party principles are not discussed in public schools.

The civil rights measure encountered much debate on the floor because of explanation of terms used, but finally passed with eleven opposing votes in the assembly and six in the senate.

Lack of Segregation Noted

Throughout the three day session of the first meeting of its kind in the state of California, there was a conspicuous lack of segregation in committee appointments and bill presentations. All committees were interracial and questions and arguments were evaluated on worth and rules under which the legislature operated with no show of patronizing any class or race. The total delegation numbered 672 with 154 youth organizations being represented; no tabulations were taken on race in the registration of delegates but estimates place the Negro delegation at from 85 to 100.

WOMAN REFUSES TO PROSECUTE SUSPECT

Charges of rape and robbery were dropt against Buster Washington when Mrs. Mary Stafford, of 3405 South Normandie, refused to prosecute.

When officers Conway and Smith, of Newton division, were called on the case to arrest Washington, the woman declared she had been beaten, held up and dragged into a house and assaulted. In the absence of her husband, she is alleged to have explained to officers that the man was a friend of hers and she did not wish to prosecute.

She bore evidence of bruises and injuries received in a fight.

ON THE COMEBACK TRAIL

ARCHIE WILLIAMS, University of California at Berkeley sprinter, and winner of the quartermile in the last Olympics, who will attempt a comeback in the Compton Invitational Meet Friday night, May 20.

Archie retired from track competition after an unsuccessful season last year, due to a back and leg injury. He holds the world record in this event at 46.1.

Lincoln U. in Mid-West Meet

Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo., May 12—Coach Kemp's squad of track and field athletes is daily preparing for its first full-strength test of the current track season. The Mid-West Conference meet at Lincoln University this week-end will call forth more Lincoln athletes than have been seen in competition this season.

Coach Kemp will have the largest number of his candidates available in the sprints. Expected to see action in the short runs are: Herman Plummer, junior from Sumner High School, Kansas City, Kansas; Clark Jones, sophomore from Sumner High School, St. Louis; Ben Williams, sophomore from Vashon High School, St. Louis; Kent Billups, sophomore for Sumner high school, St. Louis; Ed. Willis, freshman from Garrison high School, Liberty, Mo., and Sam Haris, freshman from Pittsburgh, Pa. Both Willis and Plummer made creditable performances in the decathlon events in the Kansas Relays, Friday and Saturday, April 22 and 23. They were entered again in the Drake Relays at Des Moines, Iowa, Friday and Saturday, April 29 and 30.

TENNIS NOTES

We are laboring under a new column head this week . . . . "Stringin' Our Racket" . . . . Cute, huh? . . . Hope you recognized under the disguise that this is sposed to be a tennis column.

After a series of meetings, held first at the home of Mrs. Josephine Brown, Pacific Coast Field Secretary of the American Tennis Association and then at the Watts home of Herbert Glover, president of the Surburban Tennis club, the powers that be have decided to hold the Southern California Tennis Championship matches in Pasadena July 3rd and 4th. Pasadena drew the matches last year. The exact place of the tournament has not yet been decided, although it is a toss-up between the Pasadena Javsee courts and Brookside Park.

The Southern California matches are a sort of warm-up for the Pacific Coast tournament, although losing out in the former in no way eliminates players from the latter.

At this writing, the Ross Snyder club, hosts to the P. C. tournament this year, is still undecided just where said matches will be played. Debate centers about Griffith Park and the Jefferson High School courts in the event the Playground Department does not pick in with the two new courts at the Ross Snyder playground, as per promise.

There are five courts at Jefferson, three in a row in the center of the campus and two in the outside. A block or so away is the Ross Snyder playground with two courts. To our mind therefore, there is no earthly reason why the tournament should be removed from the hub of Negro activity, the Eastside.

We noticed an influx of new racquets on the local courts Sunday. Pete a Jeff court character turned up with the latest in stream-lined racqueteering, a beautiful, white wood thing with a red leather grip. Dunbar Hunt's was also the marvel of the courts for its perfect balance and sturdiness, despite light weight.

Speaking of racquets, the other day I went over to the tennis shops adjacent to the Exposition Courts to drum up some business, to give this column an excuse for being.

I went first to the Exposition Tennis shop and attempted to sell him advertising in this publication. My argument was that as tennis is definitely on the upswing on the Eastside and there is no nearby shop where one might get tennis servicing, it might be a good thing to have our devotees of the sport know of his place.

The proprietor agreed and promised an insertion in the very near future.

Next, I sashayed over to Ed's shop, directly across the street. Jimmy McDaniels, one of Ross Snyder's seeded players, was chatting with the manager of the shop, and assured me that said manager was a "swell fellow" and it was safe to go in and "string my racquet", so to speak.

I did and was received politely enough, but was told that Ed's shop didn't have to advertise with us—because he had all the Eastside trade anyway.

That's logical at any rate on his part, but it's sure dim-wittedness on ours. As long as there have been organizations here interested in tennis, playing it and staging tournaments, we haven't made ourselves felt any keener than that.

Maybe I have no right to ask you to boycott Ed's shop because he wouldn't give me an ad. But frankly, I am going to presume the right to demand that you let that fellow know he made a bad break there.

There are two other tennis shops within a stone's throw from there. I have their promises of future business. Not mincing any words, the publicity tennis players have received in this paper is greatly responsible for interest that is being manifested in the sport now.

It's a case of turn and turn about.

Come on, folks, are you mice men????—A. D.

Loyola Sepia Stars Aid in Grid Win

Andy Abels and Walter McCowan, Loyola University football players, were members of the Varsity squad that defeated the Old Timers 14-6 in a spring showing of Loyola's football prospects last Sunday afternoon on the Catholic college's gridiron.

Abels, a senior, played at left guard and McCowan at left half. George Sims, who starred with McCowan on the Loyola squad last year did not go in.

According to Al Duval, line coach, and former Loyola University stellar guard, Abels and McCowan showed vast improvement over previous playing.

Says Herbert to Beat Own Record

NEW YORK, May 12. (CNA)—Van Elling, white track and field coach of New York University, predicts that Jim Herbert, winged-foot quarter-miler, will this season surpass his indoor record of eleven victories out of thirteen starts, if Herbert continues in track competition.

Herbert is expecting an appointment to the New York Fire department—which duties would end his track days.

Norman Gives Up Football!

Alfred Norman, sophmore student at Loyola University, has given up football and is devoting his time to studies, it was reported from reliable sources this week.

Norman, who is attending Loyola on a football scholarship, won for meritorious work on the Belmont high team at half back position, is a pre-legal student at the Catholic University. While at Belmont he was a star hurdler and broad jumper.

First Sepia on J.C. Swimming Team

The first Negro in the history of local collegiate aquatic sports to have membership on the swimming team, is young James F. Wilson, who has made the squad at Los Angeles Junior college, it was announced this week.

Young Wilson, the nephew of Mrs. Lida C. Reed, Newton street police station clerk, has successfully passed the Red Cross Life Saving test and is taking the civil service examination for a swimming pool life guard this month.

Radio Talk on KGFJ By Dr. N. C. King

By N. CURTIS KING, M. D.

It seemingly is the consensus of opinion that never before in the history of America has there been such a desire on the part of all groups of citizens to work harmoniously with each other for the common good of the erradication of Syphilis and Gonorrhea.

Perhaps not for another generation will an equal opportunity be given America to conquer Syphilis, and mitigate the ravishes of Gonorrhea. At last the barriers are down. In the daily press, in national weekly and monthly publications, in radio broadcasts, in addresses and conversations, Syphilis and Gonorrhea are being discussed frankly and with optimism, and no longer behind closed doors and in whispers. Thanks to Surgeon General Parran for his courage.

No program for wiping out Syphilis and Gonorrhea can succeed, that fails to come to grips with the problems of the individual physician, and the education of the masses.

infected persons must be treated, sources of infections found, contacts examined, men and women, boys and girls instructed in the nature, methods of spread, and means of prevention of Syphilis and Gonorrhea.

Every young man and woman before the age of adolescense should be familiar with the cause and effects of both Gonorrhea and Syphilis. We are educating our boys and girls to build up strong bodies to avoid tuberculosis. We are also duty bound to warn them that a hidden army of bacteria can attack other parts of their bodies with equally devastating effects.

Syphilis and Gonorhea actually cause more suffering and deaths than smallpox, diptheria, infantile paralysis and tuberculosis combined.

Many of the youth of today become infected with these diseases because health education is neglected. Fixed principles of habit and character must be developed in the child. The proper training of the youth in sex matters, within the home, is of fundamental importance. A trained will and a strong character are the best protection against any danger. Adolescent youth is entitled to this advice. Church entertainments, Sunday School gatherings, girls' clubs, boy scouts, etc., play an important roll in the prevention of Venereal Diseases.

It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of Venereal Diseases as a menace to the health of the community, however, beware of phobias, fear of touching doorknobs, etc., as a means of contracting these diseases. It is possible, but seldom, if ever, contracted in this manner.

Domestic dissolution is often the inevitable outcome, and the horrors of its transmition to the second generation, give it a peculiar social importance. The prevention depends ultimately on public attitude and backing. There must be organized citizen support, based on intelligent citizen understanding.

We should urge all who are anticipating marriage, that they secure a certificate of freedom from Venereal Diseases before applying for a marriage license.

We should urge all prospective mothers to insist upon their physicians making a Wasserman test as a part of their routine examination. Husband or wife may have an inherent or congenital Syphilis of which they are unaware.

Women are usually the innocent victims of their husbands earlier indiscretion and their incomplete cure. Men should know that they are cured of these diseases, not just think so.

Many people are carrying the infection without visible signs. The only sure way to know definitely about these diseases or to prove non-infection, is by complete physical examinations, and laboratory tests.

It is imperative that Venereal patients seek medical treatment immediately upon the appearance of the first symptom of the infection. A cure of these diseases depends upon early diagnosis, and adequate medical supervision, and never by self medication, or drug store diagnosis and treatment.

Syphilis is the one "racial poison", reducing the race standard by the breeding of delinquents, and moral and physical degenerates. It is probably the greatest factor in the cause of inefficiency, insanity, pauperism and crime.

The human wreckage of nervous, and mentally deficient cases, and cripples as well as the mal-formed children, become the burden of the community from these diseases. They are found in every community, trying to struggle for a living existence against unsurmountable odds.

During the past two years I have had the pleasure of visiting some of the largest clinics in the United States; including the New York City Health Department, the Chicago Health Department, the University of Pennsylvania, John Hopkins University, Tuskegee and many others, and I am firmly convinced that our local City Health Department is second only to New York. I think I bespeak the sentiment of Drs. Parish, Elliott, Pedlowe, and Barton, when I say that we are Ready, Willing and Able to cooperate with each physician for the common good of the public as a whole.

We are deeply appreciative of the cooperation by both the profession and the public. We have made good progress, but the battle has just begun, we must keep up the fight, and continue the barrage against the "Public Enemies of America", Venereal Diseases.

Don't allow foolish pride to overrule your common sense! Don't forget, you have only one body, take good care of it, make semi-annual visits to your physician and have a complete check up so that these hidden facts may be known to you, and corrective treatment started early.

In conclusion, all of you, please lend your assistance to your local health officer in his effort to eradicate Syphilis and Gonorrhea, which are preventable and controllable.

Great Avalon Market to Employ Negroes

The management of the Great Avalon Market located at the corner of Vernon and Avalon Blvd. announced this week that the only applications to be considered in the future would be those from prospective Negro clerks.

Mr. Caraco, the manager, that the non employment of Negroes in the past is due to the fact that the section in which the market is located has just recently become established as a colored community. For this reason his clerks, none of whom has been with him less than three years, still remain in the market.

Regular applications for these future clerks will be handled exclusively through the California Eagle office. Mr. Caraco stated that he was appreciative of colored patronage and anxious to be of service to the community.

Gym Class at Jeff Evening Hi Has Women of All Ages

Life begins at seven, for women of all ages, on Monday and Wednesday of each week, in the recreational gym class at the Jefferson evening high school girl's gym. Housewife and working women, matron and miss alike spend the hours between seven and nine in healthful and pleasant recreation, an Eagle reporter discovered this week.

The two hour period is divided into four sections which permit optional participation in badminton, volley ball and basketball, gymnastics, and tap dancing. Feminine devotees of the creed of "keeping fit" spend their time in healthful competitive play. Many work off a few of those excess pounds via gymnastics, others add to their grace and agility by learning basic tap dancing steps as well as simple and advanced routines.

In session since the beginning of the present semester, the recreational gymn class is still open to all women who wish to take advantage of the opportunity afforded. Miss Helen Richards is in charge of the class and invites the attendance of the women of the community.

Free Clinic to Be Held at Temple Inst.

On next Sunday afternoon, May 15th at 3 p. m. before the audience of the third Sunday Free Clinic, sponsored by the Women's Political Clubs and held at the Temple Health Institute, 4920 S. Central avenue, Dr. S. B. Robinson and Mrs. Hazel Temple will deliver two short, but interest and information packed speeches. Their subject will be, "Your Girl Has Come To Us For Help; What Shall We Tell Her?"

At the conclusion of these fifteen minute talks, the members of the audience (with all juveniles in another room) will give their ideas on the vital subject of the day.

From 3-5 p. m. if applicants do not exceed the supply of materials on hand, every man, woman, and child who desires one, will be given a FREE Wasserman blood test. And all persons UNABLE TO PAY, that are registered before the Thursday preceeding the 3rd Sunday, will be examined free for other ailments and treated or referred to the proper clinics for treatment.

Visitors to the program are urged to visit the clinics in progress and inspect the instruments and equipment on display throughout the building. Every child accompanied by his parents will be given a tall can of milk free.

yor of the defense was uncovered by Attorney Grover Johnson, serving with Attorneys Loren Miller and Curtis Taylor, when Deputy Clerk Joseph Saunders was placed on the stand to identify records from the files of the municipal court to show that orders to vacate and writ of possession had been served on Farley.

"That evidence is a fraud" Johnson declared, offering an objection which was overruled by Judge Bull.

The defense attorney pointed to an affidavit filed by Mrs. Farley, wife of the accused man, where she swears that no summons was ever served on her nor her husband and that the first she knew of the dispossession was when a notice was posted on their door stating that within 24 hours they were to be evicted.

NEVER SERVED SUMMONS

Johnson further charged that Gus Henry, who was supposed to have served the summons, never did so and that the report which stated such summons was served was false and "a fraud".

Stoll asked Judge Bull to cite Johnson for misconduct and challenged Johnson, "If you want to get rough, we'll get rough".

Judge Bull admitted the evidence on the ground that it was a part of the municipal court records and not subject to challenge.

Tuesday sessions of the trial brought routine testimony from minor witnesses and the autopsy surgeon.

L. A. Troutman, of the Quick Action Loan company, whose acquisition of the property was a contributing cause of the tragedy, declared that he made oral demands for the rent, although in the complaint filed in the unlawful detainer (now a part of the municipal records which were contested) he is credited with having made written demands.

Troutman further testified that he had never seen Farley in person.

OFFICERS ON STAND

Yesterday, Officers McGruder and Claiborne Smith were called to the stand to identify the gun and shells which they declared were handed to them upon their arrival on the scene of the tragedy by the two white officers, Stevens and Underwood.

One of the officers who participated in the gunfight which ended in wounding Farley, Robert Underwood, who kept close conversation with Prosecutor Stoll, embellished the previous statement of Stevens who declared that Farley had said: "Here I am; come and get me" to "Here I is, you s—— of b——, come and git me".

The case continues throughout the week.

Recorder Oldest Religious Paper

The Western Christian Recorder, official organ of the African Methodist Episcopal church is the oldest religious publication on the Pacific Coast it was revealed in a survey made this week. The Recorder is thirty-eight years old as an offical organ subsidized by the AME connection; for eight years prior to that it was published as a district paper.

The Rev. J. H. Wilson, esteemed prelate of the church, is editor of the publication which has been consistently issued and maintained as a fine progressive policy throughout his administration.

Negro Delegates Active at Model Legislature

Negro delegates attending the California Youth Model Legislature in San Francisco last week end were active in committee and discussion throughout the three-day meet. Perhaps the most notable work was that done by Miss Elizabeth Hampton, social service worker of Los Angeles County, who was chairman of the joint senate and assembly general public health committee, from which originated the bill for examination of young people for physical fitness before marriage. The bill was passed by both houses with a vote so overwhelming that it was unrecorded. Miss Hampton also served on the steering committee which planned the program.

Others holding key committee berths include Percy Williams, representing the Southside Youth Committee, who was a member of the committee on rules and proceedure of the legislature and also, of the general rural youth committee. Mr. Williams was one of the sponsors of the history-making legislature Carl Johnson, representing the Young Republicans, served on the Ways and Means committee and was largely responsible with Ira Lipscomb of the NAACP for keeping the Negro history bill alive in the legislative committee of which both were members. Also on the ways and means committee were Misses Frances Miller and Merian Hubbard of Oakland NAACP. Miss Marie Fielder of LAJC was a member of the legislative education committee.

Show Cooperation in Jim Crow Fight at 'Frisco Meet

Coperation of the entire delegation was shown at the Youth Model Legislature in San Francisco last week end in fighting any show of discrimination. When it was reported that certain patrons of the Whitcomb Hotel objected to an interracial attendance at the opening dance on the roof of the hostelry, delegates responded by demanding that the dance be called off. Just what the reaction of the hotel management was it was not reported, however, there was no dance that night or any other time during the session at the Whitcomb.

In delegations of interracial group, togetherness was observed in housing and in places of amusement. As a result, other than the Whitcomb Hotel limit to the number of delegates housed and the dance controversy, no discrimination was reported in any place in San Francisco.

Refused Service In Bakersfield

En route to Los Angeles, following the legislative meeting, Joffre Roberts who represented the Urban League experienced a refusal of service in a roadside cafe in Bakersfield whereupon four white delegates in the party refused to accept their orders and walked out of the restaurant.

Fireman's Infant Severely Burned

Marilyn Harris, six months old daughter of Lewis and Faye Harris, suffered severe and painful acid burns about the face and neck when she crawled up to the medicine cabinet and turned over a bottle of hypo-chrysolene into her face.

For two days, while the child was a patient in the Queen of the Angels hospital, fear was expressed that she might lose her sight permanently. She rallied to treatment and expert care of the Ross-Loos surgeons and is well on the way to recovery.

Mr. Harris is a member of company 30, of the L. A. Fire department, 14th street station.

Mrs. Byron F. Kenner, delegate from the Twelfth Street Branch, to the convention, is visiting her sister Mrs. Jean Reynolds in Columbus, during the convention. Mrs. Kenner served on the resolution committee.

'Daisy', Money Vanishes as Man 'Snoozes'

James Banks of 9614 Alabama, is poorer but wiser in having met "Daisy" this week, according to a report to police at Newton street station.

Banks accuses William Hickman of 1244 East 43rd Street, a stranger, of having taken him home one night to a woman he knows only by the name of Daisy. He fell asleep, according to the story, awakened to find his money, $21.75 gone from his pockets and Daisy missing also.

Upon advice of officers Clarke and McGruder, Hickman was taken into custody and booked on a theft-from-person charge.

Percy Elijah, of 1805½ Griffith and Jerome Turner, arrested on suspicion of burglary, told officers C. S. Hendricks and Percy Moore, of Newton division, conflicting stories as to why they were loitering around the "Big Apple" cafe last night.

The men admitted having been accused of breaking into the Independent Church of Christ last week and were held for the robbery.

FREE SPEECH A MYTH

Jersey City, N. J. was the scene of wild disorder Saturday as 50,000 followers of Mayor Hague milled and fought in the streets. They so were bent on taking the lives of Congressmen Jerry O'Connell, Democrat, Montana; and John T. Bernard, Farm-Laborite, Minnesota, all because they desired to exercise the boasted American right of free speech in Journal Square against the wishes of Mayor Hague. So strong was the thirst for human blood that the milling thousands awaiting arrival of the intended victims, they clubbed, knifed and beat each other when it was announced the Congressmen had abandoned the visit.

A few days prior, Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, tried to make a speech in Jersey and was beaten and driven from the city under orders of the city's chief executive.

The right of free speech is the chief talking point in boasting of the glories of America, but he who dares exercise the mythical phrase is hitting into a play that will cost life or a good, sound clubbing.

Mayor Hague is vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and like his Dixie brethren, interprets the Constitution to mean the guarantee of states' rights to mob and murder citizens at will.

The chief of police had the sanction and official backing of Mayor Hague, and made careful preparation for the mob-fest. Streets were cleared and roped off, traffic rerouted so that everything would move without a hitch.

When word that the Congressmen had given up the idea was carried to Chief of Police Harry Walsh, in active command at Journal Square, he commented tersely: "It's just as well they're not comming — it would have been murder if they did".

Lynch mobs have always had the protection of law-enforcing agencies as proven in this case and the only cure is in Federal legislation. Such acts as the Hague mob staged should add strength to the determination to make mob murder an offense against the Federal government. Had the Wagner Anti-Lynch law been in force no roped streets and other elaborate preparations for murder would have been provided, instead Chief Walsh would have quickly put to flight all ruffians and the speakers could have proceeded unmolested.

FACTS ABOUT FUNDS

In the past five years the Federal government has paid out exactly $14,218,773,000 in emergency relief funds!

How much is that? More than $110 for every man, woman, and child in America, enough dollars to six times bridge the distance from earth to moon, enough $1 bills for 57 earth-girdling dollar chains!

Where has it gone? It takes a quarter of a billion dollars to circle the earth. Twelve belts for the earth's middle went for direct relief, nineteen more for work relief. Fifteen world-girdles of dollars went for PWA projects, seven more for CCC camps, and four for odds and ends.

Where did it come from? Out of your pocket, Mr. and Mrs. Tax Payer, and out of the pockets of your children. And out of those pockets must come the billions of dollars in local and state relief as well.

What can we do about it? Take more interest in our local, state, and national government! Watch the nation's dollars as we do our own pennies! And remember the dollars, 14,218,773,000, now, that are gone!

AGE COMES OF AGE

There are signs that youth's domination of the modern scene is passing — that age at last is coming of age. For too long, the doors of industry have closed on the man of 50. For too long, the enthusiasm and strength of youth have forced the experience, skill, loyalty, judgment, and understanding of age to the sidelines.

But the tide is turning! In recent weeks, Henry Ford has ordered the distribution of new jobs in his factories based upon the age levels in plant towns. As a result, 200 of the last 700 men hired at the River Rouge plant were over 50, and a number were past 80.

The campaign for age-aid spread last week into the east, with a number of employers organizing to fight the industrial disease of "fifty-fobia". Armed with facts and figures on the merits of age in business, they went on a campaign to win "a fair place for age in office and factory".

The fetish of youth, a phenomenon of the speed era, is giving way to an understanding of the value of age. Youth has its place, a place it fills with the enthusiasm of the young. Age has a place, a place it fills with the knowledge of maturity. As age comes of age, it brings to the present the knowledge of the past, a good omen for the future.

BUILD-UP FOR GARNER

William Randolph Hearst is busy these days kindling the presidential fires for Vice President John N. Garner in 1940. Hearst, with his powerful newspapers, in '32 brought Garner out of obscurity and came near landing him in the driver's seat, but since that unhappy day and now, the people have learned better, and then too, Mr. Garner has the handicap of having been Vice President around his neck.

A second fiddler has never led the nation's orchestra unless the leader died in office. The Vice President's seat has always been the political grave of whoever served in the office; and Hearst, his newspapers and millions, will never be able to resurrect the Texan in 1940.

However, in '40, if Garner is pitted against Roosevelt for the nomination, of the two evils we prefer the latter.

KLANSMEN THREATEN FILIPINOS

Florida Ku Kluxers will ride again.

An appeal to Washington for Federal protection of two Filipino Coast Guardsmen and their white wives, threatened by the Miami, Florida Klan, has been made.

We are anxiously watching the outcome of this appeal and hope the little brown men will be fully protected against this band of hooded hoodlums.

Negroes are denied admission to the Coast Guard and also, black U. S. soldiers have not only been denied protection from mobs and abuses of white southerners but have been executed and imprisoned when they protected themselves. We pray the Filipinos will fare better.

DIXIE HAS TOP HAND

Passage of the Wage and Hour Bill rests in the hands of the South and since it's a Federal measure that will prevent exploitation of Negro labor, its chance of passage is slim indeed. A state law of that character would go over with a whoop as Negroes could successfully be denied its benefits and protection.

HUMPTY DUMPTY

THE WORLD THIS WEEK
By ROBERT PATTERSON

It's a long road from Virginia to the mountainous little country of Albania nestling by the Adriatic, but not too far for destiny's strange threads to link together. Today Albania rejoices over its first queen, 22-year old Countess Geraldine Apponyi, who is half American, and through her mother, Gladys Stewart Girault, traces her ancestry back to Virginia's plantations. Two years ago Maryland almost gave Britain a queen. This time Virginia has succeeded in giving Albania one. It seems only natural that the "mother of presidents" should also be able to produce a queen occasionally!

NEW TAXPAYERS

One proposal to speed recovery took a special spotlight last week. This was President Roosevelt's proposal to make all governmental salaries and all future governmental bond issues subject to taxation and put an end to the immunity which government, officeholders and bondholders have long held. The aim, of course, is to replenish the Treasury and help government shoulder what appears to be both a permanent and enormous relief load. With the costly prospect of long-term relief spending there will be disagreement, but to the proposal to make government salaries subject to the tax-collector's paring knife, there will be little opposition — save from some of those who feel the knife. There is no good reason why officeholders receiving better-than-average salaries, and whose positions are relatively more secure than most wage-earners', should not share in tax-paying.

WORKING WIVES

Hard on the heels of a disturbing report from the Senate Unemployment Committee estimating at 17,314,000, the total number of persons dependent on relief aid, an old unemployment cure has been revived. Like the deathless phoenix, this remedy — no matter how many times it has been laid in the grave, sooner or later comes to life again. Now a director of the National Youth Administration urges that one half of America's five million working wives give up their jobs in favor of unemployed youth. The idea is attractive. It is simple. It would constitute a body blow at the ogre of unemployment — if it would work! But we suspect the American woman, as breadwinner, is here to stay. Since she first began invading our factories, stores, and offices over a half-century ago, her numbers in industries and professions have been aggressively on the increase. Drive millions of them out of their jobs? Let anyone try it!

VISITOR FROM HELL

Today America is entertaining the Mayor of Hell. Despite his awesome name, our visitor is a mild, thoughtful gentleman, and as far as he is concerned, Hell is the name of a pleasant little Norwegian town of some 1500 inhabitants. In the course of his visit to look over these United States he has heard so much about, the mayor revealed several startling things about conditions in Hell. Contrary to traditional belief, the thermometer sometimes drops to as low as 13 degrees below zero. There are no divorces there. Neither is there any jail. The mayor is quite proud of that latter fact. Strangely enough, there is no fire department, either. The women of Hell are quite good-looking, the mayor reports. And what is more, they are all blondes. As for politics, Mayor Lorentz declares the elections are friendly, above-board affairs, without graft or patronage-seeking. We gather from all this that Hell must be a fairly nice place — in Norway.

What About Mars?

Did you get Mars on your radio the other night, gentle readers?

Like another Columbus, the modern astronomer has sailed the skies and made strange discoveries. Professors of the telescope tell us the planet's distance, size, shape, eclipse and more, and say they have discovered spectum lines which prove a water vapour atmosphere equal to one-fifth of our earth's atmosphere.

If these wise men from the East and West, North and South, speak the truth we may believe the planet has life and is inhabited. Wonder asks whether vegetable life is as luxurious as we find in the Tropics, or animal life as wild as in Africa, or human life as frail and fickle as we find everywhere on earth.

Is government there for privileged classes? Are all religions represented in creeds and churches which forget that "without charity" for all, one may be a heathen though he reads his Bible until blind and prays until dumb? Are colleges conducted with the view that society is more than scholarship, and a winning football team the best product of the year? Do Capital and Labor pray, "Our Father who are in Heaven", forgetting it means brothers on earth who are to lovingly live and let live? Does swollen fortune, coined of the heart-blood of the oppressed millions, feel that it can quiet conscience and placate the Creator by giving wealth for education and philanthropical enterprises? Do trusts bribe? Does suicide prevail? Do lawyers establish points of law and defeat justice? Do stronger nations oppress and destroy the weak? Is a premium put on murder by sentimental juries and judges who acquit the prisoner? Does slavery, both black and white, exist in the employment of child labor? Do mercenary theatrical trusts stage plays that are mentally weak and morally monstrous? Are swindling speculations encouraged? Does the auto Juggernaut claim all time and space for its own? Do hootch and dope dives run that lead to diseased bodies, darkened minds and destroyed souls?

Do? But let us not make inquiry to the "crack of Doom." Let us hope Mars "atmosphere" is better than ours, in all these respects, and that it may be a new point from which to proclaim the message from heaven to this and all worlds, "Peace on earth, good will toward men."

BETTER THAN MOST WEEKLIES

Dear Editor:

. . . I have been looking over your paper and certainly wish to congratulate you on a truly fine publication which is far superior to most of the weekly papers I encounter--and I've been in the weekly ranks myself too, so do not use the term disparagingly.

There is only one criticism I have to make--I noticed El Centro notes by W. A. Payne. well, I felt so badly about that I sat down last night and wrote a long letter to the professor whom I consider a very dear friend and with whom I tried to fight the Negro's battles down there for so many years. I'd say it to any one or any group, Negro or white, I don't know of a finer character than Professor Payne and I not only was glad to work with him but felt honored by his confidence in me. If he is a sample of your staff you certainly are to be congratulated.

Let me say I have nothing to sell, except my own good will and a similar attitude toward the board--not that I wish everyone to love us but I'd like to have them respect us.

I hope to have the opportunity in the near future to call again, with a chance to sit down and talk of "cabbages and kings".

Very truly yours,
J. P. GREENE,
Public Relations Officer,

NEWS FROM COAST TO COAST

Dear Editor:

Enclosed find ten cents for which kindly send me a copy of the March 3, 1938, issue of THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE.

I am from Oakland, California but am now in school here at Lincoln University. As I am on the staff of the school paper, I am very interested in papers so it is with great pleasure that I pass on to you a compliment given your paper by our English Professor and Journalism Instructor.

Mr. A. S. Pride said that the California Eagle was a very good paper and that they carried news from all over the country rather than just from the coast.

I hope that the 10 cents enclosed will be enough to cover cost of postage and the March 3, 1938 issue.

I thank you very much.

Sincerely yours,
(Mrs.) Jesuita C. Hughes

Ed's note: For Reader Hughes' professor's compliment we have instructed the mailing department to place Lincoln University on the list for one year.

L. A. Fellowship League to Hear Notables Sunday

The Los Angeles Fellowship League will present Dr. J. L. Ltonard of the University of Souther nCalifornia as its principal speaker Sunday morning, 8:00 o'clock, in the regular monthly meeting at the 28th St. branch YMCA.

Dr. Leonard will discuss "Labor and Labor Conditions in the United States." Others appearing before the body are Earl J. Morris, Pittsburgh Courier correspondent, who is a visitor, and Bill Robinson, world famous tap dancer.

The public is cordially invited to attend, Dr. A. J. Booker, league president, said this week in announcing the speaker.

PETS AND POISON

Those pet poisoning pests are active again!

Give a dog a breath of spring air and he's sure to feel the urge to run and romp and dig a few holes in the garden. Those signs of canine activity seem to bring out the worst in the pet poisoners.

The owners themselves are certainly often to blame. Sometimes Fido's master isn't as careful as he might be in keeping puppy instincts under control. But that's no excuse for poison, for death that lurks in bits of meat.

If there were no other reason to condemn the pet poisoners, the threat to children would be sufficient. The death-laden food of the dog-killers is a constant lure to the acquisitive instincts of every small child.

Prosecution and punishment is a fit end for those who seek to kill man's best friend, and bring danger to his children.

PAY FIRST-CLASS FARE FOR SECOND-CLASS RIDE

"It's an ill wind that blows no good", a saying about to ring true in a case now before the courts brought by Congressman Arthur W. Mitchell, Illinois, against the Rock Island Railway for discrimination on one of their trains.

The Congressman was badly mistreated — ejected from a sleeper, cursed and otherwise abused because he was riding in a section of a train for which he had paid.

Based on a question heretofore overlooked in numerous cases against railroads for forcing Negroes to occupy a Jim Crow coach, it looks as though the Congressman has an air-tight case, one that will prove a boon to the entire group.

In presenting his case, Attorney Richard E. Westbrooks, of Chicago, shows beyond all question that Negroes are charged more and get less for the money paid.

MAY REVIVE REORGANIZATION BILL

Favorable action by Congress toward some of President Roosevelt's pet "reforms" seems to have been misunderstood by the Chief, who interprets the gesture to mean that the time is ripe to revive the Government reorganization bill killed by the House only a month ago.

Opposition and defeat of the measure should it bob up again would be almost unanimous. The people are more familiar with the workings of the measure and Washington would be flooded with demands to kill it for all time to come. Many Congressmen who supported the bill before will fight against it or be left at home in the coming election.

SIDEWALK--

Sojourner Truth's one-woman battle against slavery always will remain one of the most dramatic episodes of the story of the United States. For years this woman tramped up and down the land, heralding the downfall of southern America's immense system of oppression, including in her itinerary both the White House and the slum.

Harriet Tubman will be remembered for the daring and brilliance of her many maneuvers as the greatest conductor the Underground Railroad ever knew. Like a fine rapier, she thrusted deep in the heart of the South — yearly showing hundreds of blacks a way to liberty in the North and in Canada.

Then, also, there was Susan B. Anthony, ceaseless agitator for woman's suffrage.

And, up through the years — Mary Baker Eddy, author of Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, founded a new religious philosophy — Christian Science; Mme. C. J. Walker, who became the first Negro multi-millionaire, crusaded throughout the nation in the interest of black beauty-culture; while Maggie Walker, whose bank saved the City of Richmond, Virginia from bankruptcy, became a national leader in the financial world . . .

Yes, let us pay homage to these women — the really great Mothers of our present civilization.

you read history, not with your eyes, but with your prejudices. But fifty years hence, when Truth gets a hearing, the Muse of History will put Phocion for the Greek, Brutus for the Roman, Hampden for England, Fayette for France, choose Washington as the bright consummate flower of our earliest civilization, then, dipping her pen in the sunlight, will write in the clear blue, above them all, the name of the soldier, statesman, and martyr, Toussaint L'Ouverture.

WHEN I stand off for a moment and really examine our modern system of politics, I am immediately struck with two very important things. First, the idea of party above principle, and second, the fact that present day campaign methods, in many cases, are but little removed from minstrelsy.

It is common these days that the candidate who puts on the best show is the one elected. Whatever his beliefs or politics, if he can catch the public fancy, glibly turn well-sounding but meaningless phrases, or grin becomingly, half the electoral battle is won. That it is the politician's real job to dispense useful information to the end of intelligent discrimination on the voter's part is ignored. Strategy instead of straightforwardness, surface cleverness in place of firm convictions are too often the case in today's politics.

For instance, we frequently find the President attacked because of his numerous vacations and relationship to Hearst and DuPont. It is much smarter — more effective — they say, to slyly hint that Mr. Roosevelt is using the Presidency solely for fishing purposes, than to blast policies of racial discrimination, cock-eyed taxes, or arbitrary regulation and attempted regimentation in private enterprise.

Then too, there is the mud-slinging strategem — equally distant from the real issues involved in any election and considerably more repulsive. It is unpleasant to report that this type of political camouflaging is particularly rampant among Afro-Americans. During campaigns, deliberate and unfounded attacks are made upon decent reputations, defamation of character is a daily occurrence, and mud-broth is served all comers in generous helpings. This development among Negroes is even more regretable when one remembers some of the earlier black politicians. Barring the carpetbagger type, the Negro has been always unimpeachable in office and genuinely respected as a political leader. There were such men as Wright Cuney of Texas who directed that entire state's political destiny for at least a quarter century.

Now this question of over-emphasized party allegiance. Rigid partisanship has been growing at rapid pace during the last few years — bigotry and intolerance in respect to party relationship has once again appeared on the American scene. This state of affairs is one which all groups must recognize and fight. Party membership must remain because of principle and not DESPITE principle. Bolting should cease to be considered a political crime, and leaders must understand that treachery to one's own convictions is much worse than so-called treachery against one's party.

I am a Republican because I believe in certain of the broad principles of that party. However, if I perceive someone on some other ticket whom I consider superior to the Republican entrant I would not be able to see my way clear to a detemination to defeat that individual simply because our party ties differ. Again, if a man is filling a position, our one and only ambition for replacing him should be because we have discovered someone better fitted to do the job.

Even though he was my party's choice, I opposed Herbert Hoover in the 1928 campaign because at that time I did not believe his interests extended to the working class. I was then and I am today what I consider a good Republican.

This whole theory of iron-bound partisanship is false. Political organizations are functioning within their offices only when they serve as a medium of expression for a group holding mutual convictions. Once they become masters within themselves — demanding members to think in accordance with their dictates regardless — they have lost both legitimacy and usefulness. We must remember, parties were made for convenience — not worship.

THE GRIM walls of California's prisons house a total of 175 women criminals as against 8,000 men. Asked the reason for the striking difference, Miss Florence Monahan, superintendent at Tehachipi Women's Prison, graciously suggested that perhaps it's because men's chivalry gives women offenders the "breaks" in the form of probation, short terms and less serious charges. We like to think of men prosecutors and judges doing the gallant thing, but are forced to admit there must be other reasons, too. With no thought to moralizing, we find ourselves clinging to the old-fashioned ideal that woman may be something finer and better than mere man. Even in these modern days of woman's complete emancipation, we somehow are sensible of shock when we read of crimes committed by the "gentler" sex.

'SHAMEFUL', SAYS SEN. BORAH IN BLAST OF ETHIOPIAN BETRAYAL

League Puts Official Okay On Mussolini's Ethiopian Grab

WASHINGTON, May 19. (ANP)—Great Britain and France's betrayal of Ethiopia at the league of nations council is "shameful", declared Senator Borah of Idaho, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, in a statement issued Tuesday.

"In view of the shameless betrayal of a small nation at Geneva, we ought to cease trying to mislead the American people by indicating that the democracies of Europe have any greater consideration for treaties and national integrity than the dictators", Borah asserted.

"Never was a more solemn obligation entered into than that between Ethiopia with Great Britain and France. These democracies now not only propose to betray Ethiopia, but are asking all other nations to join them.

"What is the difference between seizing a nation and endorsing the seizure? Or what is the difference between the seizing of Austria by Hitler and the betrayal of Ethiopia by Britain and France? It is a system that prevails, and it covers the democracies and the dictatorships of Europe alike", he asserted.

Goodlett, Ph. D. at 23

Carlton B. Goodlett, Ph. D., at 23, from the University of California at Berkeley, who will formally receive his laurels in Saturday's graduating class boosted the universities of the Negro in a statement to an EAGLE reporter during a brief sojourn here this week.

Said young Goodlett, "Negro institutions are better prepared to supply Negro youth with prerequisites for a life of usefulness than white because of the tendency to develop an infinite belief in their powers".

Probably the youngest member of his race with a doctorate degree, Dr. Goodlett has distinguished himself during the three years at Berkeley's famed institution, but looks on the Negro institution (his undergraduate work was completed at Howard university) as comparable to the white with the same distribution of excellency and often lack of ability among its student body.

His brilliant thesis, "A Comparative Study of Adolescent Interests in Two Socio-Economic Groups", has concerned itself with high and low bracket economic groups in Oakland, the particular interest being with the psychological development of the Negro child and especially the inclination of Negro adolescents, and the effect of minority status upon both mental and physical orientation.

While in the University of California, he was director of race relations at International House from '36 to '37, a research assistant in the Institute of Child Welfare, and student instructor in psychology from '36 until '38. Socially he is well known as a member of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity.

Young Goodlett was accompanied on the trip to Los Angeles by his mother, Mrs. A. R. Goodlett of Omaha, Nebraska, who came west to witness his graduation, and will return with her to his home Sunday. The summer will be spent in travel and study.

Jury Verdict Expected Tomorrow

Farley Defense Weakens State's Attempt to Declare Aged Man Sane

With Dr. S. J. Spierling taking the stand as the star witness for the defense of George Farley, on trial for the double murder of two deputy sheriffs, in Judge Ingall Bull's court, most of the week, testimony building up the claim that Farley shot the men while he was temporarily insane and blinded by a "black flame" strengthened the case for the defense which may reduce a verdict of first degree murder to second degree murder or an acquittal for the aged man, it was learned today.

Examined by Attorney Loren Miller, chief counsel for the defense, Dr Spierling stated that in his opinion Farley was suffering from syphilis of the blood vessels and central nervous system: meningo vascular neuro syphilis.

"Mental shock might cause Farley to lose consciousness", the alienist declared. He has been ill for many years, according to his history, suffered certain personality changes—from a jolly, gay temperament to one of brooding, morose temperament. Mental shock might easily cause him to lose consciousness," the doctor reiterated.

Attempting to disqualify Dr. Spierling as an alienist, deputy prosecutor Roll cross examined the physician on the number of case of the disease he had treated during the year. He further tried to weaken the defense testimony by comparing syphilis with gonorhea in symtomatic findings.

Dr. Spierling dispeled any doubt as to his ability to diagnose the two diseases, held to his conviction that Farley was a long sufferer from syphilis of a type that had effected his blood, nervous system and brain tissues.

Emphatic in his deductions and unswerving in his testimony that Farley could easily have suffered great mental shock at the time the deputy sheriffs and L. A. Troutman "were throwing him out" of his home, Dr. Spierling described the impaired vision of the old man and "general disturbance of sensations" which the ravages of the disease have wrought upon him over a period of years.

Placed on the witness stand last Thursday, Farley related in detail his encounter with Leon W. Romer and T. Dwight Crittendon, the deputies who sought to evict him because he owed bond.

Limping to the stand, with his right arm still in a sling from gun wounds received when of-

FORMER DIVINE AIDE PLANS INDEPENDENT MISSION ON CENTRAL

Move Backed By Nationally Known Ministers; to Use Whole Block

"I have never believed Father Divine was God," Faithful Mary, erstwhile mainstay of the renowned "Peace" cult, said in an exclusive interview with an EAGLE reporter here this week.

This statement was made following the purchase of a building fronting a block on Central Avenue, directly south of the Southern Pacific Railroad Station to house a new establishment known as the Independent Mission Society.

When questioned about her reason for affiliating with and later breaking away from the cult, Faithful Mary said she considered it missionary work and that Father Divine influenced her with "Your Testimony will help with my work." She continued that she considered herself a missionary and still a member of the Church of God and at no time denied her people for Divine . . . cause she felt that the work was destined to go on through her.

Asked her reason for leaving, the former "Angel", replied quietly, "The Lord Moved Me". She denied that Divine had any connection with the new society and that it would incorporate any of the features of a new cult . . . with . . "When I left him, I really left him with a clear mind. I am really free and I just want to be a good missionary worker and am not out to take any minister's place."

Faithful Mary sought to prove that her new move was free from any cult tendency by the support and endorsement of some of the leading ministers of national and local repute. Among them Dr. L. K. Wiliams, president of the National Baptist convention, and pastor of Olivet Baptist Church, Chicago and Rev. Joseph Branham, also leading Chicago minister: locally, Rev. E. R. Foster, pastor of the Hooper Avenue Church of God, is enthusiastic in lauding the plan and, according to Divine's ex-partner, will financially aid the project for two years.

The property, purchased through Sidney P. Dones, extending from 617 to 625 Central is a two story structure with 24 rooms on the second floor for lodging. The main floor will be given over for independent operation of a beauty shop, barber shop, and five or six businesses including cleaning establishment as well as rest parlors and room for car-

75th Year of Freedom of Negro to Be Celebrated

DETROIT, May 19—A gigantic jubilee celebration marking the 75th Anniversary of the freedom of the American Negro which will take place in Detroit, Michigan, in 1940, was officially launched this week as Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan accepted the chairmanship of a Nationwide Committee, Friday. Thomas Le Sesne Killed in Crash

Death made a second visit to a Los Angeles family last week in a manner duplicating the first visit when Thomas Le Sesne, of 1210 West 36th place, was instantly killed en route to San Francisco in a spectacular automobile accident May 14. Less than a year ago a sister of the victim was killed in a similar crash in Los Angeles.

The deceased was a native of Charleston, S. C., and had made his home here for the past ten years. Final service was held in the church chapel of the Angeles Funeral Home Wednesday morning, with Rev. H. Mansfield Collins presiding and interment in Evergreen cemetery.

Find Stewart Guilty of Bigamy

NEW YORK, May 19—William Sam Hart Stewart, dapper Harlem "Othello" faces from one to ten years imprisonment when he comes up for sentence Monday in Queens Court.

Stewart was found guilty of bigamy in a special court session last week after evidence was presented that he had married wealthy, white Sylvia Lazarus without first obtaining a divorce from 27 year old Marlene Isabel Houlihan, also white, and that he had married Miss Houlihan without being divorced from his first wife, who was colored.

A bigamy offense is punishable either by a fine, up to five thousand dollars, or a prison sentence not exceeding ten years. Unless someone comes to his rescue, Stewart will doubtless draw the jail sentence as he is, by his own admission, financially strapped.

Appearing in court against Stewart was Miss Houlihan, whom he married May 29, 1937 and left a few months later.

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

There's a new art in HOLLYWOOD called PHILATELY. It is sacred with some people but it is not a VOODOO Rite. Just a hobby that is of great benefit to unfortunate Artists that need help. To play it, all you have to do is to get into the habit of COLLECTING STAMPS of all kinds that come on your letters or cards from America or any place in the WORLD. Just send empty envelopes or tear them where the stamp is and the rest is easy for the MOTION PICTURE RELIEF FUND COMMITTEE who in turn soak these stamps off and sell them to increase the RELIEF FUND. Swell fun isn't it, helping some unfortunate ACTOR or ACTRESS, regardless of Race or Creed and at the same time having fun telling your friends to SAVE THE STAMPS. The Motion Picture Relief Fund is maintained by each Featured Actor or Star donating regularly a small percentage of his weekly salary and under the able GUIDANCE of Jean Hersholt, the president, many persons are fed, clothed and in some cases rent is paid to help them OVER A BAD HUMP. The FUND HEADQUARTERS can be reached by sending your stamps to the MOTION PICTURE RELIEF FUND, 5444 Hollywood Boulevard, Hollywood, and I think it a nice thing to start to playing PHILATELY NOW. You know most folks in the world call on the Actors to help them put over a BENEFIT, and it is seldom that a real ACTOR refuses if the cause is worthy. Through the years I have played almost as many benefits as I have played regular paid engagements, AND IT IS A GREAT JOY — Thousands of other artists see LIFE thru the same eyes. We must play just as fair a game as the UNITED STATES Government in refusing to recognize the RAPE OF ETHIOPIA, or their refusal to sell HELIUM GAS for German use. STICK WITH YOUR FRIENDS! And they are those who are with YOU — RAIN or SHINE. (Copyrighted by Clarence Muse - 1938.)

Musician Foiled in Suicide Try; Was 'Tired of Living'

Leaving a note stating that he was "tired of living", Sandy White, 980 East 45th street, a musician, turned on the gas in his room in an attempt to take his own life early Friday morning, according to Officers Washington and Steffens, of Newton police division.

A roomer in the house, Roscoe Stone, detected the odor of gas in White's room, broke down the door and rescued the musician. Two notes were found by officers. One read: "I am tired of living.—White." The other, "Don't blame anybody; I'm just tired of living".

Officers declared that White was despondent because his sweetheart, with whom he had been living for a year, had deserted him, leaving only a dime for him.

Legion Chairman Tells C.M.T.C. Opportunities

Appearing as guest speaker on Station KEHE Thursday night, May 5, was Baxter S. Scruggs, chairman of the Americanism and Community Betterment commission of Benjamin J. Bowie Post No. 228, American Legion. In the course of his brief address, Mr. Scruggs spoke as follows:

"Today, society is characterized by a more universal concern for the problems and needs of youth. This continued awakening makes itself felt on two well-defined fronts. One of these fronts is made exceedingly vocal by the young people themselves, while the other one finds expression through those efforts created largely by an adult community. In the midst of this onward surge of youth activity for social and economic status in the new society, one finds those added and significant problems engulfing the youth of minority racial groups.

"The impacts of race and color are no new problems to western civilization. But the degree to which they are honestly met and solved will afford a true basis for measuring the accomplishments of American democracy.

"In the past, we have emphasized the significance of a political democracy, but today we are placing greater emphasis upon a social democracy. A socialized democracy in which the life concerns of people will be the genuine affairs of government. These affairs of government must of necessity spread like wings of mercy to administer to the great mass of citizens. This higher function of government must not only reckon with the great mass of citizens but must include with an equality of opportunity the under-privileged by reason of racial classification.

"These new and popular functions of government have made the American Negro much more sensitive as to his position in the whole scheme of benefits. The American Negro, and especially the youth of that group, feel a new responsibility to see that the benefits and gifts of government are administered alike to all citizens. And so, as America's largest minority group of citizens, we are building large dikes of concern for education, Housing, Youth Administration, Social Security, and a more complete participation and integration in American life.

"One specific point of concern to recently receive attention has had to do with those opportunities for peace-time training under the jurisdiction of the War Department. There has existed for a considerable period of time, inequalities of opportunity for military training, service and participation. These barriers have been maintained in spite of the illustrious record of the Negro soldiers; so brilliantly etched across the military skies of America. Today, there is being waged, by an influential weekly newspaper, a national fight to make more liberal those opportunities afforded through service in the Army and Navy. Coincidental with this national fight has been our own struggle in California to make available to colored citizens a full opportunity for National Guard training and participation.

"As we viewed the excellent program of citizenship training being given through the Citizens' Military Training Camps, we found that minority group boys were eliminated by one means or another. The Benjamin J. Bowie Post of the American Legion, sensing this inequality of opportunity, addressed itself to the task of changing that condition. After several months of work by the Americanism and Community Betterment commission of the post, the War Department was persuaded to grant further opportunities to these boys.

"In the wise administration of the War Department, a Coast Artillery camp has been authorized. This camp will be held at Fort MacArthur, San Pedro, California, from August 9 to September 7. These opportunities will be available to boys in the ten counties of Southern California, between the ages of 17 and 24. The success here achieved marks the first time in the history of these camps that training will be given to colored boys in so technical a branch of instruction service as Coast Artillery.

"From a minority group viewpoint, this is another opportunity to achieve greater success in American citizenship, for in reality, the Citizens' Military Training Camp is essentially a training program in youth leadership. We urge all citizens in the community to encourage and stimulate the success of this camp. The Benjamin J. Bowie Post of the American Legion will consider its efforts well spent in behalf of youth leadership, Americanism, and community betterment, if this particular camp is made to fill an outstanding need.

"May we, as citizens, work together for the continued development of all youth, regardless of color or station in the social order. And, by our united efforts open up for youth new vistas of opportunity and service. If then we build well and wide these opportunities for youth, we shall make for a more democratic nation. And, finally, let us all be reminded once more that, when the youth of all racial groups have been given their fullest opportunity for expression, then, and only then, will America be the land of the free as well as the home of the brave."

Ofay Father Kills Convict Guilty of Rape

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 19 (ANP)—The father of a seven year old white girl, who had just heard a Negro youth given 99 years for rape of the child Wednesday shot the youth to death in the corridor of the county courthouse.

The father, H. E. Colburn, a young Birmingham salesman, stepped from the vicinity of a telephone booth and shot Joe Lewis Smith, 21, four times while he was being take from the courtroom to the jail in the same building.

He immediately surrendered to two officers who were accompanying the youth. Coroner Gip Evans returned a finding of unlawful homicide and ordered Colburn held.

When the verdict was brought in, the judge instructed officers to find out where the girl's father was. Immediately after the conviction, Judge McElroy ordered officers to move Smith to the county jail. The officers tok the boy out of the courtroom and started down the corridor. At that moment the father appeared in the hallway and opened fire. It is said Colburn hid in a telephone booth in the hallway until the youth was brought, then emerged and began shooting without warning. After the shooting the judge adjourned trial of another Negro charged with murder.

Evidence of T.B. Noted in L.A. Schools

Evidence of active or healed childhood type of tuberculosis was found in more than six per cent of 12,000 Los Angeles school children recently studied, according to provisional figures contained in the annual report of the Los Angeles Tuberculosis and Health Association which will be made public Monday.

Using funds raised by the annual sale of penny Christmas Seals, the Association cooperated with the Board of Education, the Parent-Teacher Association and the WPA in determining to what extent tuberculosis was attacking the children of the city.

All of the 12,200 students were apparently healthy. Each was given the opportunity of having the tuberculin test, a harmless skin test which reveals whether the germs which cause the disease had entered the body. Of those tested, 3,426 were positive, showing the infection had taken plac. These were x-rayed and thirty-six were found to have active tuberculosis and may have been spreading their disease to fellow-students, teachers, family and friends. 583 had healed childhood type tuberculosis.

Among the 766 elementary school students studied, 27.2 per cent had been infected and one was found to have active disease. The reaction rate of this group, the Association points out, may be higher than the average for similar schools because of the type of pupils attending the school.

Among about 3,200 junior high school students, 30.6 per cent had been infected and twelve active cases of tuberculosis were revealed.

Among the 7,400 senior high school students, 28.9 per cent had been infected and twenty-three active cass were discovered.

White Says Ellender May Be 'Colored'

NEW ORLEANS, May 19. (ANP)—That Senator Allen J. Ellender, one of the leaders of the anti-lynching bill filibuster, may have some mixed blood himself was intimated by Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, in an address at Dillard university.

Mr. White said that during the filibuster Ellender kept repeating the argument that an anti-lynch law would lead to political equality; political equality would lead to social equality; social equality would lead to intermarriage and miscegenation.

The secretary, in humorous vein, pointed out that since the senator was three shades darker than himself, Ellender had "started too late" to prevent intermingling of the races.

NAACP, Urban League Share in Joe-Max Receipts

NEW YORK, May 19 (ANP)—Although no official announcement has been made, the Associated Negro Press has learned that the NAACP and the National Urban League will receive $2,500 each from the gate receipts at the pending Joe Louis-Max Schmeling heavyweight championship fight at the Yankee stadium on June 22.

Decision to grant these amounts to the two organizations came as the result of protests by Negro leaders over the way in which the Hearst Milk Fund has received a share of each gate of Joe's New York fights. The milk fund, administered by Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, wife of the noted publisher, does not extend its charities to Negro sections of New York.

In their protests, this was pointed out as was the fact that Louis himself is colored and the fund was swelled by his fistic efforts although members of his race did not benefit.

Car Owners Aided By 'Guest' Laws, Says Club

Circumstances under which an automobile owner can be held liable for damage sustained by "guests", non-paying passengers in his car, are limited by law in California and a number of other states, advises the law department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

The guest suit law in this State has been changed from time to time, first eliminating ordinary negligence on the part of the owner as a ground for recovery of damages by a guest, and then by striking out even gross negligence. Only wilful misconduct or intoxication remain as grounds on which a person who has accepted a free ride can bring a damage suit in this state, notes the club.

Before enactment of these laws, damage judgments were often obtained in cases where ordinary negligence was the most that could be laid to the driver, resulting in numerous injustices. It was to correct this situation that guest suit laws were evolved.

These laws provide in general that persons riding as guests cannot recover damages for injury in accidents unless they can prove gross negligence. In California, intoxication or a wilfully and deliberately dangerous act resulting in accident must be proved.

This kind of legislation is still lacking in a number of states it is pointed out and motorists on long tours are cautioned by the automobile club to be particularly careful with regard to transporting guests because of the possibility of incurring a damage suit. The practice of giving rides to hitch-hikers was cited as an example.

Councilmen Urged to Vote for FHA Here

"It is of great importance that citizens in the Central Avenue district immediately contact their councilmen and urge them to vote for a Housing Authority for Los Angeles," Mrs. Fay Allen, chairman of the Negro Congress Committee on Housing, announced today.

Pointing out that the Los Angeles City Council has been postponing action on this vital feature of the government's low-cost housing and slum-clearance program, Mrs. Allen emphasized that immediate action is imperative.

"Unless the Housing Authority is set up soon," she declared, "the twenty million dollars now available for low-cost housing and slum-clearance in Los Angeles will be given to other communities who have acted more speedily in fulfilling the government's qualifications."

MEMPHIS, May 19. (ANP)—Charged with "using the mails to defraud", "Dr." Lyncha A. Johnson, who calls himself a master herbalist, won a mistrial last week in federal court when the jury failed to agree. His case has been re-set for next October.

Dr. Johnson was arrested after a patient sent him a letter asking medicine for the treatment of "piazza." However, piazza is not a disease, but an Italian word meaning a large city square, a veranda or porch. The herb doctor said he thought the writer meant psoriasis or politis, but did not know how to spell those words, and sent medicine for the treatment of these diseases. The defense contended this letter was a frame-up engineered by a narcotic agent who had unsuccessfully made several attempts to purchase drugs from Johnson.

At the trial, 117 white and colored patients were in court to testify they had not been defrauded, but were cured by Johnson's herbs.

White Woman Charges Boy, 12, With Rape

HOUSTON, Tex., May 19—A 26-year old white woman has charged that a 12-year-old Negro boy assaulted and raped her. The child, Abner Windom, has been officially charged with rape in the juvenile court here, and may be forced to spend his youth in a reformatory.

The case has had precedent, less than three years ago, two Negro boys, Ernest Collins and Benny Mitchell, were brutally put to death between Houston and Columbus. Ernest was 15 and Benny 16 years of age. They were arrested and charged with assault and murder because they had been seen picking pecans near a creek where the body of a white girl was found.

Harlem Drives for Congressman

NEW YORK, May 19. (CNA)—The opening gun in Harlem's campaign to elect a Negro to Congress was heard here this week when representatives from a number of political groups met at a mass meeting at the St. Marks M. E. Church to map out a plan to work for the coming months.

Under the chairmanship of Rev. Dr. Lorenzo King, the assembly heard speakers decry the absence of a Negro representative from Harlem in the National Legislative body, and called for united action to remedy the situation.

POLITICAL POT-PIE

In making the rounds, we heard the name of our time-honored friend, Fred M. Roberts mentioned for Congress, 14th District. We also learned that a committee of black and white voters had called upon William D. Campbell to make the race in the 14th. Both Roberts and Campbell have suffered defeat under the Roosevelt tidal wave. The former, twice for the Assembly, and the same number of times by the latter in the race for Congress.

Campbell is said to have agreed to make a decision within the next few days. On the other hand, Roberts has said nothing and all we have is the ballyhoo of a few enthusiastic friends. If Fred expects to make the race let him speak out NOW, and not stall around until the last minute, and find friends from whom he expected support have pledged to assist others. Too late to cry then. Speak now Fred or thereafter hold your peace!

Spurgeon C. Jones, an aggressive youngster, is seeking the Republican nomination for Assemblyman, 62nd District, against that powerful veteran, A. Hartley Jones (not related). Looks like Hartley's experience, wide acquaintance in business, financial and fraternal circles gives a stranglehold. However, you can't tell the distance a frog can jump from where he sits. Spurgeon may be able to turn the trick.

Strange hook-ups and alliances are bobbing up on all sides as the campaign gets under way. Certain large corporations have a program to put over and since the passing of Dave Taylor, soldier of fortune, "fronting" for the scheme to corral Negro votes, these corporations have been in the market for a publication whose policy they could control and dictate.

The California Eagle as the organ of the people, wears no man's yoke nor will we permit corporation or indivdiual to dictate our policy. We turned thumbs down on a wild-eyed scheme that would have placed local Negro newspapers into the hands of one of the most powerful corporations in the Pacific West.

The tinkling of the guinea brings about strange unions and disturbs the peaceful course of many righteous moves. Don't be misled!

Democrats are taking the lead in giving recognition to Negroes. Senator Culbert L. Olson, candidate for Governor, backs up his claim of fairness toward the group by employing a Negro girl as stenographer in his up-town headquarters, and says he will employ more as the campaign demands for help increase. John (Spreading Joy) Fowler is organizing the state for Olson. John is a grand old boy and says his man will give the race an equitable share of the spoils.

When the late Senator Samuel Shortrdige failed the Negro race by voting for the confirmation of Judge Parker, the California Eagle took up the fight against his nomination, and supported that fine American, Joe Crail, who also has passed on. Senator Shortridge was defeated; Tallant Tubbs, millionaire rope manufacturer, received the Republican nomination, and being a strict, uncompromising party paper, as was the policy of the late Editor Joseph B. Bass, the EAGLE stayed with the ship and the entire Democratic Congressional ticket, save one lone Congressional candidate, William Traeger, swept into office upon a tidal wave of Rooseveltism. Adhering always to party principles, Managing Editor C. A. Bass managed the congressional campaign of William D. Campbell in the 14th District, and emerged with a two to one victory in the colored precincts; Campbell's defeat having been brought about by the white district. As to the EAGLE'S part, the Managing Editor delivered the goods.

ficers routed him out of the house after the deputies were shot, Farley answered most of the questions put to him with a smile and fidgetting much the same as a child of 7 or 8 years. His folks were farmers, he told the court, and he went to school only a "little bit" before he left his home in "north South Carolina" for Hammon, Arkansas. At the age of 14 he went to work in a sawmill; came to California in 1906.

"I got the syphilis when I was about 18", Farley stated. He said that he never went to a doctor and only had "his own treatment"—Three S's—for the dread disease."

"When my wife and I bought our home, the man we bought it from gave us the dead, he say its was the best there was and long as we held onto it nobody could take it away from us".

Recounting a pitiful story of trying to get on the WPA, long waits in loan offices where he and Mrs. Farley made attempts to borow money to save their home, Farley said he had not worked for many months, except picking up iron scraps on the streets and saving the pennies he gained from that source to "keep body and soul together".

"There ain't no paved road in front of our house," he declared when questioned about the assessment. "But my wife showed me some paper and said we owed $49 or somethin'. We scrapped up enough to get it down from $119 (including a storm drain assessment) to $29.

On the morning of the tragedy, Farley said he got up early because he felt ill and could not sleep. His eyes focused gloomly upon the floor as he wa sasked to identify Troutman and the sheriffs.

"I saw the men come into my house but I didn't know who they were", the old man said. "I thought they were men coming to look at the place to give us a loan. I was in the back yard putting some bottles in a barrel. Four other men came in the house, then I went in and asked them what they wanted.

"I come to throw you out", Troutman is reported to have

"Then everything went black and I don't remember anything after that," was Farley's statement.

Cross examination by prosecustory.

The case is expected to be turned over to the jury by Friday, Mr. Miller said yesterday.

Scores of prominent attorneys from both races have sat in on the case. Attorney Walter Gordon, Wilis O. Tyler, Edwin Jefferson, and deputy district attorney, Charles Matthews were present this week.

impassioned plea by the exiled emperor, the council favored Mussolini in a series of declarations. Only China and New Zealand opposed recognition, with Russia and Bolivia neutral although "opposed in principle".

Those nations coming out in favor of recognition were Britain, France, Belgium, Ecuador, Persia, Latvia, Peru, Poland, Sweden and Rumania. Before this action was taken, the little king of kings sent a letter to the council Wednesday just a few hours before he personally arrived.

This letter claimed that Italy still has not conquered the East African empire. It summed up the situation as follows:

"North and northwest: Energetic opposition to Italian control which developed into fighting; revolts in Tembien and Sokota provinces and farther to the northeast in Tigre province, and fighting in Begameder and Lasta provinces, resulting in the destruction of Italian posts and the capture of supply columns. In Tigre Italian troops control only the towns and villages where they have posted garisons.

Ethiopians Attack Railway

"Center: Revolts in Shoa province; Ethiopian attacks on Djibouti-Addis Ababa railway and raids along the main roads leading from Addis Ababa to the north and west by Ethiopian troops.

"South and southwest: Italian garrison maintained at only five towns in an area of 38,610 square miles; all other parts of the territory evacuated because of guerrilla bands; revolts in the district of Bako, and removal of many Italian garrisons in Gurafarda, Gimirra, and Kaffa provinces.

"Southeast: Ethiopian attacks on Italian convoys on the road through Harrar to Mogadiscio, Italian Somaliland, and desertion by 9,000 Italian native troops between Harrar and Jigjiga.

"East: No Italian control over Danakil and Aussa provinces. The resistance of the Ethiopians is more intensive, united, and effective than at any time since the autumn of 1936."

At Thursday's session, Haile Selassie was unable to speak for himself. A picture of complete dignity, he sat with his eyes closed as his representative, Ato Lawrence Taezaz, read his statement:

"All the procedure that the League can command has been used to try to get Ethiopia out of this body of nations," it said. "My country holds not only legal but factual rights as an independent state, and Italy has by no means completed conquest of my empire.

"I am sorry I do not find myself in agreement with Great Britain, which has given me hospitality, and France, to whom Ethiopia owed its original membership in the League.

"Members of the league, this is a reign of fear. The states that are members of the League are each one for himself. Since the contagion of aggression has spread throughout the world, states have permitted international morals to vanish. May God forgive them!

"Ethiopia continues to climb her Calvary. No humiliation has been spared her. I address a most energetic protest to the world. If it is true that the Ethiopian people can expect no aid from the League, Ethiopia will remain amidst you as a living symbol of a violated victim."

Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary, said:

"I deny Haile Selassie's claims that his followers still hold a large part of Ethiopia. The British government's information is that Italy virtually has the whole country, with no center of organized resistance capable of reversing Italian control.

"It is the duty of France and England to protect the world from the scourge of war and it is not feasible to attempt successful international acceptance of the high ideal for which the league stood."

Foriegn Minister Georges Bonnet of France said, "All the members of the council are sorrow-

The stanza above is proof positive that there is a word that rhymes with "orange" — even though we have to call upon a tiny river in Wales to help us out.

Our own paring knives prove that an orange is easy to slice — provided we choose a Navel orange with no seeds and its very thin dividing membrahes.

Now that Navel oranges are on the market, why not prove the deliciousness of Orange and Prune Salad and Orange Walnut Cheese Salad — two dishes that may be prepared easily by following these simple recipes?

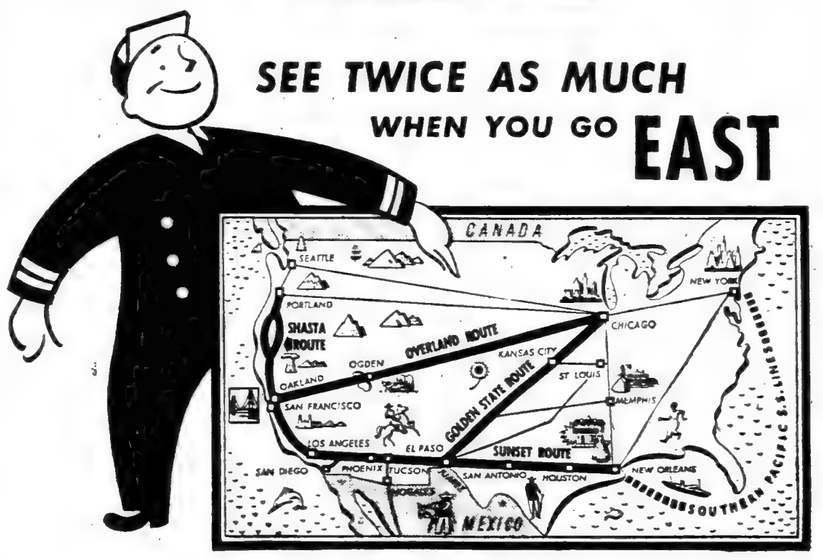
Orange and Prune Salad
(Serves 4)

4-5 Navel oranges, peeled and sliced
20 prunes, cooked
Peanut butter
Lettuce or other salad greens

Remove prune pits and stuff with peanut butter. Arrange five orange slices on lettuce and center each with a stuffed prune. Serve with lemon juice and honey dressing if desired.

Orange Walnut Cheese Salad
(Serves 4)

5 or 6 Navel oranges
24 walnut halves
1 small package cream cheese



Peel oranges. Slice 1 orange; segment the rest. On lettuce-covered salad plate center a large slice of orange. Arrange 3 groups of orange segments (3 segments to a group) around this orange slice. Moisten cheese with a little orange juice, shape into balls and press walnut halves into two sides. Place one of these walnut cheese bon bons between each group of orange segments. Garnish orange slices with strips of pimiento. Serve with any desired dressing.

Archie Williams, Olympic champion and world record holder in that event, will be supplemented by Oklahoma Baptist's Cagle, who says he can do it better than both of the boys mentioned above.

Another feature race, the 880, and for a Helms' prize, will see Jim Lawson of the Compton jaysee aggregation, pointing his long legs toward the home tape.

Jeff High Defeats Fremont Spikesters, 66 3-4 to 37 1-4

On Fulton Field Friday, the 13th, the Jefferson spikesters marched to their thirteenth victory of the season. Big Mel Bleeker totaled eight points when he won the broad jump with a leap of 22'8" with McCoy of Jeff second. Bleeker placed second in the shot put as Tom Direaux won with a throw of 57'1½". Direaux bettered the City Record which stood at 56'7-8".

Before the season the Interscholastic Record should be broken which is 58' held by Elwyn Dees of Lorraine Kansas City set in 1932. Vernon Small won the quarter mile in excellent time of 51s. Spicer of Jefferson was again defeated when Simon won in the 880 in 2.05. Roland Denton captured both sprints in time of 10.1 and 22.8. Fremont's leather lunger, Earl Ranford won the mile in 4.45s., Earl Floyd was not competing.

The finals of the high jump came out in a four way tie for first at 6'2". The relay was won by the green and gold exchangers in 3.08. The Fremont batoners would have been able to give the Jeff boys more competition if they hadn't dropped the baton.

Chief attraction of the B. and C ranks were James White, Robert Clark, Bobby Cobb, and Leymon Boykins. Both Jeff B and C. are as yet undefeated.

POLYTECHNIC TRAVELS TO FULTON FIELD

Polytechnic travels to Jeff field tomorrow in the last league meet of the season. Poly has won one and lost three, while Jeff has won four and lost none. Poly will be lead by Becarra, Oshima, Linsey, Britton, Rountree, and Foster.

The Dope Sheet tells us that the score should be around 70 to 34. Jefferson will sweep both sprints.

It has been done!

According to a news release, a stellar athlete in Youngstown College, Youngstown, Ohio, has just recently become the first Negro to occupy a berth on the school's tennis team, and one of the very few Negroes ever to play competitive collegiate tennis in the country.

Last week, according to the flash, Smith, playing doubles with a white boy, lost to Mount Union college, but his playing advanced him considerably up the squad's ranking ladder.

Smith was firmly convinced of his ability to play tennis equal to that of the boys holding places on the college team. He went about establishing himself in a very unique fashion, we think.

Constantly ribbing the white fellows for being afraid to mix their net wares with him, he finally enticed a member of the team to the court. In the ensuing match, Smith won 6-0, 6-0, and earned the play's place on the team!

Plans were then made to oust Jimmie from his place, the story goes on. In the ladder system, a man on the team, which consists of eight, is challeged by some other person on the squad who is quest of higher laurels. Smith was challenged in an alleged frame-up conceived by the team members, but refused to play anyone rated below him. His reasons were "I am seeking the next man above me". The white fellows were powerless to shoo him off the team.

We would like to see some colored youngster break precedent by making one of the local collegiate tennis squads. And we still think that someone should take young Bill Patterson of Jefferson in hand and groom him for future collegiate and tournament play. He is a natural.

Notes From The National Nets

Lincoln University in Jefferson City, Mo. will pry the lid off the 1938 tennis schedule in a match with Wilberforce University on the Lincoln courts Saturday. The match will be played as a feature of the running of the sixth annual mid-west conference track meet Friday and Saturday . . .

New York has as number one woman tennis player, one of the youngest women in the game. I speak of the colored loop unless otherwise indicated. She is Miss Mayme Stanley, Brooklynite, and she possesses an overhand smash the boys say, that is trouble. Miss Stanley shares top spot with Dr. Reggie Weir, state and national singles champion. . .

STRODE SETS NEW DISCUS MARK IN WEST COAST RELAYS

UCLA Star is Day's Only Double Winner; Robinson Broadjump King

By Almena Davis

FRESNO, May 14.—Although our sepia track and field stars did not sweep the 12th annual West Coast Relay carnival, held here today, as completely as their eastern compatriots did in the Penn and Drake relays two week-ends ago, their accomplishments nevertheless were outstanding.

In the intercollegiate division colored boys, representing every school except Stanford, U. S. C. and Occidental, won two field events and ran on one winning relay team that set a new West Coast Relay mark. They won two Junior College events and participated in three winning relays, in which many new national junior college marks were set up.

Only individual double winner of the day was Woodrow Wilson Strode, the pride and joy of Westwood's Harry Trotter. Strode won the shot put with a heave of 50 ft., 10 7-8 in. and the discus with a throw of 156 ft., 4½ in., a new West Coast relays mark, 1 ft., 11½ in. over Kenneth Carpenter's mark in 1936.

Strode's shot mark was a bit more than 2 ft. below the Fresno meet record but it was good enough by eight and a half inches to defeat Stanford, Redlands, San Jose State, and U. S. C., finishing in the order named, the latter two tieing. San Jose's representative was a colored lad, Pressley, who with Fisher of U. S. C., hit 48 ft., 9in.

Discus competition ran a bit overtime. The crowd had cleared the stands and autograph hunters were swarming the fields when Strode received his second gold watch, the traditional relay carnival award to winners. He humbled S. C. and Stanford by a good 4ft., 3½in. The Westwood six footer is the only man ever to defeat Stanford in the shot, and discus in one afternoon. His performances were the high point of the meet. On one magnificent effort, he spun around and let the discus fly, only to have it hit the enclosure and boomerang to his feet.

Strode's victories were the only first places garnered by U. C. L. A. Bill Lacefield, star Bruin broadjumper, missed a tie for first place with Nutting of California, by 1 in., jumping 24 ft., 8 5-8in. He failed to enter the 120 yard high hurdles, although it is doubtful that he would have placed among the first three as the fast field "topped the timbers" in 14.2, considerably better than his best efforts have been.

Thomas Berkeley, other Bruin colored flash, missed placing in the 100 yard dash by a hair's breadth. He came back to run a fine lap on the relay team, but he could not overcome the handicap piled up by his teammates so U. C. L. A. finished fourth behind Stanford. This was the first time the writer had seen Berkeley run any distance greater than 220 yards and he looked very good.

NELSON JINXED

Bad luck dogged the footsteps of Fresno State's one qualifying athlete, Tommy Nelson. Nelson is one of the country's fastest sprinters. He was a member of the speed burning Four Musketeers of Pasadena Jaysee of a year ago, Robinson, Callier, Worrill, Nelson. Once a consistent 9.5 winner, he has dwindled to an average of 9.8 although he has done 9.6 once this season. In the Drake relays he won his heat in fast time and ran third in the finals. He won his heat in the afternoon trials at Fresno, and entered the evening's finals, primed to lead Talley, S. C., Anderson and Nutting of California, Powers, Nevada, Reams, Chico, and Randolph Carter, a race lad of Whittier college, to the tape.

After three false starts in which Reams jumped the gun, the field got away and thundered down the stretch. Tally finished first, obviously in the clear. Nelson almost on top of Nutting, was third, Carter was fifth. The time was 9.5.

Nelson tried for a gold watch again in the 440 yard relay, but he suffered the same fate as Berkeley. U. S. C. won that event in world record breaking time, Fresno finishing fourth.

Running a fine leg on the Northern California two mile relay quartet was Leonard Spencer, former Los Angeles Junior college middle distance runner. Spencer received a fine ovation from the stands as he swept around the first curve and into the first straightway in the race that almost claimed a world record. However, the pace he set for himself was too terrific and on the final straightaway, he slowed up. His time, at that, was good, 1.56.5. Total time for eight laps was 7.42.9, a new meet record.

That event saw the return to the coast of Seward Mounday, for a long time the idol of Eastside Los Angeles prep and jaysee fans. Seward is running for Idaho and is one of only three colored students in the entire university. He was in fine form and made up a considerable breach, enabling his team to close in second.

A capacity crowd in which there were fewer than 100 Negroes, viewed the day's show. Several carloads of sports enthusiasts came up from Los Angeles, but the colored townspeople did not turn out for the event.

JAYSEE EVENTS IMPRESSIVE

Almost more impressive than the intercollegiate events were the junior college relays and special attractions. Star of the day

No 'Jim Crow' at Fresno Relays

FRESNO, May 19—Negro stars had no trouble with "Jim Crow" at the West Coast Relays held here last Saturday afternoon.

Contrasted to the predictament in which colored boys participating in the Penn Relays at Philadelphia two weeks ago found themselves, the Quaker City Hotels refusing to admit them, athletes from U. C. L. A., for example, stopped at the Fresno Hotel, leading hostelry of the Raisen City, with their white team-mates.

SUPER SCOOP!

By sending Reporter Almena Davis to cover the West Coast Relay carnival at Fresno last Saturday, the California Eagle, always first with the latest, scored a "super scoop," so to speak.

The Eagle was the only Negro paper in the United States to be represented at the Meet, that yearly features the outstanding athletes on the Pacific Coast.

Frat Pledges in Baseball Tilt Sunday

A secretly-prepared, baseball game between the Scrollers and Sphynx clubs, pledge organizations of the Kappa Alpha Psi and Alpha Phi Alpha fraternities, respectively has been scheduled for this coming Sunday at the Ross Snyder Playground at 11 a. m.

Affiliates of both fraternities and their pledge clubs are expected to turn out. Following a unique fraternity custom the losers will be thrown to the lions; the lions in this case being the fraternity men.

To lend color to the game, an agreement has been effected between the two junior-fraternal clubs that the losing organization shall entertain the winner with a party.

According to George Currie and Osie Walton, prexies of the Sphynx and Scroller clubs, respectively, each squad will run off with the game, leaving the other to face a stern reprimand from its senior organization, followed by public humiliation and a subsequent work of bill-footing for the winner's party.

Head Coach Kenny Washington and Asst. Coach Woodrow Wilson Strode have decided to start Wilbur Ashford on the mound with Wendell Green in reserve for the Alpha's Sphinx Club. Coaches Dunbar Hunt and Bobby Green will present Cato Robinson and his bullet slants.

Sphinx club roster includes: Westwood's Bill Lacefield, Hal Sinclair, Billy Faulkner, Leonard Jewel, Arnett Hartsfield, George Currie, Wendell Green, Eugene Johnson, Chuck Boswell, Bill Wynne, Billy Thedford, Parschal Hayes from L. A. J. C., Joe Henderson, Jack Terry from Compton J. C. The Scroller's "Kittens" lists Ossie Walton, "Crip" Mars, Carey Jenkins, Melvin Dennis, Vince Williams, Milan Quales.

Desert Tracksters Have Meet

BARSTOW, May 19—Annual Desert League track meet was held on May 7 at Barstow, with the home team, Victorville and Needles participating. Victorvile scored a hard fought win, 47 to 45 with Harold Smith's points in the high jump, the deciding factor. Smith tied Thompson of Needles for first place in the event. Barstow and Needles tied for second.

Only injury of the day was sustained by Keith Seals, who was spiked while running the relay.

Highlights of the meet were Tommy Oates unexpected victory in the high hurdles, John Cato's sprint in the relay, dispite an injured ankle, Ralph Willit's work in the relay, Billy Bryan's new Desert League record in the 220, Keith Seals in the lightweight relay and Brimmer of Barstow in the pole vault.

Peter Jackson Boxes Pete DeRuzza in Gilmore Ring

Young Peter Jackson, spindly legged lightweight, takes on Pete DeRuzza of Mamaroneck, New York, tomorrow night at Gilmore stadium in one-half of a double wind-up.

Using Georgie Crouch last week, Matchmaker Charley MacDonald figures to pull the fans out tomorrow night. The other half of the double attraction pits Johnny Brown, CYO ace, against Pablo Dano, veteran Filipino.

Jackson will be out to redeem himself against DeRuzza as he was knocked out by the New Yorker in Madison Square Garden some months ago. It was an ill-fated trip East for Jackson who never seemed to hit the his stride.

An attractive preliminary card will precede the main events.

Woodruff May Run Record Mile

Johnnie Woodruff looms as the next world record holder in the mile run, according toa story released by the Associated Press to metropolitan dailies last week.

Woodruff has been mentioned as a potential miler for some time, the story pointed out. In the Penn Relays his "terrific pace reawakened specuatipn and canny trackmen believe that he alone is capable of a four minute mile", the story pointed out.

According to Gustavus T. Kirby, referee of the Penn Relays, interviewed on Woodruff by the AP correspondent, "With a bit of stamina training and specializing, I am sure Woodruff could do, not merely a four minute mile, but one appreciably under the dreamed-of figure.

Crouch Wins But Ref Does Not Think So

Georgie Crouch, fast-becoming the Hard Luck Kid of the ring, lost a ten-round decision after decisively whipping Paul DeBello, of Brooklyn, New York, out at Gilmore stadium last Friday night in one of the three main events.

After nearly scoring a knockout in the second and seventh rounds, and being butted by his foe in at least four others, Georgie saw Referee Jack Means raise DeBello's arm in token of victory.

Just how Means arrived at his decision is a mystery. His awkwardness in the second and seventh rounds allowed DeBello to sit on the lower strand of rope for several seconds. After putting his foe in this position, Crouch wasn't allowed to hit him and Means refused to count, thus allowing DeBello to get some much needed rest.

In a number of rounds, DeBello's jumping jack tactics led to obvious butting.

OTHER RESULTS

Jack Roper kayoed substitute Johnny Erjavec in the fifth round of the top 10-rounder; Jackie Burke was given a third round TKO victory over Hoyt Jones, who was ahead but was butted, opening a gash high on his forehead.

Gege Gravante scored a second round TKO over Kenny Reed, and Louis Reed won the opener from substitute Joey Wilson.

The appearance of Crouch, was the first by a Negro under auspices of Hollywood Legion which is using Gilmore stadium for outdoor shows while its new stadium is being constructed.

FRESNO RELAYS—

was Bryant Allen of Riverside, who ran second in the 100 yard dash to his teammate, Clyde Jeffery, junior college white hope, and ran a leg on the 880 relay team which set a new national jaysee standard of 1.25.6.

Allen, last year, was the foremost prep sprinter on the West Coast. He has improved a great deal since leaving Jefferson High School in Los Angeles and encountering stiff competition. Another colored youth makes up the record smashing Riverside quartet, Culpepper by name.

Running Allen a close second for the days outstanding performance was Jackie Robinson, brother of Mack Robinson, Olympic team great. Incidentally, Mack did not come from Oregon State for the meet as was publicised.

Jackie, doing the honors for the Robinson family, leaped 24ft., 0 7-8 in. to win the jump for Pasadena. It was a new meet mark, 3½ inches over that set by his brother last year. As it was 2-8 inches better than Nutting's in the junior collegiate division, it established Jack as the outstanding Pacific Coast broad-jumper.

Bledsoe of Compton was third at 23ft., 1 3-8in. Bledsoe, one of the twin sons of Watts' Dr. Bledsoe, is a Jordan High School product.

Another proud winner of a gold watch was Bob Cushnie of Los Angeles Jaysee. Bob hurled the javelin 182 feet to victory. He and Lowell Stewart were the only colored youths on the LAJC team. Lowell had hard luck and failed to place in high jump although he is among the best of the junior college class. Brown, lank Collier of San Mateo tied for third at 6ft. 2in.

In the shot put, Bill Hooks of Compton was a cinch for an upper bracket place, but three fouls disqualified his efforts.

Bad luck boy of the jaysee division was favorite Wilbur Miller of Compton. Miller, four year rival of Allen at Jefferson, started the season with threats of dash and quartermile supremacy. His efforts have dwindled since the drake relays, however.

Primed to take his arch rival, Allen, in the century, Wilbur was obviously unnerved by four false starts and failed to place. He came back after Allen's scalp in the 880 yard relay, but Allen and his teammates were too good. He won his watch, however, in the record breaking mile relay.

That event and the two mile relay gave the stands a look at the best thing that has come out of Jordan High School (not even excepting your lowly scribe) since Ashley Burch, phenomenal dash man. His name is Lawson and he is the fastest half miler in the country. A conspiracy of the dark, his speed and his natural color shut the fans out of anything more than a glimpse of him, but they liked what they saw. He was one of the few double winners of gold watches.

Ruffin and Gordon, two Pasadena jaysee colored lads, exhibited speed in the 880 relay in which their team placed second.

Wm. Powell Faces Theft Charge

William Powell, 1556 East 25th street, arrested on a charge of suspicion of robbery, flashed a Los Angeles Police Detective Lieutenant badge when police officers from Newton Division, answered a radio call that a man was threatening the life of B. Hughes on East 25th street.

Investigation of officers Clark and McGruder revealed, however, that the badge belonged to Charles Sherer for whom Powell had worked two months ago. Mrs. Sherer declared that she had missed the badge and a gun from her husband's effects.

Powell assertedly threatened the life of Hughes and was booked on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Other identification cards belonging to David Holmes and George Williams were found in his possession.

Centralized Control of Highways Gains Impetus

There is an increasingly strong trend throughout the nation, in the interest of both economy and efficiency, toward centralized highway administration. This is shown with impressive figures by Public Roads, official journal of highway research, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Public Roads.

At the close of 1930 there were 324,496 miles of highway under State control in the country as a whole. By the end of 1936 State-controlled highways had increased to 533,144 miles, a 64.3 per cent addition in six years.

The centralization movement which has made such great progress was begun on a broad scale by North Carolina in 1931. By assuming control of the State's 46,0000 miles of county roads, North Carolina was the first to consolidate its entire rural highway system under the State highway department.

Several other states soon followed with complete centralization, and in the six year period referred to twenty-one moved definitely into consolidation programs. During 1936 ten states registered extensive transfers to their highway departments.

In this State the Automobile Club of Southern California formulated a proposal four years ago for centraliezd control of all rural roads that would reduce local road taxes $13,000,000 to $14,000,000 annually, according to club engineers' estimates, and at the same time obtain greater efficiency in highway maintenance and development.

Methodists Praise Aid to Jewish Exiles

NEW YORK, May 5, (ANP)—Abhorrence of oppression in Europe aimed against the Jews, and praise for President Roosevelt's efforts to afford sanctuary to exiles was made in an independent resolution passed by clergy and laymen of the Methodist Episcopal church attending the fifth and final session Monday of the 139th New York annual conference.

The resolution, broadly worded to prevent counter-moves from a faction that Saturday held up several motions critical of world social matters, did not mention oppression faced by Negroes in the United States.

In discussing the resolution, the Rev. Dr. James T. Van Burkalow, white, pastor of St. James church, said, "The same, many-headed monster of oppression is breathing fire against the Jews in the United States," and added the approval of the conference would be a force for good "since President Roosevelt cannot organize the action of democratic nations without the backing of our citizens".

Report Ross-Henry Go to Be Postponed

The International News Service reported to subscribing papers last Sunday that the match between Featherweight Champion Henry Armstrong and Welterwegiht Champion Barney Ross for the latter's title, may not go on for the night of May 26. It may be put back as far as two months, it was reported, in fact as far as possible behind the Louis-Schmeling million dollar meeting in late June.

Reasons advanced were many. Among them, that the $100,000 race between Seabiscuit and War Admiral at Belmont Park May 30 and debate on the outcome of the Louis-Schmeling bout have crowded Ross' encounter with Armstrong off the sport pages. Another version was that the weather is still unsettled and still another that Ross, now one week away from the original date, finds that he needs more time to reach the top of his condition.

Most disconcerting reason offered was that Promoter Jacobs has unwittingly set up a competition with himself. He finds that fans are buying for the heavyweight bout seven weeks in advance at $30 a pew and paying almost no heed to tickets for the welterweight fracas at half the above price.

Compton Gridder to Be 'Cougar'

Bill Hooks, star end on the Compton Junior college football team, has been awarded a scholarship to Washington State college, the Eagle was informed this week.

Hooks, alumnus of Jordan high school in Watts, where he played Varsity football, is one of the heftiest fellows in the junior college conference and made the All Southern California Junior conference team this past season at the end position. He will enter Washington in the Fall.

'YM' Council Gets $25,000 Fund Grant

ST. LOUIS, May 12. (ANP)—A conditional grant of $25,000 from the Rosenwald Family association to the 50th anniversary fund of the Negro department was announced Wednesday at the annual meeting of the national council of the YMCA at Hotel Jefferson.

The offer was made on condition that the Negro branches of the YMCA succeed in their campaign this year to raise $125,000, which will be supplemented by an allocation of $100,000 from a special fund to make a total of $250,000.

Colored branches throughout the nation this year are celebrating the 50th anniversary of the beginning of organized YMCA work among Negroes and are featuring the drive to raise the fund.

The Rosenwald Family association is composed of members of the family of the late Julius Rosenwald, philanthropist.

Tuskegee Relays Hold Spotlight

TUSKEGEE, May 19—Rich in tradition and color, the eleventh annual Tuskegee Relay carnival will get underway here Friday and Saturday. The one athletic extravaganza in the South that could be crowned king of sportsdom, the meet will attract the cream of the Mason and Dixion loop.

Star of the meet doubtless will be Tuskegee's own Mozelle Ellerby, winner of the 100 yard dash in the Drake Relays. Ellerby ran 9.6s in that meet and if pushed hard enough will duplicate his fete.

Ralph Metcvalfe will bring his Xavier University squad, fresh from a fine showing at the Penn Relays. Clark University, Hampton Institute, Morehouse college, Virginia State and countless others will be represented.

Tuskegee's women's track team is favored to retain the title. The girls won the national women's track championship at Randall Island last summer and with Mable Smith, Lulu Hymes, Roberta Abbott and others on the scene will be out to crack existent feminine records.

Tom Bradley Ineligible

Tom Bradley, UCLA middle distance runner, will be ineligible for track competition for the remainder of the track season, he told an Eagle reporter last weekend at the Fresno relay carnival.

A mathematics elective was pulling down his grade average, he told the reporter, and as it was not required in his pre-medical course, he dropped it. While at Polytechnic high school, the young athlete made the Ephebian honor society and at the University maintains a B average.

He accompanied the Westwood team to Fresno although he did not compete. He will continue training with the team.

Hally Loses; Pastor Takes On Crowell

Tiring in the stretch, Wally Hally, the erstwhile blonde tiger, lost an unexciting 10-round main event to Baby Arizmendi at the Olympic Tuesday night.

Manuel Ortiz, ex-Golden Glover, pounded out an easy TKO win over Santos Hugo in the semi-wind-up. Referee Charley Randolph stopped it in the fourth. Frank Riggi whipped Johnny Stein; Joey Wilson took a bad beating from Frankie Hern; Carmen Georgino lost to Al Hagar, and Ray Robleto stopped Louie Robles in the second canto of the curtain raiser.

PASTOR-CROWELL

Bob Pastor boxes Chuck Crowell in the main event at Olympic next Tuesday night. Billy Soose takes on Eddie Grogan in the feature preliminary.

Carver's Contribution to Plant Life Dramatized

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19—The variety of products of America, flowers, fruits and vegetables, will pass in review Sunday afternoon, when another "World Is Yours", Smithsonian Institution radio series is broadcast. The program, "American Plants", will be presented over 57 stations of the National Broadcasting Company, at 12:30 (PST).

While a family eats a dinner consisting of a menu from "soup to nuts" grown here, the lives of two American horticulturists will be dramatized. One of them, Luther Burbank, was the "wizard of plant life", who bred spineless cactus for fodder and provided many new foods for tables.

Tuskegee Contribution

The contribution of George Washington Carver, of Tuskegee Institute, will also be dramatized. Dr. Carver gave distinction to the peanut, proving not only a benefactor to his own race but to mankind. Thousands of small farmers throughout the south now grows peanuts for the markets, as the result of Carver's experiments.

Dr. Carver developed the peanut until it could be raised for commerce on a large scale. There are now more than 300 uses of the peanut, once chiefly used to fatten pigs and later prominent for association with circuses and fairs. The little tuber may have a lot to do today with milady's new kitchen linoleum. It may be a part of the axle greese used in the family "flivver", it may be part of the dressing on your lettuce, or it may be the basis for shaving lotion.

"The World Is Yours", educational radio series is presented weekly by the United States Department of the Interior, Office of Education, in cooperation with the National Broadcasting Company, and with the assistance of the Works Progress Administration. The program is edited by Smithsonian Institution.

Orangeburg, S. Did Someone Say Poor Fish?

Did someone say poor fish? Not when lovely Ruth Stevens and Connie Thompson get their tackle ready. In fact it might be quite a pleasure to be scooped up by these two beauties who are pictured beside the Gilmore Scout's 1938 deluxe Ford V-8 fish and game scout car. Ford V-8 was the scout's choice because of its ability to stand the roughest going and V-8 power to traverse the most difficult of mountain roads.

Chatter Styles Home Hints

Chatter and . . . Some News

BECAUSE SUNDAY was a gray day and good for quiet planning and going within one's self . . . methought a day far from the hub of the crowd would be a good thing. It was . . . only it left me in a spot Monday morning . . . scratching the cranium and stretching the imagination to concoct news. Once I thought . . . there won't be any column this week . . . but mine friends came with offerings of information and a look at the notes and scratchings here and there lifted a weight from the fagged mind.

Monday at four, we-uns of the EAGLE—Almena Davis, John Kinlock, and Neile Adams—went up to the Lincoln to glance over participants in the L. A. Hi Y fashion show that's coming off in June . . . since our Neile is adviser to the group. From what we garneered there, this won't b just another one of those mode promenades . . . Hearing Paul White, juvenile Universal star, sing and seeing him in action will be enough. Then there're those girls . . . oh, those girls! The date is June 3.

SOCIALLY SPEAKING:

Lois Evans tells me that the shower for Iona Logan Sunday in the home of Mrs. Zella Isum on West 35th Place . . . was almost like a wedding . . . if one would go by the gorgeous gifts. The lucky man is Charles "Chuck" Williams, postal clerk . . . and the biggest day in the lives of those two kids . . . ('Cuse it) will be September 14.

Happy to see again this week Carlton Goodlett who's getting his Ph. D. from Berkeley Saturday and leaves for his home in Omaha. With him on the brief jaunt here to see the sunny (?) Southland is his mother, Mrs. A. R. Goodlett, who is the guest of Mrs. Lula Evans in West 35th Street.

Among vacationists who quit the Angel City this week were Mr. and Mrs. William De Claybroke of Oakland who left for their home Thursday after a week's vacation with their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny King in East Santa Barbara . . . The De Claybrokes were entertained at dinner Wednesday by Mrs. Beatrice Mason . . . and at cocktails Monday evening when the J. Rufus Portwigs entertained the De Claybrokes along with Mrs. Alonzo Herndon and son, Norris, and Mrs. Madeline Gillespie Purnell, recent bride of Lee Purnell of Berkeley.

6Yen for a weekend away from home found Emily Josephine Brown and Nell Clease of the much younger set as guests of Dorothy and Gertrude Cherry in their home on Dewey avenue . . .

ON INTO THE WEEK:

Saturday, Mrs. Clarissa Matthews was hostess to the 12:33 Club with a bridge luncheon . . . prizes were won by Mmes. Bettye Brazley, Minnie Green and Maud Broady. Covers were laid for twenty-four.

Through the courtesy of Thelma Hardin of the "Y. W.", we have the info that Miss Julia Kimbrough will be guest speaker at this week's coffee hour when she'll tell the "Y" girls about experiences at the Youth Model Legislature in 'Frisco . . . Miss Dorothy Crafton will be doing the same for the Business and Professional Girls' League for whom she was a delegate . . . and the education committee headed by Mrs. Edith Jones announces the annual garden fete and fashion show for Sunday, June 12 . . . On the same day the Nous Servons will be hostesses at their second annual June rose tea in the home of the J. L. Hills.

Mrs. Fannie Bingham of Albany, N. Y., will leave for her home . . . after wintering here . . . on May 22 . . . She has been showered with pleasant courtesies . . . most recent among them being a luncheon by Mrs. Hattie Smith and a sight seeing trip by Mrs. McMickin . . . to see the wild flowers; a beach party last Sunday which took in Venice, Ocean Park, and Santa Monica . . . and a dinner party hosted by Mrs. Z. Grover . . . The Angel Cityr eluctantly relinquishes to Gotham its own . . . and wishes Mrs. Bingham a happy return.

Little Harlem . . . where you go when the blues are coming your way . . . out in Watts was the setting for a party honoring Mrs. Nolan Valrie . . . the rose and carnation laden table was a pretty baskground for a checker dinner and liquid hereafters . . . drinks. Guests: Rainey Lewis Valrie, son of the honoree; Messrs. and Mmes. Ted Johnson, Earl Johnson, Thomas Jefferson, Morris S. Soares, Dalton Goins, Mrs. Herbert and L. Caldwell . . . the genial Brown sisters saw to it that the party was scrumpious . . . yeah!

The James O'Neals (Delma Strickland) have increased the Southland population by a girl . . . Delma is at home with her mater, Mrs. Henry Strickland, in Riverside . . . Jimmy's still punching a clock in the P. O.

Notes are out . . . so long.

'TWEEN TROY & WESTWOOD

By EDITH MEAUX

Well it won't be long now before the final finals come up and Westwoodians and Trojans will be digging in and under so as to bring home those A's they've been fooling the folks into believing they've been piling up during the semester. But getting in a last bit of the old fun before the period of hibernation, the college group indulged in a few activities over the weekend, just as a reminder that they've got to cut out those things for a while.

So seven little pledges passed from the period of expectancy to one of fullfillment when they were initiated into Delta Sigma Theta sorority over at Eula Dean Ford's house on Friday the thirteenth.

Just by accident we bumped into Anna Rosa Broyles, who loaded down with initiation paraphernalia, confided that she was quite tired from trying to think up some new stunts for Pledges Hilda Allen, Glodine Beasley, and Sylvia Gilliam to do.

Fay Thomas and Mildred Hampton, whom we ran into just a little later, confided that they really had some new ideas for Bernice Eblon and Tycine Randolph's initiation.

Toting paddles and other mysterious bundles was Mary Lou Roberson who was most engrossed with plans for Irene Freeman and Marjorie Stokely, who went through.

--We hated to enjoy ourselves so shamefully while Otis Davenport looked so sad the other night over at the Tyler home, and especially since the party was given to bid him a fond farewell before he and Jimmy Robinson headed for points east, but enthusiasm ran so high until we just couldn't help it.

In sympathy with the guest of honor and promising to look out for his Los Angeles interest, Jo Blodgett, was Odie Walker, who seemingly already has his hands full these days with Viola Brazley--Frances Carroll, explaining the absence of "Little Nick" to "we" curious people, as she came in with her cousin, Otis Bowdoin, did her little bit to get a smile on the honored guest's face.

Steve Roland, looking for Lillian Singleton, had "things" to confide to us which netted us the promise of two malts if we carried them out--we did, Steve, and we're waiting--Carol Ivey and Johnny Simmons, seen together a lot lately, were carrying on bits of inane conversation (we know it was inane 'cause we helped carry it on) . . . Roger Hogan wandered around giving the girls his cute line of chatter . . . while Cato Robinson took on a serious expression over in the corner with Betty Bratton.

When he slowed down in his 'big appling' long enough for us to see who he was with we found Harold Garibaldi being most attentive to Nancy Harris during the evening . . . Bill Williams, trying to figure out what makes women tick, as he sought to please Ouida White . . . Arthur McNealy, as he carried a cup of punch to Cecelia Dye, for whom he had to seek quite sometime Jimmy LuValle, chatting with Elizabeth Cunard . . . Alan Robinson, going after the family car to assure himself that he wouldn't have to walk home after enjoying himself, which he really did . . . "Dripdry" Williams in the best of spirits with his new interpretation of some dance or other . . . Wilma Brown and Osie Walton, toasting each other with punch . . . Victor Nickerson, carrying on a bit of serious chatter with Ernestine Beasley in the sun parlor . . . and Leon Smith, seeking a cigar for some unknown purpose.

Upstairs for a brief moment to powder our nose we chatted with Dottie Carlyle and Kate Collins, who's most happy these days over her forthcoming marriage to Gordon Dixon . . . the date's some time in June.

BRIGADETTES, LES BONBONIERES HAVE IT OUT ON DIAMOND

It doesn't always take nine to make a baseball team—not when they're women. For the popular Brigadettes took a team of six energetic young ladies and met the no less popular group of Les Bonbonieres' team of nine Sunday afternoon in Griffith park.

The oddly matched game was staged as a feature of the Brigadettes' annual picnic and just because the three other players didn't show up, the show couldn't be stopped. The score was 6-5 with a party for the winners coming up in the near future to which the losers will be hostesses.

In the meantime, the Majestic Corsairs and the Argunauts, young men's clubs tied a game that's to be played again later. Umpires were Tommie Mills and Chester Parks.

Los Angeles and Pasadena Society . . .

By GEORGE GARNER

Down went I, this Saturday afternoon just past . . . to the quiet restfulness of the Pomona College campus at Claremont . . . which by the way . . . I must nominate as possibly the most idealistic of all campii yet viewed . . its posey of smooth limbed eucalyptus trees that line the gently rolling streets, its casually clad co-eds bumping leisurely along the paths astride their bycycles . . 'the gentle aura of week's end peace that pervaded the whole of it . . . the cool buildings of the college now free from the boisterous week-day invasion of youth . . . thence to the sturdy sureness of the Claremont Inn on campus with its wide stretch of veranda and the pleasant chairs that invited rest . . inside I found an ordered simplicity, small knots of diners gathered at the gleaming tables . . and further on . . . my destination, in a great room where perhaps two hundred persons were at luncheon . . the Phi Beta Kappa Society members convening for the Society's Essay Contest . . and there, with not a little pleasure I heard the Society's Dr. George Day accord to USC co-ed Edythe ("Tween Troy and Westwood") Meaux the coveted second award in the first division . . incidentally Miss Meaux has managed to establish herself creditably as a most representative student in the University's School of Journalism. . . going further: twelve colleges participated in the Contest including UCLA, Occidental College, Lavergne, Compton, St. Mary's, Riverside, and Pomona Colleges. . . Essays were given: Group 1 Religion, Psychology Education; Group 2, The Social Sciences; and Group 3 The Fine Arts. . .from which latter group, award-winner Miss Helen Purcell read her own prize-winning opus: "Collossals for Companions."

WOODS CHAPEL OPENING

Nor grey day nor persistent drizzle could have dimmed the brilliant opening of the James Woodeses' handsome chapel in Pasadena's Verona Avenue . . . with a more than creditable representation of Angelenos as well as Pasadenans come to view this newts architectural work of Paul Williams . . .one entered across the charming patio where pink and flame roses bloomed against the whiteness of the stone enclosure and the cream coloured panelling of the posing entrance . . to be received by the genial Mr. and Mrs. James Woods and their assistants . . once inside one gathers instantly the impression that her is an interior that brooks no hackneyed scheme. . .pale blue pews rise from the soft, dust blue of the carpeting . . the latter sweeping forward to the heavy folds of gold damask double curtain, which, gracefully swagged, extends the height and quite the width of the chapel . . riotous hues of gladioli, rich fragrance of roses and pale-hued grace of delphinium were everywhere; overflowing to the antechamber of blue and gold, the registery desk and the Woodses' spacious apartment . . in line with the Woodses were Mmes. Virgie Corry and Geraldine Johnson. Messrs. Ernest Fouche, Gray Evans and Frank Tilley . . at the tea table were Mmes. Belle Doston, Pearl Booker, M. S. Hawthorne, Zephyr Groner, Augusta Horn, Charles Prince, George Robt Carner, William Gilchrist, Rhoda C. Harris, Minta Shephard, Dayse Henderson, Laura Bailey, Lucille Johnson, Bessie Rumber, J. O. Clisby, W. Howard McMickens, Maomy Murphy and Henrietta Grant . . . Hostesses included Mmes. Willye Elder, Daisy Barrett, Elizabeth Armstrong, Josephine Cummings, Sadie Holt Garth, Mayme Malone, Walter Perry, O. L. Harris, Garfield Lee, Rheba Compton, Louise LeGrande, George Armelin, Rochelle Vaughn, Bessie Railsback, Lula Grant, Lucille Bowlin, and Willye Gravenburg, . . .at the Hammond organ console . . at intervals . . .was Mrs. Vivian McRiley. Mrs. Elizabeth Smith and Moulton Johnson . . . Mr. and Mrs. James Woods are yet extending their heartfelt thanks to the many friends who by gift, presence and assistance so greatly aided the opening toward the brilliant success that characterized it.

SOUTHLANDER NOTES

The ultra svelte group of fashionables who responded Saturday afternoon last to attend Mrs. Charles Matthews' smart luncheo-bridge party . . .smarter than that Mrs. Matthews' marked cleverness at this business of entertaining . . and present . . were all the names who make civic-interest and society news . . and Next Saturday will find most of this group attending the soiree for which Mrs. Bert (Della) McDonald will open her own charming home.

In the interest of forming a Far Western Advisory Board for Bethune-Cookman College came educators Bessie Bruington Burke, Pauline L. Slater . . Mmes Netta Paullyn Garner, Mozelle Moore, Eva C. Burton, Betty Hill, together with the Reverends J. L. Rhea, W. D. Carter, J. M. Brown and Mr. Chester Burke, to meet in the hall of the Garner Community Center last Monday afternoon . . foremost among the plans outlined by the group is an outstanding vesper musicale . . .to be presented in one of the large churches of the Pasadena Community . . .scheduled for the Second Sunday in June . . the twelfth . . the vesper will include music by combined choral organizations as well as outstanding speakers . . .the affair will be given to raise monies to be donated to the welfare of Bethune-Cookman College; and will serve to bring up the stipulated Pasadena contribution to the fund.

"Sunday morning, June fifth will find another brilliant company gathered in the hall of the Garner Community Center . . . when the Pasadena Fellowship Breakfast League opens another of its initial Sunday sessions in the interests of education and fellowship for citizens of the Southland . . .Angeleno members of the League are rapidly approaching the Pasadena members in so far as numbers are concerned; and it is becoming quite the thing to make the early Sunday morning trek each month to enjoy the hours of early sunshine, the pleasant exchange of amenities and ideas that the sessions of the Fellowship Breakfast League facilitate.

Nation's Beauticians Eye Wage-Hours Legislation

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19. (ANP)—An interested observer here last week to watch the effect of the Wage-Hour Bill on the colored beauty culture industry was Mrs. Marjorie Stewart Joyner of Chicago, president of the National Beauty Culturists' league.

At a mass meeting held Sunday at the YWCA, a committee from Local No. 53, of the National League, headed by Mrs. Bessie J. Mercer, reported that a local committee made up of white beauticians and three disinterested persons had been planning a minimum wage and hour schedule for all beauticians, regardless of color.

MOVE FOR CONFERENCE FAILS

Opposing the effort of the whites at national wage-hour legislation, Mrs. Joyner attempted unsuccessfully to arrange a conference with Chairman Claude A. Woodward of the minimum wage Board at his office in the district building. She was unsuccessful, however, in talking over the phone with him. Mrs. Joyner asked Chairman Woodward if there was a colored beautician on the committee of nine and he replied: "No, and it is not likely there will be, as the white shops outnumber the colored."

In answer to Mrs. Joyner's insistence that a colored beautician should be appointed to the committee to look after the interests of Negroes, the chairman said: "Nothing can be done by your group but write down what you want, or send an intelligent person to our public hearing on May 17, and after we hear your side of the program, we (the white committee of nine) will decide what is just for you."

STYLE NOTES

For the eleventh style chat of this series . . . we invite you to look to the breathtaking array of frocks that set the spirit soaring with their flagrant boldness . . . that bring chuckles at their odd designs and swerves in unlooked for places . . . that suddenly rescue sweet quiet things from among the wall flowers and send them forth as belles of every festivity; that surreptitiously steal lines from one part of the anatomy and shower them on another; that enhance charm and conversely crucify it with as much ease, that set men's pulses beating and just as quickly lend wings to their feet . . . I invite you to consider the most popular trend for the summer--Print.

Print for morning, noon and night; print for play and print for work . . . for the beach and for the most formal occasion. The thing to decide when you go shopping for one of these style leaders is whether you are going to wear the print or be subjected to it. Certainly, you don't want a dress that drags you around. It goes without argument that splashy or large prints were not designed for large or stout women . . . and yet once in awhile an unusually stout lady crashes the barrier; sallies forth in an exotic print and brings all eyes her way in admiration. Why? The lady's personality dominates her attire . . . but don't you try it. On the other hand, a stout lady is very conspicuous in a fragile print . . . for example pansy designs. The happy medium is a subdued print featuring not more than three colors . . . your best bet is the popular two color version of black on white or white on black . . . navy and gray backgrounds are also flatering.

Happily, the thin woman believes she can wear any print design anywhere. She's all wrong. Huge floral patterns of sheer are never appropiate for street wear . . . especially if the flowers are in concentrated splashes. They are not suitable for extremely dark women anywhere, anytime, because the dress carries the woman and subjects her grotesquely to the appearance of a tree in borrowed leaves.

By all means, keep up with the trend and buy a print! . . . Be sure you buy it for YOU!

John L. Jones, 80, Dies; Ohio Postmaster 40 Years

By W. A. Payne

EL CENTRO, May 19—In the passing of John L. Jones at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Zenobia Jones Payne, the life of one of the grand men of the race came to peaceful end.

Funeral services for the deceased were conducted from the Lemon's funeral parlors last Sunday afternoon. The Rev. Hayes Hayter pastor of the AME church assisted by Dr. H. Francis McClure, presiding elder of the San Diego district conference; the Rev. I. N. Whitten, pastor of the Second Baptist church; and Rev. Thomas Hughes, local minister, directed the services. From the text "Know ye not that there is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Israel", Rev. Hayter cited the eventful career of the deceased and held it up as worthy of emulation by the youth of the race. Pride of Imperial Valley Lodge No. 29 Knights of Pythias had charge of the services at the cemetery with the Rev. Whitten, prelate of the lodge reading the beautiful ritualistic service. Sir Theodore Dunlap of Paul Dunbar Lodge, San Diego; and Sir William Stoutingburg of Morning Star Lodge, Riverside, were visitors and assisted.

Mr. Jones arrived in El Centro last September preparatory to spending his closing days with his daughter, Mrs. Payne and family. At the time of his death he was 80 years and 10 months of age. For forty years he served as postmaster in the town of Rendville, Ohio, serving thru every administration from McKinley thru to the present one. He resigned last summer and in closing his public service received the commendation of the Washington authorities.

He was born in New Richmond, Ohio in 1857 and was the third child of a family of ten, nine boys and one girl. During the ante bellum days his father was one of the superintendents of the Underground Railway, in Gallipolis, Ohio, successfully transporting slaves on to the next station. Though a freedman he felt keenly the plight of his less fortunate brother. Moving to Pomeroy, Ohio he took advantage of the schools and mastered the rudiments of an elementary education. He started for Wilberforce hoping to carry out there a continuation of his desire for learning. Stopping by Rendille then a new town being populated by our group he saw an opportunity for business and there served an eventful career. There he developed a successful grocery business. He served as a member of the town council, the Board of Education, a member of the Republican Central Committee. Many honors came to him in his being sent as delegate to district, county, state, and national Republican conventions.

He was better known as an ardent churchman. He served his church as steward, trustee; Sunday school teacher and superintendent; lay delegate to the District and Annual Conferences. At electoral college in Washington Court House in 1892 he was elected to represent the Ohio Annual Conference in the General Conference held in Philadelphia. He often spoke of having had the honor of assisting in the election of Bishops Lee, Handy and Saulter.

He was happily married to Sarah Broadis, school teacher in Rendville. Five children were born to the couple, two of whom are living, Earl in Rendville and Mrs. Zenobia Payne of El Centro. The wife went to her reward in March, 1937 and the daughter, Ethel of New Haven, Connecticut, followed last June.

In 1934 he completed the "History of the Jones Family" covering a period of 177 years. His brothers numbered J. McHenry, president of West Virginia State College; Charley, science teacher in the same institution; Alexander, minister; Elm B., a banker in Boley, Okla.; Thomas, a dentist. Mr. Jones was a firm believer in education and business ventures for the race. His children were given every opportunity possible for an education and during his career as a churchman and a citizen of Ohio he strove to have Wilberforce stand out prominently as an institution for higher learning.

He lived in El Centro but 8-months but during that time he endeared himself to all who knew him. He was cheerful, ambitious, believed in the youth of the race. Up to the time of his last illness his mind was clear and he reasoned most logically. He belonged to that group of our men who are fast passing, a product of those trying times when the race was emerging from darkness. Though living in a quiet out of the way place yet he so wrought that much was known of him and he was loved and appreciated by all who knew him. He was laid away tenderly in Evergreen Cemetery mid a bower of flowers, the contribution of those who admired him. A chorus of this section's finest musicians chanted reverently the music he loved--the Jones family was indeed a family of musicians. The minister very emphatically and impressively climaxed his eulogy with II Samuel 3:38, "Know ye not that there is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Israel?"

William A. Payne, Jr., director of a group of Jubilee Singers of San Diego presented them in concert at Wilson Auditorium last Monday evening. Heralded as Jubilee Singers, they lived up to their reputation plus. Not only did they render faultlessly the spirituals and plantation songs of their repertoire but their presentation of the classics was a most pleasing surprise. The group worked together efficiently and harmoniously and all who heard them were impressed with the ease and perfect rendition of their numbers. Already plans are being made to have the group pay a return visit. Those who sponsored the concert have been requested from many sources to secure a return engagement.

Payton Cook, Roland Maples, and Maceo Allen represented Douglass high in the regional track meet held on the campus of San Diego State College last Saturday. Young Cook ran third in the 100 yard dash and fourth in the 220. Maples and Allen took fourth and fifth respectively in the high jump. The boys were accompanied by James Stocks and A. E. Prince.

Fred Smith and son, Walter of Perris visited friends here during the past week. Mr. Smith reports his plans to move to San Bernardino.

Miss Octavia J. Payne and W. A. Payne, Jr. attended the funeral services of their grand father last Sunday.

Friends of the W. O. Thompson family, former citizens of this place have received announcements of the Commencement exercises of the Turlock Union high school to be held Monday evening, June 6.

Miss Ruth Ray a granddaughter is a member of the class. Miss Ray was born in El Centro. Her mother served as organist of Second Baptist Church for sometime.

William Stoutingburg of Riverside visited with friends here during the week end. Theodore Dunlap and O. T. McWilliams of San Diego were week end visitors.

Conner-Johnson Undertaking Co had charge of the body.

BAKERSFIELD

By JERRY FLEMING

Campus notes: They tell me Larkin Mackey, local jaysee speed burner, is still spitting out cinders that he ate from the heels of Bryant Allen, Clyde Jeffreys, etc., last week at the Fresno West Coast Relays. We wonder why Co-ed Olive Macbeth always blushes at the mention of some musician, especially a trumpet player. There are now several in town, but it seems that Dootsie Williams rates the best. There are quite a few "swing cats" up here from Los Angeles, playing at several ofay niteries; Lorenzo Flonnoy, Williams, Loyal Myart, Hubert Allen and several more, formerly with George Brown's orchestra.

Tidbits: A certain young song writer, they tell me, will soon be in the do-re-mi. Why do all the boys gang up on California Avenue and C street. Is it because of the lovely waitress working in the lunch stand. She was a student at L. A. High and is now at the local jaysee. Rumor has it that one of our very fair co-eds will be married before dear old 1938 passes. A certain student here is called 102. I wonder why.

Where's Salad? Why Dressing, of Course...It's a Fad

What would you do if you saw a fire?—truck? Where is the salad?—dressing?

And while the fire engine is still trucking and the salad is still dressing local students of high school age are going batty in small way, all over the latest mania—"diddles."

How do you avoid a bum?—steer? is an example of diddles," the latest time wasters more foolish than "knock knocks", crazier than "handies", goofier than "faos".

How do you make a?—diddle?

Here is the recipe given by the exthusiasts: Take a quick phrase, break off the last word and turn it into a sassy question. Thus:

What would you do if you fell in?—love?

Simple?

The demonstration was made at the close of the minister's sermon which dealt with the breakdown of the American home. It was considered by all present a wholehearted approval of Rev. Russell's analysis of the home as one of the greatest contributing causes to the continued increase of crime and immortality in the country.

BOSTON, May 19 (ANP)—Addressing a large audience Monday night at People's Baptist church, Dr. H. H. Jones of Klay, Liberia, took sharp issue with those Negroes who oppose the "back to Africa" movement and asked "What have they got here?"

"If you went to Liberia", he continued, "and showed a desire for work the government would be glad to give you 25 acres of good, rich, fertile earth. More land can be procured for 50 cents an acre. White men and women of the United States are anxious to go to Africa and get its gold and resources, but the American Negro prefers to remain in Harlem."

The doctor's mission is 50 miles in the Liberian hinterland and he has been a missionary there for 35 years. Mississippi-born, he has made five trips to Africa's West Coast. He was first sent as a missionary, soon realized the need of the natives for medical attention, so he returned to America, studied medicine, then returned to his African post.

CHICAGO, May 19, (ANP)—A feature of the meeting last Sunday of the Euphrasia Guild at the Convent of the Good Shepherd was a lecture by the Guild historian, Miss Irene Wilson on the life of Blessed Martin de Porres, "Wonder Worker," who, Catholics of both races, are seeking to have cannonized. Mrs. Ethel G. Ford presided at the metting and Mother Mary, Holy Souls, new superintendent Illinois Technical School for Girls, was presented to the members. Miss Wilson said in part:

"It is the wish of the Holy See that by fervent prayers to the hundreds of thousands devoted clients of Blessed Martin throughout the world and especially in his native land, South America, his solemn canonization may be attained on the third centenary, in 1939, of our Blessed's glorious death. Blessed Martin was born December 9, 1579 and shortly after reaching the age of reason manifested great zeal and piety, was known ta have worked many miracles among the poor and afflicted, while he yet lived. Church history tells of the many miraculous healings at his bier, of the glorious transformation when the corpse resumed its natural, lifelike qualities.

"After 25 years the body was moved to a public shrine and we are told that each time men of science pierced the body with needles, fresh drops of bright red blood flowed from the body and a perfume of sanctity pervaded the air.

"In 1936 the cause of the Blessed Martin was taken up in this country and was heralded by both press and pulpit. Through research made by the Chicago Tribune with the assistance of the Dominican Fathers, the Order to which Blessed Martin belonged, the devotion to Blessed Martin was greatly increased. A shrine in his honor has been erected St. Judes', in Chicago, where Novenas are being held with great success. There is a perpetual Novena each Sunday night at St. Elizabeth's church by many devoted clients of Blessed Martin. The canonization of Blessed Martin will be a day of triumph for his race and the entire Universal church. He is the glory of his race and an Angel of mercy."

MINISTERS URGED TO ATTEND ALLIANCE

Rev. S. M. Beane, president of the Interdenominational Ministers' Alliance, urged that all ministers attend the business session of the group Monday morning at eleven o'clock, May 23, in the 28th Street Branch YMCA. Current and religious news will be brought by Dr. E. W. Moore.

Calvert's Has Negro Executive

Calvert Distillers Corporation, distillers of Calvert's "Reserve", "Special", and "Old Drum" whiskies, in appreciation of the fine Negro patronage which it receives, announces with pleasure the appointment of Eneil F. Simpson in an important executive position.

Mr. Simpson has been affiliated with the Negro press for sixteen years and was formerly manager of the Chicago Defender, Metropolitan News of Chicago, and the New Amsterdam News. Recently he was director of Negro sales of Wallach's, Inc., Harlem's 125th Street store. In the latter establishment he started as sales promotion manager and was later promoted to assistant manager of the store. This we understand established a precedent in New York City as well as throughout the country."

The appointment of Mr. Simpson should be looked upon with favor by members of the Negro race who are interested in the progress of its members in positions of an executive nature. Mr. Simpson is well qualified by actual experience and training to carry on the duties of his new position with dignity and reserve and hopes to demonstrate to others of his race and to his new employers his ability to merchandise and market to a group whose spending power is in excess of two billion dollars annually, representing one tenth of the population of the United States.

Mr. Simpson's duties will be to direct promotion of sales in this group, to make surveys and recommendations, and to see that at all times those of his race are shown the same consideration

The LAUNDRYMAN

"DEMENTIA LA FEMME"

Women is funny creatures, an' the more you mingles with 'em the less you know 'bout 'em.

I was walking down State street one evening looking for a cheap ham-an'-egg joint where a man could get a good meal at a counter for two-bits, an' not have to give up an extra dime to one of them haughty waitresses that looks like a cross between Lupe Valez an' Cleopatry.

I had just blew in town from St. Louis, where I had been living peaceful an' happy with my wife for five years. We had got along fine up until 'bout a month ago, when I ups an' makes the biggest mistake of my life. I gets ashamed of loafing 'round doing nothing, an' her out working hard all the time; so I goes an' gets a job driving an' ice-wagon. And I'll be doggoned if we wasn't separated before I could draw my first two week's pay. So I lit out for Chicago.

Well, as I was saying, I was looking around trying to locate a tip-less joint where I could eat in peace, an' finally I stopped in front of one of them places where they set all kinds of good things to eat in the window; pig-knuckles, pig-tails, pig-ears, an' chittlings an' chili.

Whilst I'm standing there trying to figure out which one I could get the most of for two-bits, somebody walks up behind me an' clamps down on my shoulder. I turned around kinder slow, 'cause I had to leave Chicago in a hurry once, some years before an' the grip on my shoulder felt kinder heavy. But it wasn't who I thought it was. It was an old buddy of mine I hadn't seen for years.

"Hullo, 'Stuff'," he said heartily, abbreviating my nickname "Hot Stuff" that the ladies give me when I was a "boom guy" 'round 'Frisco, an' was spending money with both hands; "What you doing in Chicago?"

"Well if it ain't "Small Black'," I cried, trying to wring his arm off. I was really glad to see the little sawed-off Joker, 'cause me an' him had bummed around together in 'Frisco years ago.

We stood there 'bout ten minutes chewing the rag 'bout old times. He looked just the same, being fast-black he couldn't fade much nohow—but I noticed that hunted look he used to carry 'round in his eyes was gone. He was a maried man when we was buddies, an' I often used to wonder if he was having fam'ly troubles. But he never said nothing to me 'bout his fam'ly, an' so I never said nothing to him. There was a merry twinkle in his eyes now, an' a smile on his good-natured face.

After awhile, when he got through talking 'bout the time me an' him wrecked "Sugar-foot" Sadie's buffet-flat over in Oakland one night an' got away before the cops come, he says;

"What was you doing standing here? Trying to charm some of them pig-knuckles out of that window?"

"I ain't down to that yet", I told him. "I got enough dough to last me a whole month if I'm careful. I was just fixing to to go in an' get some dinner. Won't you join me?"

Nothing doing, Old Timer! I don't eat in Pig-ankle joints no more since I got to be a single man. Come on, have supper with me. I eats at a boarding house out on Wabash Avenue. You'll get more'n you can eat there," he says to me.

Without a moment's parley--over the saving of my two-bits—I linked my arm in his an' we walked over to the L station. He insisted on paying the fares as I was his guest, so I let him. While we was rumbling along, I asked him a gang of questions; when he had left 'Frisco, how long he had been in "Chi", an' how long he had been single. I didn't say nothing to him 'bout my marriage venture though, 'cause he'd always envied my success in handling women, an' I didn't want him to know that one of 'em had dropped a shuck on me.

I had known his wife in 'Frisco, having met her several times out bally-hooing with railroad fellers. But I never had seen her with him except when she came to the shipyards on pay-days to get his check, which he always turned over to her. She was a high-yaller, with a cold eye, an' the disposition of a rattlesnake. I had always figured that Small Black wouldn't be able to hold her very long.

He told me--between jolts an' the rumblings of the flying L train—that he had been in Chicago for five years. His wife had sued him an' got her divorce, an' he had left 'Frisco shortly after.

"What grounds did she sue on?", I asked.

"Cruelty, Stuff! Can you 'magine that? An' she getting my check for a hunnerd an' seventy-five bucks ev'ry month, an' dishing me out a measly twenty dollars for my spending money."

I nodded, for I knew he was telling the truth.

"Why you could've bought me for a nickel when the divorce papers was served on me", he continued. "You know she didn't cook me no meals, 'cause I e't in the restaurants with you all the time, didn't I?"

"You shore did!"

"An' she didn't wash no clothes for me!"

I nodded again, as I remembered how he used to stop at the Chinks on Saturday nights for his laundry.

"Now, just tell me who you think was the one pulling the Average Span of Life Can Be Raised to 120 Years, Declares Dr. Wilbur Gordon

The average span of life could be raised to one hundred and twenty years in four generations of concentration on better health, dclared Dr. Wilbur C. Gordo, prominent local physician in a radio address over the California Eagle Newspaper of the Air last Thursday night.

If in one generation, men would apply to their own lives the discoveries of science, the average span of life could be raised ten to fifteen years, Dr. Gordon said. He was speaking of the subject can you rightly hope to be well and fit at the age of 70, or beyond". The address was in celebration of his own 59th birthday anniversary. An abridged account of the Doctor's address follows:

"In one of the reports of the League Of Nations it is made quite clear that throughout the world insufficient amounts of foods rich in vitamines and minerals are being consumed, thereby resulting in all too many dietary deficiencies. Demineralization of the lands by prolonged intensive cultivation is responsible for this condition. With our rapidly increasing knowledge that many foods which appeal to the eye and to the taste are really deficient in one or more of the vitamines and perhaps in one or several of the essential minerals this should be amended. What does the average individual really know about food stuffs. Even if he should have some knowledge as to how to balance his diet in the face of the industrial refining and processing of foods with the consequent loss of minerals and the destruction of vitamines he is entirely helpless. The cooking of foods all too often destroys the vitamines and precipitates the essential minerals, and the habit of discarding the water in which the foods are cooked, means that we are all too kind to the kitchen sink and garbage can and unfair to our bodies.

If, in one generation, we would stop refusing to apply to their own lives the discoveries of science, the average span of life could be raised ten to fifteen years. If, in four generations, we would stop refusing to apply to their own lives the discoveries of science, the average span of life could be raised to one hundred twenty years.

"Many persons labor under the impression that health is a something which can be pursued and bagged like a rabbit, others look upon it as a commodity that can be bought by the pound or in the bottle. But health can never be captured for and by itself. Health is always the by product of correct living and is so necessary to the duties of life, so necessary to the pleasures of life, that the crime of squandering it is equal to the folly. And he who brings weakness and disease upon himself for a brief gratification, for a brief pleasure of a moment or a few years passed in the glamour of merriment condemns his older and more mature life to the chamber or crutch. That person may be justly reproached, not only as a spendthrift of his own happiness, but also—may be reproached as a robber of the public, for most of the poor wretches who fill our Charity Hospitals, our alms houses and insane asylums, have deliberately, although ignorantly, assigned themselves to these institutions.

"There was a time when mankind died in droves from great epidemics and scourges which infested the world at regular intervals, but now, owing to the discoveries of science, practically all of the mass destroying disease have been brought under control. Although science has been able to stamp out mass destroying diseases, we still have the same difficulty with the individual, when we endeavor to have him or her conform his or her life to the teachings of science, and because of the refusal of humankind to listen, we find that three out of every five beds in all of the hospitals of these U. S., are filled with the mentally afflicted, the idiot, the senile, the feeble minded, the insane. There are countless thousands who are mentally afflicted, but have not yet been discovered, have not yet been committed to institutions; and yet of all the diseases that menace the human family, only a few are absolutely fatal, and each and every one of these diseases that is absolutely fatal, is preventable.

"In the light of our present knowledge, if thre is one exception to this rule it is cancer, but I have not classed it as such because even cancer is not necessarily fatal if discovered in time. There are many who confidently believe that Alkalosis is an important underlying factor in the development of cancer. The physician is brought face to face with the necessarily fatal diseases daily, and he is forced to think how easily this condition could have been avoided, how easily it could have been prevented. Most of them are doomed not necessarily because of sin. All too often it is because of ignorance. And under his breath almost in spite of himself the physician is forced to breathe "The Wages Of Ignorance Is Death."

"As far back as time records, the Chinese have employed Doctors to keep them well, and refuse to pay if they become sick. There is one important lesson that we who call ourselves modern, could learn from this ancient custom. We should learn that we, each of us, should at least have a birthday examination every year, even though we are feeling well and fit. While this idea of regular careful health audit is not new, stiill we find it very difficult to educate the public into the idea of being regularly, carefully, thoroughly examined while they are still well and apparently healthy. I say apparently healthy, I warn you. Do not fool your selves for the absence of actual disease, does not always mean sound health.

"Because of the nature of some of the questions which have been asked me since my last broadcast, I feel it necessary to clarify some wrong impressions: I said "As death approaches, the body fluids, including the blood plasma and lymph, always become more and more acid". A word of warning seems necessary, for mean an excess of alkali creat-alkalosis, and by alkalosis I ed by taking baking soda and other alkaline chemicals, this excess of alkali is worse than acidosis. Alkalosis always preceeds cancer, is always present in cancer. In all of those cases of twisted knotted joints are often seen in the feet and hands so often thought of as being the result of acid, uric acid especially, these twisted joints are really manifestations of Alkalosis, alkaline salts of urea, not uric acid condition at all. In practically every case of arthritis, alkalosis is present, and alkalosis is frequently the direct cause of kidney disease and heart Disease.

"The steadily increasing number of cases of degenerative diseases warns that radical changes must be made in our living. The increasing number of cases of Heart Disease, the increasing number of cases of highblood pressure and the resulting paralysis, the great increase in Diabetes, the appalling increase in cases of Cancer, to say nothing of the great increase in the number of Senile Insanity, all of these warn that we are not helping nature to do, that which only nature can do, that is to protect the human body from the deterioating effects of time, and age, to defend it against invading harmful germs, to fortify it against the development of germs once they enter the system. To do this there is but one way. The necessary vitamines, and the essential minerals which are so necessary for the proper functioning of the various organs and tissues of the body must be furnished the body in adequate amounts, and the body must be checked regularly in order to determine if enough of the necessary vitamines and minerals are being provided. Railroads and all other kinds of big business have found that it pays, and pays well to expend enormous amounts of money for constant, repeated examinations of their properties. Experience has proven to them that it is cheaper to repair than to purchase new machinery. If one stops to think for a moment, one is forced to realize that while you can if need be, purchase new machinery, one would be in a pretty predicament if one started out to purchase a new body, or even a new part for this body. Let us not be like the Old Roue in Paris, who bluntly told his Doctor, "Darn it Sir, I won't pay you for telling me what I can do.; I engaged you to fix me up so that I can do what I want to do". If the essential Minerals and Vitamines are supplied to the starving tissues of our bodies, nature's recuperative powers will keep the body fit and healthy, and enable one to be fit at sixty, seventy or beyond."

IF I COULD CHOOSE

ED'S NOTE: The following article was written by Miss Bessie Cobb, a San Diego State college honor student, for publication in the school literary magazine, "El Pangue", and is herein printed by special request.

ALL MY life I have been dreaming. When I was a little girl in pigtails, I used to lie for a few minutes before going to sleep at night, and I pictured the most delightful scenes and events. I thought out the details for long voyages on a swift white ship of my own, filled with beautiful boys and girls, my guests. The sea was to be blue and sparkling, the sky clear and sunny, but not always. There would come a time when the wind would howl and the rain fall hard and fast, but the ship would ride safely through the storm with everything warm and cozy within. So night after night I sailed the seas, happy, loved, admired, the professor of the power to bestow upon others the gift of happiness--as I understood it then.

The years passed and I, at home, travelled far and wide. I sailed with Odysseus through many adventures, rejoicing when at last we came safely home to good Penelope. I wept to see Icarus fall, and became pensive over Diana's sleeping shepherd boy. I listened to Thor's thunderous shout and heard his hammer crash on the mountain side. I wandered through myraid dark forests and castles, dealt with fairies, good and bad, always reaching the haven of perfect love and happiness at the end. No wonder I dreamed such dreams of vague but splendid achievement.

Time brought experience in reality, and I changed my reading to fit my growth. I went to school and to camp with fun-loving, noble-minded girls, and my own young ideals were strengthened and developed. Love--not fairy-prince emotion—but real young human love began to have a place in my reading and in my thoughts. I became more conscious of myself and of others and of the real problems to be met in making dreams come true.

With the advent of the long-awaited college days, I have had less time for fiction and more opportunity for experience, observation. My dreams have come down to earth or at least to attainable levels, and I am aware at last that their fulfillment depends upon me and upon the qualities which made me what I am.

And what am I? I am the child of my parents: a Negro, an American, a girl. I am myself, a combination of traits, abilities, and factors which make me different from anyone else in the world. And well aware am I that what I am provides and limits the possibilities for what I shall be.

What if I could consciously choose for myself the factors of race,(nationality, sex, and parentage? Let us slip back into the pages of one of those long-forgotten fairy tales and see if we cannot find a kindly god-mother who will give me four wishes--four opportunities to change the possibilities for the fulfillment of my dream.

Let me choose my nationality first. Ah, what a rich array of countries and peoples I have before me! Here are the old European countries, there the older Asiatic lands. There is Africa with its oldness and newness, and there are the island cultures. Lastly, here lies the young America with its mixture of peoples and tongues. What traditions, what long, colorful histories lie within their customs and their institutions! To wander through them, settling here and there, but eventually moving on until I should return at last to the homeland--that would be one part of the dream come true.

And now which shall be the homeland? America, of course. I would not have that changed, for after all, is not America the land of all lands where opportunity is freest and most abundant? Is it not the place for a dreamer eager to realize her dreams? And, well, it is home. Yes, if you please, I shall remain an American.

Now that I have settled upon my nationality, there comes the question of race. Is it not surprising that in such a country one should have to be careful about the choice of her color? Nevertheless, it is true. To be dark-skinned as I am now is to fill one's path with obstacles. It is to bar oneself entirely from certain opportunities and to make it more difficult to avail oneself of certain others. Thus you see a part of what I have considered when I make my wish.

I choose to remain a Negro. I cannot give up my people. What should I do without their patience and their sympathy, their simple, age-old wisdom, their rich song, and their warm living beauty? I have very little prejudice based upon race difference. I like many people from races other than my own. Yet, how should I love a pale man? or a red or a yellow? No, I would not be anything else in the world. It is a call, a challenge, and if I can reach the goal of my dream, so much greater the achievement. It is worth it, every bit.

And what comes next? Well, now that I have race and nationality, I think I shall chose my sex. But there is really no question about that. I have known all along that I could never consent to be anything but a woman. Perhaps if I had never been that, if I had considered the matter impartially from the viewpoint of purely material advantages, I might have chosen to be a male. But, thank God, I had no choice. Not for anything now would I

In Which We Give in to "Spring Fever" and All the Term Implies

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

TO BEGIN WITH, if "Spring Fever" is a malady that affects the system to the extent that all you feel like doing is something that requires no effort or thought, then that's what we have.

Our medico hasn't diagnosed the case as such. He doesn't need to. We have, and without doubt, we're struck with Spring Fever.

Just a few seconds ago we started to begin this column with a few paragraphs about sociology and, finding ourselves getting into a deep subject, we took the sheet out of the typewriter and threw it in the wastebasket.

After all, who wants to wade through such a subject with Most of us, we imagine, would like to close shop and while the time. But, closing shop, means loss of bread and butter so the shop stays open. That does the shop no good and us, less.

Hotter weather, may change all that.

Speaking of "hot": Are you in the habit of having coffee in the morning, and if you are, and don't get it aren't you "hot" for a spell?

That's the way we get about the morning paper. When we open the door in the morning to pick up the paper and no paper is to be found we are puzzled at first, get "hot" for a second and then we cool off because we tell ourselves that maybe something happened to the "paper boy". Ah, but when the same thing happens the next morning, we fairly sizzle we are so "hot"!

It just goes to show how inconsiderate we are sometimes. How quick are we to condemn to forget! We give vent to our wrath on some individual, man or boy, whose job it is to deliver papers, without thinking that that same man or boy is as human as we.

There are times when we take advantage of the least excuse for not doing something that we are supposed to do. We don't say that the "paper boy' shirks his work. We do say that we are no different from him.

Some cloudy mornings, threatened rain, and the like are enough to cause any one to turn over with one eye open and then turn over again with both eyes closed, all the while debating whether we are going to get up, knowing all the time that we are.

And so it is with the "paper boy". He has his ups and downs just as we have ours and if we were as consistently punctual in our work as he is in his, how high we would stand with the time clock! We feel sorry for "paper boys" who have to get up SO early in the morning, anyway.

Go to boxing matches and know whether you are civilized. We go often but it wasn't until last week we caught ourselves in the act of reverting back to the cave man centuries ago.

There we were and there were two gloved men in the ring feinting and hitting each other with calculated fury. The spectacle worked up the fighting instinct in us so much that we found ourselves emitting gutteral sounds that would have put an ordinary cave man to shame.

Yes sir. Here we are supposed to be sufficiently hardened to boxing matches to follow the action coolly in the manner of an analysist, and acting like an animal! We thought about it afterwards and came to the conclusion that it was all because we were rather fond of one of the gentlemen in the ring and when he didnt seem to be taking care of his opponent in the manner we had hoped he would we lost our so-called polish and became just one who wanted to be in on the kill.

Predictions: as we have said. in the past several columns, our small sized penny is going on Featherweight Champion Henry Armstong to take the measure next Thursday night. We may as well get out on the limb too! Itll be a kayo inside of eight rounds . . .Tomorrow night, out at Gilmore Stadium Young Peter Jackson should reverse the tables in his bout with Pete De Ruzza. Jackson lost to DeRuzza in a New York ring. A long rest, plus the original Jackson sock will stow De-Ruzza away via a sleep producer.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

By Miriam Matthews

The new fiction shelf at the Vernon Branch Library reveals five interesting titles by well-known women writers: Phillis Bottome's "Mortal Storm"; Ruth McKee's "The Three Daughters"; Marjorie Rawlings' "The Yearling"; Gertude Crum's "The Strumpet Wind"; and Olive Prouty's "Lisa Vale".

Telling the story of a part-Jewish family during the rise of the Nazi regime in "The Mortal Storm", Phillis Bottome establishes more firmly the reputation she won for herself with "Private Worlds". Readers of this volume will be impressed with the author's sense of values and her knowledge of Germany as they follow the efforts of a Jewish scientist and his aristocratic wife to remain the earnest liberals they have always been while their two sons embrace the Nazi cause with passionate enthusiasm.

Already well known for her books on Hawaii, Ruth Eleanor McKee who started her writing career with "The Lord's Anointed" turns to the World War for the background of her latest novel, "The Three Daughters". In this intimate story of women's work in the war, we follow the activities of Elizabeth, Candy and Camilla Huntington, all daughters of a rich munitions manufacturer who took up active service abroad for one reason or another. Their experiences are so real that we perforce must suffer with them as they live through the war.

During one year which brought conflict and tragedy to the Baxter family who lived in the backwoods of Florida, Jody Baxter, a sensitive and nature-loving boy, roamed the forest, hunted and grew apace along with his tame fawn, Flag. With its excellent descriptions of Florida landscapes, its skillful use of native vernacular, and its tender relation between Jody and his pet, "The Yearling," by Marjorie Rawlings will be read with pleasure by adults as well as adolescents.

Running away from a restricted existence in a small town at the age of sixteen, Sarah Batten who had known nothing but hard work all her life hoped to find freedom, gaiety and love but discovered only loneliness, meanness and disillusionment. This is the tragedy of a genuine spirit unprotected in a world of sham which Gertrude Crum pictures with fine realism in "The Strumpet Wind."

The temptations, mistakes, fears and doubts of a married woman in her early forties are presented by Olive Higgins Prouty in "Lisa Vale", through the problems of her four grown children. This new novel is written with the same keen insight as the author's "Stella Dallas" and will attract as wide an audience.

Borrow these books from the Vernon and Helen Hunt Jackson Branch libraries.

EDNA HEARD'S TALENT GAINS IN FTP WORKS

ONCE AGAIN TALENTED Edna Rosalind Heard comes to the fore with her musical compositions for Federal Theatres. It is to Miss Heard's credit that the musical scores for the production of Emlyn Williams' "Night Must Fall" at the Mason Opera House were a decided success. The theme and the tempo of the play were adhered to throughout.

And now Miss Heard adds another laurel to her accomplishments as the composer of the original score for "Will Shakespeare", Clemence Dane's fantasy on the life and loves of the immortal bard, opening at the Hollywood Playhouse May 20.

In her studio room in Arnold Hall at the Federal Theatres centralized plant, 1601 South Western avenue, Miss Heard may be seen each day busily composing scores for this production and that. She is never idle — but good musicians seldom are.

According to the acclaim that Miss Heard's work has received, it would seem that her efforts on the government project are showing anew the ability and talent found among Los Angeles' Negro citizens.

IS IT TRUE WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT KATY HEPBURN?

Speculation ran rife early last week when Angelenos awoke to find hundreds of billboards posing the query: "IS IT TRUE WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT KATHERINE HEPBURN?" Gossip kindled and flamed. SO MUCH has been said about Katy, so much more inferred, that nobody was quite sure of the implication this time.

Columbia studios finally announced that it was a part of an advance campaign in connection with the world premiere in L. A. of the star's latest picture, "HOLIDAY".

OLD CHICAGO

We have seen many sepians in comedy roles in films but scarcely one to outdo the work of MADAME SUL-TE-WAN in the epochal flikker, "In Old Chicago", currently showing in first run theatres. Entering films at a time ante-dating most of the contemporary players, Sul-Te-Wan has participated in their development from old-fashionde nickelodeon horse opera, thru the southern cycle to present sound and technicolor. She's a wizard on witch stuff but this up-to-date characterization of a Gay Nineties lady's lady is a perfect wow! Don't miss it.

WE PICK 'EM

Before the market is swamped with selections of the year's best, we present our six months' pick of the crop of sepians in films we've previewed so far:

SUL-TE-WAN (female comedy relief) ____ IN OLD CHICAGO
THERESA HARRIS (character acting) _____ JEZEBEL
EDDIE ANDERSON (dramatic acting) _____ JEZEBEL
JENI LEGON (musical) _____ FOOLS FOR SCANDAL
ARTHUR TWYNNE (novelty shot) __ FOOLS FOR SCANDAL
CLINTON ROSEMOND (short starring role) LIFE OF CARVER
STYMIE BEARD (juvenile role) _____ CRIME SCHOOL

STAR DUST

To fashion the tunes for Paramount's "St. Louis Blues", Hoagy Carmichael, composer of "Star Dust", and Frank Loesser were signed.

FEDERAL FLOP

WITH ALL THE FANFARE of publicity and general whooping it up for a gala celebration of Music Week, Federal Theatres Music Project presented as its PIECE DE RESISTANCE the world premiere of Morris Rugg's "GETTYSBURG" as "the vital theme" of an equally vital American opera.

A wholly new technique for the presentation of operas in concert form featured the performance. Federal orchestra, in slightly better form than their usual worst, conducted by Gastone Usigli, one of the last of the long-haired, temperamental conductors (who led his band without a score in front of him!) Federal chorus, half of it colored singers, and soloists of mixed voices supported the "technique".

Hopefully described as a descendant of one of the Signers of Independence, and Brigadier Gen. Ruger, who fought at Gettysburg, composer Ruger showed neither facility of the pen nor the sword in this composition with such a provocative title.

Moving interestingly enough at the beginning, "Gettysburg" showed promise of flights of imagery, musical intelligence and dramatic unction in the first two movements. The solo work of a Negro, programmed as JAMES JONES, but whom we suspected from a distance of being EARL SMITH, saved the day on that score. There was definite beauty in the music and the dramatic action. Then, composer Ruger and librettist Arthur Robinson, of Santa Monica — not a descendant of warriors, but a veteran of the World War — suffered a poverty of ideas. Right and left, one heard snatches of "Dixie", chanting and more chanting of "The Lord's Prayer", something that smelled faintly of "John Brown's Body", and a hasheesh of high school community songs dipped in a broth of chromatics and other symphonic trappings. Of a sudden, Ruger seemed to have had a musical orgasm and the thing petered out to a thin peanut whistle.

Over it all was dropped a huge American flag — an unforgivable piece of business ostensibly designed to pull out the fullest degree of audience appeal and — applause. But, if applause there was, it was the Flag and not "Gettysburg" that saved the day.

GUILD DROPS 3,000 EXTRAS THIS WEEK IN NEW PURGE; OPPOSES WPA FILM MOVE

Montgomery Orders Protection for Oldtimers; Axe for Chiselers

By Fay M. Jackson

Checking delinquent membership lists as of May 1, executives of the Screen Actors Guild declared this week that more than 3,000 extras will be permanently banned by the film industry in a reduction purge of chiselers and people who "work for a lark" while professional actors and actresses are kept out of employment.

IMPROVES WORK

This will reduce SAG membership from 12,000 to approximately 5,500. Robert Montgomery, president, ordered lists checked carefully so that no 'old timers' or regular extras who may have fallen behind in their dues, would not be included in those dropt from the lists.

Among those to get the ax are included occasional players, housewives who accept jobs for diversion, and chiselers who joined the guild after contracts were signed with producers last June providing for minimum wage scales and improved working conditions, Montgomery said.

Scores of colored players in films, most of whom fall into the extra class, will be affected both ways by the guild purge, it was learned.

The guild has now declared a close shop for extras and this provision will be made a part of producer-Screen Actors Guild basic minimum contract when amendments now being negotiated are completed.

WPA MUST PAY SCALE

A conference is also on record as being opposed to a WPA motion picture project unless it carries a provision for the prevailing wage scale in the industry and gives the guilds and unions a voice in forming its policies.

flo mills films 'spirit of youth' june 7

"Spirit of Youth," a feature length picturization of the true life story of the heavyweight champion of the world, Joe Louis, starts at the Florence Mills Theatre at Jefferson and Central, Tuesday, June 7. The film has a cast headed by the fighter and supported by such well-known players as Clarence Muse, distinguished screen, radio and stage actor, Edna Mae Harris, who has appeared in many films as well as on the stage and as the vocalist with Noble Sissle's band, Mae Turner who handles the heart interest, and Cleo Desmond, veteran stage actress who essays the role of the champ's omther.

radio giving pictures new test ground

In more ways than one, Hollywood is using the radio today as a proving ground for talent.

Candidates for starring roles or major featured parts still go through the screen test, but that process is too expensive for the relatively minor roles.

So the picture producers more and more are turning to the radio theaters to find players for such parts.

Latest of many examples is the casting of Red Stanley as "Dixie" in the picture "Cocoanut Grove". Stanley, who is a trombone player by profession, was heard by George M. Arthur, Paramount producer, on one of Rudy Vallee's broadcasts.

No fewer than four characters for "The Buccaneer" were found by Cecil B. De Mille at one session of his Radio Theater. They were Melville Ruick, announcer, and William Royale, Frank Nelson and Lou Merrill, all of whom appeared in one of the De Mille air dramas.

Maxine Sullivan began as featured player in Paramount's "St. Louis".

This is an important development, both from the viewpoint of the movie producers and the radio performers.

Since a motion picture studio invests from $200,000 to $1,500,000 in a feature picture, only players of proven ability can be used by the producer. Replacement of an actor in a picture means an added cost of thousands of dollars.

Producers of radio shows, however, can take chances of new talent, because air appearances are brief and the "flops" can be replaced at little cost.

L. A. Hi-Y Sets Vodvil Show for Lincoln

A SUPER S-C-O-O-P-E-R, colossal, gigantic, and magnificent — that is what the L. A. Hi-Y boys say their annual Variety-Vaudeville and Vogue show, slated for June 3 at the Lincoln theatre, will be.

Production got underway Monday afternoon with the cream of the local crop of high school boys and girls taking part.

The revue will feature a fashion show, plus acts by famous folk of the show world and the high school youngsters.

Young Paul White, Universal's juvenile star, headlines the program. Paul has a special arrangement of "It Ain't Necessarily So", from the folk-opera "Porgy and Bess", that the prep school kids label a "killer-diller".

Troy Brown, massive comedian of the stage and screen, will repeat the performance that kept the audience in "stitches" last year. He will be supplemented by Herbie Jeffries, singing star of "Harlem on the Prairie"; Mantan and Miller, ace rib-ticklers of the same film, the Basin Street Boys, Hambone, Kid Lightning, Kats and Fiddle and the Jones octette.

Presiding over all of this will be the Woodman Brothers, number one swing band of the East-side.

Outstanding act by the high school youngsters will be the "Rug-Cutters", a trio of boys, Jenkins, Scott and Long, who do variations of modern dances from the Charleston through the Big Apple.

neeka shaw, dance star, dies in paris

After a long fight against illness in the American Hospital beautiful Neeka Shaw died Saturday in Paris. Tuberculosis ended the brief but brilliant career of the talented young performer who had stared in several American productions before going to Paris six years ago.

Her mother, who arived from American in time to be with Miss Shaw before she died, will carry out the young artist's desire to be cremated.

And so, Paris has added another name to the long list of its victims from the ranks of Negro performers.

Two months ago, Raymond Thomas, one of the dancing "Cracker Jacks" died at the American Hospital. Others who have been succumed in recent years are Joe Caulk, Strutt Payne, and Johnny Dunn.

ALL-WOMAN ORK

Chick Kardale, formerly with Lucky Millinder is putting together an all femme colored crew. Auditioning for the final members need to complete a 14-piece outfit is held this week.

move to raise employment of musicians

Redubbing of musical sound tracks in major film productions will be abolished under terms of temporary agreement to be drafted at conferences between Pat Casey, producer labor contact, and J. W. Gillette, international organizer for the American Federation of Musicians as personal representative of Joseph N. Weber, president of the AFM, now in New York.

The pact providing that musical sound tracks be used only for picture in which orchestra was hired to play will be formally ratified at the producer-labor conferences to be held in East this summer. Terms, however, will become effective as soon as they have been okayed by the musicians and producers.

Gillette estimates that agreement will increase employment of musicians in picture work from 25 to 33%. Since approximately 600 are employed when studios are operating at peak, about 200 now on idle list will be given work.

still opus may return to 'bowl'

William Grant Still's "Lenox Avenue' which has been done twice here, once with Clarence Muse reading the story and recently with Norma Gould producing it as a ballet, is now being considered for production in the Hollywood Bowl this summer.

The bowl normally holds pretty close to clasic routines but sepia symphony is considered serious enough to be worth a trial if the production values of the ballet can be stepped up, which Still's backers believe it can.

Reviews . . . .

By JOHN KINLOCH

Picture: "A Slight Case of Murder"
Players: Edward G. Robinson, Ruth Donnelly
Place: Tivoli theatre, today, tomorrow and Saturday

"A Slight Case of Murder" will probably give you something more than a slight case of hysterics.

The story, by Damon Runyon ("Little Miss Marker" and others) concerns reformed gangster Edward G. Robinson who, accompanied by wife, daughter, and chief henchmen discovers four dead bodies in his summer home. The methods of corpse-removal as shown by Robinson & Company are really hilarious. Chief idea in thmis movement is doorstep service a la the Milk concerns. Corpse No. 1 is deposited on the front lawn of a jockey who at sometime "pulled" a horse upon which brother Allen Jenkins wagered a considerable sum; Corpse No. 2 is placed in the vestibule of a certain boxing-commissione whose edicts have not always pleased Edw. G.; Corpse No. 3—but you get the idea.

Complications arise when it is discovered that the already distributed dead individuals have a value to the United States government of forty-thousand dollars. This, of course, calls for a hasty collection and a return to the summer house where a ripnorting, engagement-announcing party is in progress.

Edward G. Robinson stays within this mortal existency smack up to the final fadeout. Usually that gentleman departs for points North or South (optional to audience) along about the hundredth foot of the last reel. In this, he doesn't even get wounded — lived through the whole thing without a scratch. Robinson's portrayal is smooth—exacting every ounce of somedy from the legitimately funny situations.

Harold Huber, Allen Jenkins, and Edwrad Brophy nearly steal the show as former gunmen turned household servants. Jenkins' "Oke---er, I mean Yes Mu-dame" is priceless. Harold Huber has his best comedy opportunities since the prize winning "Gay Desparado" of last year. Jane Bryant, the ingenue who came along with Wayne Moris in "Kid Gallahad", performs adequately; while Ruth Donnely, once again with Warner Bros., contributes a swell job as a moll turned upstage matron.

The whole affair, which easily might have been rather gruesome, is gotten off with just the right light-comedy air. Director LLoyd Bacon deserves much credit for the film's staccato pace, and the typical Runyon characters are highly entertaining. In juhtice to your funny-bone, don't fail to see "A Slight Case of Murder."

tivoli feature brings screen tops

Exciting as Broadway itself . . . as teeming with drama as its shadowy side streets, "Walking Down Broadway" comes to the Tivoli Theatre on Sunday.

This absorbing 20th Century-Fox production probes behind the glitter of the theatre's spotlight and unravels the skeins which the Fates have woven for the lives of six showgirls. Six girls who knew longing and desperation . . . laughter and triumph.

Into the heart-catching story of their lives come the men who make and break their careers—Michael Whalen, Tom Beck, Douglas Fowley, Walter Woot King and Jed Prouty.

ONCE CHAPLIN'S HOME

The home where Cecil B. De Mille houses his library of more than 6000 volumes and where researchers are now at work gathering data for "Union Pacific", was the honeymoon home of Charles Chaplin and Mildred Haris. It was acquired some years ago by De Mille.

new radio time is given 'shout hallelujah' airing

"Haman's Downfall" is the dramatic title of tonight's "Shout Hallelujah" program, to be broadcast over KFWB and the California Radio System at the new hour of 8:45 p. m.

The Federal Theater of the Air's all-Negro musical show boasts a group of outstanding choral numbers including "Do You Call That Religion?", "Ease My Troublin' Mind", and "Hail the Crown".

Principals on the "Shout Hallelujah" broadcast include Jack West, Ruby Dandridge, Earl Smith and other Negro players popular on Federal Theater of the Air programs.

Sylvia Sidney, who co-stars with George Raft in Paramount's "You and Me", is the possessor of a "perfect photographic face", according to Hollywood cinematographers. Her face is a perfect oval.

COCOANUT GROVE PREVIEW

For the first time in motion picture history a film will be previewed in a famed night spot which furnishes its theme. "Cocoanut Grove", the Paramount picture staring Fred MacMuray and Hariet Hilliard will be screened for the press at the Ambassador Hotel theatre, followed by a program in the Cocoanut Grove night club.

toy loan library planned for kids

Kindliest project undertaken by the stars in some time is being organized by Anthony Quinn and Katherine De Mille.

It is a toy loan library for poor children.

The young couple are now collecting donations of toys which will be loaned to applicants at no charge.

Quinn already has enlisted the aid of Lloyyd Nolan, Mary Carlisle, J. Carrol Naish, Larry Crabbe, Lynne Overman, Johnny Downs, and others appearing with him in the cast of "Hunted Men", and will extend the list

MIDGETS INVADE FILMS FOR DWARF WESTERN

LIKE TALE FROM GULLIVER

Economists will tell you that nobody profits by a war, but midget actors know better.

As a result of a fight in the film colony, a swarm of Tom Thumb thespians is headed for Hollywood to thrive on the spoils of conflict.

Not since vaudeville skidded off the map have the half-pint folks been so jubilant. Like 49-ers of old they hasten hither, lured by the promise of gold in them Beverly Hills.

It began peacefully enough when a producer conceived the idea of a western film with an all-dwarf cast.

As far away as the African jungles the glad tidings trobbed from tribe to tribe via tom-tom broadcast. Blubberlipped Ubangi Liliputians packed their spare g-strings for a trip to the Land of Celluloid, stranger community than Gulliver ever imagined, even in his wildest hangovers.

WEST ON THE NARROW GAUGE

Old and young, they are hitting the streamline trail to the coast, gray-bearded gnomes of the two-a-day period and midget moppets of the modern era, tiny tenors and bobbed basses and stubby sopranos, all itching to sign man's size contracts.

ccc camp serves as site for film

Permission to use a CCC camp at Crestline, Calif., as a movie location site for Lloyd Nolan, Shirley Ross, J. Carrol Naish, John Howard and others, was obtained from the United States Army today by Paramount studio.

The camp is to be used for a sequence in "Prison Farm," a story of romance in an agricultural penal colony. Louis King is directing.

rko theatre bars couple in columbus

NEW YORK.—The RKO theatre corporation, with headquarters here, has so far refused to answer a complaint made by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that a colored couple in Columbus, O., who attempted to purchase tickets in the RKO Palace theatre of that city were refused by the box office attendant who told them she would not sell them tickets to the theatre as colored people were not accommodated in it.

Columbus is the capital of the State of Ohio and the seat of Ohio State university.

A warrant has been sworn out by Dr. Alberta Banner Turner, Ph. D., and Mrs. Inez Holmes, of Columbus, who were refused at the theatre. The case is to be prosecuted under the Ohio civil rights statute, section 12940.

new pics start boom in building

Hollywood's 1938 construction graph hit a new high in April — and is still going up — a survey disclosed today.

The trend toward "big" pictures of lavish production calibre has created an unusual demand for large and expensive sets, with a resultant sharp increase in employment of construction workers, studio experts explained.

At Paramount, for instance, the number of carpenters employed during April jumped 42 per cent over the figure of the preceding month; the number of painters increased 25 per cent; electrical workers, 18 per cent; property makers, 10 per cent, and laborers, 61 per cent. May figures continue to climb.

Construction boomed at other studios by reason of such first-magnitude productions as "Marie Antoinette" and "Too Hot to Handle", at MGM: "Suez", "Alexander's Ragtime Band" and "Lucky Penny", the Shirley Temple picture, at Fox; "Valley of the Giants", at Warner's; Frank Capra's "You Can't Take It With You", at Columbia, and Universal's "The Rage of Paris", starring Danielle Darrieux.

Mother's Day Observed

Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo., May 19. The sixth annual celebration of oMthers" Day by the members of Alpha Psi Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity was observed with an address, "Our Debt to Mother", by Mr. H. C. Cook, principal of Lincoln High School, Kansas City, Missouri.
Mr. Sidney R. Williams, regional director of the fraternity and field secretary for the Urban League of St. Louis, was also a guest for the day and spoke on "Mother in Today's Crisis." He traced a development of Mother's Day from its origin to its present wide observance, and earmarked the role of the Negro mother as one offering challenging problems.
Mrs. Edith Cross, Jefferson City cateress, was chosen as the fraternity mother for the occasion. Other honored mother guests were: Mrs. H. O. Cook, Kansas City; Mrs. Bennie Bozeman, dean of women, Lincoln University; Mrs. Carrie B. Carrion, matron, and Mrs. Fannie B. Ridgeway, matron, both of Lincoln University. Special Mother's Day cards were sent these mothers by the members of the chapter.
After the program the fraternity entertained the mothers with a banquet in the recreation room of Barnes-Krekel Hall. They were served by Misses Ruth Langley and Effie Jason, Lincoln University students. At the close of the banquet, Mr. Sidney addressed his remarks to the fraternity members. He discussed the problems facing them after graduation and means of preparing for them. He stressed the idea of vocational guidance as a basic need for our group. "Everyone is not cut out to be a doctor, a lawyer, or a teacher, but some should be bricklayers, mechanics, or carpenters," he pointed out.

WPA Writers Project Seeks Info On Negro

Stating that preliminary material from California makes no mention of the Negro, Eugene C. Holmes, assistant editor of the Federal Writer's Project, solicited the aid of the EAGLE this week in securing information on the colored population. Mr. Holmes' letter in part follows:
"Upon examination of some of the preliminary material sent in from California, such as guides of Berkeley, Long Beach, Oakland and the like, and separate essays on specific subjects such as music, literature and racial elements, we find that no mention is made of the Negro in California. It would help us immensely and do a service to California Negroes if we could be supplied with worthwhile and appropriate material on Negro life in California."
Mr. Holmes pointed out that it was possible to secure population figures, but that information on time of settlement, economic conditions of all classes and their contributions is scarce. The Eagle was included in essay submitted from California on "Newspapers and Radio."

TESTED RECIPE
By Frances Lee Barton

GINGERBREAD has as many röles in the household as an actor in a stock company. Sometimes gingerbread is a "company fixin'" —and sometimes it is a between-meal filler-upper for the children. With a dish of apple sauce and a glass of milk, hot gingerbread makes a grand, satisfying lunch. Here's yet another recipe for gingerbread—and how good it is!

Hot Gingerbread Cakes

2 cups sifted cake flour; 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder; 2 teaspoons ginger; 1 teaspoon cinnamon; ½ teaspoon salt; ½ cup butter or other shortening; ½ cup sugar, 1 egg, unbeaten, ⅝ cup molasses; ¾ cup milk.
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, spices, and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well; then molasses. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Turn into greased cup-cake pans, filling them ⅔ full. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 20 minutes, or until done. Serve with whipped cream or apple sauce. Makes 2 dozen cup cakes.
This batter may be stored in cold place as long as 24 hours before baking. Cover partially filled cup-cake pans with damp cloth, then waxed paper; tie securely and store in refrigerator until cakes are to be baked.

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE STARTS 3-WAY PROGRAM

In a drive to redeem the country and save the nation from financial chaos and ruin, the Republican Committee on Program agreed in Chicago, May 12, on a 3-way plan of action in its effort to determine rank and file views in shaping party principles and platform for 1940.

Negroes were fully represented and made clear conditions the party would have to meet in order to win back the thousands of Negroes who strayed away from the beaten path in pursuit of a Jack o' Lantern in hope of finding the things taken from them by the party of Lincoln which began with Taft down to Hoover, who clamped down the screws more tightly as he went into league with the lily-white South.

The editor of the EAGLE is sorry that pressing business prevented our attendance on the meeting as we are a member of the committee, but a review of the things accomplished, we are pleased with the splendid results and things accomplished.

A nation-wide questionaire to "feel the pulse" of the nation will be the first medium of attack, according to a statement by Dr. Glenn Frank, committee chairman. Three procedures, Frank said, will be used in taking public opinion soundings. They were:

1—Questionnaires, to be printed within a few days and transmitted to the National Committee for distribution.

2—Regional conferences, in which leaders of various groups such as labor, agriculture, economics, money, etc., will be invited to participate. This method will seek to go beyond party lines to build up outside interest in the party.

3—Small forum plan, which Frank said had been tried through various methods in Indiana, North Dakota and Wyoming.

"Through the National Committee machinery," Frank said, "the questionnaires will be sent to every county chairman in the United States. The county chairman will send copies to every county precinct captain, who will hold 'face-to-face' discussions with the voters who answer the questions."

MRS. BRIGGS WILL BE POSTMASTER

We note with much pleasure that Mrs. Mary D. Briggs, acting postmaster in Los Angeles, received top rating in examinations held for the post here recently.

Senator William Gibbs McAdoo has forwarded results of the test to Postmaster General James A. Farley with the recommendation that Mrs. Briggs be appointed.

Mrs. Briggs is the widow of that fair-minded gentleman, H. B. R. Briggs, former newspaper publisher and first Democratic postmaster in Los Angeles since the Wilson administration. Mrs. Briggs was appointed temporary successor to her husband upon his death.

Mrs. Briggs is a woman of high ideals and a deep love for the uplift and advancement of mankind. Like her husband, Mrs. Briggs recognizes ability above creed, color or religion.

SURVEY IN SCHOOLS SHOWS RATE OF TUBERCULOSIS

Broadcasts by eminent physicians over the EAGLE time on the air concerning tuberculosis are playing a needed role in the fight to stamp out tuberculosis. In these broadcasts in connection with our regular news periods are proving helpful and causing many to "check up" on themselves and children.

The Outdoor Life and Health Association, of which Dr. Leonard Stovall is head, is filling a long felt need in the community and proving a big factor in the battle against the disease.

Report from the public schools on the disease, says:

"A study, of 12,200 pupils in Los Angeles schools indicates that one in every 15 has active or healed childhood type tuberculosis, if provisional figures contained in the annual report of the Los Angeles Tuberculosis and Health Association hold for the entire school system.

"The study was made by the association, using funds raised by the annual sale of Christmas Seals, in cooperation with the Board of Education, the Parent-Teachers Association and the Works Progress Administration, and included elementary, junior and senior high school pupils.

These apparently healthy students were given the opportunity of taking the tuberculin test, a harmless skin test which reveals whether the germs which cause the disease have entered their bodies. It was revealed that about 28 per cent had been so attacked by the germ. Reactors to the test were X-rayed and 36 were found to have tuberculosis in an active, communicable stage, and 583 had healed childhood type of tuberculosis.

"One active case of tuberculosis was found among the 766 elementary school boys and girls tested, although 27.2 per cent had been infected. The infection rate may be higher for the schools studied, the association said, because of the type of pupils attending them.

"Twelve active cases were discovered among the 30.6 per cent of almost 3200 junior high school students tested who reacted to the test.

"Twenty-three active cases of tuberculosis were found among about 7400 senior high school students studied."

BLAZING BOOKS

The Nazi book-burners are at it again, this time with the Austrian National Library as their source of supply. Dating from the sixteenth century, the library's 1,200,000 volumes rank it as one of the greatest reserves of human knowledge, a reserve which will now be purged to suit the taste of the goose-stepping conquerors.

Onto the fires of fury and hate will go the works of Thomas Mann, Stefan Zweig, Jacob Wasserman, Vicki Baum, Sigmund Freud, and scores of others. To feed the flames will go manuscripts dating back as far as 1624, remnants of the old dark age destined to perish in the new.

And what will those blazing books reveal? Dedicated normally to a quieter kind of revelation, their burning pages will light up the blood-stained bodies of "suicides", the tear-saddened faces of old men forced to dance and sing, "I am a dirty Jew!", the agony of women and children, shipped to the border like cattle, and dumped penniless on alien shores.

The flames of truth leap high from the burning books. Their burst of light sends long fingers of flame deep into the shadows that hide the face of Austria.

AIR MAIL WEEK

With motor wildly sputtering, a rickety bi-plane roars down the dirt field and climbs slowly into the air. As the wings level off, America's first trans-continental mail-man of the air is off on his hop, skip and jump. In honor of that scene, just twenty years old this week, May 15-21 has been proclaimed National Air Mail Week.

The years since 1918 have seen both aviation and the air mail make long strides. Today mail follows the air line over 50,000 miles of U. S. sky ways, with 17 million pounds of letters going the air way each year. Rickety bird-cages of wire and cloth have given way to gleaming all-metal transports, windy open cock-pits have been replaced by air-conditioned navigation rooms, and the guess-and-hope system of flying has gone out of style in an era of scientific flight by radio and automatic control.

On May 19, in honor of National Air Mail Week, the benefits of air mail service will be extended to each of the nation's 45,000 post offices for just one day. With the assistance of thousands of private planes, air mail letters will be flown to connect with regular air lines.

Fast, convenient, efficient, all American today knows the value of air mail service. A symbol of the American way of doing things, it goes on helping Americans get things done, quicker, faster — the American way.

THE BUTTERFLY CHASER

THE WORLD THIS WEEK

By ROBERT PATTERSON

THEY'RE OFF!

The political races are on! In last week's most significant contest Florida Democrats gave victory to a New Dealer. But the biggest fireworks of the primaries come next week when Pennsylvania Democrats go to the polls on May 17 to settle a three-cornered struggle that has split their party wide open. In those disunited ranks, Pennsylvania Republicans see good reason for believing their opponents will lose the state which they won four years ago for the first time in 70 years. At all events, Pennsylvania offers the nation the most exciting race of the month next week.

MAY MOURNING

Not a few hearts in the bosoms of royalty-worshiping American women are grieving today! At Buckingham Palace on May 11 occurred the first of this season's royal courts. With but one exception, all seven women presented to their Britannic Majesties on Wednesday were wives of the American diplomatic and consular corps in London. Henceforth, there is apparently to be no presentation without representation! In former years, an impressive auxiliary of American women have fought valiantly for what they considered an overwhelming personal triumph — presentation at the court. Of late, that line has been growing so long the British recently asked our Ambassador Kennedy if he would mind plowing under, diplomatically speaking, some of the contestants. The Ambassador heartily agreed. So did most Americans. But we'll wager a few score debutantes, unable to don sumptuous court gowns this Wednesday, wore sackcloth and ashes instead.

LIVING COST BOOSTER

The high cost of living is everybody's business and everybody's burden. But nowhere does it strap a heavier load on citizens' backs than where spendthrift war and stupendous rearmament programs are the No. 1 enterprise. Because the hungry maws of her ever-growing war machine demand so much labor and material, Germany has sloughed the job of keeping her railways in condition. Accidents and breakdowns have sharply increased. Now Germany goes a step further, or backward, and is building wooden train cars — which is advancing the high cost of living in a very grim sort of way. Meanwhile, Frenchmen saw their tax-collector's fingers grow suddenly long last week as Premier Daladier decreed a flat 8 per cent advance in all national taxes, from income to radios and dogs. And in Japan this week automobiles aren't running nearly as far as they used to. Individuals, under a new war-time decree, may purchase only one gallon of gas a day!

FIRST-AID FOR THE FAMILY

Superior Judge Benjamin E. Buente of Evansville, Indiana, believes there should be at least one week in the year when no divorces are granted. Last week he announced that for the third consecutive year he will stage, single-handed, his "no divorce week", to be held this year in July. Judge Buente would go even further. He wants Congress to appoint a committee to study marriage and divorce laws, to find out the relationship between divorce, broken homes and crime, and a dozen other hard-shelled factors which lead seemingly auspicious marriages into disaster.

Moral Recovery

Perceptive Americans have been saying for some time that moral recovery must precede material recovery. But few have been so specific as Herbert Hoover in naming the fields in which the "moral depression" must be overcome. And none so far as we know have been so discernin gin directing their appeal. Mr. Hoover in his Fresno speech spoke especially to the women of America as having a keener moral sense and being more likely to take up the recovery effort on a moral basis.

This should be a fruitful approach to present problems. Mr. Hoover definitely named eight fields of governmental immorality. These appear to apply to the Federal Government and to the party now in power in Washington. Certainly those who have sought to make the New Deal a better deal should examine carefully every one of the eight areas where Mr. Hoover charges it has brought the opposite of reform.

The good in the Roosevelt Administration is clearly undermined in some of these fields. Every President has been uncomfortably conscious of unsavory political deals made by his managers. Every party has used patronage and the pork barrel. But there have recently been modernizations and enlargements.

The heavy expenditures of the last few years have given the present Administration unusual opportunity—or put on it an unusual temptation—to distribute favors where they would be politically useful. Also in many states it must depend on the big city machines. Even Philadelphia has gone Democratic. And from reports now appearing in the newspapers it is politically no better than it was under Republican machines. Also the Democrats have matched Republican tariff bounties to manufacturers with AAA bounties to farmers — equally open to political abuse.

We are sure that Mr. Hoover did not mean to imply that moral recovery is merely a matter of reforming government or to make it a partisan question. The opportunity is much greater. And it would be well for women who undertake a moral crusade to recognize that there is a struggle for power beneath the political maneuvers. There is nothing moral in economic exploitation under the shield of constitutionality. Big corporations have too often sought unrestrained license under the guise of pleas for individual freedom.

But there is today a useful recognition that government can be as immoral and oppressive as business — and more powerful. There is enough slackness in the present Administration to warrant a vigorous demand from citizens for reform. And there is opportunity enough for a non-partisan campaign for moral recovery in government to give the women of America full occupation for the energy, devotion and ideals they manifest so markedly. —From The Christian Science Monitor.

ACME BEER REPLIES

Dear Editor:

Regarding our Acme Beer so called "Colored Waiter" outdoor poster, now showing in Los Angeles and vicinity, and against which criticism has been directed by a few colored citizens as reflecting on the Negro race, please be advised that neither the Acme Breweries nor their advertising agency meant any offense in the use of this particular poster for advertising purposes.

The use of caricature, or the cartoon, is an accepted rule in the great field of newspaper publicity and advertising, and this fact has certainly applied to both races in the past with little or no criticism on the part of either.

When this "Colored Waiter" sketch was submitted to our Advertising Committee the latter part of 1937 it was immediately accepted as a particularly fine bit of advertising. There was not the slightest hint at the time that this poster would offend the sensibilities of the colored race.

We trust your readers will understand that Acme Breweries have no wish to offend any race or creed at any time or place. Ridicule and race prejudice have no place in our business category. To consciously offend the many good colored friends of Acme Beer in Los Angeles and elsewhere would be unthinkable.

With kind personal regards, I remain

Sincerely yours,
E. W. HEWSTON,

cruelty stunt", he went on. His tones was loud an' high-pitched now, an' I seen that hunted look he used to wear, crawling into his eyes. So I tried to sidetrack him.

"Oh well, forget it! Where is she now?, "I said.

"She's living right here in Chicago. Been here 'bout two years now. I see her . . ."

"Cut it out, an' let's talk 'bout something else," I interrupted, as I seen that I had give him the wrong lead. "Where you working now?"

He told me he had been driving a beer-truck for "Dutch" Mike for over a year, an' was making good money. I began to ask him questions about the beer racket, an' soon got him calmed down again.

After about ten minutes ride we got off the L at twenty-ninth street an' set out for the boarding house. The street was full of dirty, noisy kids playing an' yelling, an' throwing brickbats at one another. I had to duck fast a couple of times to keep from getting hit. The old-fashioned brick buildings we kept passing by was coated with smoke an' grime, an' looked like they was a hundred years old.

"Say, Small Black?" I asked with misgiving; this here neighborhood, I don't b'lieve I want to eat there."

"You never was so wrong, Stuff. When you sees the hot biscuits an' the fried chicken they trots out at this boarding house, you'll change your mind. By the way, my ex-wife . . ."

"Get her out of your system, old timer," I interrupted: "I ain't got no time to listen to no blues-singing now. I'm hungry. Lead me to this chicken joint."

"Okey, Stuff!" he agreed.

In about three more minutes we come to a rusty-looking, four story building, standing right on a corner. It was a dreary looking place. The lawn was deader'n a herring, an' the banisters was hanging down off the porch. He started up the steps saying:

"This is it. Come on!"

I followed him up three long flights of stairs, an' was just 'bout ready to give up an' roll back down when Small Black halts an' knocks at the second door to the right of the stairway. A big freckle-faced feller opened the door. He had a napkin tied 'round his neck, an' a chicken leg in his left fist.

"You's late, Demitasse!" he says to Small Black. "The grub's been on the table ten minutes."

I commences to swell up 'bout this big guy calling my buddy outer his name, but Small Black seems to take it good-natured so I cools down an' follered him inside. It was a great big old room with high ceilings an' some tall winders, an' it was papered all over with faded blue wallpaper with lots of them figures of that little angel what carries a bow an' arrow with him all the time. There was a big fire-place at one end with one of them barroom pitchers of the Robert E. Lee hanging up over it, an' over an old-timey looking upright piano in the far corner, a life-size pitcher of Abraham Lincoln, the Father of our Country, was swinging. The joint was good an' clean though, an' there was plenty light from them tall winders.

surrender the joy, the wonder, the challenge, the very trouble belonging to womanhood. Why, that would change the very dream itself.

Let us go on quickly to parentage. I see that there is no need to consider the matter at length. Give up my parents? Belong to another family? No.

So I have lost my four wishes, because I do not wish to be anyone else in the world but myself. That is really what I have chosen, for a change in any one of the factors of race, nationality, sex, or parentage would have made me a different person. It is my dream, and I shall have to fulfill it. I am content, I am pleased to be myself.

FARLEY FOUND GUILTY!

CALIFORNIA EAGLE

VOL. 59—NO. 7 LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, MAY 26, 1938 PRICE FIVE CENTS

DEFENSE WINS MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE FOR AGED HOME OWNER ON BOTH COUNTS OF MURDER

Partial Victory Claimed; Insanity Plea Begins Today

Claiming only a partial victory in the case of George Farley, 54-year-old, small home owner on trial for his life for slaying two deputy city marshals when they attempted to evict him from his home for non-payment of an assessment bond of $29.66, Defense Attorneys Loren Miller, Curtis Taylor and Grover Johnson won a manslaughter verdict on two counts of murder from a jury of five women and seven men who deliberated eight and a half hours.

Farley still has to be tried on the insanity plea by the same jury. Should the verdict be returned that he was insane at the time of the murders were committed, he will be placed in a hospital for the insane for a period of at least one year.

As the jury's verdict was read in court, yesterday, throngs of interested spectators sat with abated breath; and some muttered prayers through tense or trembling lips as all eyes were glued upon the foreman of the jury who held the partial fate of the broken old man on a slip of white paper in his hands.

"Have you reached a verdict", Judge Ingull Bull asked the foreman.

"We have, your honor", was the reply.

DRAMATIC

Half blind and still suffering from the ravages of syphilis which has wracked his body since he was a youth of 18 years, Farley kept his head low on his chest where it has been bowed throughout the trial.

Mrs. Farley squeezed her Bible closer into her hands.

The two widows of the slain deputies, who have displayed no bitterness throughout the trial, sat together with the same dignified calm that they have maintained during the long, harrowing sessions in court.

A deadly silence hovered over all.

"We find the defendant guilty of manslaughter on both counts."

The very walls of the otherwise stuffy courtroom seemed to relax. A thin breeze of fresh air sifted through the window.

Court was dismissed quietly. But outside pandemonium broke loose among the spectators who shouted and cried and laughed from sheer gratitude that justice has prevailed at least half-way—and Mrs. Farley covered the face of Loren Miller with kisses and tears.

Because of the circumstances of the Farley case, and the brilliant defense in his behalf, something of a record has been established in handling of cases involving Negroes. At the same time, neither the prosecution nor the defense allowed the race angle to enter the case.

The same alienists used in the Paul Wright" white flame" murder case for which Wright, a rich, powerful aviation executive was freed, were employed to pass on the sanity of Farley.

In his final plea before the jury, Miller stressed the fact that Farley was the victim of a chain of fatalistic events for which he was no more responsible than by c. a. b.

WE HEAR much of "Don't Spend Where You Can't Work" campaigns, and daily new crusades of employment-for-Negroes appear. In my opinion, this idea of demanding jobs with business concerns which we patronize is a worthy and just cause, however, we should not stop here. In order to command due respect and consideration in the commercial world, we must develop business opportunities of our own. That is, Negroes must not only demand jobs, but create them.

But neither an individual nor a racial group can automatically slide out of one condition or status into another. Hence, to effect social or economic changes there must be gradual development — a development which might well be divided into three categories — Know something; Do something, and Have something.

Modern commercial institutions are far removed from those of even a quarter century ago. Today efficiency is on a pedestal — without its possession no enterprise may succeed. Business methods are based, not on guess-work, but upon a well-defined science. Trade publications in almost every occupation keep business men aware of progress, and give them latest statistics and general information relating to their particular enterprise. Sharp competition is the keynote. Hence, it is plain that without appropriate mental development and comprehensive studies of one's chosen field, there can be no success. Thus a firm and solid education is the very first requisite for the Negro in a battle to establish economic independence.

Psychologists have come to the conclusion that the school's effect upon its pupils is contained in both mental and spiritual development. That is, the impressions, the philosophies received from instructors — from school — are some of the most profound in the creation of the adult's convictions and personality. This is why Afro-America must be so vigilant with regard to the educational systems. An inferiority complex instilled in our youth defeats all plans for racial advancement. It is impossible to conceive a Negro youth, if propagandized throughout school life into an attitude of subservience, defeating his white classmate in the highly competitive commercial world. Fortunately, this sort of thing is practically nonexistent in California, however we must be ever-ready to attack its slightest outpost.

After school, the young Negro must give himself diligently to the task of acquiring all that great body of indispensable, practical knowledge that can be learned only through active participation in the commercial world. And here he must become aware, above all things, of this one fact — better service at better prices alone brings bigger business. If deluded in the belief that he will receive patronage simply because of racial ties, the Negro must disillusion himself.

Once in business, with the backing of a fine education, industry, and wedded to the philosophy of better service at better price, the Negro as a whole will no longer picket for jobs, for he will be, at last, economically self-sufficient.

THE FATE of George Farley, who killed two deputy marshalls when they attempted to eject him from his East 23rd street home, is to be decided sometime this week. It is remarkable how this Farley case has brought vividly into focus one of our greatest present-day problems. The issue is no longer whether a man committed premeditated murder, but something greater by far — it is whether a property owner, beset by economic hardships, should have the $2,000 home for which he worked and sacrificed, snatched away because of a twenty-nine dollar tax assessment.

We learn that the assessment on Farley's property was for improvements on Long Beach boulevard, fully a block distant from its location. It is also charged that the defendant could read but little advantage from the thoroughfare, since its chief traffic is inter-urban and not local. Then, too, it is stated that Farley did not know of the levy against his home until months after it had been placed.

All these things build up in us an awareness of a great injustice. A man has bought a home; a tax of which he knew nothing has taken it away

GRAND WORTHY MATRON PAULINE DUPEE, O. E. S.

Order of Eastern Star Here Fetes Grand Matron Dupee

Approximately 300 women, representing Southern California chapters of the Order of Eastern Star, turned out in full regelia last Monday night to do honor to the visiting Grand Worthy Matron, Mrs. Pauline Dupee, here on her annual inspection tour.

Victory Chapter, O. E. S. of Los Angeles, sponsored the reception, held in the lavishly decorated Masonic Hall at 50th and Central Avenue.

Mrs. Mattie Alexander is Worthy Matron of the Victory chapter.

Grand Matron Dupee shared the spotlight with Grand Master of the California Jurisdiction of Masons, Theodore Moss, and the Grand Patron, the Rev. Samuel M. Beane.

In the address of the evening, Grand Matron Dupee, speaking on the subject: "The Family", said that as members of the Eastern Star "we have been adopted into a fine family". She lauded the Masonic order of which the Order of Eastern Star is the sister organization, and commended the local and surrounding towns' chapters for the past year's work.

Closing in a philosophical vein she cautioned: "Keep the telephone of your souls ever transmitting good thoughts and when evil communications are directed to you, they will get the busy signal."

In his remarks, following the Grand Matron's address Grand Master Moss called attention to the Grand Conference to be held in Riverside.

Speaking on the ideals of Masonry he said that the completed payment for a five room home in Tulare at a cost of $5,000 was not symbolic, but operative Masonry, which was to be desired. He urged that local chapters cooperate in paying off any indebtedness there might be against their temple.

Chapters present in addition to Victory were Electa Chapter No. 3, Queen of Sheba Chapter No. 7, Deborah Chapter No. 13, Affectionate Chapter No. 18, and Princess Aziel Chapter No. 37.

'CAVE MAN' FLOURISHES GUN IN RESCUE OF WIFE; ELUDE POLICE

Charlie Harris tolerated "no stuff" when he went out to get his wife.

Already out on bail for an attack on his estranged spouse, Harris went to the home of Jack Hoxie, 1174 East 25th street, according to a statement given to police by Blanks Wilhemi and Pearl Harris, and proceeded to quarrel with the woman because she would not return to him.

Hoxie remonstrated with Harris and the latter promised to "calm down". He left the house but returned to "talk it over" again with Mrs. Harris. Instead, he assertedly ordered the group to "get over against the wall" or he would "burn them all down" as he flourished a gun.

Sweeping up his wife in his arms, he fled out of the house, down the alley and out of sight. Officers had not located the couple today.

Protest All-Chinese Lotteries

Committees are numerous in newspaper offices, but this week brought a most unusual one, according to Mrs. Adele Ashford, who is charge of the the business office of the California Eagle.

Ten men, claiming to be deposed lottery "runners", presented themselves at the office on Tuesday, requesting audience with Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor of the Eagle. As Mrs. Bass was out, they asked permission to file a complaint, to be brought to the editor's attention and subsequently published.

Said complaint was a lengthy grievance against the Chinese who operate lottery "parlors" According to the complaint, during the time that it was necessary to operate said "parlors" on the Q. T., the Chinese hired Negroes to carry the "drawings", mark the tickets and deliver any winnings.

Now that things are wide open, according to the plaintiffs the Chinese have supplanted the Negroes with Chinese.

An off the record solution to the gentlemen's "problem" would seem to be a picket line, bearing placards duly inscribed . . ."Don't play the Chinaman . .Where you Can't Work!

Bilbo Says 2 Million Sign Africa Pledge

Passage Would Authorize Naming of Body to "Repatriate" Negroes

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Seeking the aid of Congress in passage of a bill to "repatriate" Negro citizens of the United States, Mississippi's democratic Senator Bilbo introduced in the Senate on May 23, an amendment to the relief - recovery bill asking for an appropriation of funds to take to Liberia all Negroes who would like to live there.

Passage of the bill would authorize President Roosevelt to appoint a commission to "repatriate" American Negroes. The President also would be empowered to negotiate with France and Great Britain for territory they own near Liberia, with a view of providing space for the millions of Americans which the Mississippian would like to get rid of.

To make it easy on the U. S. Senator Bilbo adds the salve that the black American could be used in bargaining with France and Britain to pay off their debts owing to the United States. If they give up the land specified, the debts would be canceled, according to the plan.

MAN ACCUSED OF PILFERING TRUCK LEADS COPS, WITNESSES WILD CHASE

In a madcap chase through Eastside thoroughfares from 9th and Main to Washington and Compton, during which he sped through traffic signals at breakneck speed and crashed into three trucks, Edward Hayward, 21, of 317 North Westmoreland, was finally apprehended by officers and witnesses who joined in the chase, and charged with stealing a truck from the Pillsbury Glass Company.

Hayward told the police that he wanted to go to 33rd and Hooper and was too tired to walk, so he took the truck which was parked at 928 South Main street.

He collided with three different cars en route to Compton and Washington, with police in hot pursuit. Several shots were fired at the man in an attempt to stop him, officers declared. He crashed into a large Mack truck after striking a City Dye Works auto and jumped from the stolen machine to run through the Arrowhead Water Company factory on foot.

Scores of pedestrians joined the chase and Hayward was run down and arrested.

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

I am told by Bert Kenner of the LOS ANGELES HIGH SCHOOL that since "BOY'S WEEK" has just been celebrated recently, the entire NATION is "BOY-MINDED". That's great to know, but I would feel a little better if the NATION was "BOY-MINDED" every day in the year. Our entire outlook for future prosperity and goodwill must depend upon the boys of today. And I am sure you agree with me. So I'm passing on to you the request of a number of YOUNG BOYS among our group. That is you attend, encourage and become regular FANS for the HI-Y This is an organization that is part of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION, made up of HIGH SCHOOL BOYS. These boys have a grand record; they have worked with the ORCHID GIRLS during Christmas Time, aiding the poor. And are very much interested in the BOYS' CAMP — known as the Little Green Valley. The amount of salesmanship they offered me in seeking my help was bubbling over with enthusiasm, that rang with sincerity. They must be a success in their endeavors, and we MUST HELP put them over. Their third annual FASHION SHOW at the LINCOLN THEATRE on June 3, 1938, is an important event in their lives and YOU HAVE A DATE, if you LOVE REAL BOYS that are progressive and anxious to get into the BATTLE OF MAKING the Negro a real asset in this nation. Call your friends and especially those who have been made "BOY-MINDED" and whisper HI-Y; the incubator for great MEN who are Christians first and ambitious secondly. I have found more joy in setting these lines down for your consideration, than reading a lot of wasted INK THAT HAS FOR its purpose, DESTRUCTION! And especially am I inspired to do this bit, WHEN occasionally we find in our midst YOUNG MEN who have been properly raised by GOOD PARENTS, WHO THINK the easy way to success is, "TEAR DOWN THOSE on TOP". You try the HI-Y way — IT'S BETTER!

Lens Grinding Department

Dr. Harry Davis and associates is an organization of Optometrists long established in Southern California. They have branch offices in Hollywood, Long Beach and San Diego in addition to two offices in Los Angeles.

Because of the tremendous amount of business done by these Optometrists and because they grind their own lenses in their own laboratories they are able to offer their patrons finer glasses at lower prices. In addition Dr. Davis extends the easiest of credit terms. The leaders of The California Eagle are cordially invited by Dr. Davis to visit their offices at 551 South Broadway and inspect their laboratories and see how glasses are made. Their offices are open daily from 9 to 5 and a friendly courteous welcome awaits every visitor.

WEEK-END PROMISES MUCH FISHING

With the coming week-end providing a three-day holiday for most families, Southern California's lakes, streams and coastal waters will play host to an army of fishermen out for fun, relaxation and limits.

As most fish have the peculiar habit of biting one day and refusing to take the most tempting lure the next, the three-day period should allow most anglers to hit at least one day when the finny creatures are in a playful mood.

In the Los Angeles area best results should come from Big Bear and Little Rock lakes where many good catches have been made since the season opened. Stream fishing has slowed down after a few good opening days.

Bass and crappie fishermen planning to fish the San Diego lakes are advised to make their boat reservations in advance for recent good catches on Henshaw, Cuyamaca, Morena and Barrett lakes should attract record crowds.

VICTOR CLOTHING CO. IS EASTSIDE FAVORITE

Statistics revealed this week that the Victor Clothing company, 214 South Broadway, carries the bulk of the Negro clothing trade in Los Angeles. The store, an EAGLE advertiser, is reputed to be one of the finest like institutions in the city. During the Xmas holidays the company placed two double full-page ads with the EAGLE. The Spring sales, now in progress, are said to be the best consumer-news in many a day.

Liberia--

ing claim on the signatures of Negroes who have already declared their willingness to go to Liberia, Bilbo said:

Two million American Negroes have signed a pledge they would like to live in Liberia, and I think we ought to help them get there", the Dixie statesman declared.

"I believe that at least seven million of the twelve million Negroes in this country would go to Liberia if Congress provided funds". No provision is made for them after they arrive in the African republic.

Liberia, located on the Grain Coast of West Africa, was founded in 1822 by American philanthropists for the settlement of freedmen who wished to return to their native land, it remained for 25 years under the tutelege of the mother country but was declared independent in 1847.

The entire area of the country is 24,000 square miles, or 1000 miles less than Holland and Belgium. Climate is hot and unhealthy.

Government is patterned after the United States government, with a president, and a congress composed of 8 members elected for four years, and a house of representatives of 13 members elected for three years in addition to a Supreme Court, a cabinet of the American type.

There are numbers of little villages but the only place of any consequence is Monrovia, the capital, very much in appearance like a town in the southern United States.

Population once quoted was given at 18,000 civilized Negroes and about one million and a half-wild natives.

Numerous Robberies Reported

Seventy-six year old Alexander Viola, of 771 East 42nd street was the victim of 2 Negro bandits, aged about 18 or 20 years who beat and held him up May 21 as he was returning home from a neighborhood grocery store.

Viola was severely beaten about the face and he told officers at Newton street station that he had been knocked down many times by the men who demanded his money.

Because of his age, he was unable to give a clear description of his assailants.

Carl Hanson, service station operator at 5210 Compton street, declared today that he had been held up by 2 bandits who drove into the oil station, ordered 10 gallons of gas and when he went to the cash register, demanded that he turn over his money.

Hanson said that the sum of $97.86 was turned over to the men while they held a gun on him. No arrest has been made. They drove a car with a stolen license plate on it.

Elvis Traylor, 3209½ Central avenue, a USED worker, reported that he had been held up by three men in a "good time" house at 46th and Compton after winning $1.50 in a crap game with the men.

Farley--

the unfortunate victims who lost their lives in the execution of an order which grew out of a vicious system of taxation that victimizes the small home owner.

"You cannot put your hands on a single person, or a single happening that will allow you to say: this is responsible for the murder of those men", he exclaimed. "Everything that happened from the time Farley purchased his little home, to the tragedy was linked in a whole chain of circumstances, no one of which we can point to as exactly the one which caused their deaths", he concluded.

Farley was painted as a first generation Negro out of the Civil War, to whom the ownership of a home was a symbol of good citizenship. "To have lost his home, was to loose his lease on life and it preyed so on his mind that everything "went black" and the rest of the sad story we all know," the defense attorney stated.

MARGUERITE HOARD HEADS CHOIR FESTIVAL

Margurite Hoard, director of music of the Trinity Baptist church, will present a choir festival in a Sunday afternoon Vesper service at four o'clock, May 29, and an all star musical at 7:45 featuring Mme. Fine, dramatic reader.

With a galaxy of motion picture stars consenting to make personal appearances and perform in speciality acts on a gigantic benefit for the Youth's Co-Ordinating Council, Bill (Bojongles) Robinson announced this week that he had given his consent to emcee the program scheduled for the Licoln Theatre.

Among the celebrities named in the long list are: Eddie Cantor, Don Ameche, Benny Rubin, Maxine Sullivan, Bert Lahr, Nat Young and his Recording orchestra, Ben Blue, Tyrone Power, Gordon and Revel and Tony Martin.

A report that Al Jolson had been invited drew considerable protest because of his having signed a petition presented to the City Council discriminating against Negroes, Jogs, cow, and horses" in the San Fernando valley tract and it is expected that this name will be withdrawn.

A great show such as has never been seen on the Eastside, and in very few other places, will signal this second annual benefit of the South Central Co-Ordinating Council. Tickets to the performance are on sale at all schools and social agencies.

Mrs. Duke is a graduate of the University of Chicago and holds the master's degree from New York University; before coming to Los Angeles, she was a social worker in Chicago and later dean of Women at Tennessee State College. She has distinguished herself here as a lecturer to church, P-TA and fraternal groups of all races, as a dramatic soprano and has allied herself with numerous agencies. Golden State Agents Set New Record

Field representatives of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company set a new record last week when twenty-three representatives of the Company won awards for their production of Life Insurance business during National Negro Insurance Week. These awards were offered by the National Negro Insurance Association in recognition of the achievement of each agent who produced $5,000 or more Life Insurance during that event.

GOLDEN STATE MAY LEAD CALIFORNIA

During the same week in which the Life Insurance campaign was conducted, twenty-four members of the Golden State Mutual staff qualified for membership in the National Black Cat Club by each writing thirteen or more Accident and Health applications on Friday, May 13. This drive was sponsored by the National Accident and Health Association and included all companies, white and colored, that write Accident and Health insurance.

While the official reports are not available at this time, it is thought that the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company duplicated its feat of last year when it led all companies in the state of California in number of qualifyers in this national event. People of California can join with the Golden State Mutual management in just pride of such splendid achievements.

NAACP Meet to Hear Widow of Sharecropper

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 26.—Mrs. Henrietta McGhee, a widow who has taken part in the struggles of the sharecroppers in eastern Arkansas, is to be one of the speakers at the twenty-ninth annual conference of the N. A. A. C. P. here Wednesday, June 29. Mrs. McGhee assertedly was arrested at the point of revolvers and shotguns simply because she asked a plantation owner for a dollar a hundred pounds for picking cotton. For this she was charged with "enticing labor" under an old Arkansas law. She was jailed and beaten by officers and finally released on bail after action through the Southern Tenant Farmers Union. Mrs. McGhee tells a tragic story of the struggles of black and white sharecroppers to get a living wage for their labor.

Other speakers on the program with her will be Dr. Charles H. Wesley, of Howard university, who will speak on the Negro worker and the labor movement; and Dr. T. V. Smith, of the University of Chicago, who will outline the relation of American Negroes as a working class population to the new political alignments.

Racial Issue Up in D. C. Vote Fight

WASHINGTON, May 26. (ANP)—Fear of the political power of the Negro if Washingtonians are granted the right of the ballot in common with other American citizens has popped up in the current attempt to win suffrage.

The racial bogey was so strong that it came in for special attention when Paul E. Lash, white, representing the Citizens Joint Committee for National Representation for the District of Columbia, told the House Judiciary committee Wednesday:

"Don't let anybody sell you the idea that if we get the vote here you are going to get a colored mayor. That is a bogey. Anyone who fears domination by one race is a pretty timid soul when his own race outnumbers the other three to one. The quality of colored people here being what it is, they are entitled to a vote. Colored residents here are only 27.1 per cent of the population."

Killer of Justice of Peace to Die

ST. LOUIS, May 26. (ANP)—Raymond Batson, who shot and killed Philip B. Rabenau, white, justice of the peace, because he imposed a jail sentence on his wife for a peace disturbance, was sentenced Wednesday to execution by lethal gas at the Jefferson City prison June 30.

Batson shot the justice four times in the back at the latter's office on Dec. 28, 1934, and accidentally killed Dr. William Poole, white dentist, who happened to be present. A death sentence for the Poole killing was reversed by the state supreme court because the slaying was unintentional.

Differentials in Wage Bill Are Opposed

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Opposition to any geographical differential in the wages and hours bill has been expressed to congressmen and senators by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The association has taken the position that if a lower wage is placed in the bill for southern states, this will be unfair competition with manufacturers in northern states.

It is believed that the real opposition to a universal wage scale on the part of southern congressmen is the fear that Negro workers in the South will be guaranteed the same wage as other workers. Even though the wages and hours bill provides only (at the beginning) a wage of 25c an hour, this is far above the scale now received by Negro workers in many areas of the South.

The New York Daily News in an editorial some weeks ago put its finger on the key point of the southern opposition by saying that southern congressmen opposed the bill because they thought it would "spoil the Negroes".

In many places in the South, Negroes are working for five, seven and eight dollars a week, whereas this bill, if passed, would give them a minimum wage of $10 a week.

The NAACP in its letter to congressmen pointed out that there is no reasonable factual basis for the contention that it costs less to live in one section of the United States than in another.

Sepia Community Built in Virginia with Federal Fund

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., May 26 (ANP)—Sunday was a big day in the life of Aberdeen Gardens, newly-built colored community near this city. It was dedication day.

The community, built by the Farm Security Administration to provide homes and gardens for 158 low-income Negro families who work in and about Newport News is now virtually complete. The houses have been completed for some time and the brick community building, with six large school rooms and an auditorium seating 400, is ready for use.

Other developments are the establishment of a regular bus service to and from Newport News and the installation of electricity in all the houses and buildings.

More than fifty families are now in their new homes.

This community built by Negro engineers, technicians, and workmen, is now under the management of a Negro staff. It is the first community of its kind to be developed in the United States.

HARLEM STORY IN SATEVE POST SELLS

NEW YORK—The Saturday Evening Post for May 21 was sold out in Harlem shortly after it appeared on the stands Tuesday morning, the reason being the story, "Black Omens", by Dr. Stanley High, which tells of the social and economic condition of Negroes of Harlem and of the North.

Theatre Man Arrested for Showing 'Birth of Nation'

ORANGE, N. J., May 26—Adolph J. Rettig, manager of the Armont theatre here, has been arrested for exhibiting the race-hating film "The Birth of a Nation".

The warrant for his arrest was sworn out by Dr. Theodore R. Inge, president of the Orange branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People under a New Jersey law passed in 1935 designed originally to curb Nazi propaganda. The law bans any picture "which in any way incites, promotes, advocates or symbolizes hatred, violence or hostility against any group of persons by reasons of race, color, religion or manner of worship."

The Armont theatre exhibited the film May 9-11 over the protest of the Orange branch of the NAACP. The branch secured more than 600 signatures to a petition asking the city council to forbid the showing of the film. After the first two days of its exhibition, some parts were deleted, but Dr. Inge maintained that the entire film should be withdrawn and acordingly swore out the warrant under the 1935 law.

Franklin J. McGlynn, attorney for the theatre manager, stated that he did not see why anyone would object to the film because "it had been exhibited for more than twenty years." The national office of the NAACP informed the Orange Branch that it had compiled a record showing that the film at one time or another has been banner in eighteen states because it has been adjudged to be an incitement to riot and hatred. The Essex county grand jury will take up the Rettig case.

Mr. McGlynn said he would call David Wark Griffith, producer of the film, as a witness and have him tell how he assembled his material for the Reconstruction period scenes of the picture. The picture glorifies the Ku Klux Klan and paints the Negro race as composed of brutes and rapists.

Poets Invited to Contribute to Anthology

WASHINGTON, May 26. (ANP)—An invitation to all Negro poets to contribute material for "New Negro Voices", an anthology to be published Dec. 1 by Henry Harrison, New York, was extended last week by Miss Beatrice M. Murphy of Washington, who will edit the book.

A self-addressed and stamped envelope for the return of all unacceptable verse must accompany the manuscript. Poems which have been published in magazines, newspapers or books are eligible, but the name of the publications must appear on the submitted material. Poems should be typewritten one to a page, but there are no restrictions as to form, subject matter or length Miss Murphy said. No manuscript will be considered after August 1st.

Negro Solidarity Seen By Writer in Sat. Evening Post

The increasing solidarity of the Negro race, and the chance for it to make its mark politically, economically and socially, are discussed at length in a lead article by Dr. Stanley High in the Saturday Evening Post. A second article on the same subject by Dr. High, one of the founders in Washington of the Good Neighbor League, and a well known national correspondent, is scheduled for a forthcoming issue, according to the publicity bureau of the Post.

Dr. High, who spent sometime gathering his material in important centers throughout the country, sums up the findings of his first article to this effect: the time has come for the Negro to take his place in the sun, and the Negro knows it.

He traces the Northward movement to such centers as New York, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Chicago, St. Louis, and contends that the depression hit the Negro harder than any other group, explaining why. It was the depression, he says, more than any other agent, that brought Negroes together.

"Joe Louis" Dr. High wirites, "is a name to conjure with on any level of Negro society. But it is a sign of the times that the crowds at a Joe Louis personal appearance are certainly no more representative and likely to be no bigger than those that turn out for a visit of the Scottsboro boys. The forces which are uniting the present day Negro community of the North are far more potent and portentous than mere race pride in the achievements in the white man's world of such personalities as Maxine Sullivan, Bill Robinson, and Duke Ellington. Negro solidarity has been long coming and it has not yet fully arived. But it is already near enough to be visible . . . It is not possible to say where the Negroes of the North are going But there is much evidence that, wherever it is, they will go there together."

The article is illustrated with several photographs including pictures of A. Philip Randolph, the Rev. Clayton Adam Powell, and a photographer of the famous Colonial-Parkway Apartments on Sugar Hill, Harlem.

OHIO GOV. VETOES FUGITIVE'S ARREST

COLUMBUS, O., May 26 (ANP)—When Gov. Martin Davey refused to send Robert Stearns, 26, back to Alabama to face a charge of assault with intent to kill a police officer, federal agents stepped in Wednesday and rearrested Stearns on a U. S. warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. The prisoner faces trial in the Birmingham federal court.

Colorado Woman Wins Prize for 'Interesting Fact'

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., May 26. (ANP)—Mrs. Paul Goffman, won the weekly prize last Tuesday offered by a business house for the most interesting fact disclosed about Colorado.

Mrs. Goffman's prize winning fact was that the first Negro came to Colorado in 1542. He was Estevenica, who led a Spanish expedition into the state from Mexico. According to legend, Estevanica was originally with DeNarveaz, when the latter explored the Mississippi in 1523. That party of explorers were killed by the Indians, but Estevanica escaped and fled to Santa Fe, New Mexico. That part of Colorado where Estevaniva settled is now known as San Luis Valley.

Hold 3 Whites in Farmer's Beating

WEST POINT, Miss., May 26. (ANP)—Charged with beating Abner Brownlee, 72 year old farmer, three white brothers, Lether, Cliff and Greene Thornton, were held under bonds of $100 each for trial Saturday.

Sheriff Tom Saul said Brownlee suffered a deep gash in his forehead. The white men, according to the sheriff, said the aged farmer "threatened" them with a hoe.

refreshing relief . . . that good feeling when you get the benefit of BLACK-DRAUGHT for Constipation

IT is better for you if your body keeps working as nature intended. Food wastes after digestion should be eliminated every day. When you need a laxative, take Black-Draught for prompt, refreshing relief. It is purely vegetable, made from plants widely used and scientifically approved for their good laxative qualities.

Black-Draught is a truly good laxative which benefits the lower part of the digestive system. Many persons have found that in long-standing cases of constipation it was not necessary for them to increase the size or frequency of the dose of Black-Draught in order to secure full evacuation. And many have found that by a slight change in the diet, and an increase in the consumption of liquids, the dose of Black-Draught may be reduced until it is no longer necessary except for temporary upsets. This proves that Black-Draught is not habit-forming.

Be sure you get this purely Vegetable Laxative

Remember that Black-Draught is made to perform the real duties of a laxative. It is made to give you refreshing relief from constipation. It is not only thoroughly effective, but it is economical as well. When you buy Black-Draught, you pay for what you really want—and that is dependable, easy relief from constipation.

RAILROAD CLATTER

By: CHARLES L. UPTON

Every Porter A Reporter

UPTON SAYS—

IT COULD NEVER HAPPEN HERE

Newspapers have informed us lately that two married men residing in Chicago, my old home town, were both going with the same gay young widow. This fact by itself would not be considered news. But when two bouncing babies made their advent into the world and the two married men both claimed them to be their's and even though they were both married, they came boldly forth and professed a desire to marry the widow, well folks that's news but it could never happen here. Our women folks just won't play that way. If you don't believe me, just turn fool and try it. But be sure to let me know what ward you're in so I can come and write the story up.

When you think you cannot do a thing you are right as long as you think it.

Birthday Greetings

Many happy returns to the following readers who celebrate their birthdays during the month of May: Lovell Estelle, Jr. scout scribe for the California Eagle; M. Felix, J. A. Lee, Dr. Eugene Johnson, H. L. Armstrong, vice-president Brotherhood Of Sleeping Car Porters; Ed. Jones, Jr., and Clifford Floyd. This concludes the birthday list for the month of May. If I have overlooked your name and you were born in May, please drop me a post card. 2190 W. 30th street. Congratulations.

A. Phillip Randolph Calls Nat'l Confab of Colored Women's Economic Council

A. Philip Randolph, International President of The Brotherhood Of Sleeping Car Porters, has sent out a call to all auxiliaries of the Brotherhod Of Sleeping Car Porters to elect and send delegates to the First National Convention of the Colored Women's Economic Council. According to the President the convention will be one of the most historic gatherings of women ever held in America and will convene in Chicago from September 24th to September 28th inclusive. The purpose of the convention, says Randolph, will be to organize the women on a stronger national scale in which an International Executive Board will be elected. Not only are delegates invited to attend the convention, says Randolph, but any wives or relatives of Pullman Porters will be royally entertained while in the windy city and admitted to all sessions of the convention.

An International President, and other officers will be elected. Entertainment, for those in attendance will also be provided and accomodations arranged at a low nominal efe. The Los Angeles Auxiliary which has been rather inactive for several months have again taken on a new lease in life and will hold their annual election of officers at the Brotherhood office Monday night June 13th at 8 p. m. Notices have been mailed out to all the members and a large attendance is expected to be on hand.

Pullman Porters Pay Respects at Annual Sermon

The Porters Benefit Association held their annual sermon last Sunday at the Christian Church, 43rd and Avalon, and a large attendance was on hand. Rev. Duke preached a splendid sermon and Rev. Eldridge rendered the invocation. Bro. R. J. Murray, president of the local organization, presided. The program was very well constructed and the committee who worked so hard on this feature deserve a world of credit.

Clarence R. Johnson to Speak Tonight on Labor's Non-Partisan League

Clarence R. Johnson, labor leader, will speak tonight at 8 p. m. on Labor's NonPartisan League at Gray's Conservatory. All porters in town are earnestly requested to attend this very important meeting and learn what the league stands for. The organization has been endorsed by the Los Angeles Division of the Brotherhood.

Mrs. E. C. Campbell in Hospital

According to Earl Campbell, his wife is confined in the hospital, recovering from a recent operation. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. W. B. Holland Recovery Rapidly From Illness

Mrs. W. B. Holland, wife of the Secretary-Treasurer of the Brotherhood, is rapidly recovering from an operation recently performed. We wish her a speedy recovery.

T. S. Taft Buys New Plymouth

According to reports, T. S. Taft has dug down in the old tobacco box and purchased a new Plymouth. How can you do it, Mr. Taft, when the Brotherhood wants to see you?

G. D. Smock Called Mystery Man

G. D. Smock, head of a family of Pullman Porters, is now being called the mystery man by all the boys. The mystery is that he is able to drop completely out of sight of the Brotherhood headquarters.

Pullman Porters and Maids Protective Ass'n Still Trying To Hang Together; Send out False Release through ANP

Just about once every six months, the die hard Pullman Porters and Maids' scab organization manages to get through a feeble and false news release by way of the ANP and last week it was printed in the Eagle. In an endeavor to persuade a few weaklings to leave the shelter and protection of a bonifide International Labor Organization and join what? A dyed in the wool Uncle Tom Stool Pigeon group, I say group because there are not now enough of them left after that terrible humilating defeat they received at the hands of the Brotherhood several years ago. Mr. Reid, the author of the article, is a stool pigeon of the old type and if he lived for fifty more years he still would be skinning them back with a gracious bow and scrape. He endeavors to convey and mislead the public into believing that the porters are not satisfied with their contract and then goes on to state that there is not another group in the service with a like contract. You are mighty right there is not another one like it and probably never will be in all labor history. Railroad labor organization heads have many times over informed Mr. Randolph that they would give their right arm if they had one like it. Members of the Brotherhood Of Sleeping Car Porters could never be fooled by such crazy propaganda as that the Chief Stool Pigeon is dishing out. A Pullman porter never did know how much his check was going to be up until the time this contract was signed. Now he can tell the time keeper and the auditors how much his check should be, AND WHAT'S MORE, GET IT. It takes brains to head any type of an organization and that is something that the chief stool pigeon has not got. In fact there is only one part such a person could play across a conference table with the Pullman Company's smartest lawyers and that is the star part in UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

Boy Scout News

By LOVELL ESTELL, Jr.

All who were in town Sunday must have enjoyed a treat seeing the girl scouts, under the leadership of Mrs. Louise Taylor, parading down Central avenue. Mrs. Taylor has worked very hard in training her girls and they now number over twenty-five. She has completed an extensive training course at scout headquarters.

Troop 702 which meets at the Lincoln Memorial Congregation church is getting along very nicely. We would appreciate your news, 702.

Twenty-one boys from troop 180 wound their way back in the hills to that pretty little town of Santa Paula. We spent Saturday and Sunday there, attending the regional camporal. It is said there were 3000 scouts there but we were the only colored troop. We had three patrols and all three won their five gold seals. Our troops patrols were not assembled together the cobra was in the red area, the fox in the blue area and the wolf in the white area. In each area we held our own.

Lots of excitement and interest was shown in the camp of the Wolf patrol, headed by Carl Peterson, because those boys brought with them a generator which gave them electric lights in their camp. People came from far and wide to look at that. It was the only one there. We heard that the original idea was Lamar Hill's. But anyway Carl put it to work right away. Next time Lamar, you should put a patent on your ideas.

As usual with all our efforts we could not have done so well if it had not been for our scoutmaster Thomas Nelson, and assistant scoutmaster, Bud Peterson. Although Bud is a junior college student, he is always willing to help even the smallest boy in the troop. Scouting is Bud's hobb, and he worked trielessly for two weeks sometimes late into the night to see that we had every thing in shape. Hats off to Bud. Mr. Nelson and Bud spent the night in the camp of the Cobra patrol. They said the food Joseph Blue, head cook, and Roy Hill, assistant cook, put out was really tops.

Cobra patrol had quite a few visitors, George Houston's mother came up, and his grandmother. The Fox patrol wants to thank Mr. J. L. Hill for his liberal donation. The Wolf expresses thanks to Mrs. Peterson for her assistance in painting. And the Cobra thanks Mrs. Strange for her oil cloth and Mr. Harry Williams for giving of his time, and painting, and last but not least, Mr. Hall for the lovely camp stories.

Wesley Russell tok home from the hills of Santa Paula a 3½ foot King snake, tan and cream colored. We don't know what his mother said yet.

Sam Armstrong, I must have your news by Sunday of each week. 617, let me hear from you. Also Watts and Pasadena. Mrs. Taylor's Girls, who is your troop scribe?

Write to Lovell Estell, 1339 E. 46th street.

In Memoriam

In memory of my loving mother, Mrs. Emelie Holford, who passed away three years ago, May 20, 1935.

Three years have passed since that sad day
That called the one I loved away.
Forget? No, I never will,
For in my heart, she liveth still.
The blow was great, the shock severe;
I little thought the end was near.
And only I who knew her well,
Can of the pain of parting tell.
She bade no one a last farewell;
She said goodbye to none;
The heavenly gates were open wide;
A gentle voice said, "Come",
Whose loving face is ever enshrined within my heart;
Her soul to God, her memory to me.

Mother, rest in peace.
MRS. BIRDIE LA BEAU,
Daughter.

In Memoriam

Mrs. Beatrice Cooke-McCoy left us in the evening of May 27, 1936. She is only away.

Happy are the young dead.
Whose hopes turned not to rust;
Who never saw their dreams spread
In ashes and in dust;
Who loved, and died believing
That all this world is true,
Yet left it without grieving
To seek one shining new.
For there they live in gladness,
And there they laugh and play
Afar from grief and sadness
For ever and a day!

Venereal Disease Post-Grad Course at Howard June 1

WASHINTON, May 26. (ANP)—Because officials of the various states have refused to cooperate, there is a possibility that the fourth post-graduate course in venereal diseases control which opens at Howard university on June 1 may have fewer than its enrollment limit of 15 physicians, it was learned here last week from Dr. Numa P. G. Adams, dean.

The program calls for the states to put up 50 per cent to match a similar amount from the federal government's social security funds to provide a stipend for the doctors during their course of study. But state health officers have not produced their share of the money, with the result that preparation of Negro specialists for the venereal disease control program throughout the nation has been greatly hampered, it is claimed.

POLITICAL POT-PIE

Judges are easing over on the Eastside shaking hands and backslapping. The churches seem to be the starting point. The question each and all will have to answer from the platform is why Negroes are excluded from service on the Grand Jury. Each one has the right to select persons for the jury. We'll bite, just why this discrimination?

Chi Domestics Meet, Discuss Wage Scales

CHICAGO, May 26 (ANP)—Chicago maids and domestic workers met at the Women's Trade Union league under the direction of Miss Agnes Nestor, league president (white), and Miss Neva Ryan, president of the Domestic Workers' Association, to discuss wages, hours contracts and other conditions.

The aim of the officials is to have a contract, agreed to by employers calling for a minimum of $12 a week for domestics instead of the $7.50 average wage now prevalent. The work week will consist of 60 hours and not more than 10 hours in any one day as contrasted with 14 and 16 hours maids and domestic...

As to the necessity for workers being skilled in their line, Miss Ryan said, "Contrary to general opinion, not just anyone can do housework. It takes training, intelligence and character. When employers realize that the maid is a skilled worker and pay accordingly, both the maid and employer will benefit. . . We will have training centers for them and no maid will be given a position until she is capable." Most women employers prefer girls about 23 years old, Miss Ryan said.

G.O.P. Reorganization is Keynote of Dinner-Rally

Close to 200 Republicans banqueted on Turkey at sixty cents per plate at the first Eastside political meeting of the current campaign last Thursday night in the dining room of the Second Baptist church.

Sponsored by the 62nd Assembly District County Central Committee, the dinner-rally launched a campaign to turn the city's colored vote back into Republican channels. Speeches, following the dinner, concerned themselves with the ensuing State elections and the Presidential election of 1940.

Representatives of Governor Frank Merriam and Lieut.-Gov. George J. Hatfield, both of whom seek the Republican nomination for Governor, were supplemented by candidates for Congress from the 14th district and the Assembly from the 62nd district.

Speeches by candidates and in behalf of candidates did not dominate the after dinner discussion, however. Party leaders, independent of any one candidate, as yet, focused the audiences's attention on the necessity of reorganizing Republicans and uniting to oust New Deal forces from Washington.

Brilliant speeches were made by Lloyd Griffith, attorney and youngest son of the Rev. Thomas L. Griffith, Sr., pastor of the church, and by Dr. H. Claude Hudson and Frederick M. Roberts.

Young Griffith told the diners he admired the spirit of the rally because unlike G. O. P. gatherings of previous years, it had not been a "mutual admiration society" nor had speakers dwelled on the old theory of allegiance owed to the Republican Party because of Abraham Lincoln and ithe Emancipation Proclamation.

Dr. Hudson is a re-convert to the ranks of the Party. He decamped in the Roosevelt landslide in 1936. In speaking, he qualified his return to the Party with the reservation that Republicanism must mean something substantial to the Negro.

"I want some National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Republicanism", he said.

SUPRISE MOVE

Suprise move of the evening was made by Mrs. Bass when introducing candidates, she asked Roberts to confirm or deny the rumor that he would run for Congress from the 14th district.

Roberts' candidacy was declared probable in a news flash by the California Eagle News Reporter, John Kinloch, last Wednesday night.

The former Assemblyman from the 62nd district told the audience that he would follow "the will of the people". If they wanted him, he would run. He claimed that curent reports are products of his friends' ambitions for him.

Roberts sat in the State Assembly for 18 years, the first and only Negro to hold that position. He was disposessed in 1934 by Augustus Hawkins, Democrat, and defeated again by Hawkins in 1936.

If he runs for Congress he will be the first Negro candidate in the history of the west.

Admittedly, in the same position as Roberts was William D. Campbell, three times a candidate for Congress from the 14th district. Campbell, a favorite among the colored voters, told the diners he, too, had been urged to run, but was undecided.

THREE ASSEMBLY CANDIDATES

Republican voters will have a difficult time choosing a party candidate for assemblyman from the 62nd district. Three men who were present and were introduced as candidates for the Republican nomination. They are A. Hartley Jones, fraternal and business figure, Carl Johnson, president of the 62nd District Young Republicans and Spurgeon C. Jones, executive of the Central avenue store of the Eastern company.

The dinner was attended by prominent people of business, civ-and social Los Angeles, among them: Mrs. Nellie V. Conner, George A. Beavers, Norman O. Houston, Rev. J. H. Wilson, Rev. Samuel Beane, Rev. J. L. Caston, John L. Hill, and Deputy District Attorney Charles Matthews.

Executive to Head 'Y' Drive Here

George A. Beavers, Jr., prominent insurance executive was named chairman this week for the Y. W. C. A. membership campaign. Mr. Beavers has taken active parts in previous association events. In the 1937 campaign he was captain of the "Wonder Team". This team established the highest production record for any team ever to participate in a membership drive.

In accepting the general chairmanship o fthe drive for 750 members and $2,000 in cash, Mr. Beavers called attention to the splendid record by obtaining 1667 members and $5,333.00. This meant a total membership of 1175 boys and 785 men. In August there were 70 boys and leaders in attendance at the Boys' Camp, Little Green Valley, San Bernardino Mountains. A motion uicture film made at the camp entitled, "Reel Vacation Days" by Charles Edwards, "Y" boy, has been given an honorable award as one of the year's best travelogues.

Many different men have been served through the dormitory making a total of 20,673 nights lodgings. The building has served more than 50 different organizations as a meeting place. The father and son banquet attracted morethan 150 fathers and sons.

Through the Senior Program Division, a program of (a) Health more than 20 lectures by medical experts, epictures, demonstrations and health exhibits, with campaign emphasis against tuberculosis and social dieases. (b) More than 15 social and fellowship events, YM YW Council feature events like a 6 horseback riding and other parties; with 17 meetings and 360 attendance. (c) Inter-racial; more than 1500 boys of all racial groups used the swimming pool and more than 75 racial tour and banquet. Outstanding highlight of the Convention will be the election of the new state officers, which promises to be a vigorous battle between the North and the South.

Upon arrival delegates will register and convention committees will be appointed. Committee heads and their assistants will assemble on the second day and make programs for election of State officers and sanction policies to be adopted for the ensuing year.

Tribal Chiefs Still Rule Abyssinia, Says Selassie

LONDON, Eng., May 26. (ANP)—Allegedly new insight into just what is happening in the far-flung kingdom of former Emperor Haile Selassie, following the "conquest" of Abyssinia by Italy came to light this week with release of a document by the Government of Abyssinia.

The document, containing a foreword by Emperor Haile Selassie, was reputedly based on dispatches received from secret sources in Abyssinia, and said in part:

"Throughout most of the North, West and Southwest, the greater part of the country is still under the authority of Abyssinian chiefs . . . The resistence of the population is more intensive, united and effective than at any time since the Italian army extended its invasion in the Autumn of 1936."

REFUSED TO VOTE; HAD TO USE NEGRO SCHOOL

Members of the cluo are: Irvin E. New members of the club are Miss Margaret Maulison, Maxwell Love, Moreno Nevaldo, Sterlin Colley and honorady member, Wm. Aikens, Jr., who is exactly three years old.

The club operates from Dicer Airport, located at 94th and Western avenue, no. 20. The majority of the students fly on Sundays from 8: a. m. to sundown.

Friday at noon Lieut Aikens, known as the best Negro pilot on the West Coast, will fly his plane over the schools and business districts in honor of his twelve years' work for the advancement of aviation among the race. He will be accompanied by a member of the executive board of the Golden State Insurance company and will do honor to the Golden State's 13th successful year in business.

On Memorial Day, accompanied by a minister, Lieut. Aikens will fly over the city and drop a wreath on the grave of J. Herman Banning at Lincoln Memorial Cemetery. Banning was killed in flight at San Diego in 1932 and was the first and only Negro to make a transcontinental flight from Los Angeles to New York.

Buy Bargains at Home, Says Agent

W. W. HAYMAN

Money spent in the home community is money from which you benefit twice, claims W. W. Hayman, salesman with the Cooper Appliance Company, dealers in Refrigerators, Gas Ranges, Water Heaters, Washing Machines, etc.

Hayman explains his theory thusly: that money spent for a refrigerator, for example, with the Cooper Appliance Store, buys a guaranteed refrigerator, and eventually comes back into the consumer's hands because the salesman, selling the machine, lives in your community.

"Charity begins at home and Bargains can be bought at home", says Hayman, who has been with Cooper Appliance more than three years and has more than 1500 satisfied customers to his credit.

BUILD UP CENTRAL AVENUE

"When you purchase your new gas range or general hardware out of the district, you not only get no better bargain, but you send money out to build up some other community.

"Buy on Central Avenue. Prices and terms are the same here as anywhere else or come in 4601 S. Central. You will be surprised what you can buy in Electrolux Refrigerators, Gas Ranges and any of the items mentioned above for so little money.

"Call me and let me explain how you can get a 42 piece set of China FREE and win an Electrolux Refrigerator FREE."

Quaker City GOP Makes History in Primaries

PHILADELPHIA, May 26. (ANP)—Philadelphia was the hub city of the nation last week so far as politics were concerned, the Republican party chalking up a big victory when, for the first time in State history a Negro Magistrate Edward S. Henry, was nominated candidate for representative in the U. S. Congress.

Magistrate Henry won in the 2nd Congressional District by a majority of nearly 19,000 votes. Political observers sense a strategic move by G. O. P. chieftains in Henry's primary victory, point to the fact that Negro New-Deal Democrats, deserting the G. O. P. banner, have at last forced the Republicans--as a measure of self-protection--to name a Negro as the party candidate for the halls of Congress.

Republicans successful in winning nominations for the State Legislature were John W. Harris, E. Washington Rhodes, editor Philadelphia Tribune, and Paul F. Keene. Democrats successful in winning their party's nomination for the Legislature were Mrs. Crystal Bird Fauset, Samuel D. Holmes, William A. Allmond, Dr. Edwin F. Thompson and Bobson R. Reynolds. Of these, Mrs. Fauset, polled the highest vote--11,000.

Residents here attribute her victory to her popularity among women WPA workers. Able, astute and a forceful speaker, Mrs. Fauset figured prominently in rallying women to the Democratic banner during the 1936 presidential campaign.

WHILE you are considering the trials and tribulations of amateur athletes, now that the presence of Louis Zamperini on the Mourner's Bench has placed said woes before the public eye, give a thought to the plight of one Clarence Mackey, who attends Watts' Jordan high school.

Clarence doesn't want to extort any great sums of money from the A. A. U., nor does he want his name and picture strewn about the sport pages of countless papers, extolling his prowess as a runner and informing the gullible public that he will run on such and such a date. All Clarence wants is a chance to run.

There is a vicious system prevailing in the Pacific League, in which Jordan is confined, conceived and set-up by the most generously proportioned dynamic force that ever hit Watts, Francis L. Daugherty. Little Frankie has since departed for other lands, but he left behind him a melody that lingers longer than one of those stink bombs we used to make in Mr. Reid's chem lab. That is a ruling that unless God has endowed you with a certain height, a certain weight, and has caused you to be born before a certain date, you can't compete in the class in which you are qualified to compete.

That's Clarence's predicament. Clarence is second to none but the Lankford boys of Jefferson in the 100 yard dash and better than any of them in the broadjump. Yet, running the century in 9.9 and broadjumping 23.2, he, by that ante-dated ruling, must confine his activities to Class B.

This reads like a fairy story, we know, but if you don't believe it, call LA. 2188 and ask Coach Karl Renius about it. By the way while you are spilling tears of compassion, spray a few over the glossy dome of said Coach. Having developed the best track team Jordan has had in ages, he must sit idly by and watch it go to wrack and ruin under that ridiculous by-law.

Track fans who recount the glories of the Jefferson high school track team should look Wattsward sometime and watch the youngsters from that neck of the woods perform. They have the best prep high jumper in the City League, Paul Shoaff, white, who consistently does 6ft. 4½in. Porter Swayne and Kenneth Watkins have done 6ft., 2 in.

In addition to Mackey, who seven years ago was junior pentathalon champion and made a trip to Mexico where he defeated all the youngsters there, Jordan has Arnett Starks, who does 22ft 4in. in the broad jump, Billy Haspis, white, does 15.5 in the high hurdles and 20.4 in the lows, Minor Robinson, who used to be an Eagle newsboy, claims to be second best furlong man in the city, turning that distance in 22.3.

Maybe some organizations will take these words to heart and contact the proper authorities to see if something cannot be done. Until that time, however, Jordan's Mackey will have to pit his strength against B-Babies.

He will have an opportunity, however, to compete Class A in the city high school meet in June. Then the sprints, matching him with the Lankford twins, should be the feature of said meet.

I-TOLD-YOU-SO--MR. CROMWELL

It would be too sportsmanlike, and consequently very unjournalistic, if we were to let the opportunity go by to deliver a few well chosen I-told-you-sos in the direction of one Dean Cromwell, now that he is down and out in the Louis Zamperini I-do-not-choose-to run fiasco, to wit:

The Italo-Ethiopian war should have been precedent enough for you in dealing with Mr. Zamperini, Dean m'boy. A little brown man with a bushy beard could have told you, had you asked, that you should never shake hands with a blood brother of Il Duce unless you are expert in jiu jitsu.

Now one of said Ethiopians, of the American derivation, about which you are notoriously unenthusiastic, would not have done that to you—Never in a million years. If there is one thing we are noted for it's our gratitude. And if you had picked one of us out of the dusty little town of Torrance and set our feet on the cinder-path that leads to fame and fortune, we wouldn't have picked up those same cinders and used them in our bean shooters . . . . ON YOU.

Harry Wills Visits Camp; Puts Okay On Champion

NEW YORK, May 26. (ANP) — Homicide Henry Armstrong, featherweight champion, and Barney Ross, welterweight king, are awaiting the gong which will send them into the greatest battle between little men to pop up in years. They will swap punches at Madison Square Garden bowl tonight.

Although Ross is reported fit as the proverbial fiddle, stories emanating from the Armstrong camp have the knockout sensation too finely drawn for the battle. This was his first training camp, and not having anything else to do, he is reported to have got ready a week too soon.

This bout will mark the first time in ring history that a champion of a lighter class has skipped the next higher weight ranking to take a shot at the 147 pound title. Some experts think Armstrong will add Ross to his imposing list of victims, and for fear that Barney will go the way of all recent flesh, the die-hards are contending that if Ross loses, it will prove he his been on the decline for some months.

ROSS SMART

Others point out that Henry has never met a fighter of the welterweight king's ability and say Ross is too smart and crafty to be punched about, adding that Armstrong himself may be kayoed. They say also that the extra poundage Henry will carry is likely to prove injurious to his stamina and speed.

Harry Wills, Jack Dempsey's nightmare, paid a trip to the Armstrong camp at Pompton Lakes last Tuesday and came away with the impression that the little dynamiter is one of the greatest fighters ever to lace on a glove.

"That chappie's a pounder," "Just look at those tricep muscles. And he's got deltoids like a heavyweight. He's also got great eyes. Look at the way he blocks punches and fires one through an opening. And endurance. I haven't seen anything like him in years. Never stops, keeps shuffling in so the other fellow doesn't get a chance to get set."

Will's only compaint was about the extra poundage Armstrong has added. He doesn't think it's "so good", and believes "it'll take something from him".

Later the little boxing master told about his own ring style, "I don't have form, if form means fighting like the other fighters," he said. "I throw punches differently every time I get into the ring. Some say I'm a crazy puncher. That's not exactly right. I know where those punches are going. But you can say they're crazy punches, because they come any old time. The reason I can hit from any position is because I'm never off balance."

Tom Berkeley to Run 400 Meters in Coast Meet

So pleased was Westwood's Harry Trotter with the performance of Tom Berkeley in last Friday night's Compton Invitational meet 400 meters that he will enter him in that event of the Pacific Coast Conference meet to be held at Berkeley Friday and Saturday.

The UCLA contingent, including Woodrow Strode and Bill Lafefield, will leave tonight for the two day championship affair, to be held on the University of California campus.

In addition to the 440 yard dash, Berkeley will run the furlong. Friday night's race was the second time this season and reputedly the third time in his track career that the Bruin junior had run the quartermile. He turned it off at the Fresno relays two weeks ago.

Lacefield will enter the broadjump, where he will meet a classy field in Mack Robinson of Oregon State, Arnold Nutting of the University of California and Don Skinner of S. C. He will run his early season specialty, the 120 yard high hurdles, having relinquished it in the last two meets for concentration on the jump.

Strode will attempt to retain his supremacy in West Coast collegiate competition in the discus and shot put.

Zorrita Meets Romero Tuesday Nite

Matchmaker Joe Waterman announced this week a three 10-round main event next Tuesday night at the Olympic. Topping the card is Leon Zorrita and Al Romero. Lightheavyweight Charley Coates squares off against Frank Rowsey, and Babe Brandelli faces George Guggimo.

Another highly touted California heavyweight fell before the flailing fists of Bob Pastor Tuesday night. He was Chuck Crowell, who was knocked out in the first round of the Olympic main event with crashing rights to the jaw. The 9500 spectators were stunned at the sudden ending.

PAINTED DESERT ROADS IMPROVED

Arizona's "Painted Desert" promises to attract motor tourists in quest of majestic scenery during the early part of summer. Recent road improvements make the land buttes and high colorific mesas more accessible, say reports to the Automobile Club of Southern California.

2 Colored Boxers Crowned International Champions

CHICAGO, May 26. (ANP)—Milton Bess, Indianapolis lightweight, and Booker Beckwith, Gary middleweight, were crowned Wednesday as international amateur boxing champions when they helped the Chicago Tribune Golden lovers knock off the kingpins of all Europe, 5 bouts to 3, before a capacity crowd of 22,234 spectators at the Chicago Stadium.

Only one of the three colored color-bearers on the Chicagoland team of eight failed to come through. He was Dan Merritt of Cleveland, who is also National A. A. U. heavyweight champion. He lost a three round decision to Herbert Runge, giant German who was kayoed in the first round last year by the pulverizing Lem Franklin, since turned pro.

Reduced Poundage

Bess, who fought in the Golden Gloves tournament as a welterweight, but since then has been placed in the lower poundage class, defeated Herbert Nurnberg of Germany by out-boxing and out-smarting his Nazi foe. There were no knockdowns, although several solid punches thrown by both boys connected. Bess evaded the German's wild swings and countered with many vicious rights and lefts.

The other winner, Beckwith, was also fighting at a reduced poundage since during the Chicago tournament he was a light-heavyweight. In the first round he floored Adolf Baumgarten, also of Germany, twice for counts of two, but was unable to keep him there. He wore himself out in the first and second frames trying for a knockout, with the result, the German finished stronger in the third.

The mixed bouts Wednesday night were a great contrast to the tournament fights. At that time the crowds and officials often showed poor sportsmanship where dusky leather tossers were involved. But in the matches against the best in Europe, the crowd pulled for the colored boxers, urging them to knockout their pale opponents, and the decisions were just.

Nazis Resent Defeat

Germany itself, however, resented the defeat of Nurnburg and Maumgarten, for Thursday the Berliner Zeitung, in reporting the bouts, said:

"The defeat of Nurnburg by Bess was a scandal such as there has not been for a long time, even in American boxing . . . . The decision in favor of Beckwith against Baumgarten was a huge joke."

However, Oscar Soderlund of Sweden, president of the International Amateur Boxing federation, stated afterward, "The Bess-Nurnberg fight was very close, but the colored boxer's margin was clear;" and of the Beckwith-Baumgarten match he said, "Baumgarten could not make up for the huge loss of points in the first round."

A FAST HALF-MILER

19 year old Jimmie has just hung up a brilliant season at the Compton institution, winning four gold watches, medals and one gold trophy. He is the fastest half miler in West Coast junior college competition and in a couple of year's should enter collegiate brackets.

High point summary of this season's competition includes his performance at the Junior college conference meet in Pomona where he was high point man, the Drake Relays where his team won second place, the Fresno relays where he was on the winning four man mile and four man two mile teams, and the Compton Invitational meet where he started off the four man mile team that beat Santa Monica jaysee, and stepped aside in the Helms Trophy mile race to allow a teammate to get a first place.

Lawson graduated from Jordan High school in Watts.

Lula Hymes Tuskegee Meet Star

Tuskegee Institute, Ala May 26—Friday Thirteenth was a very bad day for records when women athletes of the South and Southwest gathered at Tuskegee for the Tenth Annual Tuskegee Junior and Senior Women's Track and Field Championships. The close of the record smashing program found Tuskegee in the lead of the Senior Division with 57 points; Prairie View, second, with 18 points; Florida A. and M. College, third, 17 points Booker T. Washington High School of Atlanta, Ga., fourth, with 16 points, and Alabama with 11 points.

Heading the list of record breakers was Lula Hymes, of Tuskegee.

She set a new mark of 12.1 for the 100 meters run, besting her 1937 top mark of 12.4. Then she made the fine distance of 16ft. 4½ in the broad jump, bettering her own national A. A. U. championship mark and toppling her 1937 record performance of 17ft., 4-10 in. To top the day she anchored the successful 440 relay team to a new mark of 50 flat cutting down 1 and 1-10 from the record set by the Tuskegee girls in 1937 and equalled again in 1936.

Mable Smith erased the mark for the high jump which was set back in 1932 by Ruth Westmoreland of the Atlanta University Laboratory High school. The Smith girl from Atlanta, now a student at Tuskegee, leaped 5ft. 3-4 inches, to shatter the oldest record on the books, that of 4feet. 10 3-4 inches.

Hester Brown, student of the Booker T. Washington High School of Atlanta, who won the 200 meters run in 1937 in the time of 27 seconds, returned to the scene of her last year's triumph to run a heady race and repeat her victory. She shaved a tenth of a second off her former record to set a new mark of 26.9 for the distance. In winning, she kept the lead after the first 20 yeards to steadily withstand desperate efforts of Jessie Abbott to overtake her.

Cora Gaines, Tuskegee senior, and National A. A. U. 80 meters hurdle champion, lowered her own record.

If you fail to read the California Eagle, you may never know it happened.

Scrollers Nose Out Sphinx Club at Ross Snyder

Pledges of the Alpha Kappa Alpha fraternity must entertain pledges of the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity as result of the softball game played last Sunday afternoon at the Ross Snyder playground.

The Scrollers followed in the footsteps of their elder brothers in defeating the Sphinx club 3 to 2 in a very tight and heated game. In the basketball season just passed, the Kappas won a two game series from the Alphas.

Wilbur Ashford was on the mound for the Alphas with Wendell Green, captain, behind the batter. Cato Robinson and Ossie Walton were Kappa batteries. Robinson knocked out the only home run of the day.

Alphas were coached by Kenny Washington and Woodrow Strode, UCLA athletes. Kappas seemed to have been coached by Bob Green and John Randolph, with extra-curricular woofing on the side.

A goodly assemblage of non-playing pledges, frat men and feminine rooters were on hand.

Miller is Popular Winner at Compton Invitational

By ALMENA DAVIS

THEY tried to boom the Compton Invitational track meet into a big time affair, but it fell far short of the mark. Failure of the sponsors to lure but few of the Eastern champions to the Junior college stadium last Saturday night, plus the non-appearance of Louis Zamperini, accounted for a comparatively tiresome evening, spent by 6000 fans.

By now, everybody knows about the condition of Louis Zamperini's pants. He split them, stooping to gather some bright shining coins out of the dust stirred up by his flying feet, and the moral of the story is, you can't play with amateur rulings--look at Jesse Owens.

It seems that the price of beer being what it is, Zamp wanted considerable "expense" money, the nom de plume by which the stuff-that-you-lay-on-the-line goes in simon pure circles, and the powers that be, thinking of the noble tenets of amatuerism, plus the amount of heavy sugar they had already dished out to entice Don Lash of Indiana here (and by plane and Cornelius Johnson now of Harlem, wouldn't give it to him. Whereupon Louis decided not to run.

CROWD ENTHUSIASTIC

Prior to the running of the 1500 meter race in which Zamperini was to dual with Lash, the midwest miracle, the crowd was as enthusiastic as a toreador at a bull fight. General admission tickets were sold out before 7:30 and seats, once you got in, were at a premium.

After the Zamperini let down, the crowd's ardor was cooled and few were the events that stimulated it.

It was a cool night too. The boys, especially those in the weight events, experienced great difficulty in tuning up their muscles.

It might have been the weather that caused Cornelius Johnson, once a student at Compton, twice an Olympican, and still co-holder of the world's record in the high jump, to show so badly in his event. He failed to get over 6.6, just did squeeze over 6.4 and had to take a tie for fourth place.

First jump I saw him attempt was at 6.2. He missed it. After a while he came back and went over it with several inches to spare. The bar was moved up to 6.4. He cleared that. Then at 6.6, the winning height he made three attempts. On neither of them did he come near to clearing the bar.

But if Corny couldn't jump, there were two boys who could. They were Bill Lacefield of U. C. L. A. and Jack Robinson of Pasadena Jaysee. On the last try, Bill came from behind Robinson and Don Skinner, white of U. S. C., to win the broadjump at 24 ft., 2¾ in., Jackie who did 24ft., 9⅞ in. last week-end, was contented with 24¾. He tied for a first in the hop, step and jump, but placed second to Ray Sears of Long Beach. Winning jump, 46 ft., Robinson's jump, 45ft.

400 METERS

Feature race of theevening was the 400 meter dash that saw the attempted comeback of Archie Williams, world record holder. Howard Cagle of Oaklahoma Baptist and Wilbur Miller of Compton Jeysee were entered also.

Williams has not competed since the early spring of 1937, when he pulled a leg muscle. Cagle had beaten Miller in a special 400 meter dash at the Drake relays last month.

Coming down the first stretch Williams was going great guns, Cagle was close to him and Miller was among the pack.

Miller was boxed on the curve, but he wiggled out and began to pull away. As he did so, Williams dropped behind and the race was between Cagle, Miller and Tom Berkeley of U. C. L. A...Miller put on an astounding burst of speed and won by two and a half yards. Berkeley who had only run the quarter-mile twice in competition, to my knowledge, was so close to Cagle that it looked like a tie. Judges gave him third. Miller set a new national jaysee mark and a new invitational mark, 47 flat. The world's record is 46.1.

Miller certainly won the admiration of the crowd. When he ran the anchor lap on the relay team, a dull two college affair in which Compton was so far out front of Santa Monica as to make one wonder whom they were running, he got a tremendous hand from the stands.

Woodrow Strode, Westwood's weight man, ran into a lot of trouble in Phil Levy and Ken Carpenter, ace discus throwers. He had won the shot put over a mediocre field at 51.4, but his best throw of the flat plate, 154' 5", was only good for third place. That was Strode's first defeat of the season. The winner, Levy scored 163.1.

Bryant Allen of Riverside, had to take a close third place in both dash events behind Tally of S. C. and Jeffrey of Riverside in the century and Jeffrey and Payton Jordan, S. C. in the furlong. In each event, however, Allen was close on the heels of the winners. Randolph Carter of Whittier failed to place in either event. Archie Williams ran fourth in the 200 meters.

The 5000 meter run was an event watched closely by me, but not because Don Lash was running. There was a colored boy in there, Vernon Robinson of Compton. Vernon finished second from the last and a lap and a half behind the winners, but he FINISHED. He was the only colored boy entered and the first I have ever seen run that distance in college competition on the West Coast. He has good form and his stride was elastic. When he neared the final stretch, he put on a sprint that showed he had plenty left. One fault we noticed, he seemed to carry his trunk more stiffly than Lash and the other top-notchers. He is only A freshman, so watch him.

Although it was announced by the Helm's Athletic Foundation that Jim Lawson was to run the 800 meter rtrophy race, he did not enter. Prior to that event Lawson had run the starting lap in the sprint medley which his team won. Jackie Gordon is to again be commenced for his running of the 220 lap of the medley PJC was second.

UCLA TEAM TO STAY OUT OF IC4-A MEET

UCLA will not send a track squad East to the IC4A meet at Randall Island, New York, June 3 and 4, it was announced this week. The team will compete instead in the Pacific Coast Big Ten meet at Evanston, Ill. later in the month.

Peter Looks Good in Win Over D'Ruzza

Young Peter Jackson gained sweet revenge over Pete DeRuzza at Gilmore stadium last Friday night when he stopped the New Yorker in five rounds. It was a technical knockout win as Referee Charley Randolph stopped the scrap after 2 minutes and 20 seconds of the fifth.

Jackson reminded ringsiders of the Young Peter of four years ago as he cut his foe to ribbons with a neat display of boxing and punching. DeRuzza kayoed Peter last year in New York in two rounds. Jackson weighed 143; DeRuzza 141.

Tomorrow night, Matchmaker Charley MacDonald shows Tony Shaxez against Jimmy Garrison, and Everett Rightmare against Georgie Hansford in a double 10-round main event.

Jeff Triumphs Over Poly; Direaux Puts Shot 58 Feet

By PAUL C. GREEN

Jefferson high's track and field team hung up another victory when they defeated the Polytechnic Tracksters 67½ to 35½. Dodo Rountree, colored track ace from Poly broke up the Langford Twins "brotherly love" when he gave Sam a close race to finish second in front of Saul, time 10 flat. Tom Direux Jeff's big powerful shot putter, neared the interscholastic record heaving the twelve pound shot 58 feet. Direux has been putting well over 50 ft. all season.

George Allen again turned in a double win in both hurdle events. Nolan McCoy won the broad jump with a leap of 22ft. 6½in. Jefferson won ten out of twelve first places.

Jefferson classes "B" and "C" are going through the season undefeated. The Class "B" won by a score of 66 1-15 to 23 14-15 and the Class "C", Jeff 58 2-3 to 18 1-3.

Jefferson Defends Title Tomorrow

Jefferson which has held the Southern League title for the last six years, will have the title at stake tomorrow because when the team travels to Fremont high there will be five other schools trying for the Southern League Title.

Jeff should win seven first places out of twelve. If Langford can get off with the gun he should shatter Allen's record of 9.6s for the century. Tom Direux should break his on record and go on to set a new interscholastic record which stands at 58'11". Allen should be a double winner in the hurdles as he is undefeated in the League competition.

The track and field teams should place in this order Jefferson 55, Manual Arts 30 Fremont 24, Washington 15, Polytechnic 10, and Huntington Park 9. Jefferson will be unable to score a point in the pole vault.

The eight man mile relay, which seems to be a terrifier in any meet will be a record breaker, Manual Arts turning in the same time at the Southern California C. I. F. meet Saturday as Jeff did the day 3:31, will be the great competition.

Return Man On Charge of Bigamy

Robert Mallory, alias William Robert Mallory was returned to Los Angeles from New Orleans last week by Lieut. C. N. Bradford of the Newton Detective force and booked on a charge of bigamy. He will be brought to trial next month.

Mallory first married Miss Eunice Orphie on September 24, 1936 and moved to California from New Orleans in July, 1937. In December, 1937 he married Miss Myrtis Young, without having divorced the first Mrs. Mallory. He left Los Angeles for Louisiana in February leaving behind both wives.

A chance meeting of the two women resulted in a comparison of facts and this resulted in the arrest of Mallory in New Orleans April 26. Mallory had written to both women from New Orleans, and was traced through letters. The last Mrs. Mallory told police that she had spent over $1000 on her new husband before he deserted her and she learned she had not been legally wed.

Women Figure in Knife Scrapes

Three Los Angeles women sustained injuries in cutting scrapes resulting from petty quarrels this week, it was revealed in records of the Newton street police station.

Irene Foster, of 4422 Morgan street, was severely cut on the hand with a cutoner knife wielded by Mrs. Florence Hall, when the two quarreled over a WPA check. Police said they found the woman suffering from knife wounds and rushed her to the Emergency Hospital for treatment. Mrs. Hall was arrested on an assault charge.

Irma Lee, maid, living at 1367 Walnut, was cut with a razor on the leg, arm and neck by Georgia Ella Fletcher, because the injured woman assertedly called Fletcher's husband "bad names".

Sadie Shealy, 3437 McKinley told police officers that she was knocked down and beaten by George Reed.

"I'll cut your head off" Reed is reported to have told the woman as he threatened her with a knife. Officers Ayers and Hosmer coming near the scene of the assault disarmed the man and arrested him on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

EXCELLENT STORY FOR KARLOFF

Plays Scientist Driven Mad By Jeering World of Medicine

He had solved the riddle of eternal youth! In his strange laboratory he had probed into the mysteries of life and death and found the answer, but when he told the world about it they laughed at him. "Mad scientist," they called him and he stood in the midst of his success—a failure. A disgrace.

This is the mad scientist played by Boris Karloff in "The Man Who Lived Again", the GB picture coming Sunday to the Tivoli Theatre with Anna Lee, John Loder, Frank Cellier, Lynn Harding and Donald Calthrop in leading support.

The scientist's experiments come to the attention of a powerful newspaper publisher, Haslewood, who finances his furtner experiments, but when he reveals to the medical society that he has actually transferred the mind from the body of one chimpanzee to the other, and vice versa, he is laughed at. And when he declares the same thing can be done to man he is throw nout!

So he decides to use his dangerous knowledge for his own ends. Madness seizes him. What takes place after that is all told in a thrilling unfoldment of this excellent film.

better bull for martha

Word from the cattle country of Mexico today was that Hollywood's international quest for a "contented bull" was ended and that Paramount studios has acquired six real live fighting bulls as foils for Martha Raye's debut as a matador.

Martha will become the screen capital's first and only lady bullfighter for a comedy scene in her new Paramount musical, "Tropic Holiday", and even now the great bullring is being built at the studio's ranch near Hollywood.

An extensive search for the proper type of Mexican fighting bull was made in various American cattle centers, but met with no success. All the bulls in this country are of the heavy domestic type, not the wiry black bulls used in Mexican bullrings.

Chatter and . . . Some News

One of my favorite pests who picks four in the afternoon to begin distracting comments on what might be the cause of my glum demeanor these early days of the week . . . has promised — under threat — to keep quiet. The sun's out . . . and there ain't no call for my pitching stones at it . . . a column has to be written . . . So what!

So Thursday night I sat me down to feast on a turkey dinner sponsored by the 62nd Assembly District Committee of the G.O.P. And if the candidates live up to the pace set by the committee's rally dinner, I might give 'em a break. Liked Atty. Lloyd Griffith's stirring speech . . . which faced facts and discarded all quibbling . . . Too bad he isn't running for something . . . his better half was very very charmeen in her spring straw . . . on nonchalantly and tied under the chin. Ernestine Jones-Wade, smart in an English drape navy blue suit, created that satisfying atmosphere with her distinctive rendition of "King for a Day" . . . with Anna Griffith Morrow at the piano . . . and John Kinloch sent the guests home in a pensive mood with his "Night and Day".

SQUABS — HUFFMAN STYLE:

That's the way it was Sunday afternoon . . . one of those surprises in being carted off to dinner without knowing what was in the offing. No better place for it than the Jefferson Blvd. home of the Baxter C. Dukes, who radiate geniality. To the squabs . . . they were cooked by Eugene H. Huffman, who's a creditable wielder of the pen, with all the frills one would ask stuffed with wild rice . . . and accompanied by vegetables et al foods that I could do justice to . . . just now as then. They were eaten with gusto and relish . . . Among devourers of the birds: Hall Johnson, Percy Williams, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Mitchell, Lillian Jones . . . and of course, the cook, an artist in more ways than one.

Saturday afternoon, friends of the happy Mr. and Mrs. Elisha S. Spiller, 1037 East 42nd street, sent congratulations. The Spillers celebrated their twentieth wedding anniversary. They were married in El Centro. The James Weldon Johnson Club's got a banquet coming up . . . for June.

El Sorelle Girls, a bridge club, opens its meetings with the Lord's prayer . . . Well, who's against blessings!

YOU'LL BE INTERESTED:

In knowing that June 1 is the night and 8:30 is the time of the Youth Benefit Show . . . for underprivileged boys who'll be sent to camps this summer . . . Everybody's working hard with Bill Robinson heading the program arrangements . . . stars, Stars and STARS!

The Kappas and their pledge club, the Scrollers, are planning to picnic Monday morning . . . up in Big Tiyunga Canyon . . . Reggie Williams, vice polemarch, is busy looking for Kappas . . . Closed to "Kats" and company . . . and all that.

Off to 'Frisco Monday morning with the P-TA delegation to the four-day meet in the north, went a representative group of Eastsiders . . . among them Mmes. Jessie Terry and Leila Rice. The annual mother and daughter banquet of the Y. W. is slated for tomorrow night at six . . . The theme "Building Walls" will be developed by Mrs. Emily Portwig.

So sorry to hear of the unfortunate fall of Mrs. Ionia Moore, wife of Father H. Randolph Moore, vicar of St. Philip's Episcopal. Mrs. Moore is in the Good Samaritan hospital . . . We're wishing her a quick return to her home.

Enjoyed chatting with Mitzi Jackson Monday at lunch . . . Mitzi has thoughts these spring days that you wouldn't dare offer a penny for . . . worth a million, huh, Mitzi? Virgil Johnson Brown has the answer to looking cool and being comfortable, too . . . a knitted two-piece sports dress of summer wool and yellow bucko oxfords. Miriam Matthews has it for charm: a touch of pink on black . . . in the belt and flower setting off her decolletage.

A column had to be written . . . so, here 'tis.

Prominent Matron is Honoree at Swank Parties

Mrs. A. J. Booker, prominent Angeleno socialite and wife of Dr. A. J. Booker, president of the Fellowship league, will sail for a vacation in Honolulu on Saturday. Mrs. Booker has been largely feted recently by friends and club women, and has received many bon voyage gifts.

Mrs. Addie Holloway entertained last Thursday morning to honor Mrs. Booker at an elaborate breakfast in her beautiful home on East 49th street. Floral decorations were dominated by varieties of California poppies. Following breakfast, four changes of contract bridge were played in which prizes were won by Misses Fuelah Baker, Harper and Maud Boutte. The hostess' gift to her guest was a genuine leather bound travel journal.

STYLE NOTES

FOR STYLE CHAT NUMBER TWELVE . . . let's get away from surface things and get down to . . . shall we say . . fundamentals? Foundations is probably the better word for what we're going to discuss first. You have noticed that throughout this series we've concentrated on what persons can or cannot wear according to size, personality and complexion because the apparently did not take so much persuasion now to come to the conditional . . . what you should wear . . . if thus and so is so. We've always been a stickler for foundation garments . . . and it's lamentable that so few of our women have learned what they can do for their figure.

I'm not asking you to do what advertisers would have you accept about some of the very exaggerated miracles that corseting can work . . .but proper ones aided by a prescribed diet will make more difference than you think . . .cheap and carelessly selected ones will be worse than none at all. Styles today call for smooth foundations . . and a smooth foundation will do more for an inexpensive dress than the most costly dress will ever do for a cheap corset . . .Remember that when you go shopping and if you must pinch . . . save on your suit or dress . . never let a fundamental go begging. If you're more thon 36, it won't be time wasted to do some promenading before two mirors . . .just in case . . .

Another fundamental of dress on which you can't afford to scimp is your feet. In the first plase, it is uncomfortable . . .and very obviously so . . .especially, if you have a warm spot in your wardrobe for bright colors. . .you may get away with your feet feeling all right, but glances in your direction make for anything but confidence when they tell you that your shoes are too bright for the size or shape of your feet.

Tight fittig shoes ruin your disposition and put lines in the wrong places in your face . . .so don't be ashamed of the generous proportions of your physical understandings . . .just dress them quietly and comfortably and forget them . . so will your friends. . . .

'TWEEN TROY & WESTWOOD

"The time has come, the walrus said, to talk of many things. Of shoes and ships, of sealing wax--Of exam schedules and things." And if you don't believe they're talking of these finals you ought to see the long faces and piles of books students are beginning to hide behind over Ucla and Troy way.

Climbing over stacks of thick and wordy law volumes in the third floor of Doheny library, we came upon Chris Wright polishing off those old finals before he takes his law degree. By the way Chris was the recipient of a scholarship award presented to him by the Kappa mothers. Nice work, Chris and congrats.

What we want to know is it true what they say about little Norma Owens and Lewis Berry? Rumor has it that there has been a pin-hanging and Norma is the recipient of Berry's Omega badge. Well--well-- so knighthood isn't dead after all.

Georgia Williams was seen strutting around the campus the other day proudly showing her brother, Dr. Wilburn J. Williams who blew in from St. Louis last Wednesday, how S. C. works. Dr. Williams came out to see why his mother and dad were so sold on this California land and to wish his little sis all the luck in the world in obtaining her master's degree.

Leon Maylyff and Dorothy Tenette passed by the campus the other day looking all happy and very thing over their wedding preparation. The wedding by the way takes place Saturday, May 28.

Cato Robinson was doing a bit of nice boasting the other day about his baseball prowess, since with him as pitcher the Kappa pledges ran away with a victory over the Alpha pledges. Part of that victory might be attributed to the fact that Cato had Betty Bratton here rooting for him.

Over Westwood way we saw Charlotte Hartsfield digging in and under as she prepared to show the profs how finals really should be handled . . . Edith and Gwen Jones quite sure they'll be ready for some kind of party and celebration when finals are over . . . Johnny Brewer, spending all week end at home batting out term papers, tch, tch, such procrastination, Johnny . . . Willianna Coleman with not a worry on her mind as far as finals go, looking all worried anyhow as she climbs those Uclan hills these days . . . Bill Beverly being scarce on the campus but a lodger in the library . . . Tilman Thomas getting together with Uncle Sam so he could work out a schedule whereby he would have a bit of time for those finals.

EL CENTRO NEWS

By W. A. Payne

EL CENTRO, May 26—The educational circles, and likewise the social, civic and even the fraternal life of this section is centering around the activities of the commencement season. Interest in education is at a premium and all phases of community life vie with one another in making the commencement season one of profit and dignity.

Washington Elementary school, Prof. A. E. Prince, principal, is graduating forty boys and girls this year, the largest class in the history of the school. The commencement exercises will be held Tuesday, May 31. The class is presenting the delightful cantata, "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow". Mrs. Lucille Culberson is directing the production and her success in similar entertainments bespeak a stellar program. Douglass high school and junior college are holding graduation exercises Thursday, June 2. Seven young people are graduating from the high school and four from the Junior College. Mr. Payne, the principal announces the following program: Musical selections under the direction of Mrs. Ruth P. McGregor, supervisor of music; numbers by representatives of the graduating classes. The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Samuel M. Beane, minister Hamilton M. E. church, Los Angeles.

The first of the pre-commencement programs was held when Mrs. Lucille Culberson presented her musical pupils in concert last Sunday afternoon. The delightful affair was given in her home 111 East Main streets. The program consisted of selections by the violin choir which is directed by her; piano solos by Maurice Hall of Calexico, Grace Washington, Ruth Washington, Zelma Wiley, Doris Cleveland; violin solos by Alan McGregor, Mary Maples, Lucille Culberson, George Cleveland; piano duet Zelma Wiley and Doris Cleveland. Parents and friends of the young artists witnessed the concert and warmly praised the excellent work done by them. Refreshments were served at the close of the recital.

Baccalaureate services will be held in the high school auditorium, Sunday evening, May 29. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. W. J. Taylor. Music will be furnished by the Community Chorus composed of members from the several choirs of the city.

Rev. Hayes Hayter was the speaker at the First Christian Church last Sunday evening. This church has been conducting a series of Fellowship and interracial meetings.

The Junior College group held its last assembly of the year last Friday morning. The program presented was a most impressive one. The Ten Thousand Club has for years presented a beautiful picture to the school at the close of the school term, the picture being given honoring the student who had excelled in studies and deportment. Instead of the picture, the club presented three ornamental trees.

Mesdames J. S. Jones A. C. Finney, and T. L. Harris represented the club. The president of the class, Charles DeMorst presided. The assembly sang several selections; John Jingles gave readings on the importance of conservation; Reginia Payne sang "Trees". Mrs. Jones presented the ladies of the committee and then made her address of presentation. Principal Payne received the trees for the school. The assembly adjourned to the campus for the formal planting. The three representatives presided respectively at the three trees. The seniors, high school; the sophmores, junior college; and the Freshman, junior college; in their turn planted their respective trees. The Ten Thousand club is the leading civic organization in the Imperial Valley. It is pledged to assist in the program of beautification that is being conducted by our group.

The Rev. I. N. Whitten, minister Second Baptist church spent a week attending the executive board meeting in Los Angeles; the annual meeting of the Southern California Baptist Convention; and business conferences in San Diego. He reports an inspiring meeting of the Executive Board of the Wester Baptist State Convention.

Mesdames E. P. Perue and John R. Allen gave a stork shower for Mrs. Betty McGee at the residence of Mrs. Perue in Imperial last Monday evening. Many pretty and dainty gifts were received.

On Thursday evening the members of the Women's Civic and Improvement club gave a stork shower for Mrs. George Venable. The ladies very generously remembered their popular member.

The Sherwood Girls team, Imperial Valley champions, and the Douglass girls played a fast game of ball at the El Centro Stadium last Thursday evening. The score 10-7 in favor of the Sherwood girls but faintly show the hotly contested game. A return game is promised.

The El Centro team under the management of the Miller brothers defeated the fast travelling Brawley team last Friday evening by the close score of 12-11. It was a nip and tuck game until the last man was out. A combination of players from both teams will give any organization an argument.

The Imperial Valley tennis semi-finals was played last Sunday, James Stocks defeating Walter Bowker of Calexico 6-2; 6-2.

One of the social events of the commencement season will be the athletic banquet given at the Community Club House Friday evening. This banquet is complimentary to the boys of the several teams who have done exceptionally fine work during the past year. An interesting program is prepared.

Robert Walls of the Fresno high schol is visiting relatives and friends here. Walls' broad jump record made here in 1935 remains unbroken.

Mr. Jethro Hardy of Los Angeles is visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. L. H. Owens and daughters visited relatives in Pasadena last Sunday.

Miss Leonore Cooper visited her parents in Los Angeles during the week end.

Rev. E. N. Smith, presiding elder of the California Conference CME church conducted quarterly service in Edwards Chapel, this city last Sunday. The local church is now pastored by the Rev. G. W. Davis. While here Presiding Elder Smith was the guest of Rev. Davis and family.

The Melodious Four will be presented in concert at the Washington School auditorium by the W. W. G. group of the Second Baptist Church. The proceeds from the concert go to the building fund. The young people are enthusiastically rallying to the Building Campaign and are determined to do their part in securing a desirable new building.

Misses Josephine Walton and Dorothy Daniels, and Mr. Clifford Daniels of San Diego visited relatives here last Sunday; also they were guests of the Payne sisters.

BAKERSFIELD

By JERRY FLEMING

Battle of the week, between Bridges and "Clabber" Edwards proved to be a track meet, verbal battle, plus a few round house swings, that amused the campus greatly . . . . saw a nice meet at Compton last Friday night . . . Incidentaly had a very nice week end, thanks to Bernice, Dorothy, Wilma, Thelma, Dennis, Berry and lots of other school chums . . met two nice students by the way, Mansfield Collins of Poly and his sister who attends USC . . . It seems Thelma Swanson of LAJC is becoming quite a socialite and community worker. . . King Soloman seems to be in the dog house, Georgia has all the explanations . . . From what I hear there are two local students have a ear for publicity . . Anyway I'll bet Larkin Mackey knows who one of them is . . . Mack's Place is quite an attraction now, with all the students. Maybe its because of the lovely entertainer and waitress . . . Anyway the dance orch is good . . . May 30th is going to be tops here it seems. With two baseball games scheduled, a breakfast, a matinee, and a grand ball that night. The Bakersfield Cubs will play Fresno Cubs, so you can look for plenty of super-human plays . . . We wonder why a chap named Berry Straughter is so popular? . . . There are so many of the fairer sex who can answer this, but maybe Dorothy Jones, can give the best one. And she by the way is one of Jefferson high's popular set . . . They tell me Willie Randall certainly lost lots of sleep and also weight, over the past week end. I wonder why? . . . There is a certain party, called Al, for short, that I would like to have a chat with sometime. That's all!

Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Johnnetta Jackson.

Visiting friends in Pasadena and Santa Monica were Mrs. Henrietta Banks, Miss Vera Harris, Mr. Cecil Owens and your reporter. The first stop was Pasadena at the Garner Foundation Hall where the well known Rennaissance club was host at a lovely breakfast. After which the journey to Santa Monica where the bunch took in the cool breeze of the beach.

The Hall Johnson Choral Unit which has been meeting Monday evening under the direction of Mr. Hall Johnson of Los Angeles will be presented in concert June 16 at the AME church.

These young ladies were hostesses to approximately 200 guests who danced to the subtle swing of Elmo McWilliams and his orchestra until the wee hours of the morning. The grand success of the dance, undoubtedly, lies in the fact that these girls have as their motto: "Do Our Part and Follow Our Aim, Loyalty".

OBITUARY
REV. VIRIL MCPHERSON

The "Home Going" of Rev. Virgil McPherson, May 6th, was the occasion of much sadness among the many friends of this excellent prelate.

Rev. McPherson was a graduate of Johnson C. Smith University, Charlotte, North Carolina; he did his divinity work at this institution also. He and his wife, Mrs. Sarah Alexander McPherson, organized the La Jolla Union Mission at La Jolla, California, which he lived to see a prosperous center of religious influence.

He was married to Mrs. Sarah Davie Alexander in 1927, who with her former husband organized the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Los Angeles. Rev. McPherson was a member of the San Diego Ministers' Alliance, and always gave the best that was in him for the promotion of the Alliance.

The Ministers' Alliance, and the Ministers' wives Alliance turned out in body to do honor to one whose life had been to them an inspiration to them and all who had changed to come under the influence of his Godly counsel. The ministers acted as honorary pall bearers.

The funeral oration was delivered by the Rev. Dr. H. B. Hawes of Los Angeles, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church; he has recently celebrated his twenty fifth anniversary at this church.

Rev. McPherson was held in the highest esteem by the city, and community, as was manifest by the large congregation which came to pay the last respects to his passing.

Among the out of town were Mrs. J. W. Driscoll, Mrs. H. B. Hawes, Mrs. Chas. Lawrence, Mrs. W. Wilson, Mrs. A. Wright, Mrs. Roxie Lee, Mrs. H. Jones, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Harper of Los Angeles, and Mrs. W. A. Jackson of El Centro. He is survived by his wife, one son, Dr. Henry McPherson, of Los Angeles and one brother.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the dear friends of the Community for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and subsequent death of Rev. Virgil McPherson. Especially are we thankful to the Ministers' Alliance and the Ministers' Wives, Dr. E. L. Elson, Dr. J. C. Harper and Rev. H. B. Hawes of Los Angeles.

Christian Science Lesson Taken From Matthew

The Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., cites for its Golden Text these words of Jesus from Matthew: "Take heed that no man deceive you," and denounces ancient and modern necromancy, 'alias mesmerism and hypnotism.

One of the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon includes these words from Nehemiah: "So built we the wall . . . for the people had a mind to work." Another passage includes Paul's words to Timothy: "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. But shun profane and vain babblings: for they will increase unto more ungodliness."

The Lesson-Sermon presents also these words from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science reveals Truth and Love as the motive-powers of man. Will—blind, stubborn, and headlong—cooperates with appetite and passion. From this cooperation arises its evil. From this also comes its powerlessness, since all power belongs to God, good.

NOTICE, EVERYONE!

God has been working Mighty Wonders at the Church of God in Christ, at 33rd street and Compton avenue through His manservant, the Rev. Cornelius Range, of Chester, Penn. and Boston, Mass.

The sick has been instantly healed, sinner saved and baptized with the Holy Ghost and backsliders reclaimed. Come and hear a lady tell how she was to go to the General Hospital for a major operation, and how God has healed her and made her every white whole.

Call Mrs. Mattie Nunn, CE. 22350 and she will tell you how after 18 months of intense suffering, God has healed her.

Bro. Day, will tell you that he was blind, but now he can discern light.

You will hear many wonderful testimonies of how God is healing and blesing.

If all else has failed you, TRY GOD.

Rev. Range is leaving for Northern California for a few days but will return to 33rd and Compton, on the afternoon of May 29 (fifth Sunday) from 3 to 5 p. m. in a mighty Healing Service.

Come and bring the sick, the halt, the lame and the blind and God will heal them.

If your body suffers pain, and your health you can't regain, just remember God in Heaven is hearing and answering prayer through Rev. Cornelius Range.

Faith, is the victory that overcomes.

$1,000 Banquet at AMEZ Tonight

One of the most outstanding events of the church year at the First AME Zion church will be the Thousand Dollar banquet (Thursday) when 110 members and friends of the church will give $10 a plate for a dinner. The proceeds will go toward the mortgage fund of the church on which more than $1400 has been paid on the principal of the debt during the past two years and under the administration of Rev. Walter R. Lovell.

WESLEY SPEAKER

Pasadena to Hear Meaux Prize Essay

When Southland music-lovers and church goers, attracted to Pasadena's First Baptist Church, Marengo and Holly Sts., attend the forthcoming Sunday, June fifth vesper musicale, there will be featured on the program USC co-ed Edythe Meaux's Phi Beta Kappa prize-winning essay: "The Black Side of a White Subject."

It will be the first time that so large a representation of our own group will have an opportunity to hear the splendid opus written by the brilliant young woman who graduates, with high honors, this June convocation, from the University of Southern California School of Journalism.

Dr. J. M. Brown, minister to the First AME Church, Pasadena, will deliver the invocation, and welcome the congregation to the late afternoon services--scheduled to begin promptly at 5:30 o'clock.

Also featured on the program will be soloist Elijah Hodges, baritone; the Misses Freddye Ward and Merleen Ballard, gifted pianists.

Great preparation is being made by the massed interdenominational choral ensemble, under the direction of William "Bill" Stoard, to present a program of music that will be thoroughly in keeping with the high calibre of the first Sunday in June vespers.

Members of the Far Western Advisory Board to Bethune-Cookman College--under whose auspices the affair is being given—will be present to advise the audience of the work of this newly organized group.

Proceeds from the vesper musicale will go toward the welfare of Bethune-Cookman College, Daytona Beach, Florida, and will constitute the Pasadena contribution to the Southern California's proposed donation to the institution. Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, eminent leader of the Race, is president of the Southern school.

Young People's Revival To Begin

The "All-City Young People's Revival" at People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, will open next Sunday evening at 7:30, and continue through the week, the minister, Rev. Clayton D. Russell, said this week.

All young ministers of the city will appear on the programs which will feature the Clayton D. Russell Jubilee Singers, and young gospel singers.

Although the services will be in charge of young people, all are invited to attend, the announcement said. Rev. Russell will conduct the services, assisted by local young religious students.

Independent Boys' Day June 19; Kinloch to Speak

Boys of all races and church affiliations will fill the main auditorium of People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, Sunday morning, June 19, in celebration of the Annual Boys' Day program, according to an annoucement made this week by Charles Edwards, who has been named leader of the boys for that day by Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister.

In addition to all colored boys' organizations in Los Angeles and surrounding communities, a large number of organizations of other races have promised to send a large delegation.

Some of the most outstanding youths in the city will be on the program at both morning and evening services. John Kinloch, popular young newscaster for the California Eagle, has been invited to deliver the main address at the morning hour.

A mammoth chorus of over 100 boys' voices, composed of members of the various glee clubs and choruses of the city schools, under the direction of Samuel Brown, instructor in music at Jefferson high school, will be one of the most impressive features of the day.

Dixie Masses Need Church Says Bishop

The virgin territory for missionary work that is the Negro population of the South was cited in a radio sermon last Sunday morning by Emmett N. Walsh, white Bishop of Charleston, So. Carolina, over the Columbia Church of the Air, originating from Station WMAC in New York, and heard at 9:30 a. m. over KHJ, the Los Angeles Columbia network station.

"There is a need for 500 or even 1000 churches of our faith to administer to the spiritual welfare of the Negro masses of the South," Bishop Walsh said. He claimed that close to five thousand of the total Negro population both of the North and the South is "unchristianized".

His sermon was addressed primarily to people in upper economic brackets, who are able to contribute financially to missionary work. He said the churches of the South were cruelly crippled by lack of financing.

"There are six priests, 20 sisters, and two lay workers for So. Carolina's 800,000 Negroes, most of whom do not embrace any religious faith" he said.

He commented on Xavier University of New Orleans, La., as "the finest Catholic structure for Negroes in the entire southland, but said its efforts did not even scratch the surface."

Susie Kinsey to Be Women's Day Speaker June 5

On Women's Day at Hamilton M. E. church, East 18th and Naomi Avenue, Mrs. Susie Kinsey, well-known evangelist, will bring the message of the day, which is Sunday, June 5. Mrs. Kinsey is a Wilberforce University student.

Handy is chairman of the "white" committee.

AME BISHOP PRESENTS BISHOP HAMLETT WATCH LIKE KING'S

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 26. (ANP) W. A. Blakely, presiding Elder of the Pine Bluff district of the African Methodist Episcopal church, presented Bishop J. Arthur Hamlett, of Kansas City, Kans., a presiding prelate in the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church, a $125 watch was a token of appreciation for his service to the race.

Rev. Blakely made the presentation for Bishop H. Y. Tookes, presiding AME prelate of Arkansas and Oklahoma. It was made following a fraternal address from the AME church by Dr. John H. Clayeborne, editor of the Southern Christian Recorder, at the CME General Conference, which closed here last week. Dr. J. R. Starks, editor of the Western Index, responded.

The watch is a "Longines", imported from England, and is the same kind that was presented to the King of England at the Coronation. The presentation provoked much comment as it came from a sister church and demonstrated a fine spirit of brotherhood between bishops of separate denominations. Bishop Hamlett is a nationally known character, both in religious and civic circles. He has represented his church here and abroad, and is considered one of the greatest preachers in the American pulpit today.

If you fail to read the California Eagle, you may never know it happened.

World War Officers Plan Reunion Here

Local members of the "92nd and 93rd Division Officers Association," headed by Commander Walter Green, are making plans to entertain their buddies from various sections of the country when the American Legion holds its annual meeting here on the West Coast in September.

Speaking of the activities of the officers' association, Norman O. Houston, a member, said this week, "This group, consisting of about 60 men who served as officers in the 92nd and 93rd Divisions during the World War have regularly met and maintained army and social relationships for the past ten years.

"When the national convention of the American Legion convenes in Los Angeles Sept. 18-22, we would like to attract a large number of the former officers to this city as our guests. We believe that if we can get an appreciable number of these men to come West during the very low railroad rates which will apply at the time of the convention, it will be possible to hold a reunion and out of it develop a national organization which could make a valuable contribution to posterity."

CALIFORNIA EAGLE

VOL. 59—NO. 7 LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, MAY 26, 1938

Garland Anderson's Wife Writes Book 'Nigger Lover'

HER experiences as the wife of Garland Anderson, California lecturer and author of the play, "Appearances", which had a run in New York, are described by a white Englishwoman in a new volume entitled "Nigger Lover" just off the press.

Mrs. Anderson was her husband's secretary when they married. Although she is frank in the book she refuses to print her maiden name in order not to embarass her relatives. But she does say that her father, who had been for nearly 60 years a London doctor, declared he was "too old in experience to judge a man by the color of his skin."

G. ANDERSON

They were married in the state of Washington as intermarriage is illegal in Oregon where they were at the time. But she still passed as her husband's secretary, the book says and only their intimate friends were told of their marriage.

They were received in the Northern states with courtesy, although Negroes seemed to have treated them worse than whites. Mrs. Anderson wants to go South with her husband to hear the Negro spirituals and see the Mississippi. She is very happy with her husband, who would be a great man, she thinks, whatever his color. Yet she faces facts.

"Very emphatically I do not advocate or condone careless, concupiscent mixed marriages," she says. "I do not believe that reasonable or intelligent people of either race approve of such unions. Colored people are even more adverse to such mixing than the white people because from their side, it is generally the worthless white person who unites with the best of their race . . .

"In spite of both races' protesting that they do not believe in such unions, the indisputable fact remains that the American colored race is a mixed race. So it seems obvious that someone must believe in it. People will eternally find their affinity, marry when and where they please, and no amount of legislation will prevent it."

Their troubles over hotels are best explained by the fact that, on a separate page, Mrs. Anderson prints "an acknowledgement of appreciation" to a score of them. All these are named, and they are spread about in cities stretching from New York to San Francisco. The Andersons are in London now.

Small Black leads me to a table covered with oilcloth, where four men . . . including the feller that let us in . . was eatin' like they had to catch on the fly, me an' him sits down an tries to catch up with 'em. The service was "Reach an' get what you want", an' suited me to a T. I never seen so much fried chicken on one table in all my life outside of the table they spread at the basket picnic the Sinai Baptist church at my home used to hold every summer.

There was six big platters of chicken, six plates of hot bisquits, four big bowls of French-fried potatoes, an' two soup plates full of fresh country butter. I laid down a mean barage on that chicken front, an' Small Black follered suit. About ev'ry five minutes an elderly colored man with a sad, Methodist face an' a wart on his nose would bring in a fresh platter of chicken, an' more hot biscuits.

"How much you hafter pay here . . . a hunnerd dollars a month?", I asked Small Black between mouthfuls.

"You'd be surprised!", he answered, "Only twenty dollars a month for two good meals, breakfast an' dinner, an' your laundry thrown in." He pulled the whole breast of a chicken off the breast-bone, bolted it, an' continued:

"An' just to think I was laying down one hunnerd an' seventy-five bucks ev'ry month to my wife when I was in 'Frisco—an' had to eat in them Pig-ankle joints, an' get my laundry did at the Chinks." His tone was loud an' whining, an' I seen he was getting blue an' upset again.

"I done told you once to quit talking 'bout them times." I says: "That's 'ancient' history now. I wants to meet this chicken-frying landlady. Where is she?"

"She's in the kitchen. She never gets chance to come out 'till we gets through eating. I always stops by there on my way out to say 'Hello' to her."

I was glad to know that I would get a chance to meet her. A thought had struck me that I might be able to cut in with her an' work myself into a pretty soft spot. I always was handy 'bout keeping woman's company, an' jollying them along while they was working.

"Is she married? Who helps her with the work?" I asks him.

"Not yet' . . . Does all the work herself, mostly. The old guy what's waiting on us helps her a little, but you can see he ain't able to do much. Reach me that fresh plate of chicken, Stuff," he says.

Well we et chicken 'till we felt like we'd either have to crow, or else lay an egg. Then we stopped.

"Buddy," I says to Small Black: "You sho' done me a favor bringing me here, 'cause my dough ain't none too long come on, knock me down to this landlady now. I'm goner put twenty bucks in her hand right now, before I gets broke."

"I don't know, Stuff," he says hesitatin': "Whether she'll take you for a reg'lar boarder. She's . . ."

"Any woman'll reckernize a twenty dollar bill," I breaks in, kinder angry-like. For I figured out right away that he was trying to make the landlady himself, an' was scared to let me meet her. "Just lead me to her. Me an' this twenty dollar bill will do the rest." I told him. I felt kinder sorry soon as I said it, 'cause it was natchel for him to be leary 'bout introducing me, knowing as he did, my reputation for handling women.

"All-right, Stuff!" he answers.

We wiped our faces an' hands on our paper napkins an' got up from the table. The other guys was still eating. Small Black led me through a narrow hall back to the kitchen. It wasn't much bigger than the inside of a model T Ford touring car, an' the one lone winder didn't give much light. The landlady was standing at the kitchen sink with her back to us, bathing dishes. Small Black clears his throat kinder loud an' says:

"I got a friend here with me. He et dinner with me, an' I'll pay for it. He wants to board here an' get his laundry did—An' he wants to pay you now in advance".

The landlady turned around quickly—just like I knew she would—wiped her hands on a dish-towel an' started towards us. I noticed that she was wearing a clean, starched, calico house-dress, an' it was a good sign for me 'cause I always was particular 'bout the way my collars an' cuffs was did. When she got closer I seen that she HAD been a high yaller once on a time, but she had faded out consider'bly. When she gets up to us she stares at me hard for a minute without batting her eyes. I been used to women looking me over all my life, but her eyes was so cold 'till they made me sorter uneasy.

"Ain't you the RAT used to call yourself 'Hot Stuff' out on the coast", she finally snapped. ried. Although she is frank in the book, she refuses to print

Above is shown the beautiful swimming pool and bath house at Val Verde which will be developed by the Federal W. P. A. project and for which scores of W. P. A. workers are needed. All W. P. A. workers who are interested in working on the project which will soon be started are urged to attend a meeting at J. O. Dudley's Tailor Shop, 5103 South Central Avenue on Wednesday evening, June 1. The following workers will be required: Four concrete finishers, ten carpenters, ten steel workers, four tile setters, two plumbers, two electricians, two painters and sixty semi-skilled and unskilled laborers.

Discrimination

"Discrimination in the purchase of advertised brands will create employment for many colored youth who are now unemployment."

Clarence Peacock, of Philadelphia, brother of Eulace Peacock, famous athlete, and an advertising authority, promoted the above theory and supports it in the following statement.

"When I feel the need of a delicious, cooling and stimulating drink, I order Pepsi-Cola. Everyone knows how good it is, but few realize that in buying Pepsi-Cola, the Race is benefited directly; for the Pepsi-Cola Company advertises in the Negro Press.

"Pepsi-Cola is one of the biggest selling drinks due to the fact that promotion has been done through the Negro Press. Loyalty of the consumer to Pepsi-Cola and other quality products therein advertised is making possible employment of our youth in upper bracket positions."

Only One-Fourth Los Angeles Library Borrowers; Urge Public to Visit Marts

Goeffrey Morgan of the California State Legislature speaking on "The Mechanics and Difficulties of State Aid Legislation for Libraries" told his audience at the California Library Convention held at the Ambassador last Thursday afternoon that the three greatest enemies to progress in our public libraries are ignorance, indifference and prejudice.

Only one fourth of the population of Los Angeles is registered library borrowers. This means that through ignorance, indifference or prejudice, over a million people in Los Angeles alone have failed to take advantage of the tremendous resources available at the public library, he pointed out. They have denied themselves this gateway to knowledge and culture; they have missed an opportunity to get an understanding of their community, their natio and the world; and they have failed to make worthwhile contacts through lack of self-education through books.

"Reading or the enjoyment of books has always been regarded among the charms of a cultured life and is respected and envied by those who rarely give themselves this privilege," says Lin Yutang in his book on "The Importance of Living." The facilities offered by one million and half volumnes in your Los Angeles Public library with forty-eight branches scattered throughout the city make it necessary for anyone, no mater how limited his initial schooling, to envy the cultured person. No matter where you live you may obtain any book in the osL Angeles Branch Library system within a reasonable length of time without traveling farther than your nearest branch library and placing a request for the desired volume.

Branch libraries invite the community members to make use of the hospitable reading rooms. Branch librarians offer assistance in book selection, the use of reference collections and conduct book reviewing clubs for adults and story hours for children.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

By Miriam Matthews

The recent announcement of a foreign film on the life of Pushkin, has led to an increased demand for all available material on this famous Russian poet. To be especially recommended is the splendid volume by Dr. Ernest Joseph Simmons published last year in time for the centenary of the poet's death. This volume which is titled simply "Pushkin" opens with a brief resume of the poet's ancestry which he traces to the great Carthaginian, Hannibal Barca. Included also are Pushkin's early triumphs, his exile for six years on a charge of atheism, his return and marriage to the beautiful Natasha Goncharova and the duel which ended his brilliant career. This biography is quick with human interest and should be read by everyone interested in world literature.

Pioneer New Zealand is the subject of G. B. Lancaster's "Promenade", a rich and colorful narrative introducing a new scene to American readers. With the advent of the English colonists bringing their wives their families and their customs into this new land over a century ago, the proud native Maoris were driven from their birthright farther into the wilderness. There followed for both the Maoris and the newcomers a half century of confusion, bloodshed, trickery, and disappointment; an fight in which victory was not necessarily to the brave or the honorable. An exciting and satisfying book, "Promenade" will undoubtedly have the same appeal as G. B. Lancaster's earlier novel of Tasmia called "Pageant."

Another historical novel is W. R. Burnett's "The Dark Command" which offers a startling contrast to his previous style of writing in "The Little Ceasar" and has found immediate favor with an entirely different public. With the exception of a few volumes on John Brown, American fiction writers seem to have neglected the history of Kansas and therefore Mr. Burnett has chosen to tell one phase of its interesting and dramatic story here. Kansas with its struggle over the Free-Soil question with Missouri eventually brought on the Civil War, and became the breeding ground for the most reckless, dangerous and ruthless group of men ever seen in this country—the border fighters. It is their story which the author tells here and the cruel guerilla warfare which they waged with the industrious farmers and merchants who had come west to build a civilization.

Borrow these books from the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 South Central Ave., and the Helen Hupnt Jackson Branch Library, 2330 Naomi Avenue.

Success Comes in Cans--Story of Chi 'Sausage Man'

"SUCCESS comes in cans--failures in can't" but here's a success story that comes in a carton labeled "Parker House", doing honor to J. H. Parker, prominent business man of Chicago's South Side who started out 18 years ago making sausage in a little rented room at night and peddling it house to house next day. Known by hundreds of housewives during those days as "the sausage man", Parker set out to be the best of his kind and less than two score years since his bold venture you find him reaping and sharing the benefits of his fruitful labors.

J. H. PARKER

It can be done! One visit to the plant of Parker House Sausage company will convince even the most skeptical mind that a man, his color notwithstanding, can mold his own place in this world and in climbing the ladder of success carry his fellows along with him. That's what J. H. Parker did.

One enters this modern plant at 4605 S. State street with a feeling of pride and confidence. To the left inside the front door is the office of Uncle Sam's inspector, whose stamp of approval must go on all meats used in making Parker House Products. Straight ahead and beyond another door is the plant where more than 30 people are regularly employed (even through the depression) making almost a dozen different types of sausage, packing, shipping and loading trucks for city route service. A young woman in uniform enters the front office, checks with the bookkeeper on new orders to be filled, and returns to her post in the plant.

As the plant door swings close behind her, the aroma of freshly cured meats strikes your fancy; and unless you're vegetarian, you'll think about eating.

By this time a secretary is ready to inform you that "Mr. Parker will see you now" and you follow through the main office opposite the inspector's where sits the quiet, unassuming president and general manager. You wouldn't believe he's been in the game as long as he has; not when you think of others who usually start the conversation with a big "I". When this man talks he says plenty, yet he's a gentleman of few words. He tells you how glad he is that the public's accep-

"The Girls" Have Us On the Spot and Leave Us Shaking Like a Leaf

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

WE HAVE always, to a great extent respected our elders, having been taught to do so by a kind and wise mother. The man and woman with grown children have always been admired by us. And, if the man or woman has a touch of gray in their hair, a few lines in their faces, we always like to think of the strands of gray and the facial lines as badges of honor, indicating a life well spent.

We had this same respect and admiration when we went on a beach picnic a few summers ago down at Point Fermin. It was at the invitation of a woman's club. We had all the more respect and admiration for them as the spot selected was a dream, overlooking the placid Pacific from a bluff, with huge boulders strewn in haphazard fashion down to the water's edge.

The memory of meats cooking over red-hot embers in permanent open-air furnaces still linger in our memory. The crisp, morning air had whetted our appetite but said appetite was well taken care of with every description of well-cooked and well-prepared food. The party sat about a long table and there this woman's club and their guests dined on food fit for a king's discriminating taste.

Well, the experience made a profound impression on us and when we came back to town we got our twpewriter out and attempted to put what we had heard, seen down on paper. In the placing of our thoughts on paper, however, we made the unhappy mistake of defining our hostesses as the "older set". Of course, at the time, we thought of "older set" as that set which is the opposite of "younger set." But, ah, me, our thought was as nothing compared to those of the "olde set".

We were called on the carpet at the time, and were asked what we meant by calling them "old". Yes, they had quite a bit of fun at our expense. We were in a pretty pickle trying to explain how we arrived at such a term. Anyway, time erased, we thought, all memory of our "things-you-shouldn't-do-if-you would-report-a-social-affair."

But, just the other day, we had reason to change our mind. We went over to the house of a member of this woman's club. And of all things, she said "Come in and meet 'the girls'." So that's it, we thought, they would rather be called "the girls".

At that moment we wished we were somewhere else, in that death-defying-rollercoaster at Venice Pier for instance, rather than face "the girls". Anyway, we walked in. There were some fifteen or twenty "girls" we thought; there may have been less!

Yes sir, they had to go back two or three years to get something we could all talk about. You guessed it--it was the time we had called them "the older set". And there we were, one lone man, among "the girls" and they were pouring it on.

It was an unhappy spot for us and as "the girls" realized it, they poured it on all the more. There was nothing we could say. When "the girls" get to laughing and talking there is little to say. We looked around for a possible exit and as we did so a couple of "the girls" got behind us, one laying her hand firmly on our shoulder, as if to say, "Try it." We were shaking like a leaf.

We made a promise to ourselves then, and there, that we would never go about accepting invitations to affairs and describing our hostesses as "the older set". From now on, we said, we'll leave the matter of age to those who want to know such things.

Fact is, we have too much respect and admiration for "the girls" to misname them.

As we have said before, and this is for the last time, our small-sized penny is on featherweight champion HENRY ARMSTRONG to win the welterweight title from Barney Ross tonight in Madison Square Garden's Long Island Bowl.

SOMETIME AGO WE PROPHESIED in this column that complications of the European situation would have an ill effect upon American entertainers abroad.

Prophesies in print are not very safe, at best. But, having been on the scene in Paris and London, Dublin and the Netherlands, less than a year ago — and in direct contact with governmental offices of Great Britain and France, we gathered through a series of interviews and conferences that Europe was well on its way to a very serious state of affairs.

With taxes mounting and remounting for rearmament programs of these two major countries, there is little left for amusement in the budgets of their subjects and citizens. One by one, during our brief stay in Paris, we saw otherwise gay and going nite spots grow dark and deserted. Montparnasse, which attracted revelers from world capitals to BRICKTOP'S and CHEZ BAKER'S and the MOULIN ROUGE where great names of American and Colonial Negro artists blazoned in bright and colorful electrics gradually shut down and night life moved back to Montmartre.

But that move was only the beginning of the swan's song of the cabaret business in the smart French capital — Paris. Montmartre where Fred Payne's Artist's Club and various other small and large niteries claiming such artists as ALBERTA HUNTER, ALICE CARTER, WILLIE BROWN and his orchestra, PAUL MEERES, HENRY STARR and HAROLD BROWNING, two California stylists, and numerous others — finds the preparation for war much too serious a drain on the purse and time of Europeans to admit many evenings out in cabarets and supper clubs. Consequently, according to a dispatch received this week from Paris, a general trek home to America brings the return of our greatest stars in the entertainment world.

BENNY CARTER, famous maestro, who served as arranger for British Broadcasting Corporation, returned to New York after a stay of almost three years in Europe. Hailed throughout England as the most brilliant all-around jazz musician ever to visit that country, Carter frequently lectured on American music, particularly the new swing style and its evolution from the old ragtime mode, in French and British conservatories and before music groups.

PAUL ROBESON arrives in New York early next month with his family and there is a great possibility that he will be brought to Hollywood for a picture. When I interviewed Robeson in Pinewood, one of the film capitals of Great Britain, he declared then that he would make pictures in America only for independent companies where he would have a choice of subject material. He prefers stories of great historical figures such as Pushkin, Hannibal and Christophe.

Although HAROLD BROWNING has been in England over 14 years, (his little daughter Haroldine was born in London and is VERY British in every respect) he is now marooned in Paris with Starr, his partner, away from their families in London because the British Home Office has lessened its quota of foreign employment of foreign artists.

Many of the Americans abroad have been required to work for tips in Paris for some time and while their only hope for reasonable wages was in Britain, Denmark, Sweden and Belgium, the growing tenseness of political developments makes it impossible for them to get work longer than two weeks in those countries.

All of this heralds a healthy situation for American entertainment, for the time being at least, for these artists return with smarter ideas and improved technique all around.

Whether they shall be employed here to exercise that technique and present their acts as "artists" or whether race prejudice (imaginary or real on the part of producers who always hide behind a claim of restriction for Negro performers to keep them in a state of buffoonery and caricature) remains to be seen.

OPPORTUNITY HOUR

IF YOU WERE NOT among the privileged listeners to a new radio program sponsored by the Central avenue Elks as a goodwill build-up for their national convention which meets here summer '39, you have missed an opportunity to hear a Negro radio program that ought to thrill every listener's heart to the depths.

Last Tuesday night, over station KFWB, for a full half hour, the history of the Negro's part in the settlement of California was brilliantly and entertainingly told in a dramatic version enacted by CLARENCE MUSE with a musical background featuring Muse, RUBY ELZY, stellar soprano soloist; and incidental music furnished by WALTER JOHNSON, organ, and C. L. BURKE, electrical guitar. Credited for research on the material included in the script is TITUS ALEXANDER (but you might have known that if you've heard Tite talk about this subject as long as we have). Jester HAIRSTON did the script and a fine job was turned out.

Reported to be financed by Negroes, OPPORTUNITY comes every Tuesday, just after your California EAGLE radiocast. Write in your appreciation for such a program to KFWB. It is the finest challenge to slapstick stuff we've ever heard. Let your children hover around the dial and they'll hear something to help them keep their chins up.

RACKET CONTROL OF DANCERS BRINGS CHARGE OF "LINDY HOPPERS" AGAINST AGENT

By Associated News Service

Charges that exponents of the Lindy Hoppers' dance act were controlled by racketeers and several members of the group had been beaten and forced to work for unfair wages or suffer a boycott from jobs, were made in a sensational complaint placed before District Attorney Thomas Dewey, of New York, by Theodore Rice, "Snookey" Beasley, John Inniss and other Big Apple specialists this week.

The complaint followed an attack on Rice, aged 20, a Lindy Hopper working under the direction of Major Bowes, behind the Appolo Theatre where he was appearing in a show.

Rice claims that he was beaten up by three men after he completed his first show at the Appolo on [illegible]. He claimed that the assult was the result of a concerted drive to gain control of the dancers in Harlem in order to keep them under the management of Herbert White.

Known as "Whitey" in theatrical circles, White is said to be the originator of the dance.

Several other dancers interviewed this week, including two who were asserted victims of recent assults, gave the same story as Rice. Charges of intimidation, strong arm methods and profiteering were hurled against White.

Dancers who have gone out on their own initiative for jobs as "hoppers" have been held up and beaten, it is said. One victim, John Inniss, was beaten so badly that eight stitches were required to close a wound in his head.

"Snookey" Beasley, who played in the film "A Day at the Race", was beaten badly two months ago at the time he was with the Ethel Waters Unit.

"Some of the hoppers told me that they never received more than ten or fifteen dollars a week for their work under White", Jimmy Marshall declared as he displayed a contract signed by White on Feb. 2, 1938 for 10 hopper at $400 a week.

FINES

In addition to these low salaries girls are often fined $5 for talking with or going out with a member of the band or any person other than her dancing partner.

Fines of $5 and $3 are often imposed for minor things. While the majority of the contracts between the dancers and Manager White call for his receiving fifteen per cent of the gross receipts the dancers seldom know what price the act receives at the house they are playing, it was claimed, for the contract to work is signed by the manager and he collects the money, taking out his share before giving any to them.

TELLS DEWEY

Rice went to District Attorney Dewey's office on Tuesday, May 10, to ask him to launch an investigation into the entire set-up and the assistant district attorney promised to look into the matter.

The complaint was made to Assistant District Attorney Gilchrist who advised Rice to procure summonses for the perpetrators of the crime. The case is scheduled to be heard in Harlem Court on May 26th.

recording artist tries for new field

AMOS EASTON, recently arrived here from Chicago and points East where he was a staff recording artist for Decca race records, Brunswick and Victor, announced this week that he would try his hand at radio and screen script for Hollywood consumption.

Aside from writing and recording for the Eastern firms, Easton said that he also served as talent scout, having discovered some of the outstanding artists now contracted with the recording departments.

His style is mainly blues and modern swing tempo, with a song cycle beginning with the patter or blues of ryhme repeat type to the more intricate swing movements of current vogue.

Under the stage name, "Bumble Bee Slim", Easton seeks an outlet for his talents which include original compositions, recordings, script writings and a singing act, on radio and vaudeville.

blind to share benefits of bill's show

Through the New York Association for the Blind, a Bill Robinson Jamboree night for the colored sightless of Harlem was held Wednesday in the auditorium of the Lighthouse, 11 East 59th st.

Several hundred blind men and women enjoyed the evening of entertainment donated by star performers of Harlem.

W. C. Handy, composer of "St Louis Blues" was present, but Robinson, who is working on a film for Twentieth Century-Fox, in Hollywood could not be there. He danced at a similar party last year.

fannie brice lauds 'abraham bosom'

HOLLYWOOD—"In Abraham's Bosom," Negro play that won the Pulitzer prize a decade ago, is the greatest dramatic show Fannie Brice ever saw, she declared here last week.

The famous commediene, who is heard weekly over the radio in her character of "Baby Snooks", said she saw the drama when it played a week in Greenwich Village before performing for only one week on Broadway.

"I raved about "In Abraham's Bosom" to all my friends," Miss Brice declared, "so when it lasted only a week on Broadway, they kidded the life out of me. But I had the last laugh—the play that ran one week won the Pulitzer prize."

ALBERTA HUNTER MAKES HIT

LONDON — Alberta Hunter made a big hit with "Swing Brother Swing" in London over the British Broadcasting Co. Miss Hunter made a special trip over here to broadcast over the National Broadcasting Company network. Clarence Williams made a special arrangement of this song for her voice. Miss Hunter is preparing to come back to America to visit her mother who is ill.

JO BAKER SCREEN OPUS SCHEDULED FOR U. S. SHOWING

A GREAT FILM PREVIEW

Josephine Baker, toast of Paris—sings, laughs, cries and proves perfectly photogenique. Josephine Baker dominates the screen sets, sings and is seen in tender and angry moods in Princess Tamtam, a great motion picture shot in Tunis.

Such is the enthusiasnic description of one of the few movies in which la Belle Baker has strutted her stuff magnifique.

Story is about a Parisian novel writer who, in order to escape marital troubles goes to Tunis, becomes interested in a beggar girl, Aouina, because she symbolizes the carefree joy of the native who possesses little but enjoys the independence which her simplicity and love of nature give her.

Drawn with characteristic adroitness to foriegn made films, Princess Tamtam gives a great deal more care to native culture and individual artistry of Baker than she might expect in American pictures.

The film will have its premiere American showing in Brooklyn.

SCENE FROM TOY WIFE—M. G. M's much talked of starring vehicle for Luise Rainer which also features a cast of stellar name colored players lead by Theresa Harris, Clarence Muse, Libby Taylor, Clinton Rosemond and Lew Payton, shows above Bertha Powell and Lillian Randolph as sisters of a Louisiana convent from which a slave girl had been stolen. Keen anticipation awaits release of the film that is said to rival "Jezebel" and "Gone With the Wind" (which seems to have been winded before it ever got a chance at camera) playwright

THEODORE WARD, whose play "Big White Fog" won the praise of Chicago's daily paper critics this week. The play written around the life of a Negro family and played by a mixed cast has just concluded a run at the Great Northern Theatre under Federal Theatre production.

Born in Thibodeaux, La., Ward studied at the University of Utah where he won the Zona Gale scholarship to the University of Wisconsin for creative writing.

BRICK TOP TO OPEN LONDON CAFE

LONDON — Brick Top, the American woman, famous for her night club in Paris and who now has one in Cannes, France, will open another in London near the end of May, it was announced last week.

The United States is the world's leading exporter of scrap iron and steel, sending 4,000,000 tons.

A training airplane in England has three sets of wings, students being unable to leave the ground with the smallest, rising short distances with the second and flying normally with the largest.

Four-Yr.-Old Film Banned By Commish

After it had played to film houses all over the country under Principal Film Exchange release, "Tomorrow's Children", picture with a sterilization theme, was ordered banned by a decision of the Albany, New York Court of Appeals in a meeting held Tuesday.

The higher court upheld a previous boycott against the picture ordered by Educational Commissioner Graves with a vote of five to two. Chief Judge Crane and Lehman dissented, after viewing a private showing of the film.

Foy Productions and Principal Film Exchange were the appellants.

FIRST

"Tomorrow's Children" is an original screen play written by the late Wallace Thurman, first Negro to have a scenario screened for general theatre fare.

The story concerned an expose of sterlization laws in the hands of biased politicians and capitalists who applied birth control methods indiscriminately to minority groups while a known rapist son of a rich man was allowed to buy his way out of its application.

Although the story was written by a Negro, its subject was of general social significance, rather than racial. A preview and first showing was held in the Chinese Theatre, Hollywood.

Thurman, a noted dead essayist, novelist and alumnus of U. S. C., was numbered among the instigators of the "Negro Renaissance in Literature" which had its beginning in Harlem in 1923-4. He died in Harlem shortly after completion of "Tomorrow's Children".

Editorial Comment

UPTURN

If the stars are right, business within sixty days will get back on the mainline road, from which it was shuttled last Fall, and make a bee-line toward normalcy.

We hold no brief for the star-gazers. We are skeptical of any profits from prophets. But we'll keep our fingers crossed and hope these forecasts of the American Federation of Scientific Astrologers, who staged their national convention in Washington last week, prove just half as trustworthy as the stars themselves.

These forecasters, in the course of their proceedings under the shadow of the capitol dome, took another squint at the heavens, however, and predicted that President Roosevelt's pump-priming would prove costly.

Is it possible those prophets had their tongues in their cheeks? We don't need to know whether Mars is getting clubby with Venus to decide that pump-priming, wise or unwise, is expensive. Not with an item now in Congress calling for three billions to create temporary jobs for four million people.

Nor do we need a crystal ball to predict those unemployed millions will stay imbedded on relief longer than any of us wants, if theories favoring monopolistic practices, approving price-fixing, suppressing low-cost distribution through harmful and discriminatory laws, continue to freeze their living costs at abnormally high levels.

Nevertheless, these observers of the heavens maintain that business will soon be looking up. Since it's the job of these forecasters to look up even during office hours, we hope they're not confusing their business with business in general. We'll take their predictions with a grain of salt and a pinch of star-dust and trust it's a four-star forecast!

EAST TURNS WEST

Spring, without doubt, is now sweeping the East, softening the rugged spirit of rock-ribbed New England and mellowing the thoughts of Atlantic seaboard citizens with lively optimism.

In Spring, an Easterner's fancy turns westward. If the East coasters can's come West, they take a leaf from Mohammed's tiff with the mountain, and try to move a piece of California eastward.

They have tried it before. They are trying it again.

Atlantic City, N. J., which likes to consider itself the heart— and legs — of America's bathing beauty industry, has started winking hopefully at Hollywood with a come-hither look in her Jersey eyes. Their thoughts happily athrob with Spring optimism, the mayor, a New Jersey assemblyman, and an Atlantic City tycoon, last week urged Hollywood to pull up stakes and set up shop in their bailiwick. In fact, so many cities have been trying to abduct California's motion picture industry, we're thankful there's a Federal kidnaping law what with such ambitious thoughts at large.

We might wake up some fine morning and find New Jersey had kidnaped Hollywood and Mickey Mouse and left Jersey City and Mayor Frank Hague on our doorstep as payment. The bargain would be all theirs!

ALABAMA AGAIN

Negroes charged with transgressing the law in Alabama, guilty or innocent, have not the slightest chance of escape from the vengeance of these benighted heathens. When a black man is involved, judge and jury are denied to administer justice as laid down by the statutes.

The latest from mob-ridden Alabama is best told by a paragraph from a release sent out by the Associated Negro Press, under date of May 24:

CME GENERAL CONFERENCE ENDS

The assignment of bishops, following consecration ceremony of two new bishops, brought to an end a successful quadrennial session of the CME Conference held in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

We venture the assertion that many fervent prayers went up for the dawn of that happy day and when the gavel sounded announcing the close a heavy weight was lifted from the breast of many as they breathed a sigh of relief. Trains sped homeward and upon crossing the line many happy hearts murmured: "Thank God, we're back to civilization!"

Arkansas, like Alabama, is peopled with ignorant, snuff-dipping poor white crackers who relish lynching and burning a Negro more than a razor-back hog would a bucket of swill. The deepest and most furious pits of hell are located in these states and to save us we just can't figure out why an intelligent group of Negroes choose such places in which to meet.

Three or four weeks prior to the assemblying of the Conference, a Kansas City, Kansas white man and his wife had to leave Hot Springs under the cover of darkness to save life and a new automobile because of a minor traffic infringement.

Bishop James Arthur Hamlett, owner of The Plaindealer, resides in Kansas City, and made a stubborn fight against the Conference going to Arkansas, but odds were too great. We pray this will be the last time for this fine body of men to ever meet in Arkansas or any state in which Negroes are denied their constitutional rights.

WHAT ARE THE NEW DEAL POLICIES?

The policies on which Mr. Roosevelt was elected are far from the course he has since pursued. The New Deal ballyhoos a cure of our ills today and on the morrow comes up with a different concoction bearing the Roosevelt guarantee to turn the trick. And thus it has been since the time Herbert Hoover left the White House. The nation has drifted gradually toward economic and financial ruin and today finds us at the jumping off place.

We present herewith facts and figures showing impractical ramifications of the New Deal in search of a soft place upon which to land.

The Ship of State has been so badly damaged by inexperienced seamen that more than a score of years will be required to repair the damage. Figures from the record show:

"THE FEDERAL DEBT

"In his message to Congress March 10, 1933, Franklin D. Roosevelt said:

" 'For three long years the Federal Government has been on the road to bankruptcy.'

"The three years referred to by President Roosevelt in his budget message of 1933 were the THREE LAST YEARS OF THE HOOVER ADMINISTRATION.

"The Government's course toward bankruptcy during those years was measured by the national debt.

"In 1929, when the Hoover Administration began, the national debt was $16,931,197,748.

"During four years the Hoover Administration added $5,607,474,416, making a national debt in 1933, when the first Roosevelt Administration began, of $22,538,672,164.

"To this, the FIRST Roosevelt Administration in the four years added $13,885,941,836, making a total national debt in 1937 of $36,424,-614,000.

"During the Hoover Administration the national debt increased at the rate of a billion and a half dollars a year.

"During the first Roosevelt Administration the rate of increase was nearly THREE AND A HALF BILLIONS A YEAR.

"The Treasury Department now estimates that the national debt at the end of the next fiscal year, in 1938, will be FORTY BILLION DOLLARS — making a grand total of approximately EIGHTEEN BILLION DOLLARS added to the national debt UNDER THE ROOSEVELT ADMINISTRATION.

"If the country was 'on the road to bankruptcy' under Hoover, it is ON THE ROAD TO RUIN under Roosevelt."

QUIZZING THE AIR-LANES

Summer along the Potomac is no congressman's idea of a vacation. Washington's broiling sun has long been the traditional enemy of cool tempers and calm nerves. Consequently the current congressional push for a down-to-brass tacks investigation of America's billion dollar radio industry gives proof of how important many legislators regard such an inquiry. It would almost certainly anchor investigating committeemen in the national capital after adjournment of Congress in June. Radio, a youngster among twentieth century industries, has mushroomed prodigiously since 1925. But what adds fuel to the spreading fire for an inquiry into it, is not only its size in terms of dollars and cents, but the significant effects its programs may have on public opinion, taste, and morals. An inquiry may shed valuable light on these effects without, we trust, feeling impelled to hand the industry over to the government to run.

WINNING THE WAR

The vigorous nationwide protests, in which newspapers played such an important role, against budget-slashing in the Federal Bureau of Investigation, are today bearing welcome results. The President has now requested Congress for an additional $108,000 to keep up the Bureau's winning war against crime. Unless Congress provides that sum, acting budget director Bell declares, "Service will be seriously crippled and personnel will have to be drastically curtailed." We seriously doubt that Congress will block this comparatively small appropriation. Not, at any rate, when it hears that the recent killing of a G-man in a gun battle with an Indiana outlaw has been directly attributed to the reduced personnel of the FBI. It was a two-man job, but there was only one man to handle it. One man did. And paid with his life. We hope Congress remembers this!
